War Orders Rushed

THE magnitude of the great war in which we are now engaged, has necessitated unusual preparation. Mighty forces are marshalling, great stores of food and munitions are being gathered, and the energies of the nation are focused on problems incident to the war.

At the very beginning of the war, the whole Bell System was placed at the disposal of the Government. No nation has entered the war with such a comprehensive and efficient telephone service.

As our military establishment grows, the demands of the Government upon the Bell System are bound to increase and always they must take precedence over all others.

Increased activity in commerce and industry as the result of larger demands for food and munitions from our allies and for our own use, means more need of telephone service by private business.

But private business must always be subordinated to the Government service.

Each individual American will cooperate in this patriotic service, and submit cheerfully to inconvenience or delay in his telephone service, when he understands how vital it is that Government service shall take precedence over all else.

We "Discover" the Paine, Haven and Loring Estates

Opened to the Public, June 30,
for Benefit of the Red Cross

By LILLIAN McCANN

"IF THOSE NORTH SHORE ESTATES open again we'll see them again, was the verdict of many a tired but happy family at the close of the day's outing at Pride's Crossing when the Paine, Haven and Loring estates were opened for the benefit of the local Red Cross society, last Saturday, June 30th.

Daddy and I left Boston early in the afternoon and arrived by train at the station. Daddy had looked up the history of Pride's and found that it dated back to about 1640. The original Pride came from England, and the town gets its name from the fact that the town of Salem (later Beverly) granted land to Pride in consideration of his showing travelers the way across the marshes. Prides have continued to live at the Crossing, and the present postmaster is a Pride.

We entered through the beautiful gateway opening into the Paine estate. The driveway is bordered on one side by pines and on the other by rhododendrons. Near the entrance is the gigantic oak tree known as the Oliver Wendell Holmes tree. Holmes said that he always must take off his hat to that tree.

We passed on down the avenue and took the driveway to the right, leading to the F. L. Higginson, W. S. and J. T. Spaulding places.

Here Daddy recalled history: Charles Cushing Paine was the original purchaser of the estate in 1844. A son, Robert Treat Paine, writes of it:

"The previous summer Father took some of us boys on a drive from Marblehead around the Beverly Farms shore and so on to Gloucester. The beauty of the shore has since then become famous. You might almost say we discovered it, for in April, 1844, Father made the pioneer purchase, selecting the most beautiful mile of sea-coast in Massachusetts, the side lines converging to a point where now is Pride's Crossing station. The estate with about 100 acres cost $55 an acre, with $500 extra for cows, oxen, chickens, plows and old Charley the horse.

"Thus our family were the first settlers by purchase on this justly famous and now too fashionable shore; and as I went down in April to live with farmer Isaac Prince before our family moved down, I suppose I am the original pioneer."

Through the Paines notice of the country was brought to Charles G. Loring, Franklin Haven and Franklin Dexter. The old house occupied by farmer Prince stood below the hill near the driveway leading past the Sargent and Wood places. This was a rendezvous for sailors and others after it became no longer habitable.

"Swiftmoor," at Pride's Crossing, the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Aksel Wichfeld.

Two forts, the large one on the Higginson place and small breastworks on the Sargent place, show the part in history played by the estates in the French and Indian War, about 1745. French officers imprisoned there are said to have invented the gambling game of "Boston." "Boston" is the main point in the game. "Flam," the second point, is supposed to stand for Salem; and two other points are "Big Misery" and "Little Misery," the names of the islands off the Beverly Farms shore. "Pitilissimo" is the losing point in the game and is the name of some rocks in the water. Robert Treat Paine died in 1874. There are now 17 houses on the estate.

Daddy and I walked over the fine earthworks at one side of the Higginson house. They were not disturbed in anyway when the house was built. They now show a beautiful coating of lawn and on top is the flower garden planted in roses, asters, pinks and foxgloves. Below the fort is small iris and peony garden. The view from the fort and house is exceedingly beautiful. Near the house we saw wonderful rhododendrons and azaleas showing a wealth of red and orange coloring.

At the Spaulding home built on "Sunset Rock" by Mrs. Mahlon S. Spaulding, mother of J. T. and W. S. Spaulding, about 19 years ago, we found many things of interest. The great house is one of the show places of the Shore. It is built of stone, and has an immense loggia and terraces facing the water. The terrace is particularly ornamental and has little floral and box gardens on either side, each exactly alike. Standing on the middle of this grassy terrace is a balloon sundial over which much comment was made by everyone. The attentive gardener showed us how to tell the time and answered many questions about the place. The little cave under the loggia with its statue and rare wall plants came in for much admiration.

We then went through the greenhouse. Daddy and I held our breath with wonder at the rare and beautiful plants growing so luxuriantly everywhere. The gardener has been in charge about six years. Never had we seen such an arrangement as most of the walls present. The heating plant at the back is banked with loose earth and moss and rocks forming crevices in which pots are buried, whose contents grow and trail in the most realistic manner possible, seemingly over a natural mossy wall. And then the palms, roses, and rare orchids and begonias; the tomatoes, melons weighing 6 pounds already, and other fruits, and other flowers! Truly I can never forget the Spaulding greenhouse and the courtesy shown to all the guests.

Just outside the greenhouse stands the "Sachem Cedar," the patriarch of the Paine estate. The old trunk is being held together by means of cement. A gash with a hatchet has been discerned on it. Only about two limbs are alive at present. Two years ago a severe storm blew off the entire top of the tree.

Crossing from the Spaulding place a short path leads to the stately home of Mrs. Henry P. King (Alice Spaulding), a sister to the Spauldings. This place is closed and may be the entire summer. The only son was on the grounds that day dressed in khaki. We walked over the terrace, down the stone steps to the pools and gardens, a little paradise of a garden built below the house and leading by paths on down to the beach and pier. Many venturesome souls explored each path around the place. I sat down and viewed it all and left it with many loving thoughts, for it makes one better to see stone, grass and flowers put in such exquisite forms. Bird baths, pond lily boxes and quaint Japanese urns and bronzes were noted through the grounds of both places.

A projecting wing of the Spaulding mansion was commented upon by one good woman in the crowd. She thought it was a little chapel. The guide politely informed her it was the Spaulding smoking room.

We then left by a pathway and after passing along the lower road where we saw the wonderfully showy homes of the Wm. M. Woods (whose front lawn has a great planting of potatoes) and of Mrs. L. M. Sargent, whose place is one of the finest on the water front (occupied this year by the John W. Blodgetts) we passed the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Cummings (Lydia Lyman Paine), a niece of the Misses Paine, who live on the hill, and after following the road we finally found our way to the entrance of "Swiftmoor" and "Rockmarge." At the close of the day we saw some people being guided to Judge Moore's place by a kindly gatekeeper. They said they had failed to find it.

Of course Daddy wanted to go right to the stable on this noted place. We followed the crowd and went into the splendid rotunda of the stable. It is covered with rubber matting and is all done in hardwood. A handsome balcony is around the upper part, showing doors leading into the men's quarters, where are dining rooms and other commodious arrangements. Mr. Moore's office is on the right on the first floor. Fine old prints of coaching days and pictures of some of the Moore horses adorn the walls. A time-clock of exquisite design was seen on the table.

The stable has two great wings, one for horses and one for carriages. We walked down among the horses. Never had I been in such a place. Matting covered the fine floors until we reached the straw-covered floors directly between the long rows of stalls. Here we saw about 28 horses, the domestic or coach horses, those which Mr. Moore himself drives. Here were the famous grays.

He has 40 horses at the track stable in Pride's, off the Beverly Farms road. We went into the show harness room where the trophies are displayed. On a large table we saw the recent ribbons, among them 12 first prizes and two championships from the Washington, D. C., show and 18 first and 11 seconds from the Devon, Pa., show. We glanced upward and saw that the room was bordered with a case of ribbons running entirely around the room. We then went to the wing containing the carriages. About 25 were seen varying in all patterns from handsome coaches and phaetons down to simple little carts. Daddy enjoyed it immensely. We were told that 27 men are employed and saw a room in which each man has his own locker.

We then wandered over the extensive grounds and were filled with admiration at the many beautiful sights. The large flower garden, the rock gardens, the white formal garden, the rose garden, the "peach" garden or sunken fruit garden, the noted willow walk, and the great sweep of lawn from the terraces on the waterside of the house down to the water's edge all made our visit to "Rockmarge" a memorable one.

Divine Sovereignty

God is not holden to behave
As brother unto brother;
God's way is not our way—
Quite another!

His ways are past our finding out;
They fit not our ideal nor our doubt.
His everlasting purposes embrace
Not only individuals but the race,
And greater task is His to nurse,
Not the earth only, but the Universe.

Essex County Club Better Than Ever

Few Weak Features to Golf Links at Manchester

(By A. L. FOWLER in Boston Transcript)

FOURTEEN years ago, the late J. A. F. Bramston, member of the Oxford-Cambridge Golfing society of the British Isles, played as a member of that society in a team match at the Essex County club, Manchester. He was a brilliant golfer and a man whose judgment on matters pertaining to golf or golf courses was much sought. A member of the Essex County club pressed Mr. Bramston for an opinion of the Manchester course and the British visitor, as much a diplomat as a golfer, finally gave this answer:

"It's a wonderful feat of engineering."

Had Mr. Bramston been less keen-witted and bluntly expressed his real opinion of the course, the feelings of the persistent member might have been hurt, for the Essex County course fourteen years ago had comparatively few holes of downright golfing merit. If Mr. Bramston were alive today and again a visitor to the Essex County club, any member could safely ask his opinion of the course and feel reasonably certain of getting an answer something of this nature:

"It's one of the best I have ever seen."

Any Essex member who desires an opinion of the Essex course today from a golfer whose judgment of a link's merits is based upon play over leading courses on both sides of the Atlantic could do no better than go to Francis Ouimet, who played there yesterday (Tuesday, June 26). The former champion without hesitancy places the Essex course as he found it, among the best he ever played over. He puts it in the same company with Myopia and Pine Valley.

Any course looks comparatively easy while watching Mr. Ouimet play it when in the form that he has been displaying this season. The same was true of Essex, when the ex-champion was around in '75, playing a quality of golf that might easily have developed a card of 70 or better, rather than the figure mentioned. The impressive feature, and the true test of what constitutes a first-class golf course, was that in practically every instance Mr. Ouimet got exactly what his shot deserved and to get what he did, he had to play almost flawless golf.

The Latest Changes

The measurements of the Essex course today show a total distance of 6440 yards and, if desired, the distance could be stretched an additional 200 yards by going to the extremes of the teeing grounds. The first hole requires two perfect shots to get home, 430 yards, with a narrow neck of fairway in front of the green, and mounds on the left, bunkers on the right, to punish a shot not accurately hit or to make more difficult a pitch when the second shot is either to left or right and not far enough to get in a hazard. With the wind in the east, it was practically impossible to get home in two, but Mr. Ouimet was just off the edge of the green with drive and brassie and chipped his third close enough to get down the putt for 4.

The second hole has been altered by cutting away the woods to the left and giving the long, bold hitter a chance to place his drive on that side, to open up the hole for the second shot. A bunker at the lower end of the hill, about where the rough and the fairway formerly came together, is penalty for the man who chooses the direct route to the hole and fails to get both distance and direction.

One of the chief alterations is at the fifth hole. The tee is back against the stable and required a long, accurate drive to land on the flat below the hill on the right. A little pull means to locate the brook running along at the left and the same brook is penalty for a topped tee shot. An entirely new Taylor green has been built, raised three feet above the level of the old. The old bunkers remain on the right, to be carried if the tee shot is well to the right, while the green to the left and in back is thoroughly bunkered. The turf of the old green was removed last fall and put back on the new green in May. Today it has one of the best putting surfaces of any green on the course.

A new tee has been built for the sixth, increasing the length of the hole and making it one of the best one-shot holes to be found anywhere. There is only one way to play the hole and that is to land the ball directly on the green from the tee. The vicinity of the tee, as well as the fifth green, has been beautified by clearing out the brook and forming a pretty lagoon a short distance in front of the green, with sloping grassed embankments. It is astonishing how many rocks had to be removed in this work. They fairly litter the edge of the woods to the left of the brook, off the course.

Another highly meritorious alteration is the construction of a raised tee for the 180-yard ninth, so that now the green is in full view. The fifteenth is a far better hole today. The bunker on the right has been greatly enlarged. Its lower end, for the approach, has been extended a number of yards and also brought in to the left, so that it has to be carried on the second shot if a man places his drive to the right of the fairway. The same bunker extends almost the full length of the green and, about midway of the green, is substantially indented, so as to catch a sliced approach if the drive is properly placed to the left of the fairway. The old humps which hid the back of the green from the player who made a good tee shot have been removed and now form a gradual slope to give a clear view.

For a short hole, the altered sixteenth is a gem. The new tees have been built and, like practically every tee on the course now, they are in fine condition. The course of the brook in front of the green has been altered to some extent and widened materially, making five times the old possibility of a sloppy shot being "drowned." The rough in front of the brook—now almost worthy of being called a pond—has been partly smoothed over. A new Taylor green has been constructed, about three feet higher than the old, well bunkered on all sides in addition to the brook in front.

The last big change is at the eighteenth. George Barnard, chairman of the green committee, was out to see Mr. Ouimet and others play the hole, to get an idea of where the tee should be placed in order to make the hole and drive an iron. The green, another of the Taylor variety, is somewhat to the left of the old one and raised about ten feet at its highest point. Large bunkers form a pair of stops to the right, while on the left are a group of mounds extending the full length of green and so constructed that they are certain to catch a pulled shot, yet so that a man has a perfectly fair chance to play his next shot onto the green.

For about a hundred yards from the new green along the polo ground fairway there is now a gradual slope, so that the golfer who makes a good tee shot has a clear view of the green. The ground also slopes toward the bunkers on the right, so that a shot not well hit, directly at the green, is fairly certain to fall away into the bunkers to the right or fetch up in the mounds to the left. These mounds, it may also be mentioned, are about a score in number and some of them are quite high, yet they do not hide the green for the player with a badly hooked second or obstruct the eye and spoil the landscape effect because before they were built the ground which they occupy was depressed into a substantial hollow.

Wogan Did Great Work

Eugene Wogan, who superintended the latest changes, showed ingenuity and thoroughness, which indicates another first-class links' architect in the making. It was at Essex County that Donald Ross had his big start as a links' architect, and as Wogan has both ambition and diligence he appears to be on the right road to success in that line of work. He also showed himself a "handy man" by fitting up a shop which will take second place to none among the professionals' shops in this country. His shop now is in the main clubhouse and he has rightfully termed it a "novelty shop of golf," rather than a workshop. He built cabinets for showcases, on the walls; built the attractive rack for golf clubs and otherwise made his quarters exceptionally attractive.

Probably no more constructive work will be done on the Essex course until after the summer season, if then. The changes for this year were all completed by May 15, so that the members will not be again bothered during the playing season. As regards the few weak features still remaining on the course, Francis Ouimet's chief criticism is that the eleventh green, more or less formed like an inverted bowl, is unfair, especially in mid-summer when the greens are keen. The twelfth hole, 610 yards, under present conditions is too long and would be much better if shortened fifty or sixty yards. The committee may eventually make a better hole of the seventh by levelling to some extent the fairway near the green and raising the green, so that it would be in full view for the approach. A ball now hitting on the downslope near the green is apt to kick in any direction.

William Winter—The Eminent Writer

One of His Last Letters Written to Manchester Man

WILLIAM WINTER, the eminent writer, died on Saturday, June 30, at his home in Staten Island, New York. Mr. Winter was a few days short of 81 years. He was born in Gloucester, Mass., July 15, 1836. We are able to print the last letter, which he wrote to Mr. Francis M. Stanwood of Brookline and Manchester, a friend of long standing, and it is so characteristic of Mr. Winter's epistolary style that it must prove of interest to our readers.

Feb. 6, 1917.*

"Dear Mr. Stanwood:

"Your kind letter has too long remained unanswered. I am in rather frail health and my literary tasks weary me, and correspondence, therefore, is sometimes unavoidably neglected. I have to crave your patience. I could not do otherwise than take in good part your specifications of misprints in my recent Shakespeare book. I am always glad to be appraised of my errors and likewise of my general faults. Because, knowing them, I may be able to correct them. Misprints are easily corrected; would that defects of character and errors of conduct could as readily be rectified! I am not one of those grand authors who forever stand sentinel over their dignity: I am simply a man of letters, working diligently with the best talent and conscience that I possess. I have always tried to do fine things and I keep on trying, but I have not yet satisfied myself, never risen to the height of my ideal, and now, in my 81st year, worn and weary, I suppose that I never shall. Still, I must try. I have not much further to go. Most of my friends have preceded me. Two of the oldest of them died last month, Wayne MacVeagh on January 11 and Rev. William Bartlett on January 15. MacVeagh, whom I daresay you remember as United States Attorney General in Garfield's administration, was one of the most brilliant men I have ever known, and one of the best. Bartlett was an honored divine in Brooklyn more than fifty years ago, and by many persons deemed a rival to Beecher. He read the marriage service when I was wedded to my wife,

December 8, 1860, at No. 3 Elm place, Brooklyn, where he then lived. He was 86 when he passed away. MacVeagh was 84. I miss them both. But it cannot be for long. Someday you will read in your newspaper the customary 20 lines or so of obituary twaddle about the once prominent dramatic critic of the New York Tribune (for that will stick to me forever), who so worshipped the Past that he could see no good in the Present and, therefore, fell into desuetude and neglect: R. I. P., but it does not matter. Do you remember the words of that fine poet, Matthew Arnold:

Mourn not! Die also thou."*

"I will send you a printed error sheet to go with those Shakespeare books as soon as it is made. There are a few errors in each of them, scarcely one of which is material, but, of course, there should be no errors. Four men, two of them experts, read the proofs, and of course I read them; yet errors crept in. I believe they always do.

"I thank you for the information about the author of Curfew. The poem is in Coate's excellent compilation, which I have owned for many years, and in which I sought for it, but being very tired and impatient at the time overlooked. Harriet Prescott (Mrs. Spofford) and Edith Thomas appear to me to be the best of living American poets. I wonder whether I am mistaken. Anyway, I am trying to collect the works of Mrs. Spofford. As an author I do not read contemporary bards. The old favorites are sufficient for me. But many things find their way to my knowledge and I know that there is a super-abundance of trash, in both prose and verse.

"Public affairs are on the right track. War with Germany seems inevitable. I shall welcome it. I only wish I could serve as a soldier. I suppose they would not accept me, but somehow I will serve if the war comes. Mr. Wilson has placed our country in the right attitude and vindicated himself. God bless you, old friend, and for a while, Goodbye!

Ever yours,

"WILLIAM WINTER."

PERCY GRAINGER, the distinguished pianist and composer, will give his services entirely for the benefit of the Red Cross at the concert at which he plays at the home of Mrs. Oliver Ames, Pride's Crossing, July 21, at 4 o'clock. Prominent women all along the Shore are patronesses. This will be a rare treat for which the Red Cross workers are very appreciative. Tickets may be purchased at the door or of Miss Harriet Dexter, Pride's Crossing; Mrs. H. C. Clark, Pride's Crossing; Mrs. Neal Rantoul, Beverly Farms; Mrs. Francis L. Higginson, Manchester; also at the Red Cross headquarters, Mason block, Beverly. The first concert of the three given by the Essex County chapter of the Red Cross was a successful one at the home of Mrs. Bayard Warren. The room was well filled and much enthusiasm was shown. This was a George Copeland concert and was also volunteer work. Other numbers were violin selections by Mrs. J. L. Saltonstall, songs by Mrs. Bayard Warren, and Russian music by Mrs. Hans Ebell.

MRS. BAYARD WARREN's library, in her beautiful home at Pride's Crossing, has been converted into one of the busy workrooms of the North Shore. Since June 15 each Friday afternoon from 2.30 to 5, a crowd of earnest white-aproned women gather around the four large tables and turn out a goodly supply of work. This is one of the branches of the Essex County chapter of the Red Cross. Owing to the great importance of the work, it is urged that everyone in the Pride's Crossing section make an effort to attend regularly and assist in all ways possible. Among the workers are Mmes. Albert Burrage, H. H. Whitman, Henry C. Clark, Bayard Tuckerman, Jr., Evans Dick, John L. Saltonstall, George Warren, W. H. Moore, Godfrey Cabot, Raymond Rogers, Franklin Dexter, John Curtis, Alex. Cochrane, Wm. Wendell, H. P. McKean, Jr., P. S. Sears, Bayard Tuckerman, Bayard Warren, Harold Coolidge, Reginald de Koven, Henry Mason, A. F. Sortwell, H. Gray, John Noble, also Mmes. Boardman, Bacon, Smith, Hitchcock and Power, and Mlle. Damon Pichat and the Misses Anna Agassiz, Elaine Denègre, L. P. Loring, Grace Edwards, A. M. Edwards and Julia Meyer, also Miss Pollard, Miss Tener, Miss Noble, Miss Smith and others.

Typical outputs at these meetings show much industry. The following is the result of two of the meetings so far:

144 small six-package compresses; 48 large two-package compresses; 264 small-package compresses and 24 large one-package compresses, of the four and nine inch varieties. Miss Denègre is one of the workers who has made compresses at home.

Over the entrance to the Warren home are hung three friendly flags of immense size—the U. S. flag, the English and the French flags, making a brilliant spot of color and cheery looking welcome.

Mrs. Roger W. Cutler has come to the Pride's Crossing home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Bradley, for the month of July. Her little son, Bobby Bradley Cutler, about three and one-half years old, was an enthusiastic worker for the Red Cross last Saturday. He carried a little Red Cross box and accompanied Miss Frances Bradley through the grounds. The latter pushed a tea wagon on which was a Teddy Bear and a victrola playing patriotic airs. Many a penny dropped into Bobby's mite box.

Mrs. Henry P. King and son, Henry P. Jr., spent the week-end at "Sunset Rock," Pride's Crossing. Mrs. King will spend the summer at the Spaulding home, coming out about July 12. Her own beautiful house will not be opened this year. Henry P. King, Jr., is at the Plattsburg camp.

Miss Helen Paine of Pride's Crossing entertained her Sunday school class of girls from Trinity church in Boston last week. Miss Sarah C. Paine will give her class of girls from the First Unitarian church their annual outing next Wednesday. On July 20th she will entertain former members of her class. These are always enjoyable affairs, as the Paine home offers many attractions with its nearness to the beach and the beautiful forest with which it is surrounded. The house was built in 1874.

Automobile bags and touring bags of the most practical nature developed out of just the most appropriate material imaginable are found at the Margot shop. The slip-over blouses are also dreams of beauty. See them when you stop for a box of candy at the new Page & Shaw Tea Room at Pride's Crossing. Special orders of any article shown may be given and soon developed.

ANNOUNCEMENT was made yesterday of the engagement of Miss Elizabeth Harding of Washington, D. C., to Frederick H. Prince, Jr., of Boston and Wenham, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick H. Prince, who make their home the major part of the year at "Princemere," on the Beverly Farms road in Wenham. Miss Harding is the eldest of three daughters of William Proctor Gould Harding, of Washington, governor of the Federal Reserve Board, over whose household she has presided since her debut two years ago. She is at present the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Prince at "Princemere." Like her fiancé, Miss Harding has been actively interested in war service and preparedness. She served as telegraph operator in the women's training camp in Washington, last year. Miss Harding is a niece of Colonel Chester Harding, U. S. A., who formerly was engineer commissioner of the District of Columbia and who is now in command of the Panama Canal Zone. Mr. Prince, who is a member of the American Lafayette Escadrille of the French Flying Corps, is on a furlough for a visit to his parents' home. Because of the near expiration of this furlough, the marriage of Miss Harding to Mr. Prince will take place before he returns to resume his service in France. The wedding will take place in St. John's Episcopal Church in Washington on Saturday, July 14. Whether his bride will go with him when he returns to France has not yet been decided. Mr. Prince is a brother of Norman Prince, who was killed in action in France, as a member of the aviation corps, and who was signally honored for his exceptional service. Mr. Prince on his return to France may join the United States service in that country, as an aviator. He made a hurried journey to America last November, at the time of the critical illness of his father, and after a fortnight or so returned to France, remaining until his return here on his present furlough.

ALTHOUGH Wednesday was a holiday,—which would ordinarily have meant casting all duty aside and while the hours away at the sweet will of the individual, such was not so with many of the ladies who are summering at Magnolia. The Wednesday morning meeting of the Surgical Dressings committee, Magnolia Branch, met in the Oceanside Annex as usual and the morning was spent in fashioning bandages and surgical dressings for our Allied wounded. It is certainly an inspiration to look in upon these ladies at work! Very diligently and persistently they make the dressings and bandages which must be very accurately and correctly done, requiring strict attention to details. Mrs. Samuel S. Stevens has charge of these Wednesday morning meetings as well as being treasurer of this branch.

Mrs. Robert de Wolfe Sampson of New York will have with her as usual this summer at her Manchester Cove cottage, Mr. and Mrs. William Roscoe Thayer and Miss Margaret W. Thayer of Cambridge. Mrs. Sampson's little white cottage just opposite the one she herself occupies has been again rented by Mrs. Henry G. Nichols of Boston. Miss Elsie Nichols and H. Gilman Nichols will be with their mother. This charming little cottage was remodeled last summer by Mrs. Michael Foster of England, whose son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. E. Russell, are at the Masconomo for the season. An interesting neighborhood-garden surrounds the little cottage, planted by Mrs. Sampson, Mrs. Nichols, Mrs. Frances A. Lane and Mrs. Myron C. Wick, of the Manchester Cove colony. A fine variety of vegetables and potato patch run almost to the beach. This ground has never been cultivated before. Only a small lawn space surrounds the cottage, but the gardens add much to the uniqueness of the spot.

THE salient feature in this year's Summer Social Register as compared with last year is an increase of 25% in the number of marriages during the three months from April 1. Notwithstanding dire predictions to the contrary there seems to be no falling off in the number of residences by the seaside. On the South Shore of Long Island there are 583, on the North Shore of Long Island 533, in the Hamptons 238, on the North Shore of the Sound 511, on the Jersey Coast 451, at Newport and Narragansett Pier 329, at Bar Harbor 126, at other points on the New England Coast 965, on the western coast 94,—totaling 3830, as compared to 6573 at inland resorts. This comparison is practically the same as last year and there is no marked variation in any of the above figures as compared to last year. Among the inland resorts there are at Bernardsville, Morristown, etc., 147, at Lenox 68, in the Adirondacks 181, in Canada 206.

There are noted from April 1 to date the marriages of 956 persons as compared to 783 last year and the deaths of 211 men and 182 women as compared to 183 men and 177 women during the same period. The departures for Europe have dwindled to 82 as compared to 95 last year and the arrivals are negligible for well known reasons. There are noted 65 at foreign bankers' addresses as compared to 143 last year, and 176 are summering on their yachts as compared to 161 last year; 49 are in training camps; 22 in the United States service; 33 in the American Ambulance, and of the yachts 22 are registered as having been offered and accepted as auxiliaries for the United States Service.

The number of yachts in commission this year is 933 as compared with 922 last year, divided as follows: 576 steam yachts; 97 schooners and 260 sloops. The name of the yacht, together with a cut describing it as a schooner, sloop or steamer, is placed opposite the name of its owner and at the back of the Summer Social Register all the yachts are arranged in alphabetical order opposite the names of their owners as a key for ready reference.

The Summer Social Register, as its name implies, gives the summer addresses of the families in the following cities, where the families are not to be found at the winter address appearing in the previous issues of the year: New York, Washington, Philadelphia, Chicago, Boston, Providence, St. Louis, Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Dayton, St. Paul, Minneapolis, San Francisco, Baltimore, Buffalo, New Orleans, Southern Cities, Seattle, Portland and Southern California, which are the cities covered by the association.

Rev. Neilson Poe Carey conducted the special war services in St. John's church at Beverly Farms yesterday at 5.30. Many of the summer parishioners were present. Plans had been made to have Dr. Wm. G. Thayer of the Ipswich summer colony speak at the church during July, but he has been appointed on a committee to visit the Reserve Officers' Training camps in New York and Penn. and cannot come until sometime in August. After the reading of the war service and singing of patriotic songs, Dr. Carey spoke briefly on the subject of "God's Armour."

He discussed armaments, showing their absorbing interest today; how factories are given over to their making, and how success depends on their production. He contrasted the personal armour used in hand to hand combat with the warfare of today, which is impersonal. In putting on God's armour today he showed that it was a spirit of evil we are fighting. We are not in war for money, industries, trade rights, colonies or countries, but that the brotherhood of man should not perish.

He said we should pray that our soldiers be kept from degradation; that our rulers have a single high purpose; that there will be no hatred between persons; and that we should pray for our enemies in the spirit that Jesus prayed on the cross, when He said, "Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do."

"In God we trust," our coin motto, should be lived as well as read these days, he declared.

Dr. Carey received a very pleasant surprise this week in the shape of a handsome Buick, a gift from some parishioners.

Remember there are two shows every evening at the Locom theatre, Beverly,—at 6.30 and 8.30, the last feature picture never starts until 9.30. adv.

THE Essex County club, at Manchester, is to attract the attention of golfers from far and wide on Saturday, July 21, when the final match between Francis Ouimet and Jesse P. Guilford, and Michael J. Brady and Louis Tellier will be played. It is advertised as a "Patriotic Golf Match," for it is run for the benefit of the Mass. Golf association war ambulance fund. A charge of $1 will be made and anyone may buy a tag to see the match. Playing will be morning and afternoon, as it will be 36 holes at match play, best ball. Ouimet and Guilford won the first match, at Brae-Burn, 4 up. They lost the second, at Country club, 1 down. The third match ought to be a good one.

North Shore people will be delighted with the opportunity to visit "Castle Hill," the summer home of R. T. Miss Burke is a most interesting speaker and her talk ought to be a highly interesting character, as she has seen active service in France, and she is personally acquainted with many of the prominent French officials and army officers, including General Joffre.

The Pierce studio in Manchester had a flag raising of its very own on the Fourth. The genial lady who has long presided there unfurled a flag of her own production. It bears the motto: "Made to commemorate the entrance of the United States into the Great War. Long may it wave!" It is a 9 x 6 flag and has been the work of loving hands the past two months. Every seam and hem is strengthened by tape. Not a stitch shows where it should not. The stars, 48 on either side, took hours to place, but each one is perfectly laid and secured with minute stitches. The grummetts are made of cord heavily buttonholed around.

THE opening of the Paine, Haven and Loring estates at Pride's Crossing at the instigation of Mrs. Robert S. Bradley for the local Red Cross work was a great success last Saturday. Notes of the day: The weather was perfect; crowds came from Boston and far beyond; gate receipts were $467; victrola (playing patriotic airs and in charge of Miss Bradley and Master Bobby Bradley Cutler) $18; flags sold by little girls all through the grounds $15; Page & Shaw Tea Room manager, O. E. Dunham, $31.83 (one-half of the proceeds of the day). After deducting a few expenses the sum realized is $500. Boy scouts ushered the guests through the grounds or were stationed at intervals to direct. Each estate had a competent corps of its assistants on duty to direct and explain matters of interest about the place. The Christian Endeavor society of Beverly Farms Baptist church paid the expenses of the boy scouts. The Royal Blue Line of motors helped advertise the event and brought three ears full of guests for the day.

Among those noted in charge of the gates were Rev. Neilson Poe Carey, Mr. Moffett, Willard B. Publicover, Howard A. Doane, Rev. Clarence Strong Pond, scout master of Beverly Farms, and others.

A pleasing feature was the arrival of the North Shore Cadets Band with Ruel L. Davis in charge, from the Pitch Pine Hall flag raising. They took the managers of the affair by surprise as they marched over the main avenues playing lively patriotic airs. It was a thoroughly appreciated "contribution" by hosts and guests. About 20 young men from the Marblehead Aviation Corps were brought over through the courtesy of Charles K. Cummings. They acted as guides throughout the grounds.

Assisting Mrs. Bradley on the general committee and work of the affair were Mrs. W. B. Thomas, Mrs. Wm.

H. Moore, Mrs. Chas. K. Cummings, the Misses Loring and Mrs. Henry P. King. After the inspection of the Paine-Haven estates, many visited the Loring home to which the tickets also admitted.

Nathaniel T. Lane, Jr., son of Mrs. Nathaniel Lane of St. Louis and Manchester Cove, is attending the U. S. Junior Naval Reserve, Camp Cleveland, at Marion, on Buzzards bay. This is a naval and military training camp giving physical, nautical and infantry training to boys in preparatory schools. Young Mr. Lane is attending Phillips academy at Andover.

Mrs. W. J. Ehrich of New York has taken up her summer residence in the Williams cottage on Summer street, Magnolia, for the season. Included in her household are her sister-in-law, Mrs. A. A. Adler with son, Ehrich Adler, and little daughter. Mrs. Ehrich was a season guest at the Oceanside last year.

Myron C. Wick, Jr., son of Mrs. Myron C. Wick of Manchester Cove and Youngstown, Ohio, is spending six months in the American Ambulance Field Service in France.

YOUR BOYS' CLUB is one that appeals to the boy and man as well, for it is reasonable thought, that of supervised recreation. Under the direction of E. J. Smutny the boys of the North Shore colony may derive the benefits of the club, whose standards and laws are worthy of making splendid future citizens. Outdoor activities consist of scout drilling, farm work, hikes, etc. Mr. Smutny is a graduate of the Ethical Culture High school of New York and is spending the summer in Magnolia. The boys assemble at a specified locality at 2.30 p. m. daily and disband in time to return home at 5.30 p. m.

ON Saturday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Coolidge entertained at "Blynman Farm," their wonderful estate at Magnolia, about 150 of Mr. Coolidge's associates in the many business enterprises with which he is affiliated. The weather was gloriously sunny and pleasant affording a very enjoyable outing for the guests. In the evening supper was served upon the lawn.

W. Watson Caswell, Jr., spent the Fourth with his parents at the Brownlands, Manchester. He brought a party of friends from the First Corps Cadets with whom he is stationed in Boston, and which has been accepted by the government as an engineering regiment.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Gray Foster (nee Florence Southerland) entertained Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Cleaver of Dallas, Texas, over the week-end. Included in the Foster household at "Crowncliff," Coolidge's Point, Manchester, as usual, is A. F. Southerland of New York, Mrs. Foster's father. Mrs. Cleaver is still a guest at the Foster home, Mr. Cleaver returning to New York on Monday with Mr. Foster, who comes up each week-end to be with his family.

Miss Mabel Sturgis and Miss Margaret Curtis, daughter of Mrs. Greely S. Curtis, are of the Manchester colony, who are doing war refugee work in Paris. They are under Mrs. Shurtleff, wife of Rev. Ernest Shurtleff of Boston. Their work consists of helping to provide lodging and work and thus set upon their feet again the poor and worthy people of the northern provinces who seek aid in Paris.

The Nathaniel S. Simpkins family are now settled in Hamilton for the season. Friends of the young son, Tudor, will be sorry to hear that Bobo, the pet dog so highly prized by him, was killed by an auto just before the family left Boston.

ARTHUR F. LUKE of Beverly Farms royally entertained about 500 of his friends and neighbors last Saturday afternoon at a flag raising on the grounds of Pitch Pine Hall, his beautiful country home, formerly occupied by the Italian Embassy. The 75-foot pole is topped with a big bronze eagle and the points of the compass. The flag is 17x27, an unusually large one. It was unfurled to the strains of the Star Spangled Banner by Miss Freida Fleck of New York and Wilbur Hardy of the Farms, who wore his sailor uniform. Mr. Luke welcomed the guests in a neat little friendly speech and introduced his speakers for the day. His pastor, Rev. Julian L. Jaynes of West Newton, offered prayer. Mayor McPherson of Beverly and Alderman T. D. Connolly of Beverly Farms made interesting short talks. The principal address of the afternoon was a stirring one by Logan L. McLean of Boston. The North Shore Cadets Band gave many patriotic selections during the afternoon. Souvenir booklets, one of patriotic songs and one on the history of the flag, were given to the guests. Refreshments were served to all in the house at the close of the exercises. Among the guests of honor were the old Civil War veterans of Beverly Farms and the Sons of Veterans. Mr. Luke has been a summer resident in the village over 40 years. He says what Beverly Farms has done for him has been a big factor in his life.

Mrs. E. B. Haven is not spending the summer at Beverly Farms as is her custom, but is at the Hotel Thorwald, Bass Rocks, for the season.

George N. Black and Charles B. Pitman left Manchester Wednesday morning for Mr. Black's old family home in Maine, where the homestead, on an island, has attracted him for a month every summer since boyhood.

Miss Freida Fleck of New York is spending the summer at the home of her sister, Mrs. Arthur F. Luke (Anna Fleck), of Pitch Pine Hall, Beverly Farms.

THE SIGN OF THE CRANE Tea Room in Manchester has a charm for all lovers of pretty gifts. Each season finds the little gift shop with a larger display of pretty and useful articles. One stunning bag in black and white and a black satin with wool handles are specimens of this excellent line of bags.

Other attractive gifts are laundry bags, motor emergency bags, fascinating baby blankets, baby face cloths, pulman caps each in its own little box, choice favors, natural linen tray covers, guest room workboxes decorated with wool flowers, a crocheted linen fillet antimacassar for a davenport, serving pads, handkerchief baskets and unusual strings of beads of the kind sold at the shop of the Misses Harlow and Howland in Magnolia last year.

IN a manner befitting the 4th of July of 1917, the holiday was quiet spent at the Oceanside, Magnolia. Had the Fourth fallen on a day nearer the last or first of the week, much gayer would have been the event, for then the week-end might have been prolonged, and many of the young men in training would thus have had an opportunity to visit their friends. This pretext for a good time could not be taken and gaiety was materially hampered. Everybody continued to knit, accomplishing better results, perhaps, for the trend of the day was most patriotic in a quiet and unobtrusive way.

Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Culbert of New York were among the initial guests at the Oceanside, which has been their wont for a number of seasons. Mrs. Culbert has numerous friends on the Shore who will be pleased to hear of her return.

Leaving her apartment at Riverbank Court, Cambridge, Mrs. Sarah E. Ford is again domiciled at the Oceanside for the summer, much to the pleasure of her many friends here.

Mrs. George H. Nettleton with maid of Kansas City is a recent arrival at the Oceanside where she is occupying her season apartment in the hotel. Mrs. Nettleton is being welcomed back in her circle of the hotel contingent with heartiness.

Arriving on Monday evening from St. Louis, Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Hussey with son Edward and daughter Helen, are now pleasantly settled in their apartments in Lawton cottage for the season. Their friends at the Oceanside are very glad of their return. Edward will no doubt be a popular member of the younger set as last year. Mrs. Hussey is a devotee of bridge and her friends are many among the hotel's clientele. Nolan Hussey, another son, is spending the summer at camp in Wisconsin.

West Flume cottage will be occupied this season by the Misses Ella and Clara Williamson of Philadelphia and Miss Laguerenne of Haverford, Pa. This is the ladies' first visit to Magnolia. Miss Laguerenne spends her winters in St. Augustine, where she registers at the Ponce de Leon.

Motorists from New York on Sunday who dined at the Oceanside included E. J. Roche, Jr., and Miss F. Settle of Paris, who are touring New England.

Newcomers to the Oceanside, who have already made many friends, are Mrs. E. R. Braden and daughter, Miss Louise of San Francisco. Mrs. Braden is a very charming woman, while Miss Louise will undoubtedly prove a dainty and interesting acquisition to the younger set. They plan to remain throughout the entire summer.

True to their promise of last year Mr. and Mrs. James M. Green of Washington have returned to their favorite hostelry for the season, which has been their custom for a number of summers and are occupying apartments in Perkins cottage, one of the Oceanside group.

This year Mr. and Mrs. John W. Anderson of Detroit, who spent last season at the Oceanside are occupying a cottage at Bass Rocks. With them are their son Wendell Anderson and charming daughter Miss Suzanne. Last summer the Andersons were very popular at Magnolia and their coming to the Oceanside frequently during the season is a hoped for pleasure by their friends. On Sunday the family lunched here and were extended greetings upon all sides.

Mr. and Mrs. Mahlon R. Bryan of Brookline, with their sweet and gracious daughter, Miss Janet, also their son Philip, have returned to their apartments in East Flume cottage for the season. Lieut. Charles Ely King and Mrs. King of Philadelphia, are also with the latter's parents for a several weeks' stay. Mrs. King, who as Doris Bryan, was one of the most popular girls of the younger set at the hotel, is receiving congratulations from her innumerable friends here who have not seen her since she became a bride.

WEDNESDAY evening's ball at the Oceanside was a very pleasing and brilliant event, a goodly number of the summer colony coming in for the good time. The dance music furnished by Prof. Kanrich and his orchestra was especially fine, each number displaying rhythm and being very tuneful. Beginning on Saturday weekly hops will be held throughout the season on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday evenings. Summer colonists are always glad of this announcement, for thus are they brought in touch with their many friends at these good times.

Arriving from Lakewood on Monday, the Misses Adsit of Chicago are now pleasantly domiciled in the Oceanside for the season. Their host of friends are pleased to welcome them back in their midst.

C. F. MacMurray of New York is a recent arrival at the Oceanside where he will be joined later by Mrs. MacMurray and his family who are motoring up from New York. As usual the MacMurrays will occupy apartments in Centre cottage.

A very attractive débutante is Miss Carolyn Guild, who is spending a week with her grandmother, Mrs. Chester Guild, of Boston, a regular guest each season at the Oceanside. Miss Guild, of the petit, blonde type, is very popular with the younger set.

Pleasantly settled in Sea Vista, one of the cottages of the Oceanside group is Mrs. James Longley of Boston, who arrived at Magnolia on Tuesday for her second season visit. Mrs. Longley spent last summer here.

Motorists from Providence on the holiday included Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Wilkinson, Mrs. C. A. Wilkinson, Miss Virginia Wilkinson, Mrs. H. Hustis and Miss Hustis, who spent the Fourth at the Oceanside hotel, returning to town on Thursday.

A group of motorists who enjoyed the holiday at the Oceanside included Mr. and Mrs. Frederick D. Carr, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Smith all of Providence, who found the roads very good, and remained longer than they had at first planned.

Guests of former seasons, who have returned to the Oceanside for the month of July are Mrs. I. G. Lombard and daughter, Mrs. H. E. Haas of Chicago.

En route for the White Mountains, Mrs. Augustus Kountze and maid, and niece, Mrs. K. W. Newhoff, both of New York, motored to the Oceanside and spent several days. The ladies were guests here two years ago and summers previous to that. Since then they have purchased a home in New Hampshire.

Dr. and Mrs. William R. P. Emerson of Boylston street, Boston, are occupying an apartment in Highland cottage, Magnolia, for the season, which has been their custom for a number of years. Their many friends are pleased with their return to the Oceanside.

VERY inspiring and thrilling to the hearers was the beautiful rendition on Wednesday afternoon of "The Star Spangled Banner" which Miss Christine Miller, prima donna, of Pittsburgh, in a most impromptu manner sang during the afternoon concert on the verandah of the Oceanside Hotel. The afternoon concert which always attracts the guest wherever he be was given as usual on the bandstand adjoining the south verandah. When the concert had progressed several numbers Miss Miller stood up from among the listeners and in a rich contralto voice sang our National Anthem, which touched everybody. No demonstration of patriotism could have made a deeper impression upon the audience. It stirred the heart strings of all with a deep force and warmth.

Dr. and Mrs. Heman L. Dowd have returned to New York after a very pleasant two weeks' stay at the hotel, where Mrs. Dowd renewed old friendships of previous seasons. Mrs. Dowd, who was formerly Alice Richard, of New York, became a bride a few months ago. Her mother, Mrs. Alice Moore Richard and sister, Miss Elvine Richard will remain at the hotel for the season.

Oceanside holiday visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Henry S. Hendricks and Mrs. Edgar Hendricks of New York, who enjoyed their stay and were most enthusiastic in their praises of the roads in and about Magnolia.

George H. Nettleton of Saratoga Springs, N. Y., came down to the Oceanside to spend the holiday with his grandmother, Mrs. George H. Nettleton, who is spending the season here, her usual custom.

Rev. and Mrs. Charles Wadsworth, Jr., entertained their son Charles' fiancée, Miss Martha C. Hollister of Grand Rapids, Mich., at dinner on Sunday. Other guests included her mother, Mrs. Clay Hollister, George and Clay H. Hollister, and Miss Mary Palmer.

Mrs. Henry Whipple Skinner and maid of Cambridge are at the Oceanside for the summer. Mrs. Skinner is the mother of Richard Dana Skinner, whose summer home is on University lane, Manchester. Mrs. Richard Dana Skinner, who was formerly Margaret M. Hill, is spending the summer here with the children. Mr. Skinner being enlisted with the Aviation Corps now in France.

A very sweet and charming little girl is Suzanne Anderson, who with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Anderson of Detroit, will spend the summer at the hotel. Suzanne was very popular among the children of her age last season at the hotel and her return to their circle is good news, indeed. Suzanne is a very pretty dancer, and unlike many girls can lead in the dance with a grace which is notable. She rides well, too, and was often seen during the summer of 1916 upon her horse in the beautiful bridle paths surrounding Magnolia.

TUESDAY evening, the first dance of the season was held in the Oceanside ball room, the participants consisting of the hotel guests and many visitors from the shore colony. The hotel orchestra gave a very delightful dance program, and thus inspired the dancers to while away the evening hours in pleasure and pleasantries. Dancing was prefaced by many dinners, guests of the hotel entertaining their friends in this charming manner.

Master Joseph, the bright young son of Mrs. Maurice Joseph of Cincinnati, who is pleasantly located in Lawton cottage for the season, is spending the summer at Camp Kennebec at North Belgrade, Maine. He will visit Magnolia for several weeks during the summer.

Miss Helen Wheelock of Indianapolis is a guest of Rev. and Mrs. Charles Wadsworth, Jr., for a lengthy stay.

On Sunday the Thursday Night club of Lawrence motored to the Oceanside and enjoyed dinner at the hotel. The party was made up of 25, who were sincere in their praise of the hospitalities of the hotel, and very enthusiastic in their lauding of the charm and beauty of Magnolia and its scenery.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Morse of Brookline have come to the Oceanside and taken apartments in Highland cottage where they will spend the entire summer. The Morses were guests at the Oceanside up to several seasons ago, and have returned after a few summers' lapse. Mrs. Morse is an earnest and enthusiastic worker for the French Relief at Boston, and will no doubt continue her endeavors while at Magnolia.

Mrs. E. W. Bentley of St. Louis accompanied by her two interesting young sons, John and James Raleigh, has returned to the Oceanside for the season and is being greeted by her numerous friends here.

Luncheon guests at the Oceanside on Monday included Mrs. L. T. Wilson of Kenilworth, Ill., Grace R. Hatch of New York and Mrs. Roderick Beebe of Cambridge.

Mrs. J. W. Tillinghast of Albany, N. Y., with her daughter, Mrs. G. B. Longstreet of Auburn, N. Y., and Mrs. S. K. McKenzie, also of Albany, were among last Saturday's arrivals at the Oceanside. Mrs. Tillinghast and her daughter will remain throughout the season, Mrs. McKenzie making only a short visit.

ALL roads led to the North Shore Grill at Magnolia on Saturday evening, bringing many of the North Shore colony to this very bright and alluring spot where an opening dinner and dance prefaced the season of festivities here. Not losing sight of the patriotic spirit of the summer, the grill and the bower which outlines its west exposure were brilliantly illuminated with red, white and blue electric lights, and Japanese lanterns, the interior showing the American flag in conspicuous display. Gorgeous peonies and poppies in vases were the floral decoration of the interior. Each of the tables in the grill held vases of bright summer blossoms. Dinner was served at seven, many reservations taking preference over the parties which had not made previous plans. The orchestra which has been engaged by the Grill management—a colored stringed orchestra of six pieces—was very popular during the evening, the dancers encoring again and again the new and pleasing selections played by the musicians.

One of the largest groups of diners noted during the evening was that presided over Mr. and Mrs. Henry Souther of Bass Rocks, who entertained fourteen. Mr. and Mrs. Henry B. Warner, also of Bass Rocks, entertained five guests. Five guests were entertained by Walter A. Hopkins of Boston.

Following in her usual custom, Miss Caroline W. Fuller has come to the Oceanside from her apartment at the Vendome, Boston, and with her companion has taken up her summer residence here.

Motorists who spent Sunday at the hotel included Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Barrett of New York City, who thoroughly enjoyed the Oceanside and Magnolia and found the roads good all the way.

F. K. Howard with valet, arrived from New York, at the Oceanside, on Saturday and has reserved apartments for the season. Mr. Howard has been a guest in former summers at the hotel.

Mrs. J. Frank Crouch with her daughter, Miss Eleanor Dietor have arrived at the Oceanside from their home in Baltimore and are occupying apartments in the Wilkins cottage for the season. Miss Dietor was among the young people who made life gay at the hotel last season, and her coming will be a stimulus to her friends here.

IPSWICH and North Shore society are interested in the engagement announced of Miss Margaret Bliss, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Bliss of Chestnut Hill, to Austin Blake Mason of Boston. Mr. Mason is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Mortimer B. Mason of Smith's Point, Manchester, and a brother of Herbert W. Mason of Ipswich. The wedding of their sister, Mrs. Franklin H. Trumbull (Miriam P. Mason) took place last summer in Ipswich.

George E. Barnard has given a thousand dollars for the endowment fund for the Benjamin Stickney Cable Memorial hospital, given to the town by R. T. Crane, Jr. It is possible that the hospital will be put to war use. It is reported that some of the wounded from the Allied Armies are to be sent to the United States. The hospital will be available for their use, it is said.

Mr. and Mrs. Leverett Saltonstall Tuckerman (Linda Scarritt), have returned from their honeymoon trip and are settled for the season at "Applefield," Mr. Tuckerman's summer home at Ipswich. The marriage of Miss Scarritt to Mr. Tuckerman took place at the Church of the Advent, Boston, on June 2.

The dedication of the hospital given to the town of Ipswich by the R. T. Cranes will be held July 20.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert W. Mason of Candlewood Farm, Ipswich, gave a dinner recently at Y<sup>e</sup> Rogers Manse for Mr. and Mrs. Howard Doughty and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Atterbury.

"Floriana," the handsome Peabody estate on County road is occupied this year by Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. Dawes of Pittsfield, who have not been in their Ipswich home for several years. The past two seasons it has been occupied by Ogden Codman, the architect, of New York.

Mrs. Howard Doughty has with her for the season Mrs. G. F. Flichtner and Miss Flichtner of So. Orange, N. J. They are annual visitors to Ipswich. Miss Theriot has just returned to So. Orange from a short visit at the Doughty home.

Mrs. Francis R. Appleton of "Appleton Farms" is in charge of the Surgical Dressings of the Ipswich Red Cross. She is assisted by Mrs. Crockett, wife of Dr. Crockett of Argilla road. The meetings are well attended and are held Friday afternoons in the Warren street school. A tax of 10 cents is made at each meeting for the purchase of material.

Ipswich Red Cross society has Dr. F. W. Keyes as president; George S. Hodgkins, treasurer; Mrs. George E. Barnard, chairman of executive committee; and Mrs. Howard Doughty, chairman of the workroom committee. The women of the town and country and of the summer colony are enthusiastic over the work and are meeting Tuesday afternoons and Wednesday evenings in the Warren street school in two large rooms, Y<sup>e</sup> Burnham House in Ipswich is going to do its "bit" to help the Red Cross. Patrons may see its treasures free of charge. Others will be asked 25c, which will be put in the Red Cross box. The manager, Mrs. Martha Murray, gave a Red Cross tea at the year-round place, Martha Ann Tea Shop, in Salem, during Red Cross week, and gave $86, the entire proceeds, to the society. A Red Cross tea will be a feature at Y<sup>e</sup> Burnham House soon. Noted among the guests this season have been Miss Lila Lancashire of Manchester, who has been over with several parties of young folk for whom she was entertaining. Other guests have been Mrs. Geo. E. Tener and party of five of East Gloucester; Mr. and Mrs. Alvin F. Sortwell of Hamilton; Chester Lockwood of Washington and the Alex. B. Steinerts of Beverly Cove; Miss Josephine Flood of Rye Beach; Mrs. H. W. Brown and many of the Bass Rocks colony; besides being the stopping place for motor parties on their way to Maine resorts.

Rev. and Mrs. Roland Cotton Smith have not opened "Cottonfield" in Ipswich, but are now remaining in Washington to be near their son, who is stationed at the nearby fort. Dr. Smith is rector of St. John's Church in Washington, D. C.

Rev. Robert B. Parker and Mrs. Parker are leaving next week for Vermont. During their absence the Ascension Memorial church will be in charge of Rev. Reginald Coe of Belmont. Mrs. Parker has closed the war relief work for the summer which has met the past winter in her home.

The family of the C. M. Woods of Ohio are newcomers to Ipswich. They have purchased the Marshall farm on Essex road in the Candlewood section. They are now among the guests at Y<sup>e</sup> Rogers Manse.

Rev. and Mrs. William G. Thayer are again at "Holiday Hill," the Ipswich summer home. Last season they returned after an absence of several years. Dr. Thayer is Master of St. Mark's school.

Hope never hurt any one, never yet interfered with duty; nay, always strengthens to the performance of duty, gives courage and clears the judgment.—George MacDonald.

NAHANT.—The wedding of Miss Elizabeth Bowditch Fay, oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dudley B. Fay of Boston and Nahant to Dr. P. McGann of Somerville, took place last Saturday at Nahant in the rectory of St. Thomas Aquinas's church. The Rev. Wm. T. O'Connor performed the ceremony. The bride, who was unattended, wore a white silk gown and a white hat. Philip McGann was his brother's best man. Breakfast was served at the Fay home.

PHILLIPS BEACH residents centered their daylight attentions on the holiday on a very well attended flag-raising at the Neighborhood club and band concert on the veranda of the clubhouse. This custom was carried out last year, and bids fair to becoming a fixed one. The club which, by the way, outrivals all others of its idea and mission on all of the North Shore, as to beauty, attractiveness as well as usefulness, enjoyed open house all day, light refreshments being dispensed by the steward.

The gardens on the grounds of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Terhune on Ocean avenue are indeed very beautiful these days, the blossoms never before showing more gorgeously than they do at present. All varieties of flowers seem to have found life here, the colorful display including brilliant vermilion poppies, sky blue iris as well as peonies in many shades of beauty. Wild rose bush hedges seem to have discovered how exceptionally lovely they are here and blossom abundantly for that reason. The Terhunes have every cause to be proud of their gardens.

Leaving Phillips Beach for a short visit, Mrs. John Chatman of Ocean avenue has gone to Kennebunkport to spend a few weeks with her mother, Mrs. Titcomb. Accompanying Mrs. Chatman was her cousin, Miss Helen Robinson of Columbia, S. C., who has just finished a Red Cross nurse training for services in France.

Charles B. Price has purchased the Eben Phillips house, so ideally situated at the junction of Puritan road and Atlantic avenue, which for several years has been idle. He is putting it into condition and has moved with his family into the house. Very cheery is the appearance of the homestead, now freshened considerably by painting, as well as in toning up the grounds, which had been rather neglected.

Yearly subscription to North Shore Breeze, $2.00.

BEACH BLUFF observed the holidays in the most patriotic way imaginable that of hoeing in its gardens and making dressings and bandages for the wounded of our Allies. Always before, this charming settlement of summer people has been a leader in fireworks display, every July 4th being observed by a gorgeous exhibition, but not so on this glorious 4th,—everybody was busily engaged in farming.

At the Tedesco club patriotism was materially shown in the recent announcement at the clubhouse that dues of members who are now in he service of Uncle Sam would be suspended during the period of their call to the colors. This news has real worth, and is not of the flimsy variety. Officers for the ensuing years are W. A. Paine, president; John Mason Little and I. W. Chick, vice presidents; F. M. Sawtells, secretary; James M. Rothwell, treasurer; F. H. Gage, Andrew W. Preston E. W. Ong, E. H. Clapp, B. H. Johnson, F. E. Peabody, E. W. Cobb, Charles H. Conway, W. H. Rothwell, acting as a board of governors.

The night before the 4th was celebrated at the Tedesco club when a brilliant dinner dance was given in the clubhouse. Everything was patriotic, flags being used profusely in decorative note. The weather, which was very propitious, enabled the plans of the management to be carried out. The Salem Cadet Band stationed upon a newly erected platform adjoining the west verandah furnished music for the concert and dancing. There were many dinner parties included, among which was that given by Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus O. Baker of New York. Noted at the table were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Costello, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Shuman, Mrs. J. A. Burnham, Mrs. Frank Hoyt of New York, who is a house guest at the Baker summer home at Marblehead.

Yearly subscription, to North Shore Breeze, $2.00.

NEW OCEAN HOUSE—Patriotism prevailed at the hotel during the holiday the spirit of the glorious Fourth extending from the confines of the inner circles of the hotel to the patriotic demonstration upon the green overlooking the beach. On the evening of the Fourth a very sumptuous dinner was served in the new and beautiful dining room amid a profusion of flowers, peonies, roses and sweet peas lending their beauty to the scene. Many private dinner parties were given prefacing the formal ball, which was held in the ball room following dinner. The hotel orchestra which has earned an enviable reputation, upheld its record by giving forth one of the best concerts that has ever been heard at the hotel, and furnishing wondrously rhythmic strains for the dancing which was enjoyed by the hotel guests, as well as many of the cottage colony of the shore who came in for the evening.

Mrs. E. R. Grabow has planned a delightful children's party which will be given in the ballroom on Wednesday afternoon, July 11th. The children of the North Shore have been invited to attend this pretty function, little girls with their loveliest frocks beribboned in bright hues and little boys in their best will enjoy the hospitality of the hotel. Every year Mrs. Grabow is hostess at the children's party, and all the youngsters, who are so fortunate as to be included in the guest list, have a perfectly wonderful time. The children will play games, dance, and after these pastimes have been indulged in for several hours, dainty refreshments will be served. A very good time is anticipated.

St. Louis is represented at the hotel in the persons of Mayor Henry W. Kiel and Louis Nolte. Mr. Kiel is prominent in the civic affairs of that city. The gentlemen are making their first visit and are so impressed with the hotel and its attractions that they will remain indefinitely.

Included in the new guests to make the hotel their summer residence are Mr. and Mrs. John P. Walworth of Lawrence, and the latter's sister, Miss Frances E. Aldred. Mr. Walworth is a very prominent manufacturer of that city. Golf is his special hobby and the golf course is always a lure for him.

Returning for the season to her favorite hostelry is Mrs. R. K. Townsend of Albany, who arrived at the hotel during the first part of the week. Mrs. Townsend has made the New Ocean House her summer residence for a number of seasons and is very popular with the hotel contingent.

Mrs. H. W. Pillow of Canada will spend the season with her mother, Mrs. L. R. Fairbank and brother J. Mitchell Fairbank, who are now located at the hotel for the season. Mrs. Pillow's husband, who is a major in the Canadian forces, is now in France seeing active service.

Mrs. Lamont G. Burnham of the Somerset is spending the summer at the New Ocean House. Mrs. Burnham, who for a number of seasons owned and occupied a pretty summer villa at Beach Bluff, is well known to the summer colony of the North Shore, and her coming to Swampscott is pleasing news to her many friends here. Entertaining quite a bit in former seasons, Mrs. Burnham will, no doubt, be a charming hostess on several occasions during the summer.

Arriving from New Orleans last Sunday, Alfred S. Amer is now pleasantly located at this hotel for a lengthy stay. Mr. Amer is manager of New Orleans' most popular and pretentious hotel, the St. Charles, the stopping place of many of the tourists from this locality who winter in the south. Mr. Amer at one time managed the Hotel Somerset at Boston.

Capt. Franklin D. Olier of the Naval Reserves was a week-end visitor at the New Ocean House where he enjoyed the surf bathing and the many other attractions which this locality offers.

Philadelphia society is represented here in the persons of Mrs. Alice G. Page and Mrs. Annie B. Graham, both prominent in the social circles of that city.

Bostonians who have registered at the New Ocean House for the season, which is their usual custom, are Mrs. Roscoe Davis and maid and Jesse B. Thomas and sister, Miss Helen Thomas.

Registered for a ten weeks' stay are Mr. and Mrs. Alfred W. Walter of Chicago.

Coming from the exclusive Hotel Majestic of Philadelphia where they make their home, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Hanna are occupying apartments at the hotel for a few months' stay. Mr. Hanna is a prominent clubman of the Quaker City, both he and Mrs. Hanna enjoying the leadership in exclusive society circles there.

Rev. Dr. J. H. Morron and daughters, Jean and Sarah, of Peoria, are recent arrivals at the New Ocean House for the season. The Morrons have been coming to Swampscott for a number of seasons, and their friends are many in the hotel.

Mrs. C. D. Sawyer of Boston, who has done such splendid work in the Boston unit, is spending the summer here.

En route for Bretton Woods, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Kitching of Cathedral Height, New York City, are spending a few weeks at the New Ocean House.

Honeymooners at the New Ocean House are Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Taylor of Cleveland, who are touring in their Packard through New England. Mrs. Taylor is a June bride and was formerly Miss Edith Brinard of Cleveland. Mr. Taylor is a leading landscape architect of that city.

SALEM, MASS.

SWAMPSCOTT, besides leading with notable generalship the Red Cross, Navy League work and the like, which in every case means patriotic spirit tenfold, it also has taken no small part in the "farm" spirit of the season, with such splendid results that now, home gardens as well as municipal gardens flourish increasingly. When the word was spread through the country that those "who cannot arm may farm" Swampscott caught it, for its echo was felt and repeated here. So earnestly have the Swampscott summer folk worked, that what in former years were beautiful, velvety lawns, the pride of the owner, as well as of the gardener, have been transformed into splendid potato plots, vegetable gardens and the like.

Dr. W. Jason Mixer sailed for France with the medical staff of the Massachusetts General Hospital unit during the past week, leaving Mrs. Mixer and the children at the summer home of his parents, Dr. and Mrs. S. J. Mixer at "Stroke," Galloupe's Point. After a brief visit Mrs. Mixer will go to visit her mother, Mrs. H. H. Fay at Woods Hole.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Langmaid have rented their Phillips Avenue villa and have gone to Marblehead Neck for the summer.

Miss Eleanor Holton and Miss Rosamund Holton, the pretty daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert H. Holton of Phillips Beach made very charming Red Cross nurses in the recent campaign for funds, and were most successful in the collection returns, netting a substantial sum for the worthy cause.

Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Raymond of New Rochelle, N. Y., are spending a short time at the New Ocean House in a tour of the country in their motor car. Accompanying them is their son, who will enter a summer camp in New Hampshire after leaving here. Mrs. Raymond is a prominent member of the Red Cross in New York where she has done very efficient and a large amount of work.

Mrs. Charles E. Longley has come from her town home at Pawtucket, R. I., and opened her beautiful estate at the corner of Atlantic avenue and Ocean avenue. Her son, Charles E. Longley, Jr., and Mrs. Longley of New York will be her guests during a part of the summer.

A GROUP OF PHILLIPS BEACH matrons have formed a unit of the Red Cross surgical work and are meeting every Monday morning under the tutelage of Mrs. W. F. Watters and Mrs. Grace Bery Aborn at the Neighborhood club. The meetings were begun several weeks ago and have been well attended by the ladies of that vicinity, although many of these very ladies are earnest workers at the Friday morning meetings of the Surgical Dressings committee of the Peter Bent Brigham hospital. As is usual, the ladies are by voluntary contributions, financing the work, their offerings going towards the purchase of supplies for the making of the bandages, dressings, sweaters and socks. No more inspiring a sight can be imagined than the picture of these women as they arrive at the clubhouse, each carrying a work bag containing all sorts of yarns, needles and the like, and always a sweater or pair of socks in the process of making. Among the ladies noted at the Monday morning meeting were, besides the organizers, Mrs. Frank H. Gage, Mrs. Frederick Woods, Mrs. Louis Atherton, Mrs. Arthur Huguley, Mrs. John Chatman, Mrs. W. L. Terhune, Mrs. A. E. Blake, and Mrs. M. L. Stanley, the latter of Winthrop, Me.

MARBLEHEAD NECK was a very quiet and undemonstrative place during the holiday, believing in the "safe and sane" slogan. No fireworks display of any note were to be seen, the summer colonists, in the patriotic spirit which is synonymous of them, aiding the Red Cross and the Navy League rather than in the more frivolous way of manifestation. It is indeed very touching to observe how the summer residents have taken up the food production and conservation movement, many of them plowing up their lawns and planting potatoes, corn, beans and the like which are flourishing remarkably.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas G. Frothingham are late arrivals at the Neck where they have recently opened their summer home. Their little daughter, Eleanor, is with them.

Frederick A. Flood and Joseph Ganin, both members of the Corinthian Yacht club have taken up their summer residence at the clubhouse, commuting to business each day.

"Mollhurst," Marblehead Neck, was the scene of an interesting birthday party on Monday, July 2d, being the celebration of Master Edwin Arthur Shuman, Jr.'s, 11th birthday. His mother, Mrs. Edwin Arthur Shuman, who spent a refreshing week-end in Far Rockaway, Long Island, as guest of Mrs. John T. Murray, returned home just in time to join the little folk in their festivities. Master Shuman made a very fine host and his generosity was the cause of much merriment when he cut his beautiful birthday cake into huge slices for his fellow playmates. Among the favored little fellows present were Masters Phillip Hamilton, Wilbur and John Wells, Robert and Samuel Walker, Francis Mullen and Francis Keegan Shuman. Little Miss Lilian Gertrude Shuman, four years old, was the charming little guest of honor and enjoyed the merriment fully as well as did the elder boys.

E. S. Booth of Brookline has again rented the large Tyner house at Marblehead Neck, and has been settled there for the last few weeks with his family. Mr. Booth has made quite a showing of his lawn by having transformed it into a miniature farm, and takes pride in his fine growing of many vegetables. Wm. S. Booth, formerly of New York, is now engaged in business in Boston with his father. Wolcott Booth, the younger son, has passed his examinations for Technology, which institution he expects to enter in the fall. He is at present on a cruise along the Maine coast with Sydney A. Beggs, and party in his yacht, "Ruweida."

William D. Baber, a prominent Pittsburgh broker, recently arrived at the Neck with his family, which is now established in the Harlow bungalow on Harbor street. This is the Babers' first season here.

FOURTH OF JULY had a new significance this year. The day set aside to commemorate the anniversary of the adoption of the declaration which made America an independent nation found America, for the first time in its history, the ally of a European nation and—strangely enough—the very nation from which she declared her independence just 141 years ago. America is no longer to remain isolated from the rest of the world with her only relation to other nations one of foster-parent to their emigrant citizens. She has taken her place in the great Brotherhood of Nations. While the observance of Fourth of July lost none of its patriotic fervor, the day was celebrated in the broader spirit, which is characterizing the aims of the nation today. In Manchester, in particular, this was observed; for, mingled everywhere with the Stars and Stripes were found the flags of the leading nations of the Allies. A decided patriotic enthusiasm was in evidence at the demonstration in Manchester, a notable fact being the large number of summer residents who gathered to participate in or observe the big parade in the morning.

THE CAMPAIGN of Mr. Hoover for food conservation is being assisted by the greatest weapon he could command—publicity. The most powerful of statesmen have been unable to secure what Mr. Hoover has easily acquired, the united support of the press of the country. The promptness with which the support was forthcoming is ample expression of the confidence the country has in the new food director and proof that the sponsor for any disinterested and patriotic movement can depend upon the agencies of publicity to stand back of him.

IN THE ZEAL to assist the many war enterprises that are under way liberal givers must not neglect to maintain adequately the local Red Cross chapters and their interests. These stations are self supporting in a large measure or they hope to be and the workers can use to advantage the funds which are placed at their disposal to purchase bandages and sponges for real service. The wonderful fact concerning this work on the North Shore has been that the work had already begun when the war broke out and many bandages prepared. Help the local chapter, but do not fail to contribute to the general fund.

ALEXANDER H. MAGUIRE has been made a knight and well does he deserve the honor bestowed upon him. In the early days of the manufacture of matches white phosphorus was used with destructive effects upon the workmen, among the results being the much dreaded "phossy jaw." Sir Alexander introduced the bill restricting the modes of manufacture that have resulted in the elimination of the diseases attendant upon the use of white phosphorus.

THE NORTH SHORE GARDENS never looked fairer than last Saturday and the throngs who came to see the estates that have been thrown open for the first time have realized the beauties of our shore. It was a good plan well executed and the Red Cross netted a tidy sum through the generosity and open-heartedness of the Pride's Crossing folk.

THE SUBMARINE MENACE may have been increasing as far as tonnage sunk is concerned, but that means that the ships are still sailing the sea. The tonnage sunk could very easily be lessened by the withdrawal of craft from the high seas. While Great Britain is unable to conquer the submarine it is quite evident that she has been able to circumvent the little craft in their depredations against troop ships and one is led to believe that they have found the way out. The marvelous record of Canada in sending so many men across without the loss of a man is a testimony to that.

THE GREAT HUMANITARIAN work of the City of Boston will be continued and the Floating Hospital is already in service. In our anxiety to aid the soldiers and sailors upon the sea and to send relief to stricken Belgium it must be ever borne in mind that these are extra cares for America to bear and that the usual benevolences of the communities must be sustained. America cannot go back while Germany is being defeated.

IT HAS BEEN ESTABLISHED quite satisfactorily that the supremacy in this conflict is to come through the maintenance of greater power than the enemy in the air. The eyes of the army are the air craft operators and if the Allies can keep the Germans out of the air the victory is assured.

THE EXEMPTION BOARD for the district has been appointed and they are able and just men. No suspicions of influence or intrigue can ever be held of them. The district is fortunate in having such an honorable and efficient board of men to serve.

EVERY PERSON who knows the name of any young man in the service should see that the name is registered in the Bureau established by every Red Cross station. A record of the young men is to be kept. The full name and the name of the regiment should be filed with dates.

WHEN A REGIMENT of MARINES numbering over twenty-five hundred slip quietly away from New York for France without the knowledge of two baseball teams, contesting in an athletic field nearby, the secrecy of army movements has been very well established.

THE Y. M. C. A. has named its building the "Red Triangle Building." Four million dollars are now needed for the work and if you cannot "go across, you can come across and help the men who are going across."

CONSTANTINE AND NICHOLAS are solacing one another, but there will be another ruler out of a position soon and Europe will have an Ex-Rulers' club on its hands to care for.

SECRETARY DANIELS has done something that Newport will remember for many a day. The work has been well done and the United States is the gainer.

THE REGULAR ARMY is now having a recruiting week and before the week is out the ranks should be filled,

MUCH OF THE SUCCESS of the present war depends upon chemicals, the supply of chemicals and particularly upon the chemical engineer. Thirty thousand of the latter are already mobilized in the interests and service of the government, under the direction of the National Committee in Washington, and as a body, are prepared to give of their science and ability to further the victory which must come to this country. Not only is the chemical engineer a prime factor now, during the period when chemicals are playing their part in the fighting on all fronts, but the chemical engineer, in entering the powerful preparations of the world of American manufacturers is a higher one than before the war, and that his place in the van of national development is fully established. There are problems that are in the solving period which will be brought before the fifty-fifth convention of the American Chemical society to be held in Boston in September, and not only is the interest of the chemists of the country centered upon discussions which will be held at that meeting, but there are many who are awaiting the results of that meeting for the furtherance of their business and manufacture.

AT THE HARVARD ALUMNI REUNION and commencement week at which time Mr. Hoover and Sir Cecil Spring Rice spoke, having received earlier in the day, the high honorary degrees which entitle them to the privileges of Harvard university, the speaker's platform was effectively and artistically decorated with the national colors, red white and blue in a new and strikingly simple arrangement. Over each of the red panels, marked out by the overlaid stripes of white and then a center strip of blue was a festoon of the flags of each of our Allies with the name in attractive, artistic letters. What an array of Allies there are. On the left Cuba's flag was placed, and next came the flags of Portugal, Serbia, Belgium, Russia and England. On the right were the flags of France, Italy, Japan, Roumania, Montenegro and Panama, and if the meeting were today the flag of Brazil would have been in place. It was thus presented in a most effective way for the eye to see, by the symbols of the flags, who the Allies are.

THE CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION has already begun to run out and the lack of interest shown in the decision at the polls to hold the Convention and the small vote at the polls for the candidates indicates that the public was not particularly interested. The sectarian issue has been quite thoroughly threshed out and the Initiative and Referendum has passed the hearings quite harmoniously, but the voters are waiting. It would not surprise those who are most interested in following the manipulations of the voters follow the example set by the voters of New York and reject the draft submitted. The Convention never should have been called at this time.

THE HOSPITAL UNIT raised on the North Shore has proven to be a very popular and profitable line of service. Within a very short while after the call for men the quotas were mustered and examinations held. The young men will go into service in the Base Hospitals of France. They will undoubtedly be placed where their work will count for the most. These young men have chosen their work without being drafted for work, without any choice on their own part.

THE NORTH SHORE has entered into a profitable and pleasant season. Profitable, for all nature is working overtime to develop the seed and growing crops that are planting or developing; and pleasant, because it is the season of all seasons when nature is at her best.

THE ALLIES are now assisted by Brazil, who has decided that her interests are also involved and that nation cannot longer bear the military aggressions of the Germans. The world has already created out of the present war a most effective League to Enforce Peace. Before the war commenced far-seeing men who realized the undeveloped state of the so-called international code of law endeavored to interest the nations in an effective court of the nations to adjust the differences between nations by processes of law and thus avoid the possibility of war and all of its terror and bloodshed. What peace and its hypnotic influence could not do the war has done, already, and the nations now allied against Germany are an effective and powerful force in the field to compel peace and there will be peace with victory for the cause of peace and democracy the world over. The needs for propaganda for a League of Peace are passed; the League is already in existence and is at work upon the field of battle and of honor. The game has been thrown and taken and the League of Nations to Enforce Peace must fight on.

IT HAS NOW BEEN REVEALED that Italy has won great honor among the Allies. The honor had not been known to many, but the secret has come out and Italy will forever receive the just credit due to her for her activities. Italy declared herself neutral after war was declared without delay and so notified France. In fact the Italian representative in France in the middle of the night aroused the French official from his rest and informed him of the attitude which his government was going to take. This made it possible for France to mobilize all her troops against Germany and made it unnecessary for France to protect the Italian frontier. If Belgium was the grain of sand that threw the great German war machine out of gear what will we, what must we, say of Italy. It is evident that Italy has won her high place in the councils of the nations.

THE COAL SITUATION is now very well in hand and if all of the signs of the trade are read aright the consumer will be able to obtain his coal at very greatly reduced prices soon and the dealer will be able to deliver with much greater certainty than he has been able to do the last winter. The conditions last winter were unprecedented and the weather, together with the hysteria caused by the war, resulted in conditions that were difficult to remedy. An efficient commission is at work upon the coal question and the winter coming will bring lower prices and quicker deliveries of coal when purchased.

MANCHESTER AND BEVERLY lived well up to their responsibilities in the raising of funds for the Red Cross campaign. The work was done effectively, systematically and liberally. Great credit is due to the individual workers and to the campaign committees that laid the plans for action. The work was done thoroughly and creditably. The first campaign has been effectively completed, the workers have learned how and the public will be prepared to give generously when the next call comes. There will be a next call, but it is easier to give money than to stop bullets. Americans know how to spend generously, but they also know how to sacrifice and in the hour of sorrow and suffering America will not be found wanting.

MR. HOOVER has stated that the present prices of food stuffs are not justified by the conditions. He indicates that someone is making millions of dollars at the expense of the common people. One cannot refrain from frankly stating that such conduct upon the part of "manipulators" is not only unpatriotic and wanting humanitarian instinct, but is positively criminal.

Capacity houses continue to be the rule at the Copley, where the Henry Jewett Players are starting upon their second month of the timely English War Play "The Man Who Stayed at Home." This play interspersed with moments of tense action and hilarious laughter, rapidly carries the audience from one extreme to the other and promises to run indefinitely.

Based on problems particularly vital to us in the present crisis, enlistments and espionage, the play thrills one with its tense dramatic touches and left humorous incidents. It has truly been called the "greatest war play since 'Secret Service.'"

MANCHESTER

John Carter is having a vacation from his duties in Boston.

Miss Gladys Richards of the BREEZE office spent the holiday at her home in Woburn.

Miss Grace Merrill spent the week-end in Somerville visiting her classmate at Smith, Miss Marion Smith.

Mrs. George S. Sinnicks returned Monday from a visit of several weeks with her son, Frank Sinnicks and Mrs. Sinnicks in California.

Osborne H. Brown of Gloucester, for many years in the repair department of Perkins & Corliss' garage, is now with Horace Standley's Sons, in their automobile department.

Plans for the Elderly Brethren picnic are being formulated. The speakers have not been announced, but will be known by next week. The picnic will be held a week from next Thursday—on July 19th, at Tuck's Point.

More than 40 members of Co. 125 of the State guard were enrolled on the "muster in" cards at Town hall following Monday night's drill. Dr. R. T. Glendenning of the Public Safety committee has given his services free of charge for the medical examination of the members of the company and is examining them as fast as they come.

Martin Burman of Waltham was slightly injured when his motorcycle struck the fence at the corner of Beach and Union sts., at the residence of C. O. Lee on Sunday morning. Burman and a companion were going toward Gloucester when the front tire blew out. The machine catapulted against the fence, smashing the fork and cutting Burman's face slightly.

A peculiar accident took place on Summer st. extension near the new building of the North Shore Horticultural society on Saturday morning. A big truck belonging to Frank Wright, a mover, of Lynn stood across the street and the driver attempted to crank the engine. The machine was evidently in reverse gear for when it started it backed through the iron fence and balanced back and forth for a moment over the brink. Fortunately there was no load in the truck and no one was in the car. When it finally righted it was jacked back onto the highway and enabled to proceed.

NOTES

The Food Center is always open from 2 o'clock on Monday until 12 o'clock on Saturday. During the week the hours are from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. On Monday evening also the public will be welcome to the Food Center.

Instruction in canning, drying, jelly-making, food values and matters relating to the present food question will be given free. Classes are formed upon application.

Next week a lecture on "Food and its relation to the body," will be given on Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock, and repeated Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The workers at the Center expect to spend a great part of their time this week in canning, preserving and making jam of the strawberries which are now ripe.

The Center is never too busy to receive visitors and answer telephone calls.

Miss Katharine L. Bradbury lectured at the Food Center on Tuesday morning on "Why Foods Spoil." About 15 ladies attended the talk. In addition to discussing the micro-organisms which are responsible for food decay she told of the best methods of preserving food against deterioration. She suggested improved methods of canning and storage and answered many questions relative to the work. The lecture will be repeated this (Friday) afternoon for the benefit of those who could not attend the morning lecture. The lectures on various subjects will be continued during the summer.

Wednesday, June 27, a son was born to Mr. and Mrs. James Ferreira of West Manchester.

Monday, June 25, at the Beverly hospital, a daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Cool.

The workroom of the Red Cross opened in the fire station last Friday and will be open all day from now on. It has been open afternoons on Fridays during the past spring, but is now getting down to a war basis.

Lee's Ladies orchestra furnished the music for the special entertainment of members and guests at the Homestead Golf club, Danvers, on July 4th, and for the Men's club, Magnolia, party in the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. I. M. Marshall, Mr. Marshall's father, Nehemiah C. Marshall and Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Sylvester of Gloucester returned Monday night from Provincetown, where they made a week-end trip in Mr. Marshall's car to attend the annual outing of the Mass. Press association.

The contract for the construction of a granolithic sidewalk and curbing around the corner at the Allen drug store in Central square has been assumed by Geo. E. Willmonton. The town appropriated $375 for the work, but all bids submitted were in excess of that amount. Mr. Willmonton also plans to improve the entrance to the building from the School st. side by repairs to steps leading to the stairway.

Dr. Frank A. Willis was painfully injured on Thursday evening of last week while alighting from the automobile of Selectman George R. Dean. He caught his foot and twisted it, causing a bad sprain and the fracture of one of the small bones. He will be unable to use the foot for some time. On the day following, Dr. Willis, who has been recommended by the U. S. Surgeon General for a commission in the U. S. Medical corps, was offered a commission in the Sixth Mass. The work has been well under way since April and is under the direction of the Essex County Chapter of the Red Cross, the work being for the Army and Navy. All are cordially invited to come and help. Contributions are being gratefully acknowledged by the treasurer, H. W. Purington of the Manchester Trust Co. All of the workers of last season who carried on the work at the Masconomo House have joined forces with the Auxiliary, thus making one of the largest working forces on the Shore. Mrs. Boylston A. Beal was chairman last season at the Masconomo. She is also at the head of the general committee this season, assisted by Mrs. Wm. H. Coolidge and Mrs. J. Warren Merrill. The finance committee includes William Hooper, George S. Sinnicks and Mrs. Gordon Prince. F. J. Merrill is president, Miss Gladys Hildreth, secretary, and Mrs. W. W. Joseph, recording secretary. Other committee chairmen are: first aid, Dr. F. L. Burnett; equipment, Mrs. W. H. Coolidge and Mrs. J. Warren Merrill. Sub-committees of the equipment committee: sewing, Mrs. Nellie Rogers; cutting, Mrs. E. S. Knight; knitting, Mrs. J. W. Campbell; relief of needy families, Mrs. Wm. Follett; publicity, R. P. Young and I. M. Marshall.

The receiving and packing committee under Mrs. J. J. Connors has received nine equipments of the regulation kind for one patient, which they are making ready for assignment where most needed. It may be of interest to know what one of these huge bundles consists of; sample equipments are frequently seen in store windows.

Articles in an equipment for one patient: 6 sheets, 4 draw sheets, 2 spreads, 4 pillow cases, 3 pajamas (suits), 4 hospital bed shirts, 1 convalescent gown, 4 pairs socks,

2 pairs bed socks, 2 bath towels, 4 face towels, 3 wash cloths, 1 pair slippers, 1 hot-water bag cover, 1 ice-bag cover, 6 handkerchiefs.

Articles are made according to specifications. Each equipment is put into one parcel and marked "Equipment for One Patient." To know the number of articles needed for one Army Base hospital (45 patients) multiply the number of articles in one equipment by 45 and the numbers will in themselves make an appeal for work. The April bulletin estimates the cost of material for one equipment at $15 to $18. Many things are needed, such as surgical dressings including gauze bandages, compresses, rolls, sponges, drains, pads; muslin, crinoline and flannel bandages; head T-bandages, slings and abdominal bandages; fracture pillows and various hospital furnishings.

The work turned out at the Manchester workroom since April 13 consists of the following: 65 surgical shirts, 40 suits of pajamas, 10 convalescent robes, 23 ice-bags, 75 handkerchiefs, 107 sweaters, 60 pairs of socks, 3 helmets, 3 mufflers, 1 pair wristlets.

Two extra workrooms were opened last Friday in the commodious Engine House for the special purpose of making bandages. Here a goodly number of the triangular, roller, four-tailed and T-bandages were turned out. The fracture pillows and comfort bags are also increasing in number. The large workroom where the sewing is done is cool and attractive and if you go once you will want to go again. The rooms were filled last week with members from all over Manchester, Smith's Point and Manchester Cove and beyond.

Knitters can buy wool at cost in the workroom. Many enthusiastic home knitters will be glad to hear that. An excellent quality of wool is on display. Things are being knitted for the navy league and for army requirements.

FOOD CENTER

CLEANEST PLACE IN MANCHESTER IS FOUND AT CONSERVATION STA-TION ON SCHOOL STREET.

Manchester's newest industry, the Food Center, is open and in full swing. The white apparel of the manager and her assistants, the blue-walled and white decorated rooms, the carpetless floors and fresh-airiness of the place are suggestive of almost hospital neatness. And its purpose is not unlike that of a hospital; for the hospital assists in making people well while the food center helps to keep them well by keeping them well fed on wholesome food, preserved to be eaten at a season when it is not in the market. It is Manchester's contribution to the important movement for the conservation of food to help win the war and was made possible through the generosity of one of her far-sighted and patriotic citizens.

The food center, which is located at 38 School st., is operated for the benefit of the people of Manchester and all the surrounding towns. Miss Katharine L. Bradbury of Lynn is in charge and has as assistants Misses Helen Cheever and Hester Rust in demonstration work. Miss Helen Johnson is office assistant.

In a large front room chairs are arranged for the reception of about 50 people for lecture purposes and the room directly adjoining and connected by a large arch is the demonstration room. On a table in this room are bulletins and pamphlets upon every imaginable subject bearing upon food production and conservation:—crop reports, milk production, wheat control, food transportation, canning industry, etc. Above the mantle in this room is a large card bearing the following quotation: "She looketh well to the ways of her household and eateth not the bread of idleness." The various signs about the rooms are done in colors corresponding to the decorations of the room. The walls of the entire lower floor are of pale blue and the woodwork is white. Linoleum covers the floors.

A room leading off the demonstration room is used for Miss Bradbury's private office and is neatly furnished with a blue covered lounge, comfortable chairs and a small desk. The room in the rear is used for canning and contains three large oil stoves, the pressure cookers and boilers for sterilizing. The windows open upon a coolly screened piazza overlooking the lawns. A small summer house at one side is to be used later for the drying of fruits and vegetables.

During the week the canning of asparagus, beans, cherries, strawberries, raspberries, etc., has been carried on. A number of people have visited the food center during the week to obtain ideas in canning and some have sent work to be done. If persons interested in learning the new methods bring their products to the center they will be canned by the trained workers free of charge for small quantities. For large amounts a small charge is made. A feature of the center will be the lectures by Miss Bradbury as the various products are in season.

FOURTH OF JULY

MANCHESTER HAS BIGGEST PATRIOTIC DEMONSTRATION IN ITS HISTORY
WHEN MORE THAN 500
MARCHED IN PARADE.

ALL Manchester turned out on Fourth of July to make it a gala day of exuberant patriotism. Over 500 people took part in the biggest Fourth of July parade in the history of the old town and twice as many more watched the demonstration with eager eyes from piazzas, sidewalks and Common. Practically every organization in the Town of Manchester was in some way represented in the big parade. The usual divisions of civic, floral and "horrible" floats were missing and the entire demonstration was made patriotic. Prizes were awarded for the two best patriotic features of the parade, but so many excellent sections were provided that honorable mention was given three other entries.

The judges Mrs. Duncan T. Beaton, George Wigglesworth and Philip Stockton, struck the popular verdict in their award of $50 for first prize to the entry of the Manchester Woman's club. Their section of the parade was by far the largest of any and was composed of children, drilled and costumed by Mrs. George R. Dean. It excited tremendous applause along the entire course of the parade. Second prize of $25 was awarded to the float of Liberty Rebekah lodge and was another popular selection. Both prizes have been turned over to the local branch of the Red Cross.

The big parade began forming in the early morning in three sections on Pine Bridge and Bennett sts. Promptly at 9 o'clock it got under way. A squad of police with Chief Sullivan in command headed the procession. Edwin P. Stanley, mounted on a horse and attired in the uniform and regalia of the senior vice commander of Department of Massachusetts G. A. R., acted as marshal. His aides, who were also mounted, were Duncan T. Beaton, Guy Drugan, Herman Swett and William Hawkesworth.

The Beverly Farms band headed the body of the parade and marching behind the band were two platoons of Co. 125 of the Mass. State Guard, reinforced by some of the members of the Manchester Home Guard. The platoons were commanded by Lester Moody, acting as captain, and Raymond C. Allen and John Corley commanded the first and second platoons, respectively. The company was headed by a color guard bearing, at the request of the Board of Selectmen, the regulation American flag and the Massachusetts state flag, recently purchased by the town. William Specht was detailed as color-bearer and Henry Moulton carried the state flag. Clarence Preston and Abbott Hoare completed the guard.

Behind the company of the state guard, the Board of Selectmen of Manchester, Edward S. Knight, Geo. R. Dean and S. L. Wheaton, rode in a decorated automobile. The Manchester troop of Boy Scouts, under Scoutmaster A. G. Warner, bore a large American flag horizontally.

A striking float, which was next in line, was that of Allen Relief corps. Upon a float decorated in daisies and evergreen was the figure of Columbia, while two members of the corps bore a placard with the words, "Gee, I wish I were a man. I'd join the navy."

Twenty members of the Manchester first aid class, led by Dr. Burnett, their instructor, made an excellent impression in the parade. A stretcher and the emergency kits of the trained amateur nurses were an evidence of local preparedness. Behind them were the officers of the local branch of the Red Cross and two young ladies bearing aloft a big Red Cross upon a white card. Red and white streamers from the banner, stretched to the front and rear, were carried by four other misses in costumes of white.

One of the prize winning floats, that of the Liberty lodge of Rebekahs, was next in line. Besides the figures of soldiers and sailors, Miss Liberty was in evidence. A small cannon was mounted at the rear of the float. The float bore this legend: "Humanity has called us to arms; then conquer we must when our cause it is just." This float was awarded second prize.

A fine appearance was made by Masconomo council, K. of C., with a float depicting the landing of Columbus. Spanish knights in the armor and regalia of the time were represented by members of the council and other characters portrayed were Indians in costume. A dozen members of Harmony Guild marched in the parade following the float and 36 members of Magnolia lodge, I. O. O. F., paraded.

Conspicuous in the ranks of the Odd Fellows was the figure of one of Manchester's oldest residents, Nehemiah C. Marshall, who is 80 years and four months old. Mr. Marshall covered the entire length of the line of march and then, just to prove he is just as young as he used to be, mowed his lawn in the afternoon and attended the band concert on the Common in the evening.

A feature which evoked applause along the entire line of march was that of the Manchester club. An old stage coach carrying soldiers of '76 and '61 on top and Red Cross nurses within was led by five boys in khaki and blue, all enlisted men in the U. S. service, bearing an old American flag. David Gillis, on furlough from the U. S. S. Virginia, acted as color-bearer during part of the parade and Albert Downs of Salem, who was visiting in Manchester for the day, also acted as color bearer part of the way. The latter is a wireless operator in training at Harvard. The rest of the color guard was composed of John Gillis, U. S. S. Virginia; David Chadwick and Walter Smith, 8th Mass. Infantry. The entry received honorable mention.

Camp 149, S. of V., had 16 men in line and marched as an escort to the 13 Grand Army veterans who rode in automobiles. At the head of their column a uniformed man bore the flag of England and another the flag of France, their costumes being those of the soldiers of the respective nations. Another bore a card, "In Union There Is Strength." Members of the Arbella club, 20 in number, marched under the leadership of Mrs. F. G. Cheever.

The fife and drum corps of St. Mary's Cadets of Salem with their natty blue and white uniforms made an excellent appearance at the head of the marching members of Div. 20 A. O. H., and their music was a valuable addition to the parade. The float entered by the A. O. H. carried a half dozen men in the uniform of '61 and had the following inscription: "We fought in '76 and '61, and we are ready to fight now." The soldiers were in fighting poses and the names of Irish heroes were placed on the sides of the float. The float received honorable mention.

More than 75 children, large and small, were entered by the Manchester Woman's club in the parade, depicting the military epochs of American history. First came a long file of Indians in costume, one mounted. Then came General Lafayette and a group of French sailors together with General Washington and the Continental soldiers. Following were the soldiers of 1812, the Redcoats, the blue and red uniforms of the Mexican war, the blue and the gray escorting General Grant, Lincoln and the boys of '61. Teddy Roosevelt and his Rough Riders of '98 were followed closely by Funston at El Paso in 1916, mounted upon a real Texas burro, brought back from the border last summer by Dr. Keenan of the 1st

Mass. Ambulance corps. Pershing in 1917, was the last of the military sections. Then came little girls dressed in the costumes of the various allies and two future allies—China and Spain. Hoover's army of little gardeners and housekeepers brought up the rear. This entry was awarded the first prize.

Conomo tribe of Red Men had a float depicting a woods scene, with wigwam, Indians, etc. The Ladies auxiliary of the A. O. H. entered a float with Miss Erin playing a harp and at a later point clasping hands with Columbia. "The first hole" was represented by the float of the Essex County club. A green, made of real sod, with the first hole marked and caddies walking about, while the players attempted shots, were features. A placard announcing the Red Cross tournament hung from the back of the float.

The float of Fr. Shahan court of Foresters carried a figure of Liberty with outspread wings and the inscription: "Under whose wings widow and orphan are safe. A float, which received honorable mention, was that of the North Shore Horticultural society, depicting the home garden. A man pushing a cultivator through a cleverly arranged cornfield was the central feature. Other kinds of growing vegetables were arranged in beds made by carefully concealed receptacles. The Manchester Water dept. truck, carrying employes of the department, was in the line. The moth department was represented by a gaily bedecked spraying machine and the forest fire department had its truck, laden with chemical tanks. Mrs. J. Warren Merrill in a rose-bedecked automobile represented the army, the navy and the Red Cross, the two former being represented by young men in khaki and sailor white.

Chautauqua, which is coming to Manchester this month, was represented by an automobile load of young ladies carrying banners announcing the coming event. One of the private entries was an automobile, flag bedecked, entered by Oscar F. Raymond. The Manchester ambulance was the last vehicle in line.

After the parade had completed the line of march as far as Summer st. the route was changed and the column countermarched as far as the entrance of the Essex County club. Upon the arrival in Central sq. the line was reviewed by the judges and dismissed. A flag raising took place on the Common and the assembly sang "Star Spangled Banner" and "America." A brief concert by the Beverly Farms Band followed.

The usual Children's entertainment was held in the afternoon in Town hall and Herbert Clark, a Boston entertainer, delighted the youngsters with musical numbers, sleight of hand, blackface comedy, etc. An account of the ball game in the afternoon is given in another column.

In the evening a pleasing concert was given on the Common by the Salem Light Infantry band and was enjoyed by a large crowd.

The celebration of the day was one of the most satisfying that has ever been held in Manchester. The weather was comfortable all day and there was no rain. No accidents were reported. A large measure of the success of the day's program was due to the effort of Dr. F. A. Willis, chairman of the Fourth of July committee, and his assistants, but equally to the many who so willingly participated.

MANCHESTER

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford B. Goodwin and son Maynard of West Roxbury, spent the Fourth in town.

Miss Prinnie Dodge is home from her duties at Quincy High school enjoying the summer's vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Erickson and child of Medford are visiting Mr. Erickson's parents, Summer st.

Alfred Needham, Jr., left Monday, to attend the Agricultural and Military Boys camp, held at Amherst.

A son was born on July 4th to Mr. and Mrs. Otis Ward (Elsie Northrup) of Brookline at the Worcester City hospital.

Frank G. Cheever is taking a two-weeks' vacation from his duties with the Postal Telegraph company in Boston and is employing his time at work as an assessor.

A feature of the improvements being made on Beach st. between the B. & M. tracks and Masconomo st. is the construction of a new sidewalk on the side opposite Masconomo Park.

A noticeable feature of the Fourth of July celebration in Manchester was the decoration in front of the residence of Julius F. Rabardy on Central st. Mr. Rabardy's front door was covered with a white canvas bearing the words: "Vive President Wilson! Greetings, Victory and honor to all Liberty Loving Allied Nations now in deadly grip with Barbarism and Brutal Militarism." About the inscription were draped the Stars and Stripes and the French tri-color, the emblem of Mr. Rabardy's native land. A bank of ferns and red, white and blue flowers entirely surrounded the canvas and the flags.

The first concert of the season will be given by the Salem Cadet band on the Common next Thursday evening.

Among the local young men who have recently become members of the Men's club of Magnolia are Edward L. Wheaton, Willard Rust, George E. Diamond and Lester Peabody.

William Walen expects to be called tomorrow for duty with the hospital unit in which he recently enlisted for service in France. William Walsh of Winthrop, formerly of Manchester, is a member of the same unit.

Manchester will play the West Roxbury nine at the playground tomorrow afternoon. A fast game is looked for. Martin, who twirls for the Roxbury nine, pitched for Fordham college and is said to be a stellar performer. Manchester will have the same old lineup which beat the United Shoe on Wednesday.

Members of the state guard company who have not been examined should call on Dr. Glendenning at once. About 40 out of the number who enrolled have presented themselves and have nearly all been passed. Those who do not attend to the medical examination at once will delay final acceptance of the company.

A fortunate escape from serious injury was experienced by the occupants of two automobiles which collided in West Manchester yesterday. One, a Marmon roadster, driven by George Grant, chauffeur for Geo. Putnam of Manchester, was partially wrecked and the other machine, driven by the chauffeur for F. L. Higginson of Pride's Crossing, owner of the car, was totally demolished. The Putnam car was coming out of the avenue leading to the Denègre residence when it was sideswiped by the Higginson machine. In the Higginson car were George and Nina Higginson and the Misses Taylor and Lincoln, guests of the Higginsons. After striking the Putnam car the other machine collided with the stone wall in front of the Denègre estate and overturned. All of the occupants were thrown out, but were uninjured, with the exception of minor bruises.

probably get a chance to come back home at least once before they start across the water. The hurried goodbyes of the men as they gave the last handshake with friends and acquaintances here somehow brought the war just a little closer home.

The entry of the fire department was noticeably missing from the Fourth of July parade in Manchester on Wednesday. The promise of some sort of an entry from the department was given the Fourth of July committee, but at the last moment the engineers declared that the "Town could not afford to hire a pair of horses to pull the apparatus." The committee is still wondering what has become of that valuable pair of animals that Manchester paid $700 to help buy.

The success of the Manchester
Fourth of July parade and the other successes was due in a large degree to the spirit which prompted the Manchester committee. The committee early in its preparations for the day took as its motto the seven Ws,
"We Will Work With Willis, Won't
We?" And everybody agreed that it beats anything the "Five Ws" ever accomplished.

A sight we have not seen in years attracted quite a number at the noon hour in Manchester last Tuesday. A hugh trained bear of the "cinnamon" type was led about on a chain by a foreigner of uncertain nationality.
The big animal danced about in the usual ungainly manner greatly to the amusement of the little folk. It is needless to say that the performance was interesting to many besides the little ones for the sight is one which has become rare in the last decade.

It was observed the other night that one of the men of the state guard was wearing a wrist watch. But he weighs about 200 pounds, so we had better not say much about it. When Manchester gets a little more of the military spirit instilled into "Co. 125" the wrist watch may not be such an unusual sight—among the men.

And speaking of hard work. Some of the amateur gardeners struck their share of it when they went after the weeds and grass that got a start during the recent rains.

Also, some of them did not, for their wives did the work.

Those who bring sunshine into the lives of others, cannot keep it from themselves.—J. M. Barrie.

JOHN HENRY CHEEVER.

John Henry Cheever, an aged and universally respected citizen of Manchester, died at his home, 31 School st., early last Sunday morning from heart trouble. Mr. Cheever was a native and, with the exception of some half-dozen years, a lifelong resident of Manchester. He was a man who had been closely connected with the business and political life of the town and his unflinching honesty and kindly nature won the unqualified esteem of the many with whom he came in contact during his long life.

Mr. Cheever was born in Manchester on September 13, 1841. All of his early life was spent here and as he grew up in the town he began to take an interest in its affairs. In politics he was a democrat of the old school. For many years he served on the board of selectmen of Manchester and was several times its chairman. As a token of their esteem his fellow citizens elected him to the state legislature as the first democrat from this district. He served his first term as representative during the administration of the late Governor Butler.

Mr. Cheever was at one time ground keeper at the Essex County club and for a time he was engaged in the dry goods business in Manchester in a small way. Later he went to Boston where he was engaged for a number of years as hotel clerk. Several years ago he became a member of the coal firm of J. B. Dow & Co. and acted as the Manchester representative up until a few months ago when the business of Sprague, Breed & Brown Co. and J. B. Dow & Co. was absorbed by the New England Coke and Coal Co. When the office in Manchester was discontinued Mr. Cheever retired from active business.

Mr. Cheever leaves two sons, John Edward and Lester. His wife, who was Adelaide Edwards, died in August, 1915. J. Edward Cheever is a machinist in the U. S. Navy. At the outbreak of the war he was working at the Charlestown Navy Yard and was called into service aboard the U. S. S. North Carolina. He came home from Virginia where he was stationed last Friday evening.

Mr. Cheever was a charter member of Magnolia lodge, 149, I. O. O. F., and one of the three local surviving members, the other two in Manchester being Henry T. Bingham and Nathaniel Morgan.

Funeral services were held at Crowell Memorial chapel on Tuesday afternoon, Rev. A. G. Warner officiating. Burial was in Rosedale cemetery.

WON SNAPPY GAME

MANCHESTER DEFEATED WESTERN ELECTRIC NINE IN FAST
GAME 3 TO 0.

Manchester won last Saturday's contest with the Western Electric team of Boston in the snappiest game of the season on the local diamond by a score of 3 to 0. The game was marked by fast fielding, with batting honors about even. Woodman pitched his first whole game for Manchester and held the visitors to three hits, two bases on balls and struck out eight men. He was equally good in the field, making four assists and one out. Manchester got four hits off Ziegler, one a two-bagger, and the visitors' errors broke at just the right time to give runs. Each team had four men left on the bases.

Western Electric was retired in order in the first. Gourley went to first on Casey's error in Manchester's half at the bat. O'Leary struck out while trying to bunt to advance Gourley. Sheehan opened the way for the first score with a drive over the right field fence and got to second while Gourley went to third. Devlin was struck by a pitched ball and went to first. Meehan came to bat with the bases full and slammed a hot one to Manley at shortstop. The latter tagged second base and forced Devlin out, but Gourley and Sheehan both scored. Meehan was caught stealing.

Both nines got men on the bases in the third inning, but did not score. After McKennan struck out Wholley was passed. A sacrifice by Ziegler put him on second, but Manley flied out. Gourley hit safely for Manchester in the third and went to second on a passed ball. He died on third while O'Leary and Sheehan went out in succession.

Another combination of a hit, a stolen base, an error and a sacrifice fly gave Manchester a run in the sixth inning. With one out Devlin singled to left field, stole second, Wholley overthrowing the base. He continued to third when McKennan muffed the ball in backing up second. Devlin scored on Meehan's long fly to right field.

Woodman reached the climax in his fielding for the day by pulling down a hot liner about a foot over his head in the eighth inning. In the ninth Sheehan hooked another hard hit ball out of the air over his head and prevented a hit.

Knowlton, who umpired the game, ruled like a "big leaguer" and forced Capt. Casey of the Electrics from the coaching box at first. When McKennan, who replaced Casey got talkative he also had to retire. The umpire unquestionably speeded up the game by forcing the players to work instead of talk, but he was too arbitrary to suit the fans who like their baseball mixed with Chautaugua lectures.

The garage on the Ralph Henry Barbour estate, off Pine st., destroyed by fire last winter, is being rebuilt.

At the request of Chief Sullivan the selectmen have authorized him to station a special officer in Central sq. during the heaviest traffic in the afternoon hours and when needed at other times. Special Officer L. Nelson Cook is doing the "fixed post" stunt at present.

After a lengthy hearing the case of Cornelius Fitzpatrick of 162 Lynn st., Peabody, was settled in Salem court on Tuesday by the discharge of Fitzpatrick. The defendant was charged with manslaughter on complaint of Chief Sullivan of Manchester as a result of the collision in which Paul A. Pappardo of Woburn was killed on Monday, June 18. Raymond C. Allen was among the witnesses summoned. He gave expert testimony regarding the topography of the scene of the accident. Officer Bullock was also a witness. Judge Sears held that Fitzpatrick was not negligent and that the evidence showed Pappardo, operator of the motorcycle, was driving recklessly.

DEFEAT UNITED SHOE

MANCHESTER NINE WINNERS OF DE-CISIVE CONTEST ON FOURTH OF JULY BY SCORE OF 8 TO 0.

Any doubt in the minds of the fans of the superiority of the Manchester ball team over that of the United Shoe, which may have existed after the 15-inning tie game in Beverly a short time ago, was dispelled on Fourth of July when the local nine administered a severe drubbing to the shoe players. In a cleanly played game, in which Manchester outhit and outfielded the visitors the local team won 8 to 0. Lucky breaks and tremendous hitting put Manchester in the lead early in the contest and a fifth-inning onslaught put the game on ice.

There were few features on the Shoe side of the game at bat. Two infield hits, more or less lucky, put men on bases in the first inning, but they could not combat Grover's twirling. Gourley as usual got the first hit for Manchester, a single to right. He was forced out by O'Leary's punt to Hart. Sheehan was passed and O'Leary scored on Devlin's two-bagger to left. Meehan drove a long fly to right and Sheehan scored on the out. Woodman fanned.

There was nothing more doing in the scoring line until the fifth when Grover got to first after being hit by a pitched ball. As it was his pitching arm which was hurt Francis went in to run for him. Gourley grounded to Hart who nailed Francis on second. O'Leary got a three-bagger to left field, scoring Gourley. Sheehan came to the front with a healthy drive to center. Devlin was hit and went to first. A pass to Woodman filled the bags. Holt decided to break his bad-luck hitting streak about this time and straightened the ball out for a three-bagger, clearing the bases. A feature of the clean-up was the way Woodman circled the bags from first, sliding into home plate a pace behind Devlin. Elivard fled to Mason and stopped the scoring.

Manchester annexed another tally in the seventh by an odd break. Devlin had driven a three-bagger to the brook and Beaudoin threw to catch him off the bag. McPherson dropped the ball and Devlin waltzed home with an unearned run.

Klott made a double play on the next out without effort. Meehan singled to third and Woodman fled to Klott. Meehan has such a lead off first that he did not attempt to recover the bag and was the third out.

Woodman relieved Grover after he was struck in the pitching arm in the fifth. He held the Beverlyites to two infield hits in the four innings he pitched and not a man got to second in that time. The game was attended by the largest crowd of the season and was of the snappy variety that makes the fans cry for more and turn out in force.

Edward Filbey, butler for many years with Mrs. James McMillan, left last Sunday to join the Kilties regiment in Canada. William Ogilbie has also joined the colors.

At the organization of the Exemption board for this district on Monday Thomas D. Connolly of Beverly Farms was chosen as chairman and Dr. Shatswell of Beverly was elected secretary. Oliver T. Roberts of Manchester is the other member of the board.

With the Fourth well over the ticket committee of the Chautauqua, under the direction of Frank A. Foster, is beginning its campaign to pack the big tent for every one of the performances. The Chautauqua will be held during the week of July 23-28 and the guarantors have some hard work ahead of them before the opening day. The coming Chautauqua to Manchester is going to be a big event of the coming summer and in spite of the many other interests that will prevail the guarantors hope to make it a success.

A BUSINESS FORCE

CHAUTAUQUA A STRONG FACTOR IN GROWTH OF A COMMUNITY.

Just now as the people of this country are considering bigness as never before, our country's bigness in territory, in wealth and citizenship, it is fitting that we should think of our institutions that are conducive to bigness in manhood and womanhood, and among our really great and far-reaching institutions is one that is commonly looked upon by the people of the community as a local affair, that is, the Chautauqua institution. Manchester is holding its first Chautauqua the week of July 23-27.

This year something over four thousand Chautauqua are being held in this country. In every section of the country communities large and small are having their assemblies and millions of dollars will be spent by our people in support of this institution. Naturally the question is often asked by business men and others called upon to subscribe to the support of the Chautauqua, "Does it pay as a business proposition?" Recently Ben R. Vardaman, president of the National Community Betterment association, speaking at a banquet of business men in a town where a Chautauqua was under consideration, was asked this question, and his answer should be of interest not only to business men but to every other person interested in the welfare of the community—whether that community does or does not support a Chautauqua.

In answering the question, "Does the Chautauqua pay as a business proposition?" Mr. Vardaman said: "Any business man is proud to be able to say 'We have a Chautauqua in our community,' for we have learned to consider the word Chautauqua as synonymous with culture, high ideals and broad-mindedness, and these are things that any business man should be glad to have in his community."

It is a fact, however, that comparatively few people appreciate this great institution as a business force. It has not been considered in a business way. Indeed, it is doubtful whether the founders of the Chautauqua thought of its becoming a business force; rather their thought seemed to be of a great school or university to carry education to the people.

But today as we are thinking of business and our institutions in their relationship to business, we can well afford to stop and ask whether this institution that is being supported by our people is really an asset or a business liability, whether it is a benefit or merely an expense.

Now in considering this question, one immediately thinks of education. Formerly it was considered necessary for the person desiring an education to drop his everyday work and go away to some institution, academy, college or university. No one thought of having culture and training brought to him in his own community until the Chautauqua came and proposed to give the people an opportunity of gaining a broader education as they went about their everyday work.

Now, of course, we are not thinking about technical education. This institution does not propose to give the public a thorough technical course of training in any branch of endeavor, but at the same time it is lifting millions of people to a higher plane of thinking and living.

But some may ask, what has this to do with business? It has everything to do with business, for as a man's mind is broadened, his wants are increased, and as he is made to want things, his activity is stimulated and man's activity in gathering and distributing the necessities and the luxuries of life is the cornerstone of our business.

The person who asks whether the Chautauqua is a business asset might have the question conclusively answered by visiting any of the many prosperous communities throughout the country where the influence of the Chautauqua has been accumulative for a number of years. Visit one of these communities when the Chautauqua is in session, and there will be found a striking picture of the blending of business activity and intellectual uplift. There upon the grounds will be found parked row upon row of automobiles, a modern evidence of prosperity, but at the same time the owners of these machines will be found assembled in the great tent or auditorium gathering intellectual stimulus.

ILLUSTRATED BOOKLET DESCRIBING MEN AND EVENTS PROMINENT IN NEW ENGLAND HISTORY.

NEW ENGLAND, as the birthplace of thousands of men and women who have made their indelible stamp upon the conscience and character of the whole United States, is so crowded with historic places, events and characters that few who live within her borders are fully cognizant of their heritage. In this respect the New Englander may be likened to the native of New York whose country cousin can tell him more about the places of interest in that great metropolis than the native had ever suspected existed.

It is only when the places, events and persons of historic interest are chronicled in a compact booklet that the New Englander can obtain a full realization of the important part this section of the country has played in the development of the United States. Such a booklet has just been compiled by Herbert F. Sherwood, and is being distributed by the General Passenger Department of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad Company. It is entitled "Historic Places of New England." It contains sixty pages of closely typed records of historic men and events that are of interest to persons from other parts of the country. There are nearly sixty photographs of monuments and buildings that have a national as well as a local interest; and there is also a large map of the New England territory upon which are marked with large red dots the cities and towns of particular interest that are described in the reading matter.

The booklet is really a compendium of the industrial, educational, historical, religious and literary development of New England. It is doubtful if there is a corresponding area in the United States so rich in "Shrines" as this section of the country. Within her borders the "first written constitution adopted by a people that ever organized a government" was approved by the Connecticut Colony in 1639. The first public school maintained by taxation was established in New England. These two facts alone would place New England upon an enviable pedestal, for it is upon the principles of constitutional government and free education that the United States has made democracy a success.

The Fourth of July at Beverly Farms was a very quite one and if any of its citizens wanted excitement they had to go out of town to get it—and many of them did. For the first time in many years Beverly Farms did not have a celebration, because the committee, which each year raises the money by popular subscription, decided that this year the money could be better spent for other needy purposes. Nevertheless, even if the day was without a celebration everyone seemed to be contented and enjoyed themselves.

FLAG RAISING AT BEVERLY FARMS.

A notable flag raising took place at Beverly Farms on Saturday afternoon when a beautiful American flag was floated to the breeze from the top of a seventy-five foot flagstaff erected upon the lawn of the Pitch Pine Hall estate of Arthur F. Luke. More than five hundred attended the ceremonies incident to the flag raising.

The address of welcome was given by Mr. Luke and there was an inspiring address by Logan L. McLean of Boston. The flag was raised to the staff by Miss Freida Fleck of New York city, a sister-in-law of Mr. Luke, to the accompaniment of the Star Spangled Banner by the North Shore Cadets band and the cheers of the throng. There were other addresses by the Rev. Julian C. Jaynes of the Unitarian church at Newton, Mayor James McPherson and Alderman Thomas D. Connolly. The members of the city council were in attendance at the affair. After the flag raising a collation was enjoyed.

JOHN JOSEPH HICKEY.

John Joseph, age 15 years, son of Mrs. Margaret and the late John J. Hickey, of Beverly Farms, passed away at the Beverly hospital last Saturday after an illness of seven months. His death was the result of injuries when he fell on the ice last winter and fractured his hip. Since that time he has been at the Beverly hospital where treatment did not seem to benefit him. Several operations had been performed in hopes of relieving him, but were of no avail.

The young man was of a pleasant, cheerful disposition, a general favorite among his companions and a great aid and comfort to his mother, whose husband died only eight months ago. Besides his mother he leaves a younger brother and two sisters, Annie and Frances Hickey. Funeral services were held on Tuesday morning at St. Margaret's church and interment was at St. Mary's cemetery, Montserrat.

WILLIAM FANNING

A sad accident occurred at Beverly Farms last Monday afternoon. Willie, the nine-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. James Fanning, while at play fell from a high tree striking his head upon some rocks on the ground below. He sustained a fractured skull and was badly crushed and bruised. He was rushed to the Beverly hospital, but died soon after arriving there. Mr. and Mrs. Fanning have the sincere sympathy of the community in their bereavement.

At the playground an interesting ball game was played on the morning of July Fourth between a picked nine from Beverly Farms and the Centerville team, formerly of the Sunday School league. The latter won by a score of 9 to 6.

Moral precocity is as dangerous a disease in childhood as mental precocity. No precocity indeed is to be wholly trusted. Children ought not to know enough to be too good.—Ella Calista Wilson.

WENHAM PASTOR RESIGNS

REV. F. M. CUTLER TO TAKE UP DUTIES AS ARTILLEY CHAPLAIN.

Rev. Frederick M. Cutler, for five and one-half years pastor of the Wenham Congregational church resigned his pastorate last Sunday, reading the following letter to his congregation at the Communion service:

To the Congregational Church,
Wenham, Mass.,

Brethren:—During almost all the years of my ministry in Wenham, I have, by your permission, devoted my leisure to service as a chaplain of the Massachusetts national guard, feeling that the privilege of exercising religious leadership in a regiment of the Commonwealth's finest young men is one to be valued highly. As the regiment is under orders shortly to enter upon active duty wherein my entire time and effort and ability will be demanded, I find myself compelled to resign the pastoral office with which you have honored me; kindly let the resignation become effective at the close of vacation, on the last day of August, 1917, and so enable me to comply with our contract obligation to give two months' notice.

It is a pleasant duty to speak appreciation of kindness received from so very many during my residence in Wenham; I must express deep gratitude to all who have coöperated with me here in Christian work.

(Signed)

FREDERICK MORSE CUTLER.

July 1, 1917, Wenham, Mass.

Rev. Frederick M. Cutler is a native of New York state. At the age of 15 he united with the "Church of the Puritans" in New York City, and was later transferred to the First Presbyterian church in Passaic, New Jersey.

Nineteen years ago he was ordained to the ministry in Jersey City, in 1898, previous to that time he had been engaged in Y. M. C. A. work, serving for two years as a general secretary at Columbia University. Since 1901, he has occupied pastorates in Massachusetts.

Mr. Cutler was given the degree of A. B. by Columbia university in 1895, where he was also in the law school and a degree of B. A. from the Union Theological seminary in 1898.

He was a member of the Freshmen's Boat crew of Columbia when in 1892 they were victorious over Harvard.

He served for five and one-half years in the famous New York Seventh regiment, achieving the rank of sergeant, and was appointed chaplain of the Coast Artillery, March 29, 1913.

Although death has visited his parish at Wenham frequently during his pastorate, and 22 percent of the members have passed away, yet the accessions had been such during that time, that there has been a net membership increase of 18 percent.

During recent years the church's specialties have been religious education, supervised recreation and social service. An efficient graded Sunday school, probably the most efficient in Essex County, provides the religious education; a boy scout troop generally recognized as the neighborhood champions, together with active Senior and Junior Christian Endeavor societies, supply supervised recreation for the young folk of the town; while an unique department of social service lives up to the implications of its name.

This social service has included a campaign against local mosquitoes, several campaigns against the beverage use of alcoholic liquor, successful advocacy of the "tenement house law for towns" in Wenham, many forms of war service in connection with the existing emergency, and repeated and continuous effort to make Wenham influence felt in behalf of moral legislation at the State house and Washington. The church also assisted in the Billy Sunday campaign at Boston.

NEWS-STAND PRICE OF BREEZE HAS ADVANCED—SUBSCRIPTION RATE REMAINS THE SAME.

The price of the BREEZE, at news-stands, has been advanced to 10 cents a copy for the six-month period, May to October, inclusive, at least, and possibly after that. Readers of the BREEZE should not misunderstand this statement: It is the news-stand price of the BREEZE that advances and not the subscription price. Subscription (paid in advance in accordance with the postal requirements) will continue at the old rate of $2 a year, and $1 for six months.

This radical change is made imperative because of the unusual advance in the price of paper.

We would urge upon those of our readers who are not regular subscribers, to place their order for the BREEZE so that it may be mailed them regularly every Friday morning. The subscription rate figures only 4c a copy, as compared with 10c, which will be the news-stand price everyone not a subscriber will have to pay after this month.

"The Most Interesting Store on the North Shore"

This year celebrates its 50th Anniversary

From a modest beginning back in 1867, Daniel Low's has steadily grown to its present large size. The name, which half a century ago quickly became a household term with the good people of Salem-town, is now equally familiar in many thousands of homes throughout this country and in foreign lands, reaching even to the far corners of the civilized world.

- the wonderful variety of our stock, with its wealth of unusual things, many of which are not to be found even in the largest metropolitan shops
- the interesting Model Colonial Room with its display of silver
- the attractive Cut Glass Room
- the cheery "hominess" prevailing the whole establishment
- these and other features have won for our Retail Store the reputation of being "the most interesting store on the North Shore."

Located on the corner of Essex and Washington Streets, in the heart of the business section of Salem, it is easy to reach from all points along the North Shore, either by trolley, train or motor. It is one of the show places of this section, and no matter whether you visit the North Shore for only a day or two, or for the whole season, a few hours spent at "Daniel Low's" will prove a most enjoyable treat.

Everyone on the North Shore is cordially invited to visit our Store often during the season if only to "see." It is always a pleasure to welcome those with whom we have enjoyed pleasant business relations in the past, and we are at all times glad to make new friends.

Sunday on the North Shore—Plenty of Churches

For Those Who Want to Keep Little Plant Called Reverence Growing in the Corner of Their Hearts

By LILLIAN McCANN

SUNDAY upon the North Shore offers an abundance of diversions for those, who, like Holmes, want to keep the little plant called reverence growing in the corner of their hearts, and who believe, as he did, that it needs watering about once a week. Cottagers and hotel guests have long looked forward to the summer season as one of particular interest in the ecclesiastical world, for here in the three churches distinctly known as "summer churches"—one at Magnolia and two at Manchester—are heard some of the most distinguished ministers in the country during the summer. Ipswich and Beverly Farms are also known as centers of "summer churches," although the churches especially sought by the summer folk in those communities have a resident pastor and are open the year-round. The Ipswich church has always been associated with the Rev. Dr. Roland Cotton Smith, rector of St. John's church in Washington, D. C. A glance over the summer calendar of the churches this season shows that a season of unusual "preparedness" is ahead in the activities of the North Shore churches.

At Beverly Farms a union vesper service is being held each Thursday at 5.30, when prayers of a special war service are read in St. John's church. The prayer for the nations at war is as follows:

"Look with pity, we beseech thee, upon the members of thy family who are now at war. Restrain us from hatred, pride, and hardness of heart, and sustain in us the love of justice and mercy. Keep under thy protection those who are in peril on land or sea or in the air. Sustain the prisoners, relieve the sick and wounded, and support the dying. Give strength to those who minister in hospital and camp, and hope to those who are in anxiety or sorrow. Hasten the day when all nations shall dwell together in peace; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen."

Not only within these "summer churches" do the summer folk worship, but often the Catholic, the Congregational and other denominations all along the Shore come in for their share of the summer visitors.

The fine old typically New England Congregational church in Manchester, so closely bound up with the history of the town, has communicants from the summer colony at times.

Before passing on to a detailed account of the summer churches, it is interesting to sum up in one's mind all of the weddings that have taken place in these churches. Verily Cupid, the North Shore and its picturesque little churches have an affiliation.

The Union chapel at Magnolia was built in 1884. In the summer colony of that period were a number of ministers of distinction, among them James Freeman Clark of Coolidge's Point and Henry W. Foote, pastor of King's chapel, who was at Magnolia. These men of Boston renown created enthusiasm among the summer and local residents for the building of a Union chapel. The architect was the late Charles K. Cummings of Boston. The beautifully toned bell is the gift of the Hon. T. Jefferson Coolidge. In the early days a wing of the chapel housed the Magnolia library, until the present library was built about twenty years ago. Ministers of prominence in the Episcopal, Unitarian, Congregational and other denominations are secured for the summer season. Expenses are maintained through subscriptions and fairs. Of the chain of Union chapels built 30 or 40 years ago at New England resorts, only about three are still surviving under the original plan. These are at Magnolia, Nahant and Bar Harbor. The others have become denominational, usually Episcopalian or Unitarian.

The First Unitarian church on Masconomo street, Manchester, was founded by the summer residents in 1895. Memorial tablets have been placed in the church for Mrs. Stephen H. Bullard, George Pierce, and Henry Pickering. Three Tiffany windows, one showing the resurrection and two showing white lily fields, are memorials for the Wigglesworth and Grew families. The baptismal font was given by the children of the church. Other gifts have been the pulpit and offertory plates. The organ is also a memorial. Many prominent ministers are heard in the church during the summer season, during which time it is open.

The Emmanuel church (Episcopal) on Masconomo street in Manchester is built on land given by the late Russell Sturgis. The Sturgis family and other members of the summer colony raised a fund for the building of the church. At that time there was no Episcopal church between Beverly and Gloucester, except the occasional service in the Union chapel at Magnolia. The church contains memorials for different members of the family and other connections, among the memorials being six windows, a tablet, and the communion service. The church is now held under the Trustees of Donations of the Diocese. The services are taken during the summer by visiting clergymen. It is not open in the winter season.

The first service in the church was held July 23, 1882, by the Rev. George S. Converse of Boston, assisted by the Rev. Duncan McCulloh of Maryland. The first baptism was that of Frank Shelbourne Baker, June 15, 1884. The architect was John H. Sturgis. In 1904 the Sturgis heirs made over the Emmanuel church property to the following trustees: Richard H. Dana, Francis M. Stanwood and S. Warren Sturgis. Mr. Stanwood is treasurer.

St. John's church (Episcopal) at Beverly Farms has had some interesting recent gifts. Among them is a large oil painting hanging on the chancel wall, done by Francesco Solamina for St. Patrick's church in Manchester, Eng., and later brought to this country by Father Hearn of New Bedford. It was afterwards offered for sale to the Boston Art Museum, but was purchased by a member of the Loring family, and now has been presented to the church by Judge and Mrs. W. C. Loring of Pride's Crossing. The subject is the presentation of the Virgin to St. Joseph by St. Anna, the mother of the Virgin. A silver and gilt chalice and paten have been given by Miss Hutton of Pau, France, in memory of Norman Prince. The two silk flags, national and state, hanging in the church were gifts of two parishioners. Others have given the hand wrought iron chandeliers; a complete set of cushions for pews, choir stalls and altar rail; a massive oak rod to enclose the opening of the chancel rail during the communion service; and a crex matting for isles and floor of chancel.

The Men's club has given a pool table for the parish room in the Marshall building, and last, but not least, is the "war garden" on the church lawn, given by a parishioner.

The rector, Rev. Neilson Poe Carey, has had charge for about two and a half years, the church being open the entire year. Dr. Carey has been at Grace church, New York, under the late Dr. Wm. R. Huntington; rector of Christ church at Norwich, Conn.; and came to the Farms from New York, where he was then with Bishop Courtney at St. James church.

The Ascension Memorial church in Ipswich is a year-round church. Rev. Robert B. Parker is the rector. Many interesting memorials have been placed in the church in the past. It has long been the church home of the various Appleton families of "Appleton Farms." Mrs. Daniel Fuller Appleton has recently given a hymn board in memory of James Appleton, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Appleton. Mrs. Augustus P. Gardner is among those placing tablets recently, when she gave one in memory of her mother, Mrs. Henry Cabot Lodge, and of her brother, George Cabot Lodge.

Socks and Sleeveless Sweaters for Sailors

North Shore Society Girls and Matrons Active in Branch of Comforts Committee of Navy League

IN the artistic green and white writing room at the Magnolia shop of the Grande Maison de Blanc, where the pretty fountain in the centre bubbles sparking water and where refreshing pond lilies in profusion rest in its basin, North Shore's society girls have opened a branch of the Comforts committee of the Navy League of the United States. Every morning from 10 to 12 and every afternoon from 3 to 5, this branch is in charge of members, alternating. Miss Lois McGinley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John R. McGinley of Smith's Point, Manchester, and Pittsburgh, is chairman of the branch, with Miss Marion Tucker of Manchester and New York as vice chairman.

The branch has for sale wool and needles with instructions for making sleeveless jackets, mufflers, wristlets, helmets and socks. Donations are earnestly requested of "free wool." When each article is knitted, it is returned to the Branch for distribution.

For the benefit of those who wish to know what the Navy league means we will say here that it is a national organization of patriotic men and women who have pledged themselves to work for the interest of the Navy. It is non-partisan, not affiliated with any other organization, and the entire receipts are devoted to its work. Headquarters are at the Southern building, Washington, the New York branch being at 509 Fifth avenue, between 42d and 43d streets, where wool and needles may be purchased. Under orders of Rear Admiral Samuel McGowan, Paymaster General of the Navy, garments will be assigned to ships within zones requiring their immediate use. Among the officers of the League will be found men prominent in national affairs.

Many donations come in each day at the Magnolia Branch which go to the purchase of free wool, which in turn is distributed among those who wish to do their bit by knitting articles. The Branch urges those who desire to help to buy wool, for the demand for free wool by the women of the North Shore to fashion into comfortable garments for our soldiers, is increasing each day. Many of the women employees of the hotels on the Shore are knitting for the cause. One gentleman, after generously donating a sum of money for the purchase of free wool, said he desired to do something for the Navy League as well, and was going to begin taking lessons in knitting and make a jacket or two and maybe a pair of socks. Nothing is impossible! Two dollars buys a pound of wool, one dollar a half pound. Three-quarters of a pound of wool makes a sleeveless jacket. For a warm, soft muffler which gives endless comfort to the men in the trenches it requires one-half pound of wool. Wristlets may be made with one-quarter pound of yarn. And think how much warmth these very wristlets will bestow upon a sailor-boy upon the briny deep when he must face the elements to protect his home and his loved ones! "If you men buy the wool, we women will do the knitting" is what the attractive placards say in the window devoted to the Branch at the Grande Maison de Blanc. Surely the men wish to help in the worthy cause. Give up the theatre some evening and $2 is saved, enough to donate for one pound of wool, a sweater for a sailor, and a pair of wristlets, too.

Monday mornings the branch is in charge of Miss Grace Cumnock and Mrs. R. L. Livingston; Monday afternoons, Miss Rosamond Lancaster and Mrs. Frank D. Frazier. Miss Katherine Glodgett and Miss Eleanor Cabot are in charge on Tuesday mornings; Miss Marion Tucker and Mrs. E. R. Campbell on Tuesday afternoons.

On Wednesday mornings may be found Mrs. E. C. Fitch, Jr., and Miss Lois McGinley; Wednesday afternoons Miss Charlotte Read takes command. Miss Marion Tucker and Mrs. E. R. Campbell spend their Thursday mornings here, Miss Pauline Croll and Mrs. Conover Fitch, Thursday afternoons. Friday mornings Mrs. John E. Lancaster devotes to the work and Friday afternoons Miss Rosamond Lancaster, assisted by Mrs. F. D. Frazier. Saturday mornings Mrs. Norman S. Mackie is in charge, assisted by Mrs. H. Fairchild Osborne, Jr.; Saturday afternoons Miss Charlotte Read and Mrs. Charles Read, Jr. Miss McGinley, the chairman, although assigned for Wednesday mornings, may be found at the Branch nearly every morning and afternoon, so devoted is she to the splendid work.

We "Discover" the Paine, Haven and Loring Estates

Opened to the Public, June 30,
for Benefit of the Red Cross

By LILLIAN McCANN

(Concluded)

"Netherfield," the Summer Home of Mr. and Mrs. Washington B. Thomas, at Pride's Crossing.

"SWIFTMOOR" was entered after leaving "Rockmarge." This beautiful place we were told belongs now to Mr. and Mrs. Aksel Wichfeld of Washington, Mrs. Wichfeld (Mabelle Swift Moore) having inherited it from her mother, the late Mrs. E. C. Swift. Mr. Wichfeld is an attaché of the Danish legation and is a relative of the Danish minister, Mr. Brun. The house was closed as the family was still in Washington, with the exception of some of the young Moore children. We wandered around the noble sweep of driveway fronting the great white mansion, went down to the little formal garden at the side, and walked through the symmetrically laid out beds of this "red" garden. Each bed is bordered with box or English ivy. I had never seen ivy trained for a border before. We then followed the crowds of people over the beautiful terrace, and from there down to the beach, from which a striking view backward over the gardens and great lawns is the most effective on the place.

A group of college men were studying every tree and shrub on the place. I heard them say, "Wonderful planting here! Fine place for a pageant!" Another group—I trust they were not antique collectors—were raving over the old Italian well, the Roman capital table, and other antique marbles that adorn the beautiful place.

The next place we found ourselves was on the fine driveway leading to the Robert S. Bradley home. Here we wandered over the beautiful grounds and saw that exquisite view from the terrace over the tree-tops below. We saw the little rose garden, and remarked about the "umbrella" frames on the terrace. We were told about the main gardens of the Bradley home, and so Daddy wanted to see them. As we were leaving to explore them I noticed a sun-dial near the house bearing the inscription: "The evening hour is nigh. Seize the present moment." I told Daddy it was getting late and we much hasten on to the other places. Sometime we'll come back to the Shore and ramble through its lovely gardens. The Bradleys and Thomases we understand, are among those who have doubled their vegetable planting this year, as nearly every one has along the Shore.

So we went down a charming little pathway, past a most inviting tennis court, and soon found our way up through the grounds of "Netherfield," the Washington B. Thomas home. From the terrace of this beautiful place we saw down below a flower garden, said to be about 25 years old. After admiring the view we went down to the garden and rambled through it and the little dwarf orchard adjoining. Wandering on down the road, past great oak trees and out over the marshy road we found that Thomas lane separated the Thomas place from the Gordon Dexter place.

The Dexter place we recalled was the ancestral home of Lucy Larcom's family. Here was where Andrew Larcom had lived, said to have been "Uncle Andrew" to the little Paine children and others of the summer colony who delighted in the old farm place. Lucy Larcom says: "I used sometimes to feel a little resentment at my fate in not having been born at the old Beverly Farms home-place, as my father and uncles and aunts and some of my cousins had been."

On the Dexter place we learned that the low picturesque house somewhat resembles the original Larcom homestead.

We admired the ducks and other fine birds on the Dexter marsh and, if time had allowed, should have liked to linger longer. The old Scotch figurehead of a boat and the old sign bearing the date 1684 were interesting guide posts to the would-be visitors at the Dexter place. The sign came from Salem we were informed. Another interesting spot was the log cabin built on a high point of land, from the rustic porch of which a fine view was spread out. A tall flag staff stood near it.

The Thomas, Bradley and Dexter places are all a part of the Franklin Haven estate. Mr. Haven came to the Shore about 1850. Daniel Webster came to their home frequently, and there is a tree in the Haven garden that was planted by Mr. Haven after he had been on a visit to the Webster home and had brought it from there. We left these places rich with memories of Holmes and other notables and found our way to the new Page &

Shaw tea house. Here we had a refreshing collation set before us which we enjoyed immensely, and, knowing that half the proceeds of the day went to the Red Cross, we indulged in a big box of their truly delicious candy.

We were told that our tickets admitted us to the home of the Misses Loring at Pride's Crossing. We sought this beautiful place, and greatly admired its long driveway through the woods down to the house by the water. Such ferns and rhododendrons, old trees, an old box-bordered garden (the box from a Salem garden), and a babbling brook running through the woods down to the sea, all make this a most delightful place to ramble in. We admired the pets of the place, a flock of a hundred or more fine pigeons, that kept circling over the garden and massive tree nearby. We were told that when they hear the voice of their mistress, Miss Louisa P. Loring, they leave their house and fly to her in sweeping circles and wait around her, patiently fanning the air with their pretty white wings, until she feeds them.

After viewing the big potato patch near the shore below the house, planted on ground never before cultivated we retraced our steps to the Pride's Crossing station.

While waiting for the train some one related the following story he had heard about the Oliver Wendell Holmes tree on the driveway entering the Paine estate. Always admired by Holmes, it is said that one time, his nephew, John T. Morse, Jr., began to admire it, and said to his uncle, "That is the finest tree I own." "John," answered the illustrious uncle, "you don't own that tree. That tree owns you."

So we went back to Boston from our afternoon's outing, tired but ready to come to the North Shore again upon the slightest provocation.

We were very glad to read in the morning papers, the next day and also the summary of the affair in the NORTH SHORE BREEZE that $500 was realized from the affair. Only 50 cents was charged to go through these fine estates never before open to the public. The money has all been turned over to the Essex County Chapter of the Red Cross society. The general committee of the day consisted of Mrs. R. S. Bradley, Mrs. W. B. Thomas, Mrs. Wm. H. Moore, Mrs. Chas. K. Cummings, the Misses Loring and Mrs. Henry P. King. The boy scouts of Beverly Farms and 20 young men from the Marblehead Aviation Corps acted as guides through the grounds. Each estate was also made more easy of access by the corps of workers who were stationed throughout the grounds to answer inquires. Surely the Paine, Haven and Loring estate residents spared no pains to make our day's outing a success.

NOTE.—Further inquiry shows that the oak in the Haven garden was sent by Daniel Webster from his home in Marshfield to be planted in the Haven garden, after he had enjoyed one of his many visits with the Havens.

GOLDEN BOYS

Not harps and palms for these, Oh God!
Nor endless rest within the courts of heaven,—
These happy boys who left the football field,
The hockey ground, the river, the eleven,
In a far grimmer game, with high elated Souls
To score their goals.

Let these Oh God! still test their manhood strength,
Wrestle and leap and run,

Feel sea and wind and sun;
With cherubim contend;
The timeless morning spend
In great celestial games.
Let there be laughter and a merry noise
Now that the fields of heaven shine
With all these Golden Boys.

Dr. Z. Boylston Adams of Manchester, sailed Tuesday from New York for France with the Mass. General Hospital unit, base hospital No. 6. Mrs. Adams has as her house-guests this week, Mrs. L. Z. Friedman and son of Boston.

Mrs. Roger Wolcott of Boston, has spent the past week at the home of the Misses Loring at Pride's Crossing.

Dr. Elisha Flagg and family of Commonwealth ave., Boston, are spending their first season on the Shore in the Ellis L. Dresel house at Pride's Crossing. Three great flags—the United States, English and French—mark the entrance to this fine old cement cottage called “This-sellwood.”

Percy Grainger, the popular and distinguished musician, is coming to the North Shore on a furlough by special permission from the New York regiment in which he has enlisted to play in the band. He is coming to play at a concert without any compensation whatever at the home of Mrs. Oliver Ames, Pride's Crossing, Saturday, July 21, at 4 o'clock. The entire proceeds will be given to the Red Cross. Copies of Mr. Grainger's portrait by John S. Sargent will be for sale at the concert. Single admission is $4.00, but holders of season tickets may get one for a guest at $3.50. This will be a rare treat. Mr. Grainger is noted as one able to take popular melodies and folk songs and weave them into interesting compositions. His love of music and devotion to his country has led him to enlist. He always plays without other performers at his concerts. Tickets may be purchased of Miss Louisa P. Loring, Red Cross headquarters, Mason block, Beverly; Miss Harriet Dexter and Mrs. Henry C. Clark, Pride's Crossing; Mrs. Neal Rantoul, Beverly Farms; Mrs. F. L. Higginson, Jr., Manchester.

HOUSEWIVES of the country are being asked this week to help in the saving of wheat. The house-to-house canvass must be finished by the 15th. Mr. Hoover says: “You can save wheat by having one wheatless meal a day. Use corn, oatmeal, barley or rye bread and non-wheat breakfast food.” Mrs. Robert S. Bradley has the “war food rules” hanging in her kitchen at Pride's Crossing. The whole household is living by them. Another thing Mrs. Bradley is having done is the canning of fruits and vegetables that are left from a meal. These are put up in small receptacles for next winter to be sent out for special purposes. The New Zealand spinach in the Bradley greenhouse is of interest. A long row running the length of the place is both an ornament and a food the entire season. The more that is cut the better it grows. The “food rules” are for sale for a penny at the Red Cross workroom in the new library at Beverly Farms.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Duff Frazier (Brenda Germain Williams-Taylor) of New York are now at the home of Mr. Frazier's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pierce Frazier, in West Manchester. ♦ ♦ ♦
Mr. and Mrs. Francis W. Fabyan arrived last Friday at their West Manchester home from their camp at Buzzards bay. Their daughters, Mrs. Theodore Frothingham, Jr. (Eleanor Fabyan), and Mrs. William Augustus Read (Edith Fabyan), are now with them. Mr. and Mrs. Read's wedding took place in May at the Old South church in Boston.

THREE places of prominence were opened this week for talks on war conditions. They included the R. T. Crane home in Ipswich; Mrs. Edward S. Grew's coach-house, the workroom for the American Fund for French Wounded, in West Manchester; and the Pride's Crossing home of Henry C. Frick.

Mrs. J. Hood Wright of New York has joined her daughter, Mrs. John Markle, at the West Manchester cottage. The latter's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. J. Conyngham of Allentown, Penn., have also been guests at the Markle home.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Moore Robinson (Evelyn Linderman) of New York have come to spend a few weeks at the John Markle home in West Manchester. The Robinsons were married in May, their wedding being hastened by the war, as Mr. Robinson is a member of the Officers' Reserve Corps. Mr. Robinson has long made his home with his uncle, Mr. Markle. Mrs. Robinson's home was in Allentown, Pa. She is a niece of Mrs. Jessie Wilson Sayre, daughter of President Wilson.

Dr. and Mrs. S. B. Walbach and two children are again with the latter's father, William H. Wellington, at "Skerryvore," the Longworth cottage at Pride's Crossing.

Mrs. L. Carteret Fenno of Rowley has had as her house-guest part of this week, Miss Elizabeth G. Norton of Ashfield, who spoke at Mrs. E. S. Grew's in West Manchester on Monday.

Mrs. Boylston A. Beal and daughter, Miss Betty, of Smith's Point, Manchester, have sailed for England. They will remain until about October. Mrs. Beal expects to continue Red Cross work in the London chapter of which Mr. Beal is secretary. Robert Grant is treasurer of the society, and among other officers is Mrs. Whitelaw Reid. Mrs. Page, wife of Ambassador Page is chairman of the society. Mrs. Beal was chairman last season of the Red Cross branch which met in the Masconomo, and is also chairman of the general committee of Manchester's Red Cross Auxiliary Workroom.

"Rockmarge," at Pride's Crossing, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. H. Moore, has a rare planting of Chinese primroses in the rock garden. They are orange and scarlet, the primula bulleyana being a beautiful orange, and the primula veitchii a lavender pink. Primroses grow small and with their love of cool, shady places, do well in rock gardens. Experienced gardeners consider the above very unique and uncommon.

At Pitch Pine Hall, the home of the Arthur F. Lukes at Beverly Farms, is a handsome new greenhouse nearing completion. It will be used as a fruit garden mostly and for the growing of some vegetables.

Margot is showing some negligee wrappers of the soft, sheer kind—just the thing for hot mornings. See them in the Margot shop, at one side of that charming new tea room of Page & Shaw's on the drive between Beverly Farms and Pride's Crossing.

One of the attractive new tea rooms on the North Shore this season is the Rose Bower Tea Room at Rowley, conducted by Mrs. S. A. Pedrick, wife of the late Dr. Pedrick, and Miss Gladys Blodgett, who formerly conducted a tea room on the boulevard at Atlantic. The Rose Bower is located on the Bay road, just beyond the Rowley postoffice on the way toward Newburyport.

MRS. HENRY CLAY FRICK opened her beautiful residence at Pride's Crossing yesterday afternoon for a meeting under the auspices of the War Work Council of the National Board of the Young Women's Christian Association, U. S. A. Ensign Charles K. Cummings of Pride's introduced the speakers, Mrs. Dave H. Morris of New York, and Mr. Hibbard, who has been in Europe for the Y. M. C. A. An effort is being made to raise $1,000,000 for women and girls in communities adjoining U. S. army training camps where men are being mobilized for the army and guard duty, where girls work in munition factories, etc., and in foreign countries affected by the war. Pledges may be paid by check to Mrs. Harold Peabody of 302 Berkeley st., Boston. The meeting was held in the central hall of the Frick home, but the surrounding rooms were also called into use, 258 guests turning out, making it one of the largest attended meetings on the Shore so far. Among the ladies on the committee were Mrs. Wm. C. Loring, Mrs. Wm. H. Moore, Miss Alice Thorndike and Miss Clara Winthrop. In the large gathering were noted Judge Loring, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard C. Weld, Mrs. Eliot Guild, Mrs. Gordon Abbott, Mrs. Gardiner M. Lane, Mrs. Lester Leland, Mrs. Wallace Goodrich, Mrs. Walter D. Denègre, Mrs. R. T. Crane, Jr., Mrs. F. L. Higginson, Jr., Mrs. Charles Arthur Carlisle and the Misses Carlisle, Mrs. Marshal Fabyan and Miss Mary Curtis. The speakers were presented with handsome clusters of roses at the close and were besieged with questions by many of the interested hearers.

Mr. Hibbard told of what he had seen the women of England doing, where they seemed seized with a passion of sacrifice and bade the men to go, while they themselves did all in their power. He said the Y. M. C. A. in England is now on a higher footing than before the war. All classes of society are working for it. In the army Y. M. C. A. huts where home comforts, lunch counters, etc., are placed, Princess Victoria, the Queen and others have come to help in menial service. The women, he said, give the little home touch so necessary to the boys away from home. The essence of his talk, however, was on what women can do for women in the war. The first duty of American women, he said, is to care for the women of America, so that the young women of America will never be a problem to the men of America, but that all should be a great Ally to the American army.

The work of the Y. W. C. A., or women's work, was given in such a convincing manner by Mrs. Morris, and through a little booklet given out, that it is thought advisable to give a synopsis of the work in the next issue.

Is Who's Who Out?

This is a query we have had to answer numerous times this week. Owing to the lateness of the season, Who's Who will not be ready until the first of next week.

The publishers of Who's Who put thoroughness ahead of all other considerations. They find that the "unpardonable sin" is to leave out a prominent family. The family feels slighted, their friends feel hurt, and the public judges that if it discovers one omission there must be many others. Copies can be secured at the BREEZE office or at the publication office, 300 Essex st., Salem.

MRS. EDWARD S. GREW's coach-house at "All Oaks," West Manchester, will soon have to be enlarged to accommodate the many workers whom she and Mrs. George H. Lyman, the chairman, greet so hospitably at the door. New tables have been added and this Monday space was at a premium. It is interesting to know that not one case of material sent by the French Wounded Fund to headquarters abroad has ever been lost. The West Manchester workroom is turning out five bags this season while two bags were considered a good output last summer.

Miss Elizabeth G. Norton, daughter of the late Prof. Charles Norton of Cambridge, talked Monday of her experiences in France while visiting some 1800 hospitals. For almost an hour she explained the hospital situation in France. The women worked steadily the entire time, only stopping to applaud or to get new work, for the speaker had the quiet power of inspiring more work. She said the surgical dressings, which look so appalling in figures to us, are only mere drops in the bucket when compared with the actual need in France.

Very graphically she showed France's condition, the great work of the French Wounded Fund in helping every hospital in need, and in a pitying manner dwelt upon the exhaustion in that country which had been fighting three years for a cause which we had been ignoring. She dwelt upon the moral conditions in the hospitals, showing the different standards of women in religions and races, and the difficulties which arose from that source. She spoke of the old women of France mending what we would think a useless rag, because they know not where the next garment is to come from. Often, she said, a hospital had only three untrained women to look after 100 men.

She urged that more pieces of gauze be sent to use in emergency cases, for many of the women who are taking care of small hospitals have not yet learned the uses of the various surgical dressings. And above all, she urged the sending of bright colored pajamas, the need being so great in many of the hospitals that the men have no clothing to put on, even if they are able to sit up or walk around the hospital a little to break the dreadful monotony of it all. She was impressed with the spirit of contentment, and read a letter from a Texas boy who had gone back to France to fight. After the sixteenth operation he told Miss Norton he was still hopeful of getting back to service, and that now he felt happier, for America was better spoken of by the other French boys in the hospital.

Among the workers of the morning were Mmes. H. L. Higginson, George Lee, C. P. P. Rodgers, Geo. von L. Meyer, C. C. Auchincloss, S. Parkman Blake, E. M. House, F. L. Higginson, Jr., J. T. Wilkins, Wm. H. Cool-

This is one of the most noticeable workrooms on the Shore for the number of children who are doing their "bit" in the way of making compresses and other things. Very carefully they roll the gauze and do many little errands for the older workers.

Hans Herloff, Swedish gymnast, who is on the North Shore for the first time this season and is living at the Park Hotel, Manchester, is the son of the president of the Norwegian Physicians association. When the war broke out in 1914 he was studying in Germany. He left soon after for Denmark where he received an appointment to accompany and treat for rheumatism one of the princes. Arriving in this country he attended a course at Posse Normal school, Boston, and graduated last March. He was immediately appointed acting substitute in charge of the massage department of the Boston City hospital. Mr. Herloff is spending the summer on the Shore treating patients by the Swedish system.

AS a builder of high speed, beautifully finished pleasure yachts, Walter B. Calderwood of Manchester is fast making a reputation for himself. Many of the craft turned out of his yards this season and last have been among the cup winners of the Class R type. Most of the fastest Class R. boats he has built have been from the designs of John C. Alden, the Boston marine architect.

One of the prettiest Class R boats which has taken to the water in Manchester in many a day was the Sari, built by Mr. Calderwood for Samuel Dauchy of Chicago, which was launched here and weighed and tried out in Marblehead. Mr. Dauchy ordered the boat last season to race on Lake Michigan this season to defend the Lipton cup held by the Columbia Yacht club of Chicago. She will meet some of the fastest craft on the Great Lakes during the summer and in the three cup races to be held the last of August. That she will be able to give a good account of herself is judged from the fact that on the Fourth of July she won the club race at Chicago by eight minutes, from a big fleet of her class.

The Sari is 38 feet, six inches over all; 25 feet on the waterline; seven feet, eight inches beam, and five feet seven inches draft. She is planked with mahogany and finished throughout in the same material. A comfortable cabin provides cruising accommodations for three people and there is a roomy galley and a toilet.

One of Mr. Calderwood's last season boats, the Pam, built for Commodore H. A. Parsons of the Cleveland Yacht club, was the big sensation of the Lakes last season and is living up to her reputation this year. On the Fourth the Pam waltzed home first in a field of six at the club regatta.

The Rogue, built for Charles E. Adams of Boston and designed by Mr. Alden is now at Marblehead. She went into the water at Manchester a few weeks ago and has won all of the preliminary races. She will remain at Marblehead to race.

Commodore John B. Fallon of the Corinthian Yacht club has purchased Banshee through John G. Alden's agency from Caleb Loring and C. E. Cotting, Jr. The Banshee was formerly champion Class R boat of Lake Michigan and was owned in Chicago. She is fitting out at Mr. Calderwood's yard and will be launched in about two weeks. She will be rechristened Timandra and will be the flagship of the Corinthian Yacht club fleet. Another Class R boat is under construction for Ogden T. McClurg of Chicago.

The Makaboro, one of Mr. Calderwood's winners of last season is again performing nicely this year. She is owned by Richard Hoyt of Boston and defeated all comers on Saturday, June 30, in the Beverly Yacht club races at Marion on Buzzard's Bay. Even the Deccocon, with new rigging could not overtake the fleet Makaboro in the stiff breeze and is said that no boat of the special class raced at Buzzards bay could have overtaken her in that weather.

We have been favored with one of the first copies of this season's North Shore Blue Book and Social Register, containing lists of the summer residents of the principal resorts along the North Shore from Nahant to Rockport. The book is compiled and published by the A. E. Foss Co., of 36 Bromfield st., Boston, Frank C. Hyde, president; Courtney Baylor, treas.

KATHLEEN BURKE was a drawing card which took about 125 of the summer colonists to Ipswich, last Sunday afternoon, to "Castle Hill," the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard T. Crane, Jr., of Chicago.

Miss Burke is the delegate to America of the Scottish Women's Hospitals for Foreign Service, with headquarters in New York, and checks for the cause may be forwarded to J. P. Morgan & Co.

Miss Burke's thrilling story of the work of the women in the hospital camps was given in her peculiarly forceful style and was a "business" speech from the first word to the last, as she said it would be. Hearts were touched and purse strings opened freely at the close, for all who have heard Miss Burke in this country, confess that there is something about that rapid fire of delivery of hers, which carries one to the very heart of things, and he is writing is check or throwing in his ready cash even before the basket is passed.

Among those present were noted Mr. and Mrs. Sydney E. Hutchinson, Miss Helen Frick, Herbert Sears, R. S. Bradley, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Lowell, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Dexter, Miss Alice Thorndike, Miss Eleonora Sears, Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Cochrane, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert W. Mason, Mrs. Robert D. Evans, Mr. and Mrs. Albert J. Beveridge, Mr. and Mrs. Harold J. Coolidge, Mr. and Mrs. George S. Mandell, Mrs. Bayard Tuckerman, Mrs. Francis R. Appleton, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence L. Hay, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. G. Wendell, Mr. and Mrs. John Lawrence, Mrs. Robert Treat Paine, 2d, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Culbertson, and many other well known people.

Mr. and Mrs. Crane received their guests on the terrace surrounding the great salt-water swimming pool recently completed at the foot of the high hill on which the house stands. Mrs. Crane wore a cream lace dress, a large black picture hat, and her only ornaments were a string of pearls and bright touch of color in her girdle. The lecture was given in the casino at one end of the swimming pool. This room would easily seat 200 or more comfortably. It is a beautiful room done in cream and brown, with heavy beamed dark ceiling, tapestry patterns on the wall, candelabra standing on the floor done in the color scheme of the place, and with everything lending a quiet and rich charm to the place. Mr. Crane introduced Miss Burke, who looked charming in her Scottish hospital garb. Gleaming among the bunch of honor medals she wore was the bright little Red Cross pin. The basket was passed at the close by the little daughter, Miss Florence, who looked very sweet in her pink and white. The young son, Master Cornelius, was also assisting.

Mr. Crane made a stirring little speech at the close of Miss Burke's talk, in which he urged all to stand behind the fighting men, to make one more step up the road of sacrifice we are all called upon to make today, and to help out the marvelous work which the women are doing in the hospitals.

Many of the guests wandered through the famous gardens of the place after partaking of tea on the terrace. The rose garden is a mass of color and presents a bewildering and fairy-like display of gorgeous roses. The Italian garden adjoining is restful and charming to linger in. Its delicate blue and white coloring of the flowers; its wealth of greenery; quaint box trees trimmed in the form of animals which mark the steps leading down to the lower terraces; its water garden over which stands a pure white marble statue, the last work of Bela Pratt the Boston artist,—all of this must be seen to be really appreciated.

The "bachelor" quarters at the swimming pool, just opposite the casino end, are a unique part of the place. Here are accommodations for eight, a little sitting room and everything complete for a house party. Lucky bachelors that are invited to Mr. Crane's! The swimming pool has about 18 marble dressing rooms and shower baths attached.

The marvel of the whole place, which has been made in the last five years since the Cranes came to Ipswich, is that it looks like a much older and long established place. The great house tops the hill amid the sand dunes and farms, and between four and five thousand acres, including Choate island, belong to the Crane estate. The Ipswich light stands on its bit of government land on the place. Directly opposite is Cape Ann with the little town of Rockport clearly discernable. The beach is exceptionally fine, and here the Cranes entertain all of the Ipswich school children (six or eight hundred) each season for a picnic.

As one stands on the hill, a few hundred feet above sea level, and views the great panorama spread out, he feels that he is where nature and art are peculiarly united. But the most impressive thing about it all is the democracy and simplicity and true kindness of Mr. and Mrs. Crane, and the latter's father, H. N. Higinbotham, who are doing their "bit" most nobly in the great war.

The Sign of the Crane Tea House in Manchester is selling the finest sweet peas of the season. A little girl in Manchester takes them to the tea house each morning. Through the kindness of the managers a table has been given on which the bouquets are placed. Purchasers choose their favorite color and deposit a dime for the little girl, who gets all of the proceeds.

We believe that quality and worth are economy; that good enough never can usurp the best; that the customer is generally right; that loyalty to the loftiest standards of our calling is as imperative as deference to the client's wish; and that when we have ceased to be apprentices to progress we have failed at our biggest task.

We strive to please our patrons with the same service and quality that experience has proved to be pleasing to ourselves.

Many noble-hearted women today are carrying bags like this. They are of beautiful cretonne or bright-hued silk and they lend a picturesque, quaint note to one's costume;—somewhat suggestive of other times when American women were rallying staunchly to the support of a war-tried nation, just as they are today.

Perhaps you already have a bag of this sort. Its uses are many. You may carry in it the knitting you are doing for the Red Cross work, and besides it will easily hold the little parcels that you buy at the stores and do not mind carrying with you, as well as the little accessories it is always convenient to carry.

Every woman, young or younger, should produce some article for the comfort of our soldier boys, with her own fingers and some knitting needles.

It is more than kindness, it is more than an expression of esteem. It is real patriotism. Many of our boys are not yet accustomed to the rigorous life of the army camp.

A Sweater or some other knitted garment will given them comfort and protection against colds and their results.

Have you seen the Barnard gardens in Ipswich? They are on "River Bend Farm," the country home of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Barnard of Boston, situated on County road, near Essex street. They are a short distance from the new Benjamin Stickney Cable Memorial hospital given to Ipswich by R. T. Crane, Jr., of Chicago. The gardens are open to the public each Thursday afternoon from 2 to 6, during July and August. A fee of 50 cents admission is for the benefit of the war relief fund.

Mrs. W. Harry Brown of Beverly Cove has spent the past two weeks at her home in Pittsburgh.

Miss Katharine P. Loring of Pride's Crossing returned from Plymouth last Saturday night where she had been attending a library convention. She was chosen president of the Mass. Library club. Miss Loring acted as hostess at a convention dinner at the Plymouth Cordage Company library, which is a charming little building situated on a high hill, and is filled with books in all languages for the employees. It was built by Augustus Loring in memory of his father, Caleb William Loring. Among the speakers was J. Randolph Coolidge, Jr. Miss Loring was much pleased with the talks on what librarians can do in the present food crisis and war conditions, in the way of classifying and putting before the public good literature on the subject.

The Puritan Tea Room at Montserrat is where you can order your sponge cakes this summer. Sponge cake, always so delicious and healthful, has long been a specialty at this tea room. Besides the sponge cakes other cooked foods may be ordered. The salads are especially nice, also the jams and jellies made in the fruit season, and for sale in various sized glasses.

IPSWICH will have a red letter day next Friday, July 20, when the Benjamin Stickney Cable Memorial hospital is dedicated.

Ipswich has two sources of revenue for war relief, the Barnard gardens open on Thursday afternoons from 2 to 6 for a fee of 50 cents, and Y<sup>e</sup> Old Burnham House open at all times for the Red Cross at 25 cents.

R. T. Crane, Jr., will return tomorrow from a week's business trip to Chicago. Mrs. Crane's house-guest for the past week has been Miss Kathleen Burke of Scotland, delegate to America of the Scottish Women's Hospitals for Foreign Service.

Have you motored over to Ipswich this season to see the old Burnham House—"the quaintest place in all New England?" Walk through its rooms. Study the living room with its low beamed ceiling and old pumpkin pine paneling. See the great fireplace with its olden time furnishings, two ovens, and everything complete as in y<sup>e</sup> olden time. Have supper in the grill room furnished in the 1640 period, sit by the cheery fireplace and visit in the dim candle light with which the whole place is lighted. The peacock room, just right for small parties, is delightful in its maple furnishings. Interesting also are the three bedrooms and new bath on the upper floor. These are for tourists or week-end parties. Surely a delightful place to spend a night and be tucked away amid surroundings of two or three hundred years ago. The old house was originally built of brick, salt hay, clam shells and clay. Notice the massive keys and hinges.

Y<sup>e</sup> Rogers Manse in Ipswich has accommodations for transients only, this year. Miss K. D. Parry and Mrs. Lovell Hodge of Germantown, Pa., spent three weeks at the Inn before going on to their cottage at New Castle, N. H. Last season they were at Annisquam. E. P. Conant of Lowell has also, been a guest. Rev. Sherrard Billings, the noted divine of Groton, has been a week-end guest. The Ipswich High school graduating class held its banquet and dance at the Inn.

Semple of the Oceanside, other large parties from Magnolia and Mrs. Fred J. Alley, Mrs. Geo. H. Mifflin with her sister, Miss Phillips, Mrs. H. P. McKean, Jr., Mrs. Alvin Sortwell, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Abbott, Mrs. Neal Rantoul, Mr. Orlandini, Mrs. Eben Jordan and Mrs. George Lee are among others noted at this fashionable and cosy little tea house.

Mrs. John C. Phillips and son, Master John C. Jr., of "Windy Knob," Wenham, are spending the month at the Dr. Phillips' camp at Lobster lake, in the Maine woods.

Mrs. Charles T. Parker of "Cotshabbie," Wenham, is one of the regular attendants at the first aid classes at the Thorndike club in Beverly. Mrs. Parker organized this club for girls a few years ago. There are over 100 active members, and after the close of the winter classes and other activities, two first aid classes have been formed, one of 25 members and the other of 16. Dr. Geo. J. Hill is the instructor and the class secretaries are Miss Rita Grady and Miss Mary Cronin. The girls are also doing sewing and knitting. Mrs. Parker is planning a picnic for the club at her beautiful home in Wenham, where she spent the winter with the exception of a short visit in Chicago with her sister, Mrs. R. Hall McCormick.

466—No garden is complete without a place for the birds, and this gray terra-cotta bird bath, 20 in. in dia., standing on a pedestal 20 in. high, is a most attractive piece for them. The bath has four feeding troughs and the pedestal is so constructed that it can be piped for water. Complete, $10.00.

WHETHER brilliant plumage is splashing in the sunny sparkle of the water, on a summer morning; or whether, you are merely admiring the classic lines of the white carving against the green of the turf and the color of the flower beds—you will find a bird bath a most valuable bit of garden decoration. You will find it at Ovingtons—together with many other garden ornaments and accessories.

405—Every real garden should have its sun-dial. There is nothing about your garden which will be more interesting to grown-ups or more fascinating and instructive for the children. This one is of bronze ($10.00), mounted on a gray terra-cotta pedestal 36 in. high ($25.00). Sun-dial and pedestal for $35.00.

MAGNOLIA

Patrons of last year at the Oceanside, Mrs. George W. Kidd of New York, and her daughter, Mrs. Charles C. Dickinson (Georgette Kidd) and Master Dickinson, are spending the summer at their Newport villa, "Chace Cottage." For several seasons past they have rented their house and come to Magnolia. Undoubtedly the ladies will spend several week-ends at the hotel to cement old friendships made here last summer.

Comfortably domiciled in Breakers cottage, of the Oceanside group, Mrs. George C. Perkins and daughter of Hartford, Ct., who arrived on Sunday, will remain for the summer.

Luncheon guests on Saturday included Francis A. Shea and Miss Shea of Boston, who motored from town to enjoy the hospitality of the Oceanside, and refreshing breezes of the sea at Magnolia.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Newcomb of Brookline, who yearly spend August at the Oceanside, were luncheon guests at the hotel on Sunday, ultimately arranging for their coming the first of next month.

Returning to the Oceanside for the summer which has been their wont for several seasons, Mrs. S. J. Belloni, Miss Belloni of New York, with the former's granddaughter, Miss K. H. McLoughlin of Jersey City, arrived on Saturday, and are now occupying their apartments in the hotel.

Helen and Priscilla Rhodes, two of the Oceanside's popular sub-débutantes, are very proficient in the art of water sports. Daily these girls spend their mornings at the North Shore swimming pool, enjoying to the utmost the water there. Helen makes easy work of the high dive, and Priscilla is a close second. Very natural and unaffected girls, they are popular with the young people in the summer colony. They are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Rhodes of Brookline, who make their summer home at the hotel each season. Their brother is A. Whitney Rhodes now a member of the Dartmouth College Cadet Camp at Hanover.

EVERYBODY is knitting at the Oceanside from early morning until late at night. Even before breakfast is partaken of, guests can be seen upon the porches and in the hotel foyer busily engaged in this "finger work" which has completely converted the whole feminine population of the country into devotees of wool and needles. The smallest of the children, even five-year olds, are quite adept at the art, and the persistency with which they pursue their work is impressive. Some of the guests even take their work into the dining room, so as not to lose a minute—for are they not valuable when several rows can be knit in sixty seconds—knitting on rapidly between the serving of courses. Since the cause is noble everybody will overlook the lack of interest in other diversions, for nearly all of the work is being done for the Comforts Committee of the U. S. Navy League, the Red Cross, the Surgical Dressings Committees or the French and Belgian Relief.

Mr. and Mrs. John R. Anderson of Detroit, with their daughter, Miss Suzanne and son J. Wendell, have given up the cottage which they leased for the season at Bass Rocks and have returned to the Oceanside hotel, where they spent last summer. The Andersons are very delightful people, and their coming to Magnolia for the remainder of the season is a bit of pleasant news to their friends here.

One of the chief attractions every summer for James M. Greene of Washington, who yearly is a guest at the Oceanside with Mrs. Greene, is the Essex County golf course at Manchester, where daily this interesting gentleman enjoys the sport. His record as a golfer is a notable one, holding many trophies of the game in mute manifestation of his skill.

OCEANSIDE guests are extending greetings to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Lockwood, who arrived at the hotel from Washington on Saturday, to remain the entire season. Chester and Winthrop Lockwood, their sons, who have been regular summer guests here since they were children, will be much missed this season, both boys having bravely responded to their country's need. Winthrop is now with the Ambulance Corps "Somewhere in France," while Chester is with a submarine chaser at Bridgeport. Occasional week-end visits are anticipated from Chester by Mr. and Mrs. Lockwood, which will be pleasant news to his countless friends here and on the Shore.

Apartments in Highland cottage, of the Oceanside group, are being occupied by Mr. and Mrs. C. I. Hood of Lowell, accompanied by the latter's sister, Miss Wilder. Yearly these charming people come to Magnolia, where their presence is always a pleasure to their many friends. Mr. Hood's hobby is golf, spending much of his time on the course of the Essex County club.

In a pretty party frock of sky blue chiffon taffeta all puffed and girlish, touches of cobwebby lace finishing the whole. Miss Eleanor Wheeler was very lovely at the hop on Saturday evening. Her dancing is very graceful, and when her partner was A. Whitney Rhodes, whose dancing is noticeably rhythmical and elegant, the picture was one to be remembered.

Mr. and Mrs. P. L. James of the fashionable Lake Forest, Ill., summer colony, were week-end guests at the Oceanside.

Charles Wadsworth, 3rd, of New York has joined his parents, Rev. and Mrs. Charles Wadsworth, Jr., at their summer cottage at Magnolia for a short stay. His fiancée, Miss Martha Clay Hollister of Grand Rapids, Mich., is also a guest of the former's parents. At the week-end hop, Miss Hollister, who is a golden-haired girl, tall and slender, was very striking in a soft and flimsy frock of shell pink chiffon, gracefully fashioned and pretty. Miss Hollister is a pleasing addition to the younger set, where Mr. Wadsworth and his sister, Miss Isabella, have always been very popular among the young people.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Preston of Providence, in company with their son J. Hayden Preston, spent the week-end at the Oceanside, en route for a visit along the New England coast to Bar Harbor. So impressed were they with Magnolia and its surroundings that they will probably spend part of the summer at the hotel. The Prestons are prominent in the society circles of Providence, and each winter are visitors at the Tampa Bay Hotel at Tampa and Bellaire.

Never did Miss Jean Middleton appear more sweet and girlish than upon Saturday evening when she was daintily frocked in maillard blue chiffon over same toned silk with not a bit of trimming save slight touches of silver at the bodice.

Mrs. Warren Smith of New York will spend the month of July at the Oceanside, going to her summer home at Bay Shore, Long Island, for August.

WHEN the full, mellow moon rose out of the sea last Saturday evening, throwing its silvery light upon the ripples of the very quiet waters, it was greeted by groups of Oceanside guests who came from the verandahs and ballroom to view the beautiful sight. The younger set of the hotel colony caught the spirit of the occasion and waited with patience for the rising of the luminous body. Every one saw something in the moon—some the man, some the profiles of the lovers in distinct contour, but one of the girls felt quiet sure that she saw the face of her soldier boy who is now in France under his country's colors.

Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Rhodes of Brookline, who spend their summers at the Oceanside, are enjoying a visit from their son, J. Whitney Rhodes, a member of the Dartmouth College Cadet camp at Hanover. Mr. Rhodes is in perfect condition, the result of the rigid training which is in vogue at the camp. It is a far step from camp life to the social whirl of the hotel, which Mr. Rhodes will enjoy for a few days, but, he says, he will be glad to get back to the camp regime.

Motoring up from "West Bank," their Long Island home at North Haven, Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Barclay, accompanied by the Misses Barclay and George Barclay, enjoyed the week-end at the Oceanside where they met many friends, a good time resulting.

Returning to the Oceanside to be of the hotel contingent, Mrs. Mathew Semple of Philadelphia, with her gracious daughter, Miss Helen, is occupying rooms in Highland cottage until late August.

Contrary to her former custom of spending only part of the season at the Oceanside, Mrs. F. L. Potts of Philadelphia, accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. Wyckoff Smith, also of the Quaker City, will stay during the entire season. The ladies motored from their town home and enjoyed the roads and the trip exceedingly.

As in former years, Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Roberts have come down from Boston to enjoy Magnolia and the Oceanside for the remaining days of July.

Mrs. E. H. Binney entertained her son, Dr. George H. Binney, and Mrs. Binney (Susan J. Appleton), of Nahant, at luncheon at the Oceanside on Wednesday.

J. Wendell Anderson, one of the members of the younger dancing set at the Oceanside, was the recipient on Tuesday of a beautiful Hudson speedster, the gift of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Anderson of Detroit. No doubt Mr. Anderson will enjoy to the utmost the stunning black car, with red wheels when he spins over the fine roads in and about Magnolia during the summer.

Prof. and Mrs. C. D. Hazen of New York are as usual spending the summer here among their friends of several seasons' association.

Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Murray and daughter, Miss Evelyn, of Paterson, N. J., are making the Oceanside their domicile for a week's stay.

Motor to the Larcom theatre, Beverly. Paramount and Arcraft pictures. Hear the Austin Pipe Organ. adv.

CORDIAL were the greetings extended Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Morse of Boston when they arrived at the hotel on Sunday accompanied by their vivacious daughter, Miss Ethel. Yearly have the Morses been guests at the hotel for the season and their friendship circle here is very wide. Miss Ethel, who is one of the most graceful and lithesome dancers in the younger set, is always amply supplied with partners for the dance. On Tuesday evening Miss Morse wore a pretty frock of long lines in white khaki kool kloth, confined at the waist line by a wide sash of white faced with emerald green.

Honeymoon guests at the Oceanside on Tuesday, remaining over night, were Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Snowden of Pittsburgh, who were recently married and who are motoring through the summer resorts of New England. Mr. Snowden is a relative of the George G. Snowdens, who are at Manchester Cove.

Donald Holbrook, son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Holbrook of "Underledge," Manchester Cove, enjoyed the Saturday evening hop at the Oceanside, having been a visitor at his parents' home over the week-end. Mr. Holbrook is a member of the Harvard unit of Naval Reserves and is training at Cambridge.

Mr. and Mrs. David J. Davis of New York have recently arrived at the Oceanside to spend the season. Mrs. Davis is an interested and active member of Red Cross in New York, and is working untiringly during her visit here for the Navy League. She is expecting her sister, Miss Voorhees, also of New York, who will arrive shortly to remain indefinitely. Miss Voorhees visited at the hotel last summer, the guest of Mrs. J. M. Mitchell of Buffalo.

A. W. Kennard of Boston has returned to the Oceanside for July and August.

OF the many picturesque spots which "Blynman Farm," the estate of William H. Coolidge at Magnolia, enjoys, perhaps none are more truly rustic and engaging than the small pond which dots the very point of the estate at the corner of Raymond and Summer streets. Surrounded with over-spreading trees, whose boughs nearly dip themselves into the clear, cool water, this pretty pool offers much attraction for all who pass this spot either in automobiles or afoot. An outlet is afforded under the bridge on the Summer street side, and daily two white swans gracefully pass through this small stone aperture, to spend their happy lives in the waters, which, dashing in small rills, hurry, babbling fashion, into the outlet on the Raymond street side, and at last find themselves meeting the blue sea, on the beach, which is not far off.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Andrew Upson motored over from Manchester on Tuesday evening and entertained a group of friends at dinner at the Oceanside, after which the party enjoyed the regular Tuesday evening hop. Mrs. Upson was stunningly gowned in black taffeta with jet and embroidery. Her jewels were diamonds.

Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Cleaver and daughter Miss Joan Cleaver of Dallas, Texas, have registered at the Oceanside to remain for the summer. The Cleavers have been guests at the Eugene Gray Foster home at Coolidge's Point during the past few weeks, and have become so enamoured of the North Shore that they have decided to remain. Dainty Joan Cleaver will be a pleasing addition to the young people's set during her visit.

On their way to Bar Harbor by motor car Mr. and Mrs. James H. Brody, Mrs. Moore and daughter and Mrs. W. R. Joyne and daughter, all of Washington, spent Tuesday night at the Oceanside. After a sightseeing trip the group will return for a several weeks' stay.

SO beautiful was the surf on the rocks at Magnolia on Tuesday that numbers of people came from all points to view the pretty sight. Never has the sea more blue, and with the waves dashing high on the rocks, black with the ravages of years, the spray catching the sunlight with many rainbow colorings, the picture was indeed exhilarating. The high winds blowing from the east on Monday evening were the cause of this stirring of the otherwise stilly waters. At the chasm the sight was most picturesque, the breakers rushing into the cleft between the huge rocks which form the channel, with a mournful sound, breaking against the mossy surfaces of the boulders only to leap many feet into the air with feathery spray. A very fine view of this beautiful sight could be had from the verandah of the Oceanside Hotel, and many enjoyed the sight which fascinated, as well as awe-inspired.

Sunday dinner guests at the Oceanside included G. H. Robinson of Cambridge; Madeline Weston, Brookline; A. R. Dallmeyer, Cambridge; and Miss Louise S. Adams of Ashland, Ky.

Lieut. George R. Young of Boston, an officer in the Naval Reserves entertained eight petty officers of the English and French Navy at the Oceanside on Sunday, the group motoring down from Boston and taking dinner at the hotel.

Mrs. S. W. Andrews and Mrs. J. A. McLean, Jr., both of New York, are the guests of the latter's mother-in-law, Mrs. J. A. McLean, Sr., who is a season guest at the Oceanside.

Edward Hussey of St. Louis, who is a student at Phillips Academy at Andover, is spending the summer with her parents, who are Oceanside season guests. Edward is a popular member of the younger set, and is a very clever tennis player.

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. MacMurray of New York are, as has been their usual custom for a number of seasons, occupying apartments in Centre Cottage for the remainder of the season.

George S. Stockwell of Boston is of the Oceanside colony for the entire season.

A DEAR LITTLE GIRL, Helen Hussey, one of the hotel's attractive children, knits persistently each day, showing by her perservance and deftness, that she knows what she is about. When Helen's knitting is completed it will be a pretty, white afghan for some little French baby, whose mother will appreciate the thoughtfulness of this little girl, as words cannot express, when she wraps her mite of humanity in the fluffy, warm bit, fashioned in the United States.

Among the large number of the cottage colony who enjoyed the Saturday evening hop at the Oceanside was Courtney Guild, who is again at "Sunnyside," his pretty villa on Norman avenue, for the summer. Mr. Guild is always welcome at the hotel where he counts his friends in great numbers.

Of the many girls who danced Saturday evening at the Oceanside hop, none was more bewitchingly lovely than Miss Josephine Johnson of Racine, Wisconsin, who is spending a short time with her much admired aunt, Miss Janet Johnson, a season guest. It is hoped by the many friends made since her coming, that her visit will be prolonged. Miss Josephine has been visiting in New York and will go directly west upon leaving the Oceanside.

Leaving her Philadelphia home to spend the summer at the Oceanside, which has been her wont for a number of seasons, Miss Martha Milligan is now enjoying the ocean breezes at Magnolia and renewing her innumerable friendships here.

As has been her usual habit for a number of seasons, Mrs. Frank W. Hunt of Boston is among her friends in the Oceanside clientele for the remainder of the season.

Miss Florence St. J. Baldwin is occupying her apartments in the Oceanside hotel for the season, coming down from Boston early in the week. Her scores of friends are extending greetings.

Long looked for arrivals, who have been expected additions to the regular Oceanside coterie, are Mr. and Mrs. David Loring, who came to the hotel on Saturday. The Lorings have closed their town home in Boston, and are now occupying their apartments in the hotel. Cordial welcomes are being extended the newcomers by their many friends here.

The Cape Ann Resorts

EASTERN POINT.—All the hotels in this section have a goodly number of guests, but in most cases the list is much lower than in previous seasons at this time. The August applications are great and hotel keepers are yet hopeful.

The Eastern Point golf clubhouse has opened for the season, Mrs. Deane being in charge as usual of the teas. The links are being used daily by the local cottagers and hotel guests.

The H. W. Eliots of St. Louis have opened their large estate on Eastern Point Hill, near the Beachcroft.

The Waterman A. Tafts of Arlington have arrived at their big estate, in the vicinity of the golf clubhouse. Mr. Taft is president of the American Export Lumber Company, with offices in Boston. The Taft estate is one of the most picturesque at Eastern Point.

The death of Miss Eleanor Weare Pearson of New York, an artist, who has spent a great many seasons at East Gloucester, was a shock to the Eastern Point colony. Miss Pearson was taken ill on the holiday and was removed to the Addison Gilbert hospital, Gloucester, where everything possible was done for her recovery. She succumbed to an attack of kidney trouble on Saturday evening. The deceased was born in Chicago. She studied painting in this country and abroad, and for a number of years had the "old barn studio" on East Main street. She excelled in water color painting and exhibited in New York, Chicago, Philadelphia and other cities. At the time of her death, she was a guest at the Hotel Harbor View. The funeral took place on Tuesday afternoon, from the cottage of her sister, Miss Mary E. Pearson, Ledge lane, Eastern Point, the Episcopal service being conducted by Rev. J. H. C. Cooper of St. John's. A large number of summer residents attended and there was a wealth of floral tributes despite the request given out that flowers be omitted. It was the slightest token that a friend could bestow on one who was so beloved and respected. The interment was in beautiful Mount Pleasant cemetery at East Gloucester.

Mrs. John Hays Hammond of Gloucester is a patroness of a concert at the Hawthorne Inn casino, East Gloucester, Aug. 2, at 8.30 p. m., for the benefit of the War Relief Fund. Tickets are $1.50. Ingo Simon, operatic baritone, and Mrs. Mildred Story Ellis, soprano, will be the artists. Among other patronesses are Mmes. John Clay, John Greenough, Osborne Proctor, Thomas Conant, Carlton Parsons and Edward H. Loftus, wife of the secretary of the Siamese Legation.

Yearly subscription to North Shore Breeze, $2.00.

BASS ROCKS.—The Bass Rocks Golf club will not award prizes to winners in its tournaments this season, but the names of the winners will be inscribed in an honor roll to be kept in the clubhouse. The committee believes that owing to conditions brought about by the war, the foregoing, which will benefit our sick and wounded soldiers and sailors, is more appropriate than prizes. The entrance fees for the tournaments will be given to the Bass Rocks committee of the Gloucester Red Cross.

Fixtures for the remainder of the season include:

July 11, 14—Handicap match competition; 18 holes each day.

July 25, 28—Handicap match competition; 18 holes each day.

August 8, 12—Handicap match competition; 18 holes each day. Finals Saturday afternoon. Entrance fee for the fatherless children of France. It is hoped that the sum of $73 will be raised, as that sum will provide for one child for two years.

August 22, 25—Scotch tournament—Handicap match, two-ball foursome—18 holes each day.

A large subscription bridge party was held at the Golf clubhouse, Bass Rocks on Monday afternoon, Mrs. A. G. Mitten of Boston, who has a cottage on Beach road, Bass Rocks, this season, entertaining, there being 23 tables. Prizes were offered. The affair was held for the benefit of the Peter Bent Brigham hospital, Boston, for the purchase of surgical dressings.

Yearly subscription to North Shore Breeze, $2.00.

ANNISQUAM.—Practically all the cottagers have arrived along the Annisquam shore and the four hotels, Wonasquam Lodge, Brynnere, By-Water Inn and the Overlook have many guests. The lateness of the season is also very noticeable in this section as well as other vicinities of Cape Ann. Annisquam is at present appearing at its best with its large number of beautiful flower gardens and the splendid foliage, due possibly to the continued wetness of the spring.

The Bents of Overbrook, Pa., are occupying their attractive estate near the Yacht clubhouse, on the river front. Felton Bent's new power boat, Nancy, is being admired. The craft was built at Camden, Philadelphia, and is 60 feet in length. The engine is 250 horsepower and there is a crew of three men.

The summer residents of the Rockport section of the North Shore are busy knitting for the soldiers, as well as helping in various ways for the Red Cross. Mrs. Charles H. Burnham, Jr., of Boston, who occupies the Hobbs cottage on Marmion Way, is much interested in knitting wristers for the soldiers. She has a supply of fine Shepherd wool that she is distributing among those who are likewise interested and will knit wristers. If there are persons who would like to help and cannot knit, Mrs. Burnham will gladly teach them.

PHILLIPS BEACH is not without its enthusiastic gardeners, perhaps the most intensely interested one being Miss Mary Brown, who is occupying the Lamont G. Burnham cottage on Atlantic avenue. This charming lady has directed the converting of an extensive area of her lawns into beautiful gardens, both of flowers and vegetables, and the results, which have been supervised by Miss Brown, are luxuriant, indeed. Miss Brown means business, for each day she works about in her gardens clad in very austere overalls, the results of her effort being very clearly shown in the fine display of vegetable plants and flowers. Miss Brown devotes a good portion of her time, when away from her gardens to Red Cross work, and she is a member of the Beach unit.

Among the Plattsburg boys from Phillips Beach are Lawrence and Andrew Heath, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Heath of Phillips Beach colony.

Accompanying Miss Eleanor is her mother, Mrs. John Jordan, who was formerly Miss Terhune. They will remain for a lengthy stay. Mr. and Mrs. Maurice J. Curran, who have lately closed "The Croft," their winter home at Andover and have taken up their summer residence on Atlantic avenue, Phillips Beach, are entertaining Miss Dorothy Cummisky of Sharon, Mass., a school friend of their daughter, Lillian. Mrs. Mary Alden Ward gave her first talk on Current Events at the Neighborhood club on Tuesday afternoon to a number of summer residents who have become members of her class. During previous summers Mrs. Ward has lectured to the women in their homes, but larger space was needed for the growing number of members. The patronesses are Mrs. William A. Paine, Mrs. Eugene H. Clapp, Mrs. Charles N. Brush and Mrs. W. F. Watters.

New Ocean House, Swampscott

NEW OCEAN HOUSE—Ap[ro]pos of the splendid weather which the guests at this hotel are enjoying to the utmost, two nine-hole hazardous golf courses are being laid out for the pleasure of the hotel colony. One is very conveniently placed upon the lawn opposite the hotel, while the other has been designed for the green adjoining the tennis courts on the hotel property to the northwest of the Annex. No doubt these courses will afford much pleasure and amusement for those who like and enjoy out-of-door life. Although they take up but a small area of space, yet a game played can consume several hours, even when the players are proficient. Tournaments will probably be held later in the season, thus stimulating the interest of the players.

More than three hundred people enjoyed the formal ball which was given at the New Ocean House on the evening of the 4th of July. Many of the North Shore cottage contingent responded to the management's cordial invitation to attend, making the scene one long to be remembered. During the serving of dinner which prefaced the dancing, the hotel orchestra, a group of the Meyer-Davis orchestra band of Philadelphia, enlivened the scene by a very tuneful concert, after which furnishing sparkling music for dancing.

Mrs. C. D. Sawyer and Mrs. M. M. Johnson, both season guests at the New Ocean House, were among the ladies who attended the bridge and tea given by Mrs. Arthur G. Mitton at the Bass Rocks golf house, Gloucester, Monday afternoon. Other ladies who went from the hotel were Miss Helen Dole and Mrs. Richard Mitton, a sister-in-law of the hostess. The proceeds of the function go to the Peter Bent Brigham hospital surgical dressings fund.

Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Crimmons and son R. G. Crimmons of West Newton will be guests at the New Ocean House for a several weeks' stay.

A visitor at the New Ocean House over the week-end was Ward G. Foster of New York, who in business life is known over our country as "Ask Mr. Foster." Mr. Foster enjoyed his visit to this beautiful hotel, exceedingly, and will probably be a frequent week-end visitor during the season.

Percy Mackaye, author of Caliban, which is being staged at the Harvard Stadium at Cambridge for the benefit of the Red Cross and Reserve Officers' Training Corps, was a week-end visitor at the New Ocean House, enjoying the surf during his stay. Mr. Mackaye was the guest of Mrs. Henry E. Von Wedelstaedt of St. Paul, Minn., who is spending the summer here.

Motoring down from the Profile House at Franconia in the White mountains, a group made up of Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Mason, Mr. and Mrs. D. N. Mason, all of Cleveland, are enjoying a visit in Swampscott, guests at the New Ocean House. So impressed are they with the hotel and its attractions, especially the surf bathing, that they have decided to stay longer than they had first intended.

Mrs. George Partridge, a society leader in Minneapolis, motored from her home in Minnesota and is now a guest at the New Ocean House until the close of the summer days.

One of Buffalo's prominent attorneys, Horace White, and Mrs. White are recent arrivals at the New Ocean House to remain until the end of the season. This is Mr. White's first visit to Swampscott, although Mrs. White has been a guest here during other seasons.

Forsaking Marblehead Neck, which has been her summer home for a number of seasons, Miss Corrine Dana of Boston is a guest at the New Ocean House for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Stearns of Boston have taken up their summer residence at the New Ocean House, which is pleasant news to their friends. Last summer the Stearns' were of the Magnolia cottage colony, occupying a cottage on Fuller street. Mrs. Stearns is a prepossessing young matron; before her marriage she was Miss Frances Gould. Their little daughter, Rose Gordon Stearns, nearly three years old, is a very pretty child and resembles her lovely mother.

Mrs. J. C. Stanton and daughter of Montreal have come to the New Ocean House from their Canadian home to enjoy its attractions and bathe in the fine surf which the beach in front of the hotel offers.

One of Holyoke's most prominent paper manufacturers, W. F. Whiting, accompanied by his wife, has taken his residence here for the remainder of the summer.

A pleasing addition to the hotel contingent are Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Woodard of Norwich, Ct., who are guests at the New Ocean House for the next two weeks.

For July Mrs. G. G. Sims and Miss Vera Moore, both of New York, are registered at the New Ocean House. In August the ladies will go to the Mt. Washington at Bretton Woods, which is their annual custom.

Scores of Ocean House guests enjoyed the swimming meet held on Monday, July 9th, on the beach near the hotel, when the New Ocean House boys, all college preparatory school men, defeated the Marblehead All Stars, in a keen, well competed match. The New Ocean House boys took 5 first places, 5 second and one third. The feature of the day was the relay race, which was a thriller from the start. Parker of the New Ocean House, a Boston College High man, started with McMullen opposing him. Parker gave Lorne a 10-yard lead over Cutter. Moore of St. John's Prep held his own with Curry. Kelley of B. C. H. started even with Scalley and it was a toss-up between the two until the last five yards, when Kelley took the lead and won by a yard. The 50-yard competition was won by Parker, N. O. H.; second Moore, N. O. H.; third, Cutter, Marblehead. The 100-yard race won by Kelley, N. O. H.; second, Johnson, N. O. H.; third, Scalley, Marblehead. Plunge won by Lorne, N. O. H., 54 feet; 2nd, Kelley, N. O. H., 52 feet; 3rd, Woelfle, N. O. H., 49 feet. Mile race won by Lorne, N. O. H., after being pressed hard by Parker, his teammate. Parker was second, Crosby of Marblehead, 3rd. In the Diving Contest Parker won first place, Coleman, N. O. H., 2nd; Scalley of Marblehead, 3rd. The contest was interesting from the start to the finish, the men showing training, and being evenly matched.

MARBLEHEAD NECK has never enjoyed so many visitors as it has this summer, if the line of motor cars is evidence of the increasingly popular summer resort. Each day from early morning until dark at night, when the lights from the cars send shafts of brightness through the darkness, an almost unbroken string of automobiles turns from the main highway at Devereaux Beach, passing over the newly built Causeway to the Neck. Undoubtedly the fine roads on the Neck are the chief attraction. The shore road completely circles the Neck, hardly losing sight of the water, and the ocean's breezes which waft at this point are refreshing and worth while for the visitor.

Manager Lane says that his hotel, the "Oceanside," at the Neck keeps him pretty busy these days. Most optimistic is he for a good season.

Miss Julia T. Sherman, whose summer home is at the Neck, entertained the Ladies' Missionary Society of the Old North church on Monday afternoon. It was the occasion of the monthly meeting of the society and much business was accomplished.

Edward Gray, Jr., is entertaining his father, Edward Gray, Sr., at his home at the Neck. Mr. Gray, Sr., is a vice-president of the Prudential Life Insurance Company at Newark, N. J. Mr. Gray is strongly devoted to golf, spending much of his time on the links at the Tedesco club, which he says are very good.

Miss Corrine Dana of Boston, who has been a summer resident at the Neck for a number of seasons, entertaining extensively at the Corinthian Yacht club, will this season be a member of the hotel colony at the New Ocean House, Swampscott. Her pleasing personality has endeared her to many at the Neck and she will be genuinely missed from the summer community.

Commodore Douglas of the Boston Yacht club was host on Saturday to eight of his friends at a pretty luncheon at the Corinthian Yacht club. In the afternoon the group enjoyed a sail in the Commodore's fine skiff, returning to the clubhouse in the evening for dinner.

Never have the pretty gardens at "Questenmere" appeared more beautiful, more luxuriant, than they do at present. With infinite care the gorgeous coloring of the beautiful flowers attracts everyone who passes this fine summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick McQuesten. The gardens, which are laid out on the lawn at the side of the house, show beautiful pansies of the deepest purples, blues and yellows, while hedges of sweet smelling wild roses abound in the outline of the garden. Beautiful roses in many of the choicest varieties are ready to bloom; when they do send forth their beauty and fragrance it will add to the charm of the scene. The road separates the house from the largest of the flower beds, where peonies, iris, canterbury bells and roses bloom in gay variety. Not wholly is this great plot devoted to flowers. Fine vegetables are growing rapidly here and waxing strong with the splendid attention given by the gardener.

On Monday evening the first of the season's dinner dances was given by the members of the Corinthian Yacht club to their friends. The clubhouse was a blaze of lights, red, white and blue electric bulbs and Japanese lanterns adorning the verandahs and float. Salem Cadet band gave an inspiring concert during the serving of the dinner, which was most elaborate and appetizing. The rooms of the lower floor were open en suite and set with tables adorned with pink sweet peas, snap dragons and greenery. American flags were used profusely in the decorations. Of the many dinner parties Commodore Charles B. Wheeler was noted, being host to a group of 14 guests. Others who entertained were J. B. Fallon, J. F. Bates, H. B. Sears, Dr. Percy, A. H. Weiner, J. P. Squires, Vaughan Jealous, D. B. Hallett, C. P. Baker, Frederick Beebe, W. S. Bigelow, K. H. Billings. Very beautiful were the gowns worn by the ladies present, displaying the latest of Fashion's modes and color schemes.

MARBLEHEAD, upholding her reputation of always being among the first to come to the aid of her country, re-established her summer branch of the Surgical Dressings Committee of the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital, meeting every Friday morning in Abbot Hall, where the good work goes on rapidly. Miss Edith Fabens is chairman of the committee, it being through Miss Fabens' endeavor that the work is carried on all winter by the Marblehead residents. Interested workers in the branch are Mrs. W. R. Castle, Mrs. E. D. Boles, Mrs. H. P. Mosher, Mrs. R. S. Peabody, and Mrs. L. C. Wead.

"The Orchard" is the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Cleghorn at Peach's Point, which is a very beautiful house with very fine surroundings and outlook. Mrs. Cleghorn is one of Marblehead's summer hostesses, her charm and beauty being noted on the shore.

A house guest at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Harris P. Mosher is Miss Elizabeth Haven of Cambridge, who will probably be a member of the "Mooring" household during the summer. Dr. Mosher is awaiting orders now to join the Harvard Hospital Unit, which is about to leave for France.

As usual this summer the Peach's Point colony includes Professor and Mrs. William F. Whitney of Marlboro street, Boston. Dr. Whitney is curator of the Warren Anatomical Museum at Harvard Medical school, Cambridge, where the family mingles in the Cambridge society set. Both sons, Lyman Fiske Whitney and William Elliott Whitney are in training with the Reserves.

To protect its property at Marblehead, the Burgess Aeroplane Company has just established a strong guard about the premises. Another phase of its proficiency is the stringing of wires in the plant, thus furnishing a telegraph system to assist in this work of protection. Sentry boxes for the watchmen are also being built. The company is planning the erection of a steel fence, and this, too, will materially aid in guarding the property from any intruder. Greeley S. Curtis, an officer of the company, hopes to have the fence in position almost immediately.

Very gratifying were the results of Red Cross week at Marblehead. Although the exact figures of the amount gathered in the town have not been computed, the total is approximately $2200, which is a splendid and edifying tribute from the people of this quaint, old town.

Tuesday evening sixteen of the twenty-eight women's societies in Marblehead organized the Marblehead unit of the Women's Committee of the Council of National Defence. Many of the summer residents are represented in the officers elected, which are as follows: Chairman, Miss E. G. Fabens; vice chairman, Miss Amy B. Lindsay; secretary, Mrs. Emerson Laskey; treasurer, Mrs. Mary F. Heath; executive committee, Mrs. Richard Pope, Mrs. Everett Paine, Miss Ellen McCluskey, Mrs. Charles Goodwin and Mrs. Fred Caswell. This is a step in the right direction,—the standardizing of the relief work. Departments will soon be formed, one to be the enrolment of housekeepers in relation to food conservation.

Mrs. Chester L. Dane of Peach's Point is spending a few days in Washington, whither she went to visit Mr. Dane, who is in command of the Tenth Deck division of the U. S. S. Nebraska and who was called to Washington for orders. Mrs. Dane will return to the "Old Wharf" house in a few days. Jack Dane, their son, left Marblehead on Wednesday for a visit with relatives at Ogunquit, Maine.

Miss Evelina du Pont is expected at her summer home at Peach's Point, and is en route now from her home at Greenville, Delaware. Miss du Pont is an aunt of Mrs. Francis B. Crowninshield (nee Louise E. du Pont), whose summer home is also at Peach's Point, a delightfully restful and homelike estate appropriately called "Seaside Farm."

An active worker in the Red Cross is Mrs. Richard E. Pope, who has recently taken up her summer residence with Mr. Pope in Wainwright house at Crocker Park, "Dock Ledge," which they have just purchased. Mrs. Pope has aided materially in the Boston branch of the Red Cross, both with donations and contributing much of her time to the cause. Her interests have now extended to Marblehead, where she has been cordially received by the ladies of the local branch.

SWAMPSCOTT doesn't necessarily mean Phillips Beach and Beach Bluff, but always does Swampscott come to the aid of both of her sister colonies and help, socially, materially and financially. Such is the case at the present time when Red Cross, Navy League and Surgical Dressings work is in such demand and evidence. Many of the summer colony from Swampscott meet at the Neighborhood clubhouse at Phillips Beach on Mondays and Fridays and give their aid with a will and cheer.

Monday morning's meeting of the Swampscott Branch of the Red Cross, which was begun by Mrs. W. F. Watters and Mrs. Grace Aborn, held in the Neighborhood clubhouse was a very successful one, judging from the number of ladies who were present the entire morning from 9 until 1 o'clock. Already a munificent sum has been donated by the members.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Shaw of Tupelo road entertained over the week-end Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Jones and daughters, Katherine and Gertrude Jones of Waltham.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ward of Little's Point entertained Mr. and Mrs. Paul R. Clay of Methuen over the week-end, both Barbara and Katherine Clay accompanying their parents.

EDITORIAL

DURING THE LAST WEEK of this month Manchester is to have a Chautauqua series of lectures and entertainments. So many calls have been made upon the people of this vicinity that some of the guarantors of this big community undertaking were at first of the opinion that it would be better to pay the guarantee fund and cancel the event for this season. Wiser counsel prevailed, however, and Manchester will enjoy a week of first class entertainment, educational and inspiring in character. When the war broke out in the early spring, Dr. Pearson, director of the Chautauqua circuit which includes Manchester, left his duties at Swarthmore college to go to Washington to consult with the authorities about the advisability of cancelling the 2,000 Chautauqua assemblies planned all over the country for this summer. He was emphatically advised to take no such action. On the contrary, the government was of the opinion that Chautauqua would be a great force in national unification during the war and should by all means be continued. Government approval was placed on Chautauqua when it was exempted from taxation, such as was placed upon other amusements. The directors of Chautauqua are using every effort to further the aims of the government and will supply Chautauqua entertainments for each of the great continents where the American soldiers will be assembled for training before going abroad. In Manchester all money from the sale of season tickets above the guarantee fund will be given to the local Red Cross. Manchester and vicinity can afford to support Chautauqua for patriotic reasons alone. And no one can deny Manchester is patriotic.

THE BACK TO NATURE MOVEMENT, which President Wilson inaugurated as soon as war was certain, has been productive of great gains along all agricultural lines and bumper crops are assured. The farmers of America have risen to the situation and the returns for the year promise to exceed the fondest wishes of the administration. The psychological effect of the declaration of war upon Germany has already begun to show itself. The Allies have been heartened and the Central allies must have been disheartened by the news. Now that economic forces as well as military forces are at work the declaration of a bumper grain crop in America must be a discouraging item of news to the Central powers. If the season is a good one and the crops coming on are gathered, America will be able to supply all of her own needs and have surplus to furnish the allied powers.

AMERICA HAS BEEN SLOW to believe that Germany would use the bodies of her own soldiers to reclaim necessary chemicals and fats, but if the photographic copies of orders issued, which have been forwarded to Boston, are to be believed the fact is established. Are there no bounds to the horrors of war?

WHEN THE HISTORY of this decade is written it may be called the Revolutions of 1914 to 1917. The Great War of course is to be the center of attention, but the accompanying changes in the whole world are far greater than the war itself.

THERE IS NO PLACE in this world struggle for national conceit nor for any false estimation of the ability or prowess of any nation. In fact national conceit means defeat. America has already learned and will learn still further in the bitter school of experience that there is still much to be learned in the way of military prowess. We are not a militant nation and a military spirit can never be aroused. The situation now presented is one laid upon us by necessity and cannot be avoided. But it will not be conceit to consider the effects of the entrance of our government into this fray if we are so fortunate as to be successful. At the time of the entrance of America, while it cannot be said that France and Great Britain and Italy had been whipped, it is certain that they had not defeated their enemies. If Germany had defeated them the leading world power would then have unquestionably been Germany and judging her activities in Belgium and the levies there it is unquestionably true that America would undoubtedly have been forced to pay a large indemnity for the provisions of munitions which we sent to Great Britain and France. Great Britain and France had not won at the hour of the entrance of the United States, but welcomed our coming. Now, if Germany is defeated her world power ascendancy is gone. Where does it place America? It undoubtedly places America among the leaders of the nations of the world; not for any petty purposes of gaining power or empire but to assure moral and righteous government the world over. By staying out of the conflict America would have lost all and she is now to gain all. A league to enforce peace has been created, and America has joined the league.

THE PROHIBITIONISTS, it is reported, are quite pleased with their successes with the Food Bill controversy and while the beer and wine clause still remains it is believed that they struggled for the larger measure in order to be assured of the gains which have been made. All spirituous liquors will be prohibited and a great national gain will have been made. A national experiment will be begun which ought to prove beneficial to all concerned. The producers of grain will now know that it will be used for food and not for poisonous spirits and the manufacturers of spirituous liquors will not lose because they will sell their supply on hand to the government at ten percent profit. This stands out as the greatest measure ever enacted by America to meet the growing demands of the people for a restraint of the liquor business in its worst forms.

THE MEN CHOSEN by the draft are to be drawn by numbers, but the numbers are not those which are to be found upon the registration cards, but have been placed upon the cards in red ink in the state offices. It means that the draft numbers drawn will correspond not to the registration, but to the draft red ink number. It would appear that every effort was being made to make the drawings fair and honorable for all. Whatever the failures may in the future develop there is every reason, now, to believe that the system is as near perfect as can be devised.

PATRIOTISM AND PROFIT should never be mentioned in the same breath, President Wilson says. That is also the belief of a certain class of parasites, who prosper by obtaining funds from summer residents of the North Shore, but the only reason they never mention them together is because it would be most tactless. When they say patriotism, however, they say it because they have profit in mind. For many seasons past there has been a class of professional singers, musicians and other artists who have come to the North Shore for the purpose of self-advertising and personal profit. By appealing to the patriotism or generosity of summer residents they have given musicales, etc., under the pretext of their being for the benefit of public or private charities. The Red Cross is a favorite with such impostors, who secure prominent residents for patronesses by conveying the impression that a large percentage of the proceeds will be given to charity. Then, after a tremendous sum has been received, a paltry few dollars is turned over to the charity advertised. The patronesses have no means of knowing whether or not the artists are sincere in their handling of the proceeds of the affairs and unless their suspicions are aroused might lend their aid indefinitely to such frauds; for such they are. The BREEZE has been aware that deception has been worked upon summer residents in the past, but no opportunity has ever before been presented to call attention to the matter publicly. In these times, however, when money is needed in such great amount for funds such as the Red Cross, the Y. M. C. A., the French Wounded, the Navy League, etc., it would be unpatriotic to allow responsible people to lend their names and money to the furtherance of private enterprises, promoted in the guise of charity. Summer residents, who are approached in the future by artists(?) desiring patronage in an affair for charity, would do well to investigate what percentage of the proceeds go to the charity advertised.

NATURE IS KIND in its ministrations after all and time usually corrects many things. The season has been late, unusually late, and the flowering plants have come in successions that have been unusual. When one pauses to remember that upon July 4th, lilacs, the late variety, were still in bloom that the wryglia was coming on and that peonies were not in their full bloom and that only scattering gatherings were made of peas from the gardens one appreciates how erratic the weather conditions have been. A short week has corrected many of these strange happenings of the garden, and the strawberries and garden stuffs are reaching the markets from the market gardens, so our private homes are beginning to enjoy the labors of a long and backward spring.

THE FUTILITY OF FORCE and enmity as governing the relations of workmen and employers has been demonstrated time and time again, but again and again the new workers need to learn the lesson in the school of experience. In Lynn there has been a contest on with the usual misunderstandings and stubbornness, but eventually the principle of arbitration must prevail. The parties in question have already agreed to discuss their differences and there is every reason to hope that an amicable settlement of the dispute may be made soon. Arbitration is the only method that will stand the test of experience, and success in this case will be but another evidence of industrial progress.

THE SOCIALISTS are quick to appeal to the law for redress. Why such loyalty to law?

STRAWBERRIES AND CREAM taste just as good as ever.

SOME DISSENSION HAS ARISEN over the so-called sectarian amendments to our state constitution. Three amendments have been proposed; one prohibits appropriations to any religious organization under sectarian control and the other two prohibit the appropriation of money to any institution not under direct governmental control. The latter two would prohibit appropriations to any institution, however worthy, that is not under the government. This would prevent appropriations for many of our higher schools of learning. The proponents of the former amendment are not opposed in principle to the other two amendments, but see in them subterfuges to defeat their purpose of preventing appropriations to sectarian institutions, it being believed that the voters would reject the second amendment because of the strong opposition which could be aligned against it. The situation is interesting and it will be watched closely. This much can be said for the last amendment that it would be difficult to prove to the people of Massachusetts that it was not advantageous to make contributions for certain specific works for community betterment even though the work was directly done under management outside the government, but the appropriations for the support of any religious organized work would be contrary to the principle for which Massachusetts has long stood, the separation of Church and State.

WHILE THE DRIVE FOR LARGE CROPS has been all in all a very good policy for the nation at large and was necessarily the move that was essential for national success, the smaller farmer and grower has been severely handicapped and it is more than likely that he will be obliged to bear some losses by the necessity which he must face to let his goods go at the price the market affords. Already the bottom has dropped out of the potato market. Less than sixty cents the city dwellers have been paying for potatoes. What has happened to the potato is certain to happen in every green vegetable and in some of the winter vegetables. The smaller dealer necessarily will have to bear the burden imposed, but how could it have been avoided?

PRESIDENT WILSON has called for the discharge of all state troops and has arranged for their enrollment under the standards of the United States Government. This action was of course necessary in order to make the guards subject to national orders and available for service anywhere. This act of the President will make every officer an appointee of the United States Government and enroll him in the national service. Thus will end the long and bitter struggle to unify the military forces of the United States Government. After the war it is certain that some better means will be devised for a standing, reserve and volunteer force than has existed in America in the past.

GERMANY IS VIEWING WITH DISMAY the attitude of certain factions toward the official activities of the government. However, one may be assured that a revolution in Germany is not to be expected. The internal conditions in Germany are going to have a determining influence, eventually, in the end of this strife. When the end does come, it will be a collapse and may it soon come; but it cannot come until the German people are ready for it, and the German government is not yet ready to ask for peace.

Work is a guardian angel. Work turns the wilderness into a garden. Work does sometimes what even love cannot do—roots a man firmly in his place in the world.

MANCHESTER

The annual picnic of the Elder Brethren will be held at Tuck's Point on Thursday. There will be a good chowder as usual and a fine list of speeches.

The drill of the 125th State Guard company will be held at the Essex County club grounds on Monday evening at 7 o'clock. If stormy the drill will be held in Town hall.

Frank Thereault, who has been employed for the past two years at the Hooper grocery, left on Monday for his home in Nova Scotia to assist in the work on his father's farm.

Many ladies from Magnolia and Beverly Farms are among the attendants at the lectures at the Food Centre. A special lecture and demonstration of the entire process of canning strawberries were given by Miss Bradbury on Monday evening when about 25 were present. A new drying house is being built in the yard beside the food center.

Simeon Cool, Percy Keithley and Joseph Saulnier, who were members of the Manchester home guard before the formation of the state guard company, discovered on Monday evening that they were not eligible to membership in the new company because they had not taken out their first citizenship papers. Their determination to be of service, however, was so strong that they hurried to Salem by the first train on Tuesday morning and secured he necessary documents. They were among the members of the guard when it was mustered in on Wednesday evening. Their patriotism is commendable.

Oliver T. Roberts, who is a member of the local exemption board for the 23d district, including Manchester, Beverly, Wenham, Hamilton and Essex, has received from the war department a bulky pamphlet containing the rules governing the exemptions which may be considered from the men who are drafted. It is expected that the drawing in Washington of the number of men for the first quota will not take place until next week, instead of tomorrow as previously expected. Manchester's quota, based on the estimates of two-thirds of one percent of the total population would be approximately 20 men. It is possible that twice that number will be drawn to allow for exemptions.

Manchester FOOD CENTRE Telephone 116 NOTES

The registration at the Food Centre this week shows that many people are becoming interested in the question of Food conservation. At present the workers are canning strawberries and peas. When there is no longer need of helping the householder in her canning, their attention will be centered on drying which will be done extensively. All the processes that aid in the saving of food are to be tried out at the Food Centre. The impression that it is a Canning school, only, is erroneous. Canning is felt to be only one phase of conservation work and every phase must be studied and practiced by the housewife, who desires to be both efficient and patriotic. To this end explanatory talks on Food Costs, Elimination of Waste, Substitution of the diet, Food Values and other questions vital today will be given. The first of these will be given next week on Monday at 7.30 p. m. and again on Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

CHAUTAUQUA LOCATION CHANGED
Instead of the Chautauqua, which is coming to Manchester July 23-27, being located in the lot next to the Horticultural society building on Summer st., as announced on another page of the BREEZE it will be held at Masconomo Park on Beach st. Through arrangements made yesterday the consent of the Park Commissioners was given and the plan has received the hearty endorsement of Edward S. Knight, chairman of the Board of Selectmen. All who are in anyway interested in the success of Chautauqua are delighted at the change to the more desirable site. The Park board readily gave permission as the committee has agreed to repair any temporary damage to the grass, although the open space in the park is to be plowed under, anyway, in the fall.

MANCHESTER

Col. H. P. Woodbury camp, S. of V., will meet on Tuesday evening, July 31. The camp meets only once a month during the summer.

The next band concert will be held on Saturday evening, July 28, instead of on a Thursday evening. The postponement is made because Chautauqua will be in session that week and one of the big attractions at Chautauqua is to be Colangelo's band. The following concerts in the month of August will be held, weather permitting, on Thursday evenings, August 9 and 23.

The ticket committee of the Chautauqua began its drive this week to sell 500 tickets for the big event the last of this month. Frank A. Foster is in charge of the general committee and the town has been divided into seven districts each in charge of a subcommittee. When the guaranteed number of tickets has been sold all of the profits from the sale of the $2 season tickets will be given to the Manchester branch of the Red Cross. A full account of the Chautauqua program will be found on pages 61 and 62.

Tomorrow's game promises to be one of the best diamond scraps which the local grounds will afford this season. St. John's Catholic club of Cambridge, the nine which defeated Manchester 6 to 2 early in the season, is coming back for more and is due for a surprise. Woodman, who was injured in last week's game, telephoned Manager Walen yesterday that the injured foot is recovering rapidly and that he will be here "with bells on" tomorrow. With Woodman in the box and working good there should be no question about the contest being more equal than the previous one. Holt, the shortstop, has been attracted by the glitter of easy money and deserted this week to play with Attleboro. But the loss is not as great as it might have been for Holt's hitting has been nothing to brag about, and his successor is a faster man. Ford the Tufts college shortstop, will fill the gap between second and third bases. When Umpire Knowlton calls time tomorrow they will line up about like this: Meehan c, Woodman p, Devlin 1b, Sheehan 2b, Ford ss, O'Leary 3b, Gourley 1f, Elivard cf, Grover rf.

Albert Cunningham is having a vacation from his duties at the New Eng. Trust Co., Boston.

Mrs. John Prest and two children are spending two weeks in Hamilton with Mrs. Prest's parents.

Dr. F. A. Willis has received his commission as first lieutenant in the medical corps of the U. S. Army, being attached to the dental unit.

Manchester friends of Walter Fleming will be pleased to hear of his success. For eight years he has been in the office of the General Electric Co. in Lynn, rising from a clerk to one of the heads of the accounting department. When a Worcester firm, Knowles & Crompton Co., was scouring around for a man to take an important position in their office, they selected Mr. Fleming. He started his work there this week, and will soon move his family from Lynn to Worcester. Mrs. Fleming was Miss "Peggy" Standley of this town. Mr. Knowles of Knowles & Crompton Co. is Lucius J. Knowles, a former summer resident of Manchester. Odd as it may seem, Mr. Fleming used to carry mail for Mr. Knowles several seasons when he summered in Manchester.

The fire truck was called out last evening in answer to a still alarm from D. T. Beaton's plumbing shop on Morse court. A fire in a rubbish heap was the cause of the call. No damage was done.

SCHOOL CHILDREN'S GARDENS.

Any of the school children of the North Shore, who have planted gardens which they wish to enter into competition for prizes offered by the North Shore Horticultural society, will please make application to M. H. Warner, chairman of the exhibition committee, Manchester.

MANCHESTER YOUNG MAN JOINS AEROPLANE CORPS.

Frank Foster Tenney, a Manchester young man, but for the last few years a resident of Beverly Farms, left Boston Sunday evening for Camp Borden, Toronto, Canada. Mr. Tenney is attached to the United States Naval Aeroplane corps, and his first orders are for instruction work at Camp Borden. For the last five years he has been chauffeur for Miss Eleanor Sears, and it was while in California with Miss Sears the past winter that he took up flying. He received his active orders last Friday and started for camp Sunday.

MANCHESTER

The annual picnic of the Brotherhood will be held sometime in August; no definite arrangements are to be made until after Chautauqua.

Harmony Guild, through its Fourth of July committee, has turned over to the local Red Cross, $12.75, the amount received from sale of balloons during the parade on July 4th.

Some one suggests that some enterprising committee or individuals, working in the interests of Red Cross or some other relief work, could pick up a comfortable sum on band concert nights in Manchester by letting camp chairs to such of the crowd as would care to sit.

There was a good attendance at the first band concert of the season last evening by the Salem Cadet Band. Owing to the coolness of the evening the crowd was not as large as it might have been. One of the features of the concert was a cornet solo by Mr. Latham.

One feature of the Chautauqua which people should not overlook is this: that all tickets bought for individual performances after the opening day, does not count in favor of the pledge made by the 50 men who are responsible for bringing the Chautauqua to Manchester. These 50 men have pledged the sale of 500 season tickets at $2 each prior to the opening performance. If there are any lacking of this number the guarantors must make up the deficit. Single tickets are 35c and 50c; season tickets for all performances only $2.

The BREEZE $2 a year, $1 for 6 months, postpaid.

ABOUT RESPECT TO FLAG.

In a letter to the BREEZE David Gillis, one of the Manchester boys recently enlisted in the navy and at present aboard the U. S. S. Virginia, speaks of the neglect of certain Manchesterites to properly honor the flag as it passed in the parade on Fourth of July. He says:

"Just a line in regard to something I wish you would bring before the eyes of the people of Manchester. That is the raising of the hat when the flag passes on parade. As I was carrying a flag on Wednesday last, I noticed but few of the men gave any notice of a flag passing. I know it was not disrespect for the flag, but careless neglect and it is not to criticize that I write. I wish you would drop a hint so that another time the proper formality will be observed. They know enough to raise their hats, but are only afraid to show their feelings."

MUSTERED IN MANCHESTER COMPANY OF MASS.

STATE GUARD FORMALLY SWORN INTO SERVICE ON WEDNESDAY.

With its full membership present the 125th company of the Mass. State Guard was mustered into service on Wednesday evening in Manchester Town hall by Col. Sleeper of the State Guard Board. Notification of their appointment by Gov. McCall as officers of the company was formally given to Captain Alexander Robertson, First Lieutenant Raymond C. Allen and Second Lieutenant John P. Corley. Their commissions will follow.

There were 69 enlisted men, besides the officers, present to be mustered in. All had passed a physical examination to the satisfaction of the medical examiner, Dr. Glendenning. Col. Sleeper inspected the company, which was drawn upon at "attention" in two platoons on opposite sides of the hall. After collecting the "muster in" cards from the men Col. Sleeper had them repeat the oath of allegiance, required of state guardsmen, and then administered the oath to the officers.

The term of enlistment of the guard is two years, or the duration of the war if the war ends before that time. Drills will be held regularly from now on every Monday evening, rain or shine. When the weather does not permit out-door drilling of the company, the Town hall will be used for the present. Uniforms will be received as soon as the men are measured and the requisition put through for the equipment. Col. Sleeper said a new assignment of rifles had been received in Boston for the use of the state guard. It is expected that an examination will be held for the selection of non-commissioned officers in the near future.

URGES GREATER EFFORT

FORMER MANCHESTER MAN TELLS OF EXPERIENCE WITH CHAUTAUQUA
IN NORTH BROOKFIELD.

In a personal letter to Harry W. Purington, treasurer of the Manchester Trust Co., Ira E. Irish, formerly connected with the Manchester Trust Co. and now cashier of the First National Bank of North Brookfield, Mass., tells of the experiences of the Chautauqua guarantors in that place. They handled their campaign with the same uncertainty that marked the early efforts of the Manchester guarantors. When Chautauqua drew near they grew enthusiastic, but were unable, in the short time left, to avoid a deficit. Chautauqua met the approval of the most pessimistic and exceeded the expectations of the most enthusiastic workers. He writes:

"Dear Harry:

"The enclosed program of Chautauqua is of course self-explanatory, however, I thought you might be interested as I know Manchester is soon to have Chautauqua, and I believe the same talent that is performing here this week.

"No doubt there has been considerable sentiment in Manchester, but at its worst it could not beat the sentiment against Chautauqua here, prior to the opening day.

"Each succeeding day has shown a better attendance and a disappearance of this sentiment, until now, the closing day, it is almost unanimous that it is a fine proposition and should be encouraged everywhere.

"Mrs. Irish and myself have attended every evening performance and have thoroughly enjoyed each one a great deal more than we had expected to do.

"The talent is A-1 and the lectures are extremely interesting and instructive. Almost any one of the several performances is worth the price of a season ticket.

"I am writing this voluntarily that it may help you and indirectly the guarantors to fully appreciate the matter of getting busy with the season tickets, as there was a deficit here of about 60 percent, due entirely to lack of enthusiasm and coöperation among the guarantors, prior to the opening day.

"I sincerely trust that you will not have this trouble in Manchester as there is absolutely no reason why the guarantors should have to make up any discrepancy if the thing is handled properly.

"With kind regards and best wishes, I am

"Yours sincerely,

"I. E. IRISH."

One of the improvements at Singing Beach this season has been the placing of rubbish cans at points along the beach and in the bathhouses, adding much to the tidiness of the beach. Repairs have been made to the boardwalks along the beach.

There is a little flower bed on the Common near the Congl. church which a year ago blossomed forth with pretty flowers. This year the same wire fence surrounds it and the same care is evident in the upkeep of the lawn about it, but no flowers bloom. We are wondering if the fine crop of weeds is being cultivated because the lawn of the public library is planted to potatoes and flowers are no longer fashionable.

EASY VICTORY

MANCHESTER BLANKS WEST ROXBURY BY 11 TO 0 SCORE, BUT ACCIDENT TO WOODMAN GIVES ONE HIT.

Failure to time his stride in tagging first base in a close play in the eighth inning of the game with West Roxbury last Saturday put Woodman out of the game with a badly sprained ankle and saved West Roxbury from the disgrace of a no-hit game. After holding the visitors hitless for eight innings Woodman had to retire to the bench and let Gourley finish the game. Manchester batted Martin out of the box in about 10 minutes from the start of the game with five hits which totalled seven bases and brought across four runs. Butler, who relieved Martin, was hit nine times in seven innings and seven runs were scored off him.

Butler started the game for the visitors by bunting to Woodman and was an easy out. Eagan arrived at first and went on to second when Sheehan made a bad throw to Devlin. Hayes sacrificed himself to advance Eagan, going out at first on a ground-er to Devlin. Flynn hit toward second and Eagan started for home, but turned back toward third when the ball was fielded to Meehan. The runner circled into the diamond nearly to pitcher's box to avoid being tagged. He was called out by the umpire for being out of the base line.

Gourley bunted safely in Manchester's half of the first inning O'Leary went to first when Hayes let the ball go through his hands at second. He stole second and worked a double steal with Gourley, which let the latter score and O'Leary stopped at third. Sheehan's single to center-field scored O'Leary. Singles by Devlin and Meehan filled the bases. The baserunners had their opponents rattled and a triple steal, attempted by Sheehan, Devlin and Meehan, resulted in Sheehan scoring, Devlin going to third and Meehan being caught at second. Holt's three-bagger scored Devlin. Butler then went in to pitch and Elivard struck out. Francis grounded to Reardon and was the third out.

Up until the eighth inning West Roxbury did not get a man to first again. Manchester was blanked in the second, but started scoring again the next inning. Sheehan circled the bases on a drive to the brook and Meehan sent a two-bagger to the brook. He advanced to third on Butler's balk and was scored by Eli-

Entry forms are out for the two big competition features the North Shore Horticultural Society is offering this year. Both contests are fostered by the society for the patriotic purpose of increasing food production and conservation. One competition is open to all on the North Shore who plant gardens in the various municipal or other public allotment gardens. Medals will be given in each section. Crops will be judged on the land at the time of harvest. Potatoes will be judged by points as follows: quality 30 percent, uniform size 30 percent, yield 30 percent, variety 10 percent. The other contest will be for the best exhibit of canned vegetables and will be open to all housewives in Manchester and nearby towns. An exhibition will be held in connection with the canning competition at Horticultural hall on October 24.

A very indignant lady rushed into one of the Manchester stores the other day and demanded to know by what right the proprietor continued to display the flag of the Imperial German government in the window.
She was quickly pacified and somewhat humiliated to learn that the flag was that of little Belgium, one of our allies and not the German tri-color. She has since brushed up her knowledge of heraldry and has discovered that the German flag has three horizontal bars of black, white and red, while little Belgium's emblem is black, yellow and red in vertical stripes.

it's the life you lead. The greatest game in the world is life—play it square, and don't slack!

x-x-x

It is shortsightedness on the part of the Town of Manchester not to have the approach to Singing Beach properly policed on Sundays. True there is a special officer guarding the encircle at the end of the highway, but he insists that he is under strict orders from the park commissioners to pay no heed to anything beyond the stone post which marks the end of the town highway, and the beginning of the beach—the circle. A pretty fine point, it would seem! Who of the hundreds of motorists that visit Singing Beach of a Sunday know of that fine distinction? It is very evident to them that cars are not to stand in the circle, for haven't they just picked their way down the street among the autos and breathed with a relief as they reached the circular turnaround? If they are not bright enough to know cars are not to stand in the empty circle, they ought to be able to read the sign which conveys that information, and if they can't read it is time enough then for an officer to impart the information. But, for the town to pay a man 40c an hour to stand in that circle that is barely large enough for a car to turn around in, while just over the imaginary line all is chaos—we can't understand the logic of it.

Last Sunday morning cars lined both sides of the street from the Beach to the entrance to the Masconomo hotel.
There were fully 100 cars there.
Some protruded out into the street on one side, some on the other. It was unsafe for two cars to pass at a time under conditions as they were. Yet!
if there was someone on hand to regulate the traffic, the cars would be lined up properly, and there would then be plenty of room for cars to pass to and fro, and everyone would be happier. And, incidentally, that's what people go to the beach for—to get some pleasure and to enjoy themselves. We repeat—Manchester is fast getting a reputation for shortsightedness in allowing a condition such as this to exist. And we are not alone in this belief. If there is any good reason why the man appointed by the park board to keep cars from standing in the little circle at the entrance to Singing Beach, can't take a hand in regulating the traffic for 100 feet or more along the street adjoining, then lets pay an additional 40c an hour for another man. It's a pretty fine point—and the taxpayers are paying the bills. Why not let the people rule?

Old-Time Players Were the Best

Umpire Knowlton Recalls Achievements of Stars of the Diamond in Years Past

Elmer "Nobby" Knowlton, Whose Umpiring Pleases Manchester Fans

Manchester now has an umpire who is satisfying the fans. Complaints about the umpiring have become rare among the local and visiting followers of the great national game since Umpire "Nobby" Knowlton has been holding the indicator. Poor umpiring spoiled one of the first games of the season in Manchester and the same cause lost Manchester the game with the United Shoe in Beverly a few weeks ago.

Knowlton is well known to most of the fans in this vicinity. Years ago he used to play a little ball himself—how many years ago it is unnecessary to divulge, although "Nobby" is no blushing, modest youth when the age question is up. But when it comes to baseball and the "dope" attendant thereon, his umps is a gray-haired, long whiskered sage. For there is little about the national pastime that "Nobby" does not know, particularly in the umpiring line—and he admits it.

Our friend of the indicator has journeyed back and forth across the continent following the "bush" and minor league circuits for long enough to know something about the diamond and its history. He has strong and fixed opinions about how a ball game should be run and usually adheres to them. Baseball is not what it used to be, he maintains. Now, it is a popular form of entertainment that has lost some of its favor with the public, but it is coming back. A ball game must be directed as carefully as a theatre performance and all the rough-house tactics of the players eliminated if baseball is to come into its own again, according to Knowlton. But even then baseball is not producing players of the calibre of some of the earlier stars, he maintains.

"Take the batters for instance," he says. "Anson's record for the 15 years from 1876, the first of the National league, down to 1890 stand unparalleled. His averages were 342, 335, 336, 407, 338, 339, 348, 413, 337, 313, 371, 421, 343, 341 and 320. In the decade and a half the old warrior was first three times, second three times and always near the top. Wagner, Keeler, Lajoie and Delahanty have nothing on him. In 1887 Tip O'Neil of the St. Louis Browns led the American association for batting honors with the enormous average of 492, which means he must have stung the ball on the piccolo for a safe hit every other time that he faced a pitcher.

"Baseball has become more mechanical; it is played more according to system. Managers rely more on team work and less on individual effort. Outfielders no longer rush in and spear the ball off their shoestrings. They are unwilling to take a chance of making an error. Instead they wait for the bound, thus eliminating much of the marvelous fielding that made McAtter, Fogarty, Welch and Tom McCarthy famous in the old days. Probably this style of playing is good policy, but it makes baseball less spectacular and exciting, no one can deny. And the present system does not dig up such batters and base runners as those of the past. Of course, some will say that the catching was not so good then; but a look at the list of back stops at that time refutes that argument.

"There have never been any better than Bennet, Bushong, Snyder, Geer, Carroll, Cross, McGuire, Ganzell, Robinson, Clements, Mike Kelley and Frank Flint and such old boys. The last named was a horse for work. In 1887 he caught 120 out of 121 games when pitchers fired their cannon-like shots from a distance of 45 feet after taking two swings and a running hop, step and jump. He stood his ground day in and day out for several seasons with the Chicago club and helped to win five penants. Many of the first-class pitchers were novices, but his coaching brought them to the front. Among those who reached the top notch under his tuition were John Clarkson, Goldsmith, Corcoran and McCormick.

"Where can you find today pitchers like Radbourne and others that I have mentioned. Infielders of today do not compare with McPhee, Dunlap, Burdock, Denny, Pfeffer and Williamson. Charlie Comiskey, as an inventor of plays, has them all tied to a post and for trick plays Mike Kelley has them all faded. There were more stars in one league 20 years ago than in two now. The game may have advanced, but show me where the players have. What value would players of this calibre be to club owners of today?"

At the flag raising patriotic songs were sung by the children, Master Leo Nelson recited two original verses, Mr. Adams, a veteran of the civil war led in "three cheers" for "Old Glory" and Dr. Eaton gave a short address. Among other things he said:

"A wag once said that this nation is bounded on the north by the aurora borealis, on the south by the procession of the equinox, on the east by the rising sun, and on the west by the Day of Judgment. The words of the wag have become terribly and portentously true. For, to keep your hands busy in this "Little chapel" where in other days good people met to worship God and out of which the mortal remains of some of your loved ones and neighbors were carried to yonder village cemetery, your tongues from speaking evil of others, who are doing their full share of the world's work, and your hearts raised in prayer to God for His blessing upon the cause for which we are all working; to support and maintain the church of Christ, the chief corner-stone of this great republic and without which there would be no Stars and Stripes to raise over it; to buy Liberty bonds, to give generously out of our wealth and also poverty to aid the work of the Red Cross, French Relief and kindred organizations, that precious lives may be saved and suffering mitigated; to plant our gardens and take care of them and aid in every possible way in the conservation of foodstuffs; to send our Elihu Roots to Russia to council and encourage her statesmen in their heroic efforts to establish a stable and democratic government; to build and equip thousands of vessels and aeroplanes that there may be a more speedy termination of this the greatest war of all the centuries; to wield our swords in defense of innocent maidens, destitute widows, helpless orphans and the inalienable rights of men, life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness; to send our noble and brave sons to carry "Old Glory" not only across the great wide sea and through the streets of Paris as they are doing this Fourth of July, but also to the firing lines on the battlefields of France and to keep it there as a "sign of a nation, great and strong, toward her people from foreign wrong," until militarism, despotism, and barbarism shall be overthrown, until the world shall be made safe for democracy and democracy shall be made safe for the world, and until love shall become the light of the people and liberty shall clasp hands with law—there, there is our Day of Judgment."

Official notice was received this week by Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Campbell that their son, John A. Campbell, had been wounded by accident. The notice did not give any other information. "Johnnie" is an expert gunner in the British army and when last heard from was on the Saloniki front.

The annual fair of the Ladies Sewing circle was held at the chapel of the local Baptist church yesterday afternoon and evening and was a big success in every way. There was a large attendance and the sales tables did a good business. In the evening an excellent entertainment was given, the program in part consisting of solos by Mrs. C. vard's drive to center. Elivard, who had been batting around .100 all season, hit for .500 Saturday. In the next inning Woodman singled to right and advanced on Gourley's sacrifice. He stole third. O'Leary was hit by a pitched ball and then he and Woodman worked a double steal, Woodman coming home from third. Another tally was secured in the fifth inning when Meehan got his third hit of the game. An error gave him second base and a fumble at third put him on that bag. He scored on Holt's grounder. Gourley caught a fast ball in the side when he came to bat in the sixth and was walked. O'Leary sacrificed and Sheehan was walked. Devlin singled, Gourley scoring from second, a fumble by the catcher allowing the run.

Manchester got two more runs in the seventh when Meehan singled to left field for his fourth successive hit. Elivard drove the ball to the brook for a homer and chased Meehan across the plate.

Woodman had been holding the visitors helpless up to the eighth. He had two out when Duff grounded to Devlin. Woodman, who fields his position with lots of speed shot across to cover first base. He was a couple of yards ahead of the runner and it looked an easy out, but just as his foot struck the bag he tripped and dropped the ball. He had to withdraw from the game and Gourley finished in the box. Grover, who was out of the game because of an injury received on the Fourth of July, replaced Gourley in left. Examination of Woodman's injury by Dr. Tyler disclosed a bad strain of the tendon of Achilles in the right foot. He may be out of the game for some time. Butler got the only hit for the visitors in the ninth when he hit safely to center field.

One of the features of the game was Meehan's hitting. He got three singles and a two-bagger in four times at bat and scored three times. Another feature was the way Manchester players stole bases, nine steals being recorded.

PLANNING TO PUT UP A LIVELY CAMPAIGN.

Sixth Congressional district Democrats are planning to put up a lively campaign for the seat left vacant by the resignation of Congressman A. P. Gardner, who is now serving as a colonel in the army. With so many candidates for the Republican nomination the Democrats feel that their chances are better than they have been for years. The Rev. W. H. Rider of Essex, for many years pastor of the Universalist church at Gloucester and Granville S. MacFarland of Swampscott are mentioned as candidates for the Democratic nomination.

BASEBALL NOTES FROM BEVERLY EVENING TIMES.

Meehan, who is doing the backstop work for Manchester this year used to play with the Beverly town team when Charlie Baker and McHale Rafferty managed the outfit. He is a smooth worker and seems to get better results from Grover than did Perkins the old side partner of Grover.

Marblehead is said to be increasing its ante for guarantees. How the Marble-heads, Kelley and Grady, expect a team for which they give a $35 guarantee to play ball worth while against a team costing $200 puzzles even a real Marblehead.

Grover, the Manchester mound man, may get back into the game next week. Grover has been shooting the hot ones for many seasons, but still seems to be in pretty good shape and to give all comers a run for their money.

"Your honor," informed the policeman as he pointed to the prisoner, "he refused to rise while the band played 'The Star Spangled Banner.'"

"I did not recognize the tune," explained the culprit hastily.

"Now, my dear man," said the judge sympathetically, "let me whistle it for you, so that hereafter you may distinguish it."

The judge whistled the melody and the prisoner listened intently. When his honor had finished the defendant exclaimed generously:

"Your honor, if the band had played the tune as you whistled it I would not be here today."

AGRICULTURAL RETURNS COMING IN.

The following circular letter has reached this office from the Essex County Food Production Committee at Hathorne, Mass.:

"The Agricultural census returns are reaching this office. The credit for having made the first return goes to Wenham. It is apparent that these returns are to be of great value to all parties concerned, the producer, the dealer, and the consumer. We are urging you to complete your returns, if you have not already done so, and return them for tabulation as early as you possibly can.

"Some deduction for the returns already in may not be amiss. The following crops show a decided increase in acreage: Potatoes, corn for grain, sweet corn, cabbage and squash. There is also a general increase in the planting of root crops. It is also good to note that the small grains, oats in particular show a decidedly increased acreage.

"The returns already tabulated indicate that we are to have a large production of certain crops and that we shall have to be exceedingly careful as to securing their prompt distribution. This makes it highly desirable that the census taking be completed as soon as possible in order that this service, namely,—crop distribution advice be prepared in good season."

What So Pleasant as Whiling Away A Hot Afternoon by Embroidering?

Sit in the shade of the porch or under a tree and forget the heat by losing yourself embroidering a handsome piece of stamped work. Not only do you get comfort and ease; but the prettiest of napkins and luncheon sets, table covers and other useful household articles can be completed during leisure time that would cost much if bought ready made.

Simple designs and easy to work. Lots of women are more facile and like complicated ideas—we have these, too, in large assortments.

CHAUTAUQUA NEAR

GREAT COMMUNITY UNDERTAKING
BY MANCHESTER PEOPLE TAKING FORM DAILY AS CAMPAIGN PROGRESSES.

The center of the stage will be held for the rest of the month by the biggest community effort Manchester has ever made. The attention of 50 Manchester business and professional men is now focused on making a success of Chautauqua, which will come to Manchester the week of July 23. Five whole days of high class entertainment, calling forth some of the best obtainable talent at the price, will be furnished in the big tent which will be erected on Summer st. extension, next to the new building of the North Shore Horticultural society.

Last Monday evening at the Baptist Vestry plans were formulated for ticket selling campaign which is to place a $2 season ticket in the possession of every man and women in Manchester. On motion of Daniel E. O'Brien it was voted to apportion the town into the same districts used in the Liberty Loan campaign. The boundaries of the seven districts were furnished by Oliver T. Roberts, under whose direction the Liberty Loan drive was so successfully accomplished. Mr. Roberts suggested that the committee, which was to be appointed for each district by the chairman of the guarantors, be held responsible for the canvassing of every house in its district, and that a stipulated quota be assigned as a minimum for each committee to sell.

Frank A. Foster is chairman of the ticket selling committee which will govern the drive to distribute 500 tickets in Manchester and vicinity. When Manchester has reached its quota of 500 tickets, the money from every ticket over that number will be turned into the funds of the local Red Cross branch. This agreement was made at Monday evening's meeting by Mrs. A. J. Whipkey, who was present on behalf of the Chautauqua directors.

The same enthusiasm and push which made Manchester more than doubly oversubscribe her Liberty Bond quota and quadruple her Red Cross campaign quota is behind the campaign to sell tickets for Chautauqua. The 50 men who are boosting Chautauqua have signed a contract by which Chautauqua will come to Manchester anyway, they to stand the loss if the tickets are not sold, but there is little danger of any of the tickets remaining on hand the morning of July 23.

Chautauqua is new to Manchester, but for years has been a fixture in the middle Atlantic states, the middle west and the south. Under the Chautauqua plan a great variety of entertainment is provided in many small towns where speakers of the class furnished by Chautauqua would be beyond the reach of the ordinary community. The $2 season tickets includes afternoon and evening entertainments on each of the five days, ten in all. Many of the lectures are of the class supplied by expensive courses in the cities. High class musical entertainments are provided. By maintaining several tents in various communities at the same time and eliminating the larger part of the risk of loss by the guarantor system, Chautauqua is able to furnish these features at the greatly reduced price.

The great feature attraction of Chautauqua in Manchester may prove to be one not originally contracted for, but which will be provided as an extra. Dr. Frederick Coan a native of Persia, son of an American missionary, and himself a missionary, has been recently engaged by Chautauqua and will speak in Manchester on the evening of Tuesday, July 24. Dr. Coan has been stationed at Urumia, Persia for several years past and was there during the early years of the war. He witnessed the terrible massacres of the Armenians by the Turks and is able to give one of the most graphic accounts of the great struggle on the Turkish front ever told in America. Little is known of the conflict that has been waging in Asia and Eastern Europe during the great war, so important have been the events on the Western and Northern fronts. His subject will be "The Tragedy of Armenia and Syria by an Eyewitness."

The great Monday feature will be the Berkeley Sextet, young lady musicians of great talent, the most expensively costumed Chautauqua company now playing, who will entertain both afternoon and evening. There will be a lecture by the superintendent, Miss Hamilton, at each of the first four days' Chautauqua. Other features will be as follows:

"The Man From Home," the play by which William Hodge won fame, a typical American comedy written by Booth Tarkington and Harry Leon Wilson, presented for the third season on Chautauqua by the Avon players.

Mother Lake, with a theme dear to every mother's heart, "The Rights of Childhood." Mrs. Lake is one of the really great women orators.

Granville and Hines, baritone and pianist. Charles Granville is one of the well known concert artists, a pupil of Victor Maurel, and one of the Edison Phonograph Company's favorite artists. Gabriel Hines, a young pianist and composer of note. Winner of the second prize for an American opera at the Panama Exposition. Their third season of Chautauqua.

Colangelo and his band, with Millicent Melrose, soprano. Luigi Colangelo became a band director before he had scarcely turned twenty years of age, and even now he is one of the most youthful conductors in America. This is his third season with the Chautauqua. Millicent Melrose, soprano, is also a great favorite with Chautauqua audiences. She first appeared as a Chautauqua soloist five years ago and has remained with it each year as one of the most popular artists.

NEWS-STAND PRICE OF BREEZE HAS ADVANCED—SUBSCRIPTION RATE REMAINS THE SAME.

The price of the BREEZE, at news-stands, has been advanced to 10 cents a copy for the six-month period, May to October, inclusive, at least, and possibly after that. Readers of the BREEZE should not misunderstand this statement: It is the news-stand price of the BREEZE that advances and not the subscription price. Subscription (paid in advance in accordance with the postal requirements) will continue at the old rate of $2 a year, and $1 for six months.

This radical change is made imperative because of the unusual advance in the price of paper.

We would urge upon those of our readers who are not regular subscribers, to place their order for the BREEZE so that it may be mailed them regularly every Friday morning. The subscription rate figures only 4c a copy, as compared with 10c, which will be the news-stand price everyone not a subscriber will have to pay after this month.

Your Jewels

Between the old-time clumsy gold jewel and the modern artistic platinum pin, pendant or ring, there is simply a difference in the setting. Such old-fashioned pins contain stones of splendid quality which need only a delicate platinum setting of artistic design to transform them into a fashionable piece of jewelry. There is keen pleasure to be obtained from a jewel designed after your own suggestions, and containing your own diamonds, that is not to be found in the ready-made stock pieces.

Let our designer suggest ways of setting your stones so they may show to better advantage. You will find our designs original, the workmanship high class and our prices much lower than other dealers charge for the same class of work.

Write us, explaining what you wish done, or better still, visit our Store personally if convenient and hear our suggestions for remounting.

ABOVE—An artistic platinum setting and the diamonds from an old-time sunburst pin made an exquisite and fashionable Brooch.

AT THE LEFT—Another actual contrast of the old and the modern jewel. The same stones that were set in the clumsy gold pin were used in completing the delicate design of the platinum bar.

BELOW—From the five pieces of gold, unattractive in design and rarely used, were fashioned the exquisite platinum ring and pendant pictured.

A large verandah facing the water, which is at the disposal of knitting clubs and committees. Arrangements may be made for serving tea and other refreshments.

Ladies' room, writing conveniences, local and long distance telephone.

A staff of assistants always pleased to extend any possible courtesies and hospitalities.

We believe that quality and worth are economy; that good enough never can usurp the best; that the customer is generally right; that loyalty to the loftiest standards of our calling is as imperative as deference to the client's wish; and that when we have ceased to be apprentices to progress we have failed at our biggest task.

We strive to please our patrons with the same service and quality that experience has proved to be pleasing to ourselves.

Many noble-hearted women today are carrying bags like this. They are of beautiful cretonne or bright-hued silk and they lend a picturesque, quaint note to one's costume;—somewhat suggestive of other times when American women were rallying staunchly to the support of a war-tried nation, just as they are today.

Perhaps you already have a bag of this sort. Its uses are many. You may carry in it the knitting you are doing for the Red Cross work, and besides it will easily hold the little parcels that you buy at the stores and do not mind carrying with you, as well as the little accessories it is always convenient to carry.

Every woman, young or younger, should produce some article for the comfort of our soldier boys, with her own fingers and some knitting needles.

It is more than kindness, it is more than an expression of esteem. It is real patriotism. Many of our boys are not yet accustomed to the rigorous life of the army camp.

A Sweater or some other knitted garment will given them comfort and protection against colds and their results.

The Oliver Ames Place at Pride's Crossing

Hedges a Feature, Separating the Lawns
Into Grassy Courts—Flowers Abound

Entrance to the Oliver Ames Estate

THE OLIVER AMES PLACE at Pride's Crossing is entered through a gateway in a wall of unusual beauty. This wall was made last season and lends an air of charm and seclusion to the grounds. Hedges of many varieties are noticeable, separating the lawns into grassy courts, and also surrounding the garden. The entrance is marked with a row of liburnum dentatum and small arbovitae, and the inner court yard, partly enclosed by the house, contains some bay trees of great beauty. These are standing in formal array on either side of the court and edging the house while some are along the piazza marking the main entrance to the house from the roadway. Bay trees, ten pyramidal and eight standards, four box trees and two English laurel trees, and the rare French hydrangeas are some of the striking plants to be seen.

The little formal garden lies at the side of the house facing the water. It is encircled with standard lilacs and some spirea. The lilacs are a garden unto themselves in their season. Now the garden beds of extreme symmetrical design edged with box are showing the perennials of the season, heliotrope seeming to be a favorite planting.

But the sight of the place this week is the arbor of roses separating the garden from the house. Beautiful from below they are a still prettier sight to look down upon from the upper part of the house. Here is a hedge of the old white rose, Madam Plantier, rather uncommon nowadays, and a long arbor of the tausendschon, a distinct rose with clusters of large soft pink flowers.

The long veranda facing the sea is bordered with Candidum lilies showing pearly white now and having a planting of heliotrope at their base. At the entrance to this veranda are some fine spirea blossoms.

The cutting garden lies next to the garage and contains most noticeable just now a great planting of white iris.

The garage and stable with its riding horses of which the Misses Ames are very fond are secluded by vines, trees and shrubs and seem to be built into the wall and surroundings. The grounds are unique in the six iron gateways that lead into different sections and courtways formed by hedges and walls. The English thorn hedge rows and the two big elms close by are an interesting section near the garage.

The big gray cement house with its dull green blinds stands on the high embankment which skirts the sea at this portion of the Shore and the view is unsurpassed. The lawn leads down to the edge of the bank which is left in the natural state.

The pretty little white terrier belonging to Miss Elise Ames is a privileged little snowball running through all the riot of greenery on the place.

There are commodious bath houses for the family and help.

The Ames family divide their time between the North Shore, North Easton and Boston. Tomorrow, Saturday, July 21, they are opening this beautiful home for the Percy Grainger concert benefiting the Essex County Chapter of the Red Cross. Concert is at 4 p. m.

Help Save---and Don't be Finicky

Kiddies Can do Their Part in Great Food Conservation Game

By LILLIAN McCANN

DON'T be finicky these days, dear kiddies.

The presiding lady at Manchester's Food Center says that she has heard it said that it is the "hims" and the children who keep the mothers from following "food rules." Now this is not written for the daddies, but for the kiddies.

You know that Mr. Endicott, the new food administrator for our state, says that each family must save six cents daily on its food, if we are to be thoroughly patriotic. Of course there are some families so poor that this cannot be done, so he is asking those who can save a lot to do so in order to make up where we lose among the poorer people.

Now some kiddies will be delighted to know that it is considered good etiquette these days to pick up the chicken bones and daintily eat every scrap of meat from them. Don't waste!

Eat not so much for fun these days as formerly. Eat all you want in an uncomplaining way. Eat what is set before you and help mother do her share in helping Mr. Endicott and Mr. Hoover. A bulletin says: "Eat enough and no more. When too much food is served at a meal, uneaten portions are left on the plate and later thrown into the garbage pail." And you know that food is wasted when we eat more than we need for the growth and repair of our bodies. We need just enough to supply the energy for our work. Overeating we know will make us sick.

Don't be finicky! Learn to know all the good things there are to eat. Two little girls once went to visit their grandmother and were served with delicious strawberry shortcake made from biscuit dough. They turned up their little noses at it, and boasted afterwards of how they "boycotted" grandma's cake. They had been used to shortcake made from cake dough.

Now mother has been asked by Mr. Hoover to simply use less wheat, meat, milk, fats, sugar and fuel, and more fruits and vegetables and other foods not suitable for shipment to the countries where the war is going on.

Help mother save wheat to send to the soldiers by learning to eat in a happy manner cornmeal bread, oatmeal, barley or rye bread, and some breakfast foods other than wheat. Think of mother's "wheatless" meals as "special" treats. And indeed they will be, for the cooking teachers all over the land are preparing special recipes for them. Another thing, eat the crusts of your bread and do not ask for so much cake and pie and candy.

Mr. Hoover says: Save the meat by eating beef, mutton or pork not more than once a day. Use fish and more vegetables. Save the meat, kiddies, to be sent to the soldiers. They must be fed before we are. Boycott lamb and veal, for we want the animals to grow larger. Eat more green stuff from your "food gardens."

And kiddies, save your shoes as much as possible. Take care of them. Leather is high and must be had for soldiers equipments. Buy your new shoes, but care for them, so there will be enough leather for all.

Take care of your cotton clothes. Much of our cotton is going into munition plants, khaki suits and surgical dressings.

Let the sheep live as much as possible so we can have wool for the soldier's suits, shirts, blankets, and socks. We must keep him warm. So care for your woolen suits.

Kiddies, draw upon that little reserve bank inside of all of you, that little bank account of good health, and help mother in this trying time by not being finicky about your meals. The old prescription of moderation in all things, rest, diversion, exercise, all mixed together in equal parts and taken continuously will go a long ways nowadays. Help mother solve the food problem!

The following list of foods will give the same amount of energy as a slice and a half of wheat flour bread. One apple, one egg, one and one-tenth ounces of dates, thirteen double peanuts, three teaspoonfuls of sugar, three tablespoonfuls of uncooked rice. So you see there are many things to eat on "wheatless" days. The latest bulletins on foods, cooking, canning and drying are found at the Manchester Food Center. These, perhaps, are not very readable for kiddies. But kiddies can get the message: Help save and don't be finicky!

I cannot too earnestly insist upon the need of our holding each man for himself, by some faith which shall anchor him. It must not be taken up by chance. We must fight for it for only so will it become our faith.—
Mark Rutherford.

Sheep-Raising on Mystery Island

Early Settler Couldn't Make a Go of It
Despite the Much-Berated Pest—the Dog

By KATHERINE GAUSS

A RECENT ARTICLE in the NORTH SHORE BREEZE relative to the prevention of the killing of sheep by dogs, leads to the telling of a story of Mystery Island, off West Beach.

Half a century ago it was the domain of about as shrewd an Irishman as ever awoke to the "accents of Erin." His will, on file at the Salem Probate office, tells the story. He had landed in Boston—a penniless adventurer and began sustaining life by rowing to the Boston market, boatloads of ballast and of paving stones, gathered from the islands of the outer harbor. He saved his money. Pretty soon he found himself in possession of a derelict old coasting sloop. When, with the aid of this acquisition, he had succeeded in stripping the little, unfrequented harbor islands of their only wealth, in the loose shingles that drifted ashore there, he took a lease of Mystery Island in Salem harbor, which he finally bought, and from this point conducted a lucrative and extensive traffic of his own in paving stones and ballast, besides evolving a thrifty farm out of what wisacres had always regarded as waste land.

He made shade trees and fruit trees appear where nothing grew before, and hay crops and corn crops and crops of potatoes and turnips fair to see. He came as as possible to refuting the ancient philosophy which declared that nothing could be made out of nothing. If he was not "the Lord of Isles," he was certainly monarch of all he surveyed, and had made two blades of grass grow where one grew before.

One year the grasshoppers consumed his crops. Before the next spring he had learned that mother nature's antidote for the grasshopper was the turkey. Turkeys are not easy to raise in our climate, certainly not on a windy island. But before the locust plague again got in its work, Mystery island was swarming with turkeys. The young poultry had eaten all the larvae—the grasshoppers did their grasshopping elsewhere that summer, and a great crop of Thanksgiving turkeys rewarded his enterprise and cheered innumerable festive tables.

Now Daniel Neville never slumbered. He did not quite sit up nights to think out experiments, but he tried everything. His farm offered ideal conditions for sheep-raising, and he tried sheep. Here was a fine island air, a good grassy lawn, and an absolute immunity from the detested dog. But while he won out with everything else he failed with sheep. At last he had a fleet of pogie schooners feeding the Gloucester fisheries with bait, and he had always a fresh pair of ducks or a box of mushrooms or a dozen newly-laid eggs for a visiting friend. He abandoned the sheep experiment promptly. Other dealers could send better or cheaper mutton to the markets. Other sections could lay down a wool clip on better terms than he could. It was no use trying. The venture was a failure, and the much berated pest, the dog, had nothing to do with it.

Save Food to Win War, Says Hoover

His Appeal to American Housewives Shows How Much Can Be Done

MR. HOOVER believes that no actual hardship will be entailed by following the instructions issued. The people are asked simply to use less wheat, meat, milk, fats, sugar and fuel, and more fruits and vegetables and other foods not suitable for shipment to the firing line. No request is made for limiting at this time the foods for growing children.

Summed up, the doctrine is as follows:

Use less wheat, meat, milk, fats, sugar and fuel.

Use more fruits, vegetables and foods not suitable to be sent to camps or firing lines.

Buy food grown close to your home. This reduces the food distribution problem and gives the railroads more facilities for war materials and troops.

Mr. Hoover said:

"You can save wheat by having one wheatless meal a day. Use corn, oatmeal, barley or rye bread and non-wheat breakfast food. Order bread 24 hours in advance so your baker won't overbake. Cut the loaf on the table as required. Use stale bread for cooking and toast. Eat less cake and pastry.

"Save the meat by eating beef, mutton or pork not more than once a day. Substitute fresh vegetables and fish. Serve smaller portions. Serve stews instead of steaks. Use all left overs. This means meat enough for every one at reasonable prices.

"Save milk by using every drop. Give the children plenty, but use buttermilk and sour milk for making cheese and cooking. Use less cream.

"Save fats. We are the world's greatest fat wasters. Butter is essential to child growth. Use it on the table, but not in cooking. Fry fewer things. Soap contains fat. Don't waste it. Make your own washing soap at home out of saved fats.

"Save sugar. We use three times as much per person as our allies. Use less candy and sweet drinks. Do not stint the use of sugar in putting up jams and fruit. They save butter.

"Save fuel. Coal comes from a distance. Railways are overburdened hauling war materials. Help relieve them by burning fewer fires. Use wood when you can.

"Use perishable foods. Fruits and vegetables we have in abundance. As a nation we eat too little green stuff. Double their use and improve your health. Store potatoes and other roots properly and they will keep. Begin now to can or dry all surplus garden stuffs.

"Use local supplies. Patronize your local producer. Distance means money. Buy perishable food from the neighborhood nearest you and thus save transportation."

(From the Boston Herald of July 8, 1917.)

The T. Jefferson Coolidge Garden at Manchester

Luxuriance of Growth and Coloring Greets the Eye and the Benediction of Quietude Soothes the Spirit

By KATHERINE C. GANLEY

TO wander through the beautiful and spacious gardens upon the estate of T. Jefferson Coolidge at Coolidge's Point, Manchester, is ever a rare delight to the beholder, where luxuriance of growth and coloring greets the eye, and the benediction of quietude soothes the spirit.

Ever has Mr. Coolidge, through generosity of heart, extended a welcome to those who would enjoy the privilege of a visit to his gardens. As one strolls through the avenues of stately trees, grown tall and majestic in years of thriving, thus, are they prepared for the fineness of the gardens within, where rich bloom and fragrance abound.

Graceful spruce trees, some with the sheen of rich blue about them, as an aura, others of the silvery white species, nearly surround the gardens.

Through a rustic gateway, nearly hidden with glossy green vines, the visitor passes on, down over stone steps to a bridge, with tubs of delicately tinted hydrangeas bordering the sides, spanning a babbling brook, on over several more stone steps, and then, the vista of the Italian gardens upon one side of the endlessness of gorgeous blossoms upon the other are seen.

When the call for vegetable gardens was sounded through the land, Massachusetts was to the fore, resounding here with a sheer purpose, for the Italian gardens, which in the summers of the past have flourished with gay flowers, are this summer growing vegetables. The pretty boxwood outlines which have always been a feature of the Italian gardens add a quaint note of greenness to the vegetables growing within their precinct. Lettuce is growing briskly, the romaine variety showing itself also. Beets, turnips, onions and many other vegetables are found here.

The sun-dial, which centres the Italian gardens and whose substance is of Italian marble, was brought from Venice, together with the several other ornaments adorning the gardens, including the figures of two leopards mounted upon piers, who guard the serenity of the place. Dug from ruins, resulting from fire, the marble plainly shows in the column of the sun-dial its contact with flames.

On the west side of the gardens, Neptune in marble is seen mounted high over a basin filled with water, the peaceful home of many gold fish. Neptune carries his trident. Below through heads of dolphins, whose bodies form a column of background, trickles the water which supplies this, quiet, dark pool. Directly opposite the en-tarance to the gardens is the Tea House, which has been the scene of many pretty parties, and which has been used by the family for the serving of afternoon tea on many occasions. Rustic in appearance, with vines draping its arched door, the hidden enclosure is interrupted by the marble urn at the very entrance, enhancing the pleasing effect. Nearby is a beautifully carved marble bench amongst the flowers.

As to flowers! Never has there been such an abundance of them as there are the present season. The blue of the delphinium or larkspur is made more brilliant by the pink and white delicacy of the canterbury bells. Spirea grows with exuberance, in its lacy beauty, the purple blending into red of the anchusa ends to the colorful picture. The corn and butter yellow of the low growing coreopsis is seen in great plenty. Sweet peas in all the shades of coloring and fragrance add their note.

As to the rose gardens! They are wondrously beautiful; they are superb in brightness, diffusing a charming sweetness of perfume. They are indescribable. Fragrance and beauty mingle themselves in incomparable grace and loveliness. Roses of varied color tones and shadings thrive here, including the gorgeous remontant jacqueminot, the Baroness Rothschild rose with the pink hues of daybreak hidden in its petals. Then the gracefully pointed Mrs. John Laing rose, the rich Ulrich Brunner red rose, also the finest specimens of perfect Frau Karl Druschki white rose with an inimitable subtle fragrance. And finds it the brightest spot in an otherwise bright, sunshiny day.

Devotion to an ideal, careful study of aids to produce the best specimens, and years of constant care have builded these gardens which have ever been a source of happiness to the family. Many sickrooms have been brightened by gifts of flowers cut in these very gardens, many hospital wards made cheerful. Mr. Coolidge is always pleased to share the beauties of these gardens with any who wish to visit them and stroll through the walks and paths upon whose every side are flowers and fragrance.

Before one departs from the gardens, a visit to the homes of the several pairs of pheasants close by is really worth the while. Adjoining the rose gardens live six pairs of golden pheasants, of which, as is true in most instances of the animal and bird kingdom, the male is quite the most beautiful and pretentious. Equally true is this of the pheasants, the male bird wears most gorgeous plumage, indeed. Reds blending into yellows, greens darkening to richest blues, have ever made these birds the prey of the huntsman. A pair of silver pheasants are also among the collection, the male bird being especially dressed in gay feathers. Its breast of dark blue emphasizes the purity of the silver wings, whose penciling in black in uniform design of much splendor ends in the topping of the bright, red crest.

Surely one is doubly repaid for a visit to these gar-

Stearn, Alex. Cochrane, H. Coolidge, R. Rodgers, G. Cabot and Wm. Wendell, and the Misses Meyer, Lippincott and the Misses Edwards. Additional workers last week were Mmes. F. Dexter, B. Mrs. John Hays Hammond has returned to her Gloucester home from a three weeks' sojourn in New York where she has been attending to the furnishings of the new home they have purchased in Washington. They are planning to move into it this fall. While in New York she was also looking after the war relief work of the Militia of Mercy of which she is president, and whose object is the caring for the families of naval militiamen and naval volunteers. Miss Elizabeth Hammond, Mr. Hammond's sister, is now with the family.

Mrs. Marshall Field, who spent last season at Beverly Cove, in the Norman cottage, has taken a house at Biddeford Pool, Maine.

One of the most successful private affairs given on the North Shore this season in aid of the Red Cross or other war relief was the supper at Amos. A. Lawrence's, Beaver Pond, Montserrat, on the evening of July 4th. More than $600 was realized from the supper and side attractions. The affair was a success socially, too, as a goodly number of the most select of the North Shore contingent was there. Mr. Lawrence's place is admirably adapted for a function of this kind.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Mitchell have opened their house at Manchester this week after being away since last Christmas. They were in Florida for the winter and have been in Virginia since the Palm Beach season, much of the time. For a week or so they have been with their daughter, Mrs. Quincy A. Shaw, 2d, at Beverly Farms. Mr. Shaw, by the way, has joined the colors, in the quartermasters department, and is at present in Montana, and he will probably be there most of the summer, buying horses and getting them in shape for the army. Mr. Shaw conducts a breeding farm for horses in Albermarle county, Virginia, where he maintains a country home, and his experience in this connection and his natural love for horses as a polo player, fits him unusually well for service in this arm of the army at this time.

MANCHESTER'S branch of the Surgical Dressings Committee of the Peter Bent Brigham hospital of which Mrs. Philip Dexter is chairman, turned out 4,040 compresses Thursday afternoon and 39 bundles of gauze were also cut. There were fifty workers present, the average attendance. Mrs. Dexter is spending the week-end away from Manchester and yesterday's work was in charge of Mrs. Lester Leland and Mrs. A. S. Peabody. To do this great amount of work, 4,040 compresses meaning much folding, kept the bundle table busy till long after closing. Among the workers at this table were noticed Mrs. Leland, Mrs. E. S. Grew, Mrs. John Caswell, Mrs. F. Meredyth Whitehouse, Mrs. Guy Norman, Mrs. R. P. Snelling and others. Some of the workers fold compresses at home, often three or four hundred coming in weekly from home work. The local residents of Manchester as well as the summer colony are responding generously to this work. Yesterday Miss Dorothy Spry cut the covers for the compresses. The work is carried on each Thursday afternoon at the Manchester Engine House. Mrs. Dexter urges everyone who can to help in the work.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Arthur Carlisle of West Manchester are spending a few days in Atlantic City and at Utica, N. Y., where their son, Charles, is employed in the munition factory of the Savage Arms Co.

Miss Louie R. Stanwood is now with her parents, the Francis M. Stanwoods of Manchester, and is resting from the somewhat strenuous activities which have been put forth by the suffragists of Brookline in war relief and food conservation.

For the benefit of any who may have been missed in the recent canvass by the women of the various food conservation committees, connected with the Hoover campaign to enroll the householders of the nation, extra pledge cards may be obtained at the Beverly Farms Public library and at the Food Center, 38 School st., Manchester. It is not too late to sign one of the pledge cards and enroll yourself in the great national movement to conserve the food of the nation that the armies may be fed and the civil population plentifully supplied, when the great struggle really begins. There is no financial obligation connected with the signing of the card; it merely indicates your willingness to cooperate with Mr. Hoover's plan and gives you name to the proper authorities in Washington so you will be kept informed of the steps to be taken. Germany admits the bravery of our troops and fears them, but her army leaders have only contempt for the patriotism of our people who remain at home. Germany does not depend upon her people to conserve the food supply—she makes them. She bases her hopes of victory upon the failure of America to accomplish by volunteer saving what she is doing by compulsion. Give your answer to Germany by signing the pledge card and doing your bit in saving the nations resources.

FOR the benefit of the Ris-Orangis hospital in France, Mrs. James Henry Lancashire announces a morning reading, "Gardening With the Poets," to be given by Mrs. Waldo Richards, in "Graftonwood" garden, Manchester, on Wednesday, August 1, at 11 o'clock. The program, chosen largely from the poets of today, will include prose and dialect selections, and will express the spirit of the garden in its various phases, as of the old-fashioned garden, the rose garden, the lovers garden, the child's garden, and the garden of life. The reading will be given indoors in case of rain, instead of being postponed. Tickets may be obtained from Mrs. Lancashire at Manchester, Mrs. E. Laurence White, Beverly Farms, or at the Grande Maison de Blanc, Magnolia, Wenham Tea House or the Page & Shaw Tea Rooms, Pride's Crossing.

Mrs. Lowell M. Chapin and two children of Chicago are visiting at "Wayside," the home of Mrs. John Chess Ellsworth in Manchester Cove.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Moore (Fanny Hanna), and their family of three or four small children, of "Hollow Hill Farm," Convent, N. J., arrived Wednesday, and are occupying a cottage owned by Q. A. Shaw, 2d, on Preston place, Beverly Farms.

THE ESSEX COUNTY CLUB at Manchester will be the Mecca toward which all the North Shore will turn tomorrow—Saturday, July 21, for the big Patriotic Golf match. It is here that the final match between Francis Ouimet and Jesse P. Guilford, and Michael J. Brady and Louis Tellier will be played. The match is arranged for the benefit of the Mass. Golf association war ambulance fund. The beautiful grounds of the club will be thrown open to the public at $1.00 a person. The 18-hole match in the morning will start at ten o'clock and the afternoon play will start at two-thirty.

"TO SPEAK, TO ACT, TO SERVE TOGETHER for our country," is the motto chosen by the Economy League of the North Shore to be the incentive for the work which will be accomplished for the double purpose of conservation and war relief. Choosing this phrase from President Wilson's call as their slogan, Miss Elizabeth Gunn of Beverly Farms and Misses Lila Lancashire and Charlotte Read of Manchester, the executive committee of the newly formed league, are devoting their time to the organization of the work of the league in Beverly Cove, Pride's Crossing, Beverly Farms, Manchester and Magnolia. Patronesses of the league are Mrs. Frederick Ayer, Pride's Crossing; Mrs. Albert J. Beveridge, Beverly Farms; Mrs. Costello C. Converse, Magnolia; Mrs. William H. Coolidge, Magnolia; Mrs. Philip Dexter, Manchester; Mrs. Randolph Frothingham, Beverly Farms; Mrs. James N. Gunn, Beverly Farms; Mrs. D. Herbert Hostetter, North Beverly; Mrs. J. H. Lancashire, Manchester, and the Misses Loring, Pride's Crossing.

The primary purpose of the league is to assist in the great campaign for conservation of all the resources of the country that may be valuable in the winning of the war. While some organizations will devote their energies to the great work of conserving food the members of the league will accomplish the prosaic task of saving common everyday materials of value in the industries. The shortage of glass, rubber and paper, so keenly felt at this time, has attracted the attention of these energetic workers and they will comb the territory along the North Shore for waste paper, old rubber, rags, newspapers and bottles. They invite everyone, summer and year-round residents of the Shore, to assist them in their work. Everyone is asked to save the materials mentioned and to notify the members of the executive committee when a sufficient supply is accumulated. Collections will be made of the material, which will be disposed of through the usual trade channels and the funds realized will be given to the Red Cross. The league thus accomplishes a double patriotic purpose.

They also solicit donations of old magazines and books for a traveling library for soldiers' camps. Co-operation of everyone in the conservation of this waste literature is earnestly requested by the committee.

A headquarters for the league has been opened in the Page & Shaw Tea Room at Beverly Farms. Office hours will be from 10 to 12 on Tuesday and Friday mornings. The telephone is 277 Beverly Farms and anyone desiring the league to send for waste materials may phone or write. The committee has designed a labor saving post card for use in conveying a notice to call for supplies. Burlap bags are furnished by the committee for the collection of materials.

Mrs. Frederick Ayer has donated the use of an auto truck for the collections in the Pride's Crossing and Beverly Cove sections; John H. Linehan has furnished a truck for the Beverly Farms district and Dr. J. H. Lancashire has provided a motor truck for the Manchester-Magnolia section. It is hoped other machines will be volunteered for the work of collecting.

Everyone approached is coöperating with the young ladies in their venture and they are putting lots of enthusiasm into their efforts! Capt. John Allen of Manchester has donated the use of an unused building for the storage of materials preparatory to shipment and the league hopes that the coöperation of all townspeople in the towns along the North Shore will be forthcoming so that the work may be extended over the winter months when many of the summer residents will be unable to give the work in this locality their personal attention.

St. John's church at Beverly Farms held its third special war service last Thursday. After the reading of the service and singing of patriotic songs, the rector, Rev. Neilson Poe Carey, discussed a phase of the war dealing with the thought of "What shall it profit if we gain the war and lose our soul?" He read many interesting and pathetic passages from "Young Soldiers of France" in the current issue of The Atlantic Monthly. The keynote of which seems to be: "Today the noble-hearted American nation is asking on its own account the question which, for nearly three years now, the French nation has been asking itself: 'What will be the outcome of this war, which is modifying our national soul? What manner of men will come back to us from the trenches when victory has been won?'"

THE MIDSUMMER MARKET at the Newburyport home of Mrs. Clement Bernheimer was a great success last Friday. This charming old place was in itself worth the trip to Newburyport. Many of the summer residents on the North Shore and in its immediate vicinity helped to raise an important item for the Red Cross and French Wounded, for which the festival was given.

Miss Isabel Semple is much interested in the work for blind soldiers. Before coming to Beverly Farms she raised $75 from the sale of little baskets made by blind French soldiers. Each was unique and had been sent to her marked according as the maker valued it. Needless to say Miss Semple received far more than they were marked, so much were they appreciated in her home city, Philadelphia.

Miss Virginia Wainwright of Longwood will give a series of midsummer musicales on the North Shore. The first concert will be at Mrs. Robert Jordan's house, Beverly Farms, Thursday afternoon, July 26, and the second concert on Aug. 16 will be at the home of Miss Margaret L. Corlies in Magnolia. A portion of the proceeds will be donated to Mrs. Weeks's Havre service for American bags in France.

No prettier little specimen of dogdom is seen on the Hamilton roads these days than the dainty little Titania, the fairy like dog named for the Titania of Shakespeare fame. She is to be seen riding briskly along with her mistress, Mrs. George Burroughs, who drives exceedingly well the handsome products of the stables at "Green Meadows."

John T. Spaulding returned this week from Metapedia, Quebec, from his annual fishing trip.

Of the many Women's Literary clubs in Chicago none is more active than the Friday club of which Mrs. James B. Waller, who summers at Coolidge's Point, Manchester, is a member. This club has, among its many other avenues of war relief, given two ambulances to France, as well as most generously buying of Liberty Loan Bonds. In a contest among the members for the best patriotic song, Mrs. Waller was chosen to take charge of the songs submitted. Because of Mrs. Waller's plans to spend the summer on the North Shore, Mrs. Vibe K. Spicer of Kenilworth, Ill., was selected to take charge of the contribution of songs. The song adjudged the best will be set to music by Reginald John Carpenter, composer.

Miss Louisa P. Loring gave an informal reception at her Pride's Crossing home last Saturday for Roland W. Boyden of Beverly, chairman of the war fund of Essex Co. Gen. Appleton of Peabody, presided at the business meeting of the officers of the various branches and auxiliaries of the county, which preceded the reception. About 70 were present.

St. Mark's school has under cultivation 35 acres of gardens. The boys are returning for two weeks at a time this summer to do their "bit" at farming. John W. Blodgett, Jr., has just returned. Sturgis Grew is still doing his gardening at the school. David Sears has been prevented from going by an attack of appendicitis.

Miss L. M. Rhoades of 38 Lime st., Boston, is among the arrivals of the week at East Gloucester. Miss Rhoades is at The Delphine for the balance of the summer.

MRS. SEWALL, the daughter of the late Admiral Robley D. Evans, will be the guest of Mrs. Robert S. Bradley at Pride's Crossing over the week-end, July 29. While there Mrs. Sewall will give a talk on the work in the French military hospitals in and about Avignon, where the conditions are so terrible. She and her sister, Mrs. Marsh become interested in the work over a year ago and since then they have done much to relieve the suffering there. The money raised does not go for luxuries, but for the bare necessities that in the military hospitals of Southern France are absolutely unattainable. It will not be long before our own soldiers will be occupying these very hospitals, perhaps, where it is impossible to obtain clinical thermometers, soap or new linen, and many other necessities of hospital equipment. It is hoped that a large audience will be present at the talk, which will be on Sunday afternoon, July 29, at 4 o'clock at Mrs. Bradley's house.

THE wedding of Miss Elizabeth Harding and Frederick

H. Prince, Jr., took place in Washington, Saturday, July 14, at noon in St. John's church. Rev. Roland Cotton Smith, D. D., the rector, performing the ceremony. President and Mrs. Wilson headed the list of guests. Miss Harding is the daughter of William Proctor Gould Harding, governor of the Federal Reserve Board. Lieut. Frederick Henry Prince, Jr., of Boston and Wenham, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick H. Prince (Abbie K. Norman) of "Princemere" on the Wenham road. They have long made their residence in Pau, France, in the winter season. Mr. Prince is now of the French aviation corps and is home on a brief furlough. He succeeded his brother, the late Norman Prince, in aviation service, his brother having founded the Lafayette Escadrille, now third in size in the French flying forces.

The wedding journey has been spent on a motor trip through the Berkshires and will end at "Princemere," where they will remain until Mr. Prince is called to France.

Two important functions in connection with the wedding were the dinner given by the bride's father, in Washington, and the bridegroom's bachelor dinner at Mineola, L. I.

A North Shore wedding of interest will be that of Miss Louise McAllister of Marlboro street, Boston, daughter of Mrs. Hall McAllister, who will be married on Monday, Aug. 6, to Nevil Ford of Chestnut Hill. The wedding will take place in the afternoon at 4 o'clock, at the First Unitarian church in Manchester, which has been in the past seasons the scene of several notable weddings. The number to witness the marriage will be necessarily small and confined to the families and more intimate friends, because of the comparatively small seating capacity of the little church. It will be followed by a small reception at "Clipston," the summer residence on Smith's Point at Manchester of Mr. and Mrs. Boylson A. Beal of Boston. Mrs. McAllister is spending the summer season at "Clipston." Miss McAllister's engagement to Mr. Ford was announced a year or so ago. He is a graduate of Harvard, class of 1913.

ANNOUNCEMENT was made this Wednesday by Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Ames of Boston and Pride's Crossing of the engagement of their elder daughter, Miss Elise Ames, to William Amory Parker, son of Mrs. Francis Stanley Parker of Boston. Miss Elsie Ames and her sister, Miss Olivia Ames, are members of the Chilton club, as is their mother, and they both belong to the Vincent club. The sons of the family are Oliver Ames, Jr., Harvard '17, and Richard Ames, a Harvard student. Mrs. Louis A. Frothingham (Mary Shreve Ames) of Boston is an aunt of Miss Ames, and Frederick Lothrop Ames and John S. Ames, both of Boston, are uncles.

Mr. Parker, Harvard '15, is a brother of John Stanley Parker, who married Violet Otis Thayer, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. W. G. Thayer of Southboro and Ipswich. The Parker family has long been of the Nahant colony. Mr. Parker's father, Francis Stanley Parker, died in January in 1916.

North Shore society is interested in the announcement of the engagement of Miss Ella Lowell Lyman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lyman of Boston and Cohasset, to Dr. Roger Irving Lee, Harvard '02, now in France in hospital service. Miss Lyman has been active in the Sewing Circle League and the Vincent club and for the past three years has been engaged in hospital work in Boston. No time has been set for Miss Lyman's marriage to Dr. Lee, as it will depend largely upon his hospital service abroad and the length of his stay there.

Miss Richard, who has been a summer guest at the Oceanside Hotel for the past six seasons, is one of the most popular members of the younger set. Two winter seasons ago she was introduced to society in New York and was elected to the Junior League. She is very active in social and charitable events. Last May her elder sister, Miss Alice Richard, was married to Dr. Heman L. Dowd. Edwin A. Richard is her father, and Auguste Richard, 2d, her brother. HAMILTON AND WENHAM are active in Red Cross. An enthusiastic meeting of Red Cross workers was held in Hamilton last Friday night at the residence of Houston A. Thomas, Mr. Thomas presided, assisted by Mr. Gifford of Salem and Miss Julia Meyer of Hamilton.

They called together the chairmen of the various committees in an informal conference, which resulted in the following organization (which we think will mean some work and some play, in the near future, for the people of this district): Mrs. Raymond Rodgers, formerly Miss Alice Meyer of Hamilton, is head of the work-room committee. This committee will meet twice a week, one meeting on Tuesday morning in the Town Hall of Wenham, and one on Wednesday afternoons at two o'clock in the Hamilton Town hall. People are begged to attend these meetings as the work is considered most important. Everybody is welcome, even if they can only spare an hour.

Mrs. E. B. Cole of "Brookby Farm," Wenham Neck, represented the organization committee, Mrs. George von L. Meyer is chairman of the amusement committee. Lester E. Libby is chairman of the membership committee. Mrs. H. Cleveland Perkins of Washington and Hamilton is chairman of the supply committee. Mrs. Charles T. Parker is head of the wool supplies. Mrs. H. P. McKean is secretary of the organization. Mrs. Albert C. Burrage, Jr., is chairman of the advisory committee, and Mrs. George Burroughs is chairman of the publicity committee.

The amusement committee have begun their campaign by a Golf Tournament under the management of Miss Meyer. The tournament will be held at the Myopia Hunt club on July 27th. The entrance fee, which is five dollars, will include luncheon, bridge and golf. Postal cards will be sent around later. This bids fair to be one of the prominent social events of the early mid-summer season.

The original thought for an organization of a Red Cross branch in Hamilton-Wenham seems to have been given form by a most impressive speech by Hon. George von L. Meyer in Grange hall, a short time ago. Mr. Meyer was assisted by Miss Loring and others, while a number of young girls with Red Cross badges were seen everywhere, assisting the cause all there had so much at heart. A great many subscriptions were sent in, owing to the patriotism and efforts of all engaged in the work that night, and from this seems to have sprung the present Red Cross organization.

It is impossible to give the membership at present as the numbers are constantly increasing. Mrs. Frank Trussel of Hamilton already has handed in 17 new memberships.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Livingston (nee Marie Sheedy), of New York, who are occupying the Brinley cottage on Hesperus ave., Magnolia, have been entertaining Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Sheedy of Denver, Mrs. Livingston's parents. On Saturday they leave for Newport to spend a few weeks with their other daughter, Mrs. Townsend Burden, who was formerly Florence Sheedy.

Rev. and Mrs. William H. Dewart are receiving congratulations upon the birth of a daughter at the cottage which they are occupying in Manchester Cove. They have leased their own place to the G. G. Snowdens of Indianapolis and are at the Prescott Bigelow cottage for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. George Putnam (Katharine Harte) of Smith's Point, Manchester, are receiving congratulations upon the birth of a daughter, Sunday, July 8, at their home near Lobster Cove.

IPSWICH will not have the dedication of the Benjamin Stickney Cable Memorial hospital on Saturday, July 21, as planned. The event will take place on Aug. 4. Particulars will be given late. The hospital is not quite finished.

James W. Appleton of Appleton Farms, Ipswich, and master of the Myopia hounds, has enlisted in the quartermaster's department, U. S. A., and has been sent to Virginia to look after horses for the government. Frederick J. Alley, will act as master of the hounds in Mr. Appleton's absence.

James H. Proctor of Ipswich has also volunteered for service.

Y<sup>e</sup> Burnham House in Ipswich is a busy place nowadays. Last Sunday 150 people visited the old quaint tea house. Mrs. Brown of Beach Bluff entertained eight guests with a bridge luncheon this week. Miss Studebaker of Rye had a party of six for tea. Mrs. Harrison of Bass Rocks had a party of six on the yellow piazza, the tables being decorated in Canterbury bells. Mrs. H. S. Potter of Magnolia had a small party and among the younger set noticed at the tea house have been Miss Janet Bryan, Miss Jean Middleton and Philip Bryan.

"Castle Hill," the Richard T. Crane, Jr., home in Ipswich will be open this Sunday from 2 to 6, admission 50 cents, benefiting the Benjamin Stickney Cable Memorial hospital in Ipswich. After that it will be closed to the public. The hospital is dedicated tomorrow at 4 p. m.

Every evening is a popular one at the North Shore Grill for the attractions of being able to dine, and dine exceedingly well, hear the latest dance music and songs by the splendid singing orchestra which the Grill enjoys, and dance to your heart's content are what the visitor finds when he motors to this very pretty spot among the trees on Lexington avenue. The popularity of the place is manifested each evening when the sumptuous motor cars begin to arrive and deposit their smartly frocked ladies and escorts at the door of the Grill.

Saturday evening an usually large number of people enjoyed the hospitalities of the Grill, staying until the last note of the music had died away. Mr. Del Monte, the resident manager is ever alert to please the guest who comes here for amusement and has arranged pretty tea tables in the corridor garden where of afternoons tea is served.

On Wednesday evening a pretty supper was given at the North Shore Grill, Magnolia, by Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Hussey of St. Louis, who are season guests at the Ocean-side hotel. At the table were their son, Robert Hussey, Mrs. E. M. Binney, Mrs. Maurice Joseph and Miss Christine Miller. Miss Miller, one of our country's prominent prima donnas, delighted those gathered in the Grill with several old Southern melodies, including "Old Folks at Home" and "Old Black Joe." Miss Miller received an ovation.

Supper parties at the North Shore Grill, Magnolia, on Wednesday evening included one given by Nathaniel S. Simpkins of Boston and Dublin, N. H. The table was prettily decorated with pink roses. Among the guests were his daughter, Mrs. Walter Tufts, Jr. (nee Faith Simpkins), Miss E. Prinderille, John Erickson, Miss Mary West and Senor Jose Harris.

Mrs. R. S. Bradley returned yesterday from a two weeks' sojourn at Lake Mohonk, N. Y.

DR. AND MRS. JAMES H. ANDERSON and daughter, Miss Anderson, had for their week-end guest at "Lily Pond Cottage," Coolidge's Point, Mrs. John J. Crane of New York, whose summer home is at Sandwich. Mrs. Crane was Annie M. Kitching before her marriage and she has many friends upon the North Shore. Upon leaving the Anderson home Mrs. Crane went to Litchfield, Ct., to visit Mrs. Russell Raynor, her sister, who has a beautiful place there. The many friends of Dr. Anderson are very glad to see him in such good health this summer after a trying illness most of the winter at his Boston home. Dr. Anderson has been coming to Manchester the past fifteen years and usually remains until late in the autumn, so as to enjoy the delightful Indian summer weather.

Mr. and Mrs. N. D. Maher of Roanoke, Va., with their daughter, Miss Marion, have taken up their summer residence in Chick cottage on Norman avenue, Magnolia, for the remainder of the summer. The Mahers occupied the Chick cottage last season, but in seasons previous to that they were guests at the Oceanside. They made the trip to Magnolia in their private car, Mr. Maher being vice-president of the Norfolk & Western R. R.

Workers from all over Manchester, Manchester Cove, West Manchester, Smith's Point, or anywhere. Mrs. Wm. H. Coolidge and Mrs. J. Warren Merrill urge all to come. An average of 50 attend, but there are ample and comfortable accommodations for many more. Mrs. Nellie Rogers, head of the sewing committee, urges that sewers come prepared with needles and thimbles. Knitters can purchase wool at cost of the committee. Last Friday an energetic group of knitters worked out on the cool veranda of the Engine House.

Remember there are two shows every evening at the Larcom theatre, Beverly,—at 6.30 and 8.30, the last feature never starts until 9.30. Cool as ocean breezes. adv.

THE Work of the Young Women's Christian Association, U. S. A., in war times was set forth by Mrs. Dave H. Morris at the meeting held at the home of Mrs. Henry Clay Frick of Pride's Crossing, last Thursday. An effort is being made to raise $1,000,000 for women and girls in communities adjoining U. S. army training camps, where men are being mobilized for the army and guard duty, where girls work in munition factories, etc., and in foreign countries affected by the war. Pledges may be paid by check to Mrs. Harold Peabody, 302 Berkeley st., Boston.

Mrs. Morris explained that the War Work Council of the National Board of the Y. W. C. A. had been formed to meet the situation and that the government had asked its help. John R. Mott has said: "In spite of all provisions being made to create a zone of moral safety around the camps the moral and religious welfare of the soldiers will still depend in large measure upon the social conditions in the adjoining communities. The attitude and conduct of the girls and women go far to determine the controlling spirit of these communities."

"Does it pay? Is it all worth while?" Mrs. Morris showed that it does pay to have some of the following "helps": A clubhouse or center for girls; a cafeteria where modest wage earners can get good wholesome food; lectures on social hygiene for girls; clubs, parties, entertainments, etc., to keep them happy; hostess houses at the camps for the entertaining of women visitors; places to entertain the soldiers quartered in the town; matrons in the factories where girls are employed; and wholesome recreation centers for girls.

"Won't you get up a party so that my men can meet some nice girls?" was the frank request of a captain to the president of the Y. W. C. A. on the Mexican border. And royally the Y. W. C. A. responded to the social needs of the soldiers sent to the Mexican border. So Mrs. Morris pictured the ideal for women and girls in their share of caring for the soldiers away from home and for the girl away from home or whose energy was not going in the right direction.

Expert workers have been asked for, not only by the U. S. government, but from France, England and Russia. Among the many North Shore folk on the committee interested in securing the speakers for the Frick meeting were Mrs. Wm. C. Loring, Mrs. Wm. H. Moore, Miss Alice Thorndike, Miss Clara Winthrop and Miss Katharine Tweed. Over 250 people attended the meeting. A general report and the work of the Y. M. C. A. as given by Mr. Hibbard was given in last week's issue. Both speakers were introduced by Ensign Charles K. Cummings of Pride's Crossing.

Yearly subscription to North Shore Breeze, $2.00.

MRS. GODFREY LOWELL CABOT's new music room at "The Oaks," Beverly Farms, had its initial performance last Saturday afternoon when Mrs. McAllister of Boston gave one of her popular concerts in it. The artists were Mme. Gertrude Auld, who wore green chiffon with dull silver trimmings, and Mr. Theodore Cella. Miss Louise McAllister, the accomplished accompanist, was in purple chiffon. Among the 125 guests were Mes. W. Scott Fitz, Henry S. Grew, Franklin Haven, M. G. Haughton, George Lee, John W. Blodgett, Wm. E. Littleton, Edward S. Grew, Henry Sigourney, Miss Semple, Miss Hunt and the Misses Edwards.

The beautiful room is 37x20, and forms an extension of the former billiard room. It is done in butternut paneling with a cream ceiling. The windows have rich dark green hangings belonging to the great-grandmother of Mrs. Cabot. Quaint old carved chests and a corner cupboard have been brought from Salem to adorn the room. Two fine paintings, one by Enneking and one by Wm. T. Richards, are on the wall. The one by Richards is one of his noted marine views and is a wonderfully impressive picture. A white carved mantle with windows and seats on either side complete the end of the room opposite the great marine view. The room opens on a side piazza and is entered from the large hall of the house. Decorations for the musicale were roses and peonies. Miss Eleanor Cabot served tea to the artists and their friends at the close of the recital. The next McAllister concert is at the John W. Blodgett home at Pride's Crossing, on Aug. 3.

"Are you the same man who ate my mince pie last week?" inquired the woman.

"No, mum," mournfully responded the tramp; "th' doctor says I'll never be th' same man again!"—Lippincott's.

Sheffield

IT IS one of those rare articles that manages to forget its aristocratic traditions—in a democratic price. At Ovingtons, you will be surprised at the variety of fine specimens of this proud, old ware; and you will be more than surprised at their prices—from $2.50 upwards.

2618—This small, fat Güernsey jug of Sheffield actually derives a certain dignity from its sturdy lines. A wicker handle makes it particularly suitable for hot milk; and a rich Dutch silver design makes it particularly attractive for any use. Pint size, $5.

405—A graceful basket for flowers or for fruit is this splendid piece of Sheffield. Dutch Silver design. Price, $10.00.

101—The easy sweeping lines of this useful pitcher achieve an additional effect in the hexagonal design. Richly lined with gold and standing 8½ in. high, it is a most distinctive piece for the table or buffet—and a most inexpensive one. Price, $12.50.

OCEANSIDE HOTEL MAGNOLIA

Recent arrivals at the Oceanside include Mrs. O. C. Hill with her grandchildren, Octavia and Ewing Buisse, and maid of St. Louis. The group expect to be joined later by the children's mother, Mrs. J. C. Oliver and Mr. Oliver to remain for a lengthy visit.

On "shore leave" Chester Lockwood has been visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Lockwood at the Oceanside hotel. Chester is very popular with the younger set at the hotel where he has been a season guest each summer since childhood. A student at Harvard, when war was declared, Chester enlisted in the Naval Reserves and is now stationed on a submarine chaser at Bridgeport. He expects to leave for France in several weeks and to see active service. Winthrop, his brother is now driving an ambulance in France.

Arriving for the season, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Thomas of New York are domiciled at the Oceanside for their first visit.

Miss K. D. Owen of Washington and her niece, Miss O. E. Cugle, also of the Capitol City, are guests at the Oceanside for the remainder of the season. Miss Cugle is a débutante and is a welcome newcomer, having become very popular with the younger set.

One of the most beautiful gowns of the season was worn by Mrs. F. R. Culbert of New York on Tuesday evening. Of American beauty hue, the gown was fashioned of tulle and silk with paillettes of sequins of the same shade. Another beautiful gown was that worn by Mrs. John W. Anderson of Detroit, which was of rich wisteria tones of net and taffeta, sequins of same color forming bodice and touches upon the skirt.

Mrs. E. M. Binney's dinner guests last Saturday evening included Mr. and Mrs. Randolph Frothingham of Beverly Farms and R. W. Seymour, the party enjoying the dance afterward.

Mrs. Frank S. Chick, now of Boxford, but who formerly lived in Magnolia, was a guest at dinner early in the week of Mrs. C. F. McMurray of New York, who is a season guest at the Oceanside.

AS THE SUMMER PROGRESSES into its zenith, the colony of the Oceanside Hotel, Magnolia, becomes more like a happy family than ever, and every hour is a joyous one for the guest. The bond of War Relief Work is strong for all, the call of the soldiers and sailors is strong for everyone, resulting in the increased activity of the ladies at the hotel who give their mornings to supervise surgical dressings work of the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital or the Comforts Committee of the Navy League, which also has a branch here. Some time must be devoted to play, however, resulting in the large numbers who frequent the Swimming Pool and the devotees of tennis who spend several hours upon the splendid courts at the hotel.

An interesting arrival at the Oceanside is Miss Ruth M. Welch of Cincinnati, who will make a lengthy stay. Miss Welch sprang into prominence in her recent stardom in "Princess Pat," in the initial role. She has just come from Long Island where she was much entertained during her stay. While here it is hoped that her pleasing voice will be heard in song. She is an intimate friend of Mrs. Maurice Joseph, a season guest here, their homes being in the same city, Cincinnati.

The Walter E. Williamsons of Quincy, Illinois, who occupied the Underwood cottage on Shore road last season, are among the most recent arrivals at the Oceanside where they have engaged apartments and are now in Sea Crest cottage, of the Oceanside group. With them are Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Day of Springfield, and children, and Miss Elizabeth H. Castle of Quincy.

Montreal is represented at the Oceanside this season in the persons of Mrs. L. J. Lennieux and her lovely daughter, Miss Pauline. The ladies will remain for a several weeks' stay.

THE YOUNGER SET at Magnolia was much pleased when the Brainard girls arrived at the Oceanside last Sunday to remain for the summer. Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Brainard, Adelaide, Frances and Margaret with Ira, 3d, and maids were of the party. They have taken their usual apartments in West Flume cottage. Adelaide and Frances are very vivacious girls and universally popular in their set, both in Pittsburgh, their town home, and at Magnolia where they have spent their summers since childhood. Little Margaret, a winsome child with big, brown eyes is a favorite, too. Mrs. W. Harry Brown of Beverly Cove is a sister of Mrs. Brainard, as is also Mrs. Charles D. Callery of Pittsburgh and Pasadena, a frequent summer guest at the Oceanside.

Miss Margaret Ellen Haas of Chicago was a week-end visitor at the Oceanside, having come to be with her mother, Mrs. H. E. Haas and Mrs. I. G. Lombard, who are season guests. Miss Haas departed on Tuesday for Duxbury, Mass., where she expects to spend a part of the summer.

Bridge has come to its own again with the hotel contingent, which is very evident by the number of tables that are placed in the foyer nightly for the use of the guests. Of days, of course, the ladies devote nearly all of their time to war relief work, but of evenings bridge is indulged in. There are some splendid players amongst the guests, and frequently the totals on the tallies are amazingly high.

Mrs. Schuyler S. Clark of Nahant entertained Mrs. E. Corydon Jones of Minneapolis at luncheon at the Oceanside hotel on Monday, the ladies motoring over for the day in Magnolia. Mrs. Jones is a house guest at the Clark summer home on Maolis st., Nahant.

Mr. and Mrs. George F. Arrel and Miss Mary Burke of Youngstown, Ohio, are among the recent arrivals at the Oceanside, who have registered to remain for the season. This is their first visit to Magnolia and they are most enthusiastic regarding its beauty and attractions.

Returning to their favorite hostelry, the Oceanside, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Pollak of Cincinnati were welcomed arrivals the first of the week. The Pollaks have been visitors here every summer for a number of seasons, and they count their friends numerous among the hotel's contingent. Mrs. Pollak is interested in philanthropic work and last summer aided in several efforts of this nature which originated at the hotel. They will remain until the September days.

Robert Hussey of St. Louis has been a visitor to the Oceanside during the past week, joining his parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Hussey, brother Edward and sister Helen, who are season guests. Mr. Hussey returned to St. Louis on Thursday afternoon.

A very lovely gown was worn on Thursday evening of last week by Miss Helen Coates of Philadelphia. Rich white lace over white silk, with touches of bead trimming, completed this gown.

Mrs. Mathew Gault of Baltimore is among the recent arrivals at the Oceanside for the rest of the season.

MOTORING from Denver on a tour through the vacation states of New England, Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Bullock stopped over at the Oceanside, Magnolia, on Saturday last for the week-end among old friends. The Bullocks spent the whole of last summer here at the hotel. Hugh Bullock, their son, was one of the most sought after young men of the dancing set during his stay last year. This summer, Hugh has joined the "farming squad of Colorado" and is doing "his bit" in food production and conservation. The Bullocks departed Monday with many spoken regrets to continue their tour. Their itinerary includes a stop at Poland Springs and Bar Harbor. They probably will return for another brief stay at the Oceanside before taking up their homeward journey.

Lieut. Charles Ely King of Philadelphia, who with his bride, formerly Miss Doris Bryan, has been a guest at the Oceanside for the past few weeks, sails Saturday for San Domingo, where he has been stationed during the past year. From San Domingo, Lieut. King goes to France. Mrs. King will remain at the hotel with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Bryan and sister, Miss Janet Bryan.

Mrs. A. G. Lombard gave a pretty luncheon at the Oceanside on Wednesday in honor of her guest, Mrs. Oscar Tyre of Andover after which the ladies played bridge.

Demure Miss McLoughlin, who is a granddaughter of Mrs. Belloni and who is spending the summer at the Oceanside with her, appeared very prettily gowned on Thursday evening of last week wearing a dancing frock of turquoise blue taffeta festooned in gold embroidery. A pink rose nestled at the short bodice was the only other touch of color. Miss McLoughlin is a graceful dancer, enjoying it to the utmost.

En route to northern Maine, Mr. and Mrs. Paul H. Miller (Bertha L. Jenkins), prominent socially in Baltimore, were overnight guests at the Oceanside on Sunday. "Twin Gables," the Miller summer place at Blue Ridge Summit, Pa., is very beautiful among the picturesque mountains of Pennsylvania. The Millers have many friends among the summer residents of the North Shore.

THE Thursday night hop at the Oceanside, last week, was enjoyed, as usual by everybody. Of course everybody did not dance; some did, but all enjoyed the music, which, with its rhythmic melody, caught the ears of the hearers and stimulated the dancing. Hop night always appeals to everybody, for on this night there is a real excuse for donning one's prettiest frock, and the result is that everybody dresses up. The ballroom was especially beautiful last Thursday evening. A wealth of flowers cut from the gardens on the hotel's grounds decorated the mantle, in gay profusion, colorful, but harmonizing artistically. Vases of flowers make more cheerful every nook and corner in the hotel foyer. Flowers, pretty girls and women in pretty frocks fitted into the picture. An especially beautiful gown was worn by Mrs. Alice Moore Richard. Lavender taffeta, which changed its iridescent mind to rose pink over a gold lace petticoat, with gold embroidery and drapes of lavender tulle at the sleeves fashioned this very lovely gown. Black net embroidered with silver roses in exquisite richness over a black silk foundation made Mrs. E. H. Binney's gown. One of the noticeable things about this season's dancing is the emphasized return of the "old-fashioned waltz." Last year it occasionally appeared upon the evening dance programs, and the seasons previous to that, for several, it was in lesser number on the dance list. Not so this summer. It is being danced everywhere and is participated in by many of the young folk who formerly liked the newer dances, only.

On a motor trip through picturesque New England, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Pickard of Glasgow, Scotland, are spending a week at the Oceanside.

Mrs. Charles Platt of Philadelphia has come to the Oceanside to be the guest of Mrs. E. R. Catherwood for the remainder of the season.

AS the beautiful warm summer days continue to greet the summer guest at the Oceanside, there is a fair chance for happiness upon his countenance, but when the weather frowns, and the rainy day comes to freshen the sun-kissed earth, then the summer guest is sad, for he must of needs stay within doors or be a duck and walk about in the dripping moisture. In the days ago such was the idea, but in these days of ours, and mighty glad we are too, every day has its pleasures, be it rain or shine. When the sun is bright it is great sport to take a swim in the surf at Magnolia's beach, or if you prefer, the North Shore Swimming Pool. But,—have you ever tried a dip in the water when the rain is falling with a vengeance from the laden skies? If not, then do, for it is one of the most pleasing of sports and is becoming quiet the fad at Magnolia. Several of our most popular girls in the social set were seen bathing upon the beach not long since when the rain came down in torrents, and they were having a jolly time of it. The other clue is that one of the fairest of them wore a vivid pea-green surf suit of stunning cut.

James McLean of New York has joined Mrs. McLean, who is a season guest at the Oceanside, for a short stay.

Dinner guests at the Oceanside on Wednesday included Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Kays of New York and Newport, Mr. and Mrs. Ricardo H. Gonzalez of Buenos Aires and Mrs. Arnold H. Hartman of Brookline.

Miss Mary C. Gray of Boston, who makes the Oceanside her summer home, has been joined by Miss Ira E. Gray, a member of her family, for the balance of the season.

For a week's stay, James A. Aborn of New York has joined the Oceanside clientele.

GAIETY was paramount at the Oceanside, Magnolia, on Saturday evening, the occasion being the week-end hop, which brought the greatest number of the cottage colony seen in the hotel this season. There was a large number of the hotel clientele also who enjoyed the dancing to the utmost. As usual, Prof. Kanrich and his splendid orchestra furnished tuneful numbers for the dancing, the endless encores manifesting the dancers' appreciation. Many beautiful gowns were worn by the ladies. One especially beautiful was that of Mrs. E. M. Binney, which was an elaborate gown of delft-blue and rose, in broad stripes, veiled with frills of the two tones of net. A broad girdle of rose sequins was the only adornment. Mrs. Randolph Frothingham of Beverly Farms, who was a dinner guest, dancing later, wore an especially lovely white lace gown over silk, the skirt being fashioned in flounces of the lace, in which with her rich, dark coloring she was very stunning. A pink brocaded costume bag added its touch of color.

Returning from New York just in time for the Saturday evening hop, Miss Christine Miller was very lovely in a silver brocade with trimmings of crystal and touches of delicate blue. Miss Miller and Mrs. Maurice Joseph went to New York on Tuesday to attend a banquet which was given at the Waldorf-Astoria on Thursday evening by the Edison Phonograph Company to its artistes, Miss Miller being one of its most prominent. During the dinner Miss Miller was called upon to do "her bit" of entertaining, responding with a beautiful rendition of "The Star Spangled Banner" in the same manner with which she thrilled her hearers upon the porch of the Oceanside on the afternoon of the 4th of July, when she sang our national anthem.

Delicate pink metal cloth with flounces of tulle weighted with opalescent trimmings fashioned the very pretty Lucile gown which Mrs. Maurice Joseph wore at the Saturday evening hop. A very striking gown was worn by Mrs. Walter W. Williamson of Quincy, Ill., who arrived at Magnolia on Saturday for the season. Of sparkling black jet this gown was built on net over black silk. Dainty Carolyn Guild wore a frock of corn-colored silk, made harem style, pale blue net in festoons adding touches for trimmings.

A CHILDREN'S PARTY will be given in the ballroom of the Oceanside some day during the last week of July, the exact date to be announced in the next BREEZE. Miss Evangeline Beane, the exponent of the dance at the hotel will have charge of the function. The little children on the Shore, among the cottage colony, will, as in the past, be invited to enjoy the festivities. "Memories of last year's "wonderful" good time still linger in the children's thoughts, and this year's plans promise to excell those of last season.

Jean Middleton was very lovely on Saturday evening in a quaint frock of daybreak pink net, the skirt in layers of tucks over pink silk. Velvet ribbons of black over the shoulders and finishing the points of the cape. effect of tulle on bodice were very fetching. In a frock of coral pink taffeta with gold stripes, made harem fashion, with medallions of braid the only adornment, Miss Ethel Morse, a very pretty girl and a splendid dancer, was noted. Miss Eleanor Braden, another of the hotel's pretty girl contingent wore a delicate yellow frock with golden embroidery, fashioned in harem mode, lace doing most in the making of the bodice.

Arriving at the Oceanside by motor car last Thursday Mrs. Walter S. Wyatt of Philadelphia registered for the remainder of the season. Accompanying her was Mrs. P. M. Graham, also of the Quaker City, who will be Mrs. Wyatt's guest for a week's stay. Mrs. Wyatt whose town home "Highbury" at Chestnut Hill, is a very beautiful one, has visited the Oceanside during other seasons, and her return is heralded with genuine pleasure by her friends here.

Luncheon guests at the Oceanside on Saturday staying over the week-end, included Chauncey A. Boynton, Fred J. Cox, Jean DuBois all of Perth Amboy, N. J., and Bernard M. Gannon, who came all the way by motor and thoroughly enjoyed the trip.

W. B. Ingalls of Boston, whose summer home is at Swampscott, entertained W. J. Hill and S. B. Freeman of St. Paul and Peter Baker of Chicago at luncheon at the Oceanside on Saturday. Other luncheon guests included L. O. P. Youngner of New York and J. M. Walter of Richmond, Va., who are motoring through New England with Bar Harbor as their destination.

SWAMPSCOTT is occupied with everything that pertains to American Red Cross and Navy League work, so much so that all society events have faded into the past in a way that brings to mind that vastness of the common cause of humanity. Bridges, teas and dinners are no more, and as for entertaining very little is being done on that score. When the visitor comes to the summer home to spend a few weeks, immediately is she delegated a member of some of the units of the Red Cross or the Navy League, or perhaps the Surgical Dressings Department of the Peter Bent Brigham hospital at Boston.

Mrs. Samuel J. Mixter, who is, perhaps, the leader of all relief work in Swampscott, spends much of her time in this field of endeavor. Tuesday mornings and Wednesday mornings of each week her home is given over, almost entirely to the ladies of the summer branch of the Loyalty Chapter of the Navy League of which Mrs. Mixter is the worthy chairman. The vast amount of work done by these ladies is surprising. So skilled are they in the making of the bandages and dressings that great numbers of these articles are completed each day. Several sewing machines have been put into use for the making of hospital garments, also. Included in the list of these earnest workers are Mrs. William A. Paine, Mrs. E. C. Ellis, Mrs. E. H. Clapp, Miss K. G. Sayward, Mrs. Alexander McGregor, Mrs. C. G. Mixter, Mrs. Samuel Mixter, Mrs. W. F. Watters, Miss Claire McGregor, Miss Dorothy Howard, Miss Mary Bradlee, Miss Eanny Bradlee, Mrs. J. Howard Edwards, Mrs. H. W. Forbes, Mrs. George A. Dill, Mrs. Charles Whipple Smith and Mrs. W. Jason Mixter.

Pretty Barbara Gale, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert E. Gale of "Greystone Hall," Puritan road, is one of the recent debutantes who is assisting in the work of war relief in the Swampscott colony. Miss Gale is a member of the unit of the Surgical Dressings Branch of the Peter Bent Brigham hospital, which meets every Wednesday with Miss Esther Paine in the "Playhouse" on "The Farms," the summer home of the Paines. With regularity Miss Gale gives over her Friday mornings also to the branch of the same hospital which meets at the Neighborhood club.

Mr. and Mrs. George F. Schrafft, who are occupying the Farrar house on Puritan lane this season, entertained over the week-end Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Hall of Winchester.

Guests during the past week at the Richard Ward summer home on Tupelo road have been Mrs. Louis S. Cox, wife of District Attorney Cox of Methuen and children, Helen and Randall Cox.

Mr. and Mrs. Lew C. Hill, who are spending the summer on Cape Cod, were visitors at the Hill summer home on Puritan road during the past week, motoring down to see their sons, and daughters-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hill and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hill, who are occupying the Hill home for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. I. A. Ratchesky and Miss Vera Shuman Ratchesky of Puritan road have just returned from a motor trip through Maine.

The management of the New Ocean House has extended a cordial invitation to all officers in the stations along the North Shore, and the officers in the Reserve Training Corps at Cambridge and vicinity, to enjoy the hospitalities of this hostelry, when the occasion presents itself during the summer. The men have responded in numbers, many of them coming in of evenings to "trip the light fantastic" upon the floor of the spacious ballroom.

Very festive was the Saturday night hop at the New Ocean House, which was made more brilliant still by the presence of many of the officers of the several training camps within close proximity of the hotel. The dress uniforms of the army and navy representatives were, indeed, a pleasing contrast to the rich and modish gowns worn by the feminine coterie. Many pretty dinner parties preceded the dancing, the dining-room presenting a picture of beauty with the diners arranged in happy, chatting groups, and the hotel orchestra weaving a spell of music about it all.

A prominent week-end guest at the New Ocean House was Miss C. M. Sager of Chicago, who is a well-known society woman of the "Windy City" and who has scores of friends upon the North Shore.

Other week-end guests here were Mr and Mrs. J. W. Damon of Wellesley, Mass. Mr. Damon is treasurer of the United Fruit Company.

For the eighth consecutive season Mrs. G. R. Richardson of Boston is spending the summer at her favorite hostelry, the New Ocean House.

Tarrying for a brief spell at the New Ocean House are Mr. and Mrs. D. N. Mason of Cleveland, who are motoring through New England, and who leave on Saturday for their Ohio home via the Mohawk Trail.

BEACH BLUFF has ever been identified with the Tedesco club, nearly all of its summer colony being prominent member of the club whose spacious grounds are here. At this particular portion of the upper North Shore is found beach and country in such close proximity that it is indeed noteworthy. Not necessary is it to travel but a step from the velvety green lawns and avenues shaded with trees to the splendid beach which offers exceedingly fine bathing attractions. At eleven o'clock each day the beach is thronged with bathers who enjoy the surf during the appointed bathing hour.

Montreal is represented among the season guests at the Preston by Mrs. James A. Cattle and children, Mrs. Jane Fraser and Captain R. Girard of the French army.

To remain until September, Mrs. Samuel Pogue and Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Todd and five children, all of Cincinnati, are registered at the Hotel Preston.

En route to Kennebunkport, Maine, Mrs. T. D. Riggs of Baltimore, was a week-end guest of Mrs. Lawson Riggs, also of Baltimore, who is spending the summer at the Hotel Preston.

Peruvians who spent the week-end at the Preston included W. T. Snow, Vincent Checa and Victor Checa. The gentlemen are touring the United States, making stops at convenient stages as they travel.

Mr. and Mrs. William W. Taff have for their houseguest at "Cragwold," their summer home on Sea View avenue, Charles S. Redfield of New York.

MARBLEHEAD NECK is linked with Marblehead in no more useful and friendly fashion than by the little ferry line which three times during each hour plies its way from the Marblehead shore across the harbor to three landing places on the Neck, namely, Corinthian Yacht club, Centre Landing, and the West Landing. By this little ferry line communication between the Neck and the town of Marblehead is made secure, for the ferry is always faithful and never misses a trip. There are two ferrys in the fleet, the Blonde and the Queen, and daily, alternating, these little boats wend their way in and out among the yachts cast at anchor in the harbor, and carry sightseers as well as residents back and forth. It is a great convenience to have this very ferry line, as well as a pleasure to sit upon the deck with sea breezes refreshingly blowing up the harbor and be jauntily steamed to the landing which you may desire.

The Marblehead Neck Branch of War Relief Work has been organized, with Mrs. Parker H. Kemble, chairman; Mrs. David Percival, secretary, and Mrs. Robert Leeson, treasurer. Much activity is enjoyed by this branch, the ladies sharing in material aid, both in giving their mornings for the work, as well as making donations. Wednesday mornings will be taken by Mrs. Kemble, the branch meeting at her home on Harbor street. Some of the ladies devote their time to the fashioning of garments, the other unit to the making of surgical dressings. Many of the ladies take the work to their homes after the meetings to continue their endeavor. Mrs. Herbert E. Yerxa pledges herself to give Tuesday mornings for the work in her home and Mrs. Marion L. Higgins, Thursday mornings. Among the ladies interested in this branch are Mrs. B. D. Barker, Mrs. Daniel Snow, Mrs. R. E. Stone, Mrs. Frederick McQuesten, Miss Helen Stone, Miss Frances Kemble, Mrs. Robert Leeson, Mrs. Theodore Jones, Mrs. W. S. Bigelow, Mrs. Edmund Talbot, Mrs. Henry Damon, Mrs. John Dunlop, Mrs. Arthur Wood, Mrs. Paul Rust, Mrs. R. E. Traiser, Mrs. Charles H. Smith, Mrs. E. E. Richards, Mrs. F. P. Gowing, Mrs. James Rothwell, the Misses Glidden, Mrs. Daniel Morss, Mrs. W. C. Harris, Mrs. George Bray and Mrs. Richard Pope.

The Frederick E. McQuestens entertained at a birthday dinner on Wednesday evening in honor of Mr. McQuesten's birthday. "Questommere" was beautifully decorated with flowers from the greenhouses upon the estate. Twelve covers were laid for dinner. Included among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus O. Baker, Mr. and Mrs. Costello of New York, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Gring, Mrs. Charles M. Smith, Washington; Miss Genevieve Page.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert E. Yerxa are at "Bridge" cottage, their summer home at the Neck. Their children, Ruth and John, are with them. Included in their household for the summer are Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Remick, the parents of Mrs. Yerxa (nee Ethel B. Remick).

Mrs. Gilbert E. Hodges entertained the boy scouts of Phillips Beach and Marblehead Neck at her Neck summer home on Friday, a good time ensuing for all. Patriotic decorations and refreshments, showing the red, white and blue coloring, carried out the spirit intended. Among the boys of the Phillips Beach branch who were present were Charles Johnson, captain, Robert Murphy, Everitt Terhune, Selwyn Drown, Billy Carpenter, James Murphy; Philip Terhune and Arthur Huguley, Jr. The Marblehead Neck scouts included Arthur Shuman, captain; Robert Walker, Wells and John Wilbur, Philip Hamilton, Paul Rust, Winslow Kimball, Harry Damon, Francis Shuman, Frances Mullen, Leslie Hamilton, George Gibson and Samuel Walker.

Monday night's dinner dance at the Corinthian Yacht club was the most brilliant of the social functions at the clubhouse this season. Many of the members who have enlisted in the Navy and Army were among the gathering which was both fashionable and brilliant. The rooms of the clubhouse were open en suite and the dinner tables were beautifully decorated with pink and white summer blossoms. A stringed orchestra furnished tuneful music for dancing. Among the dinner parties were those presided over by J. B. Fallon, H. A. Morss, J. S. Paine, C. P. Blinn, Jr., Wm. Pratt, J. P. Munroe, C. M. Barker, N. C. Nash, W. V. Moot, J. S. Proctor and S. L. Sutcliffe.

Mrs. Charles H. Conway of Lynn entertained at a luncheon and bridge at the Corinthian Yacht club on Tuesday, which proved a very charming event. A delicious lobster luncheon was served in the Ladies Cafe of the clubhouse at a table artistically decorated with summer flowers. After the luncheon the ladies enjoyed bridge upon the veranda overlooking the harbor.

C. P. Curtis, Sr., of Boston has come down to Marblehead Neck for the remainder of the summer and is at the Corinthian Yacht club.

Many motorists enjoyed Sunday at the Corinthian Yacht club, a large number of the members coming down to the clubhouse for dinner and to enjoy the cooling sea-breezes which are never failing upon the Neck. A very pretty dinner was given by Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Russell. The tables were very beautifully decorated with pink rose buds, snap dragons and green vines. Rose baskets of nuts and candies were at each place. Other dinner parties were given by Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Munro, J. W. Wheeler, H. A. Morss, E. Paine, C. P. Blinn, Jr., E. P. Clough and J. E. Abbott.

Lieut. and Mrs. Vernon F. West of Portland, Maine, who are spending a few weeks in Marblehead, entertained several of the officers from the U. S. S. Virginia at supper at the Corinthian Yacht club on Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Holloway of Brookline were week-end guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Arthur Shuman on the Neck.

MARBLEHEAD has varying moods of attraction in its shores from the far tip of Peach's Point to the deep-end point in its picturesque harbor. When the wind blows high then the breakers lash themselves upon the rocky portions of the shore. When the day is bright the pretty little parks which dot its rocky coast are always filled with visitors. Because of the war Marblehead will have barely any yacht races this summer. Ever have these popular events been the source of much activity in this quaint, old town. Then the visitors thronged the town, filled the hotels and boarding places and made life throb, erstwhile. This summer the summer residents here, as well as the townspeople, have gotten together and are doing much relief work, with gratifying results.

Little Edith Dixey of Marblehead was the winner of the cup offered by Mrs. W. Starling Burgess for the racing model yacht, winning the prize with nineteen points. Her boat was a "sonder" and was adjudged the best of the nine competing. Paul Bates was the winner of the second with sixteen points.

The erection of the beautiful flag staff on the grounds at Abbot Hall, secured for the town through the efforts of Henry A. Morss, is now completed. The pole is surmounted by a golden fish, with the points of the compass. It is a splendid addition to the grounds.

There has been deposited in the National Grand Bank at Marblehead, the sum of $3,066.39, of which amount Miss Edith G. Fabens and her committee of women, secured $1,684.94 and several hundred dollars were contributed by summer residents at the Neck. This is a splendid showing for a town of the size of Marblehead, and is noteworthy.

Mary Antin, author of "Promised Land," and her daughter are the guests of the Misses Scott at their studio on Front street for the next few weeks.

King Upton of Marblehead summer colony has just presented a fine silk flag to the Junior National Guards. The guards drill regularly and made a splendid appearance as they march through the streets. The flag is thoroughly appreciated by the unit.

Mrs. E. D. Coddington of Milwaukee, who is occupying the Prescott cottage on Front street, is entertaining her nephew, Herbert L. Broughton of Kansas City, for several weeks. Mr. Broughton is a prominent member of the bridge dept. of the Kansas City Terminal Railway.

PHILLIPS BEACH activity centres about its Neighborhood club, which is busy much of the time with Red Cross Relief Work as well as Surgical Dressings Work for the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital. Although many of its residents are summer people only, those who remained through the winter just past, carried on the work admirably, and the showing of bandages made was noteworthy. Nearly everybody of the colony has at least one representative from the family, and in many cases several who give their services to the work. Mrs. Frank H. Gage is a prominent worker, who has given up all her other interests to give her undivided attentions to relief work. Mr. Gage is chairman of the Neighborhood club and their home on Atlantic avenue is one of the most beautiful of all of that pretentious group.

Following their custom of former summers Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Rolfe and children have closed their home upon Atlantic avenue and gone to North Conway for a month's visit.

Mrs. Charles Edmond Longley, who is occupying her beautiful summer home on Atlantic avenue, recently arrived here from her home at Pawtucket with her son, Vawter C. Longley, to spend the summer. Mrs. Longley, who has always been a prominent member of the Daughters of the American Revolution, was elected, at the last convention in Washington, Vice-President General of the D. A. R., which office does not expire until 1920. Of her household during a portion of the summer will be her son, Charles E. Longley and his wife, whose home is in New York. Her daughter, Mrs. S. E. Stevenson (Rosalind Longley) will not visit Phillips Beach, as has been her wont other summers, but will remain at Jackson, Ohio, her home.

Mrs. Alden Everett Viles has closed "Stone Lea," her villa on Palmer avenue and with her son, Bertram S. Viles, has gone to Bretton Woods, N. H., where she is registered at the Mount Washington for a lengthy stay.

C. E. Phillips has purchased the Burgess homestead at the junction of Beach Bluff avenue and Humphrey street, and upon the completion of the great amount of remodeling which it is undergoing will take up his permanent residence there. By the purchase of this house this section will still retain Mr. Phillips as a resident, he having spent many years in the Phillips house on Atlantic avenue.

At the recent election of officers at the Neighborhood club, Frank H. Gage of Atlantic avenue was elected president; W. L. Terhune, vice-president; W. W. Johnson, treasurer, and C. F. Lovejoy, secretary. On the Entertainment committee have been placed, E. B. Terhune, C. H. Holloway and Mrs. John E. Chatman. The club is very active, doing much for the promotion of good-fellowship among the residents of Phillips Beach, and is ever on the alert.

Everitt B. Terhune of Ocean avenue and Clifton, has just returned from a business trip to Washington which occupied several weeks' time.

A buffet supper will be served at the Neighborhood club on Saturday evening, and dancing will be enjoyed by those who attend, this very happy event. This will be the first of a series of these charming affairs. The first, which had been announced for July 7th, was omitted because of the sudden death of one of the prominent members.

I am sure that our friends must be more and not less to us in the other world, and that this world only begins friendship.—Phillips Brooks.

New Ocean House, Swampscott

NEW OCEAN HOUSE.—Mrs. Clifford D. Sawyer of Boston, who is making her summer home at the hotel has organized a branch of the Red Cross Surgical Dressings at the New Ocean House, which has met with extraordinary success since its beginning. The ladies meet every Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday mornings, from 10 to 11 o'clock, in the ballroom, whose spacious enclosure is well filled with these enthusiastic workers for the nation's cause. The branch finances itself by contributions from the members, who have donated most generously to this noble end. Mrs. Clifford D. Sawyer is chairman of the unit; Mrs. M. M. Johnson, treasurer, and Miss Helen Thomas, secretary. Other workers are Mesdames Zenas Sears, George Plummer, Cowles, Bennett, Ernest Diehl, Lougee, Courtright, Richard Mitton, Lamont G. Burnham, John Walworth, Hollander, Walters, Cross, Carter, Fielding, Gould, Sager and Page, and the Misses Aldred, Dole, Morron, Graham and Cushing.

Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Heppe of Germantown, Pa., are making a lengthy visit at the New Ocean House.

Former United States Senator Horace White and Mrs. White of Syracuse, N. Y., have been guests at the New Ocean House for the past several weeks. Accompanying them have been Mr. and Mrs. Ernest White, also of Syracuse.

Mrs. N. J. Peabody and Mrs. A. C. Keel, both of Chicago, very attractive young matrons, are visitors at the New Ocean House for a short stay.

The second formal ball of the season will be held in the ballroom of the New Ocean House on Saturday evening—tomorrow, July 21st. Present indications of reservations for dinners to precede the ball are many, and the gaieties promise to exceed those of the first of the series.

In the Annex Lounge of the New Ocean House every afternoon, tea is served from 4.30 to 5.30 with the grace and delicacy usually attending any and every function at this hotel. Quite new and ideally novel are the individual toasters which the placed upon the tea-table before the guest, who can toast her slices of bread to suit her own sweet will. If she desires only the most delicate brown, then it is ready with just the smallest amount of attention given by the individual; if it must be very brown to please milady, then lo! no sooner said than done. Equally splendid is the new idea of perpetual hot water which is arranged by the same method of electricity as the toaster, by the attractive arrangement set upon the tea-table before the guest. Thus is hot water assured during the whole of tea hour, from the first to the last sip. These attractions have "caught on" very quickly among the hotel clientele, the idea appealing to all.

Never before have motorists been more plenty than during the present season. Great distances are consumed in the shortest space of time, and traveling has become the source of supreme pleasure to many. On the North Shore roads out of Boston, whether it be rain or shine, a steady parade of motor cars pass on, each with a destination—some near, some far—many staying one night at each of the hotels.

Dr. and Mrs. Henry C. Russ, with their children, Katherine and John, have arrived at the New Ocean House from their Connecticut home, Hartford, and are enjoying the hospitalities here for a few weeks' stay.

Spending the week-end at the New Ocean House, Mrs. R. W. Sears of Chicago, accompanied by her daughter, Miss Sylvia and W. M. Sears, renewed former friendships, and arranged for a more lengthy visit which will begin August first, as has been their custom for several seasons. Mrs. Sears and her daughter spent part of the winter and spring in Boston.

For a fortnight's stay at the New Ocean House Mr. and Mrs. O. S. Peabody, Mrs. S. Parliament and C. A. Parliament, Chicagoans of prominence, are enjoying the hotel's hospitality and the refreshing breezes from off the sea at this point.

New Yorkers touring the coast of Massachusetts are Mr. and Mrs. N. Squire, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Laidlow and Miss Laidlow. They made a few days visit at the New Ocean House which they enjoyed very much. "Of all the hotels we have visited on our trip, this is by far the finest," said Mr. Squire. "After a visit through the White Mountains we shall return here before making our return trip via the Berkshires."

Archery, with its witchery of skill, is enjoyed each day upon the green opposite the New Ocean House, by many guests who enjoy the uncertainty of the game, and the skill which must be acquired before any kind of a result is obtained. Accuracy for the measuring of distances by the eye makes this sport a very interesting one, and the large vari-colored disk, mounted in wood, set in the green lawn is a pretty color spot, too. Many of the guests have become so proficient in this art of archery, that the handling of the bows and arrows, which at first seemed utterly impossible, has become like one, two, three.

Seen daily upon the links at the Tedesco club at Swampscott is Alfred Costello of New York, who with Mrs. Costello is a season guest at the New Ocean House. Mr. Costello is devoted completely to golf as a sport, and when he is occupied in the game, he is most happy. His strokes are very skilful, and he always comes back with a splendid score.

Along the Nearby New Hampshire Resorts

Little Boar's Head

RYE BEACH, N. H., has many affiliations with the North Shore. The attractive white houses with their green blinds and cool looking lawns and gardens far from the noise of trains or cities have been sought by many people well known to North Shore colonies.

The A. Blair Thaws of Pittsburg occupy one of the country homes between Rye Beach and North Hampton. They have been of the colony for several years.

The Farragut House at Rye Beach is the center of the Red Cross work and Surgical Dressings. The summer colony is actively engaged in relief work and the social activities, as at all resorts this season, are mostly for war relief. The ladies are noted at all of the Rye hotels with the never-ending knitting.

The Abenaki Golf club at Rye Beach is in the heart of this attractive resort. With its extensive course and charming little clubhouse it is the center of much of the social life. Just opposite the club is the cottage occupied by the Clement Studebaker, Jr's., of South Bend, Ind. They have recently purchased an estate nearby for their permanent summer home.

The home of David R. Francis, ambassador to Russia, is at Rye. A beautiful garden is a feature of the place.

The Sea View House is another of the Rye hotels of importance. It has a good location near the golf club and a fine view of the sea from its extensive verandas.

The Col. Ned Arden Floods of New York are occupying an attractive brown-shingled bungalow at Rye, next to the Castleman home. The Floods have long been residents of this resort, formerly spending their summers in the Farragut House. The Castleman home is noted for its rose garden.

"Green Gables" is the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar R. Champlin of Boston. Mrs. Champlin is a sister of Mrs. Willard Emery of "White Commons," Topsfield. This handsome brown-shingled house with its great artistic gables and elegantly finished rooms was built in 1900 by Mr. and Mrs. Dibblee, the latter a sister of Marshall Field of Chicago. The Champlins purchased the place nine years ago and here they spend a long season. The place is large and many farm activities are carried on. One of the finest sights on the place is the vegetable garden, a thing of beauty with its wide grassy walks between the beds of vegetables. Here are found not only the ordinary roots and leaves that are edible, but it sounds like a reading from a seedman's catalog to hear Mrs. Champlin name the various plantings. She is president of the Rye Beach garden club, and has a beautiful flower garden also. It is hedged in with spirea, privet and other species. A walk leading from the garden to the house is called the "wedding bell path" and is gay now with canterbury bells. A recent addition is a pond of irregular shape, a water garden and a cosy summer house in the middle of the pond, reached by a rustic bridge. A narrow brook running through the place has a most unusual sight, its surface is blue with forget-me-nots, the seeds of which have drifted down the stream and produce a more luxuriant planting each year. The Champlins employ Japanese help to a great extent, and have some interesting touches about the house showing their handiwork, among which is the "welcoming pine" in the great dining-room. Mr. Champlin's library and pool room combined has mementos of the time when he was mayor of Cambridge and one of the commissioners of the great bridge built between that city and Boston.

"Stahlheim," the home of the Francis E. Drakes of Cleveland, is another of the farm homes of Rye. It lies next to the Champlin home from which it is partly separated by a fine grove. It has a great white house, extensive gardens, and is where the squabs are raised which supply the tables of the famous Blackstone hotel in Chicago. Some of the land has been cultivated this year which had never been plowed before. A great planting of potatoes on the lawn is noticed and Mr. Drake is himself actively employed in the gardening.

Mrs. George L. Allen of St. Louis spends five months each season in her charming home, "Sommerden," at Rye. She has been coming for about 30 years and in the last 20 years has developed a garden by degrees which is typical of the lovely sea-shore gardens of the place. It is centered with a sun-dial bearing the inscription, "Nae man can tell time or tide," has rows and rows of delphinium along the walks, old-fashioned flowers, a great spot of brilliant color made by Shirley poppies, and beds of immense roses, mostly Killarneys. An old windmill on the place and the picturesque sea-view make this one of the most delightful places imaginable. The house is white with green blinds, characteristics which seem to prevail throughout the resort. Mrs. Allen is one of the many St. Louis families who have made Rye their summer mecca.

The Garden club of Rye Beach and Little Boar's Head consists of 17 members, owners of gardens, a requisite of membership. The club has frequent meetings and conferences, in each other's gardens usually, and procures the best talent available for lectures. During the season notable gardens all along the North Shore and its immediate vicinity are visited. The president is Mrs. Edgar R. Champlin; treasurer, Mrs. George L. Allen; recording secretary, Miss Edith Stott; corresponding secretary, Mrs. George M. Studebaker.

The Rye Beach garden club spent this Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Arthur Nason in Newburyport. Inspection of the famous Mosely garden was a feature of the day. Last week they spent the day with Mrs. Eugene H. Clapp in Swampscott, and among other gardens visited were those of Mrs. Henry H. Proctor at "Blythswood," Mrs. Andrew W. Preston's at "The Arches," and Mrs. Wm. A. Paine's at "The Farm," all owners of beautiful gardens in the Swampscott region.

Ocean boulevard, the direct road from Newburyport to Portsmouth, is famous for its beauty running through this resort. Some of the finest homes are located on it. Other interesting drives wind through the place and connect this with Little Boar's Head, a mile distant. Straw's Point is a part of Rye which has several cottages built upon what seems a flat rocky surface, as not a tree is visible on the Point. It affords plenty of sunshine and sea air.

LITTLE BOAR'S HEAD, N. H., is mid-way of that short stretch of coast line of the state. The summer colony in this conservative little place is on a most friendly basis, and many of the residents have been making it their summer abode for years. The large white cottage built by President Pierce is still standing and, as yet, is unoccupied.

Dr. Harvey Cushing, the noted brain specialist of Boston, who is now in France, has long been a resident.

Mrs. Albert Clemons of Washington occupies a house about sixty years old. She has a most interesting garden in the rear.

Mrs. Thomas Goodwillie of Baltimore, Miss Mary L. Gilman and Miss Campbell, year-round residents, Mr. Boynton, Judge and Mrs. Hollister, John Keyes and Miss Keyes, all of Cincinnati; the Misses Edith and Marian Stott of Lowell; Wm. P. Fowler and Miss Fowler of Boston; Alvin T. Fuller and Mrs. Fuller of Boston; John L. Hobson of Haverhill; Mrs. Chas. Barney of Boston; the Wheaton Kittredges, who have a charming bungalow; Mrs. Francis A. Lewis of Philadelphia; Edward Kuhn and the D. M. Hymans of New York; Dr. Warren Adams of New York; and Mrs. L. Melville French of Manchester, N. H., are among the residents of this resort. The French home is an attractive place with its fine garden well concealed from the road.

"Breaknolle" at Little Boar's Head is the home of Col. and Mrs. George M. Studebaker of South Bend, Ind. The beautiful home was built nine years ago and is the work of Geo. W. Keates of Boston, who is the designer of the Maurice J. Curran new home at Phillips Beach. The house is ideally situated on the very point of the Boar's Head, on land sloping down to the water. A high embankment of land at the rear somewhat secludes the house in that direction and has been cut down and forms the driveway and court leading to the garage. The view from the front and sides of the lower floor and from all of the chambers on the two upper floors can scarcely be excelled. A wide expanse of water, the Isles of Shoals, the lights on Thatcher's Island at Cape Ann, Hampton Beach, and on clear days, Agamenticus, give a blending of sea and mountain life that is unusual. On the grounds was formerly the boarding house where Longfellow, Whittier and other poets have stayed. The Studebakers had the old house removed. A fine low stone wall separates the grounds from Ocean boulevard and just across the road a protective wall has also been built next to the sea. Running up from the wall to the formal garden at one side of the house is a perennial border of unusual beauty and graceful undulations. Skilful planting creates a succession of bloom the entire season. A cutting garden is located on other land. Peonies, 75 to 100 a day have been cut this season. The roses, pinks, delphiniums, sweet peas and other flowers are now in their prime. The whole house is filled with exquisite bouquets daily by Mrs. Studebaker's own hands. At her city home she has had much ground formerly in flowers turned over to vegetables this year.

The house is entered by a large hall of rich design. Opening from this is the morning room in rose and gold furnishings, the library done in green and the large dining-room. The charming little breakfast room is glass enclosed and opens from the dining-room out towards the water. This is one of the most attractive rooms in the house and is dainty in its rose, pale blue and creamy furnishings. The mantles throughout the house are noticeable for their elegant marbles and carvings. The hallway leads out to the great veranda overlooking the lawns, gardens and water. The second floor has six bedrooms, with baths and dressing rooms, a boudoir, linen closets, etc. The third floor has five gabled bedrooms with connecting baths. Each bedroom shows a distinct color scheme of its own. The suite of rooms belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Studebaker is done in pink. The woodwork throughout the house is white, and many of the rooms are paneled in white while a few are papered. A tower room is all that is left of a house formerly standing on the place. A view almost like that from a lighthouse is obtained from this tower.

The service part of the house is the last word in efficiency and sanitation. All is done in white from the kitchen and pantries down to the laundry and supply cellars. The big white basement contains the heating and lighting and other equipments necessary for a house built on this scale. The maids' rooms are excellent in their location, furnishings and sanitary appointments.

The whole house has an air of home comforts and is a sea-shore home in which the family spend about five months of the year and one in which they would be thoroughly comfortable the entire year.

This great white house with its green blinds and green roof, and its tall flag pole may be seen far out at sea. People of prominence from the east and the west are entertained at "Breaknolle" each season.

Bachelor's Hotel at Little Boar's Head furnishes one of the pleasing sights of the place with its extensive vegetable gardens far down below the driveway, making an interesting sight to look down upon.

Col. and Mrs. George M. Studebaker recently entertained a house-party consisting of Hon. James H. Walker of Amesbury; George W. Keates and Wm. S. Lantz, the latter a brother of Mrs. Studebaker, of Boston; and Mr. and Mrs. U. G. Speed of South Bend, Ind. Mr. Speed is now on the Board of National Defense and will be in Washington the remainder of the summer. Other house-guests at the Studebaker home are Mrs. Thomas D. Mott, a sister of Mrs. Studebaker from South Bend, and Dr. James L. Gardiner, pastor of the beautiful memorial church erected by the Studebaker family in South Bend in honor of the late Clement Studebaker.

YORK HARBOR, ME., supplies the latest style of tea room—the Ambulance Tea Room, which is conducted by the ladies of the place, different ladies supplying the food each day. The present week, on Monday, everything was furnished by Mrs. Cook of York Village and Miss Cutler of Boston. On Tuesday, Mrs. John Rodgers of Washington and Mrs. Frank Evans of Philadelphia; Wednesday, Mrs. Joseph Allen of New York and Mrs. Barrett of Boston; Thursday, Mrs. Converse; Friday, Mrs. Rollins Morse of Washington, and on Saturday, Mrs. Chamberlain of New York, Mrs. Sargent of Boston and Mrs. D. Moulin. Each day different things are sent in, such as waffles, pop-overs and jam, rice cake, besides hot tea, iced tea, lemonade, cake, cinnamon toast and sandwiches. The rooms are donated by Edward Hawkes and are located over Hawkes' Drug Store. Simple luncheons will be furnished if notice is given by telephoning the Ambulance Tea Room, York Harbor.

Yearly subscription to North Shore Breeze, $2.00.

I have loved the feel of the grass under my feet; and the sound of the running streams by my side. The hum of the wind in the treetops has always been good music to me, and the face of the fields has often comforted me more than the faces of men.—John Burroughs.

EDITORIAL

FEEDING A VAST ARMY! An announcement from Washington appears to mean that the government has now contracted for practically all the supplies that will be required to ration the 1,000,000 troops during the coming year. This includes, according to the announcement, everything from beef to shoe-strings and from cots to candy. Two hundred thousand pounds of fresh beef is one item, and besides that there is canned corned and canned roast beef totaling nearly 8,000,000 pounds more, without including the canned corned beef hash. The canners of the country have been requested to reserve for the use of the army and the navy 18 percent of the 1917 output of canned tomatoes, 12 percent of the canned corn, 12 percent of the canned peas and 9 percent of the canned salmon. All told 343 different items of supplies appear in the list of rations for issue and sale of clothing and equipment. From these figures it is evident that this country intends to have a vast army in France in 1918. No other presumption can be raised from the totals being reserved for the army and navy. Nearly one-fifth of all tomatoes canned, more than a ninth of the corn and peas canned and an eleventh of the salmon would indicate the feeding of a large number of human beings, certainly a vast army.

IT WAS A GREAT MISFORTUNE to our district that Colonel Gardner was called into the service, but he was loyal to his duty although at times it must appear that he could have been as loyally serving his country as a Congressman. His withdrawal from the service of the district has precipitated a Congressional fight that will be exceedingly interesting. In this republican district the democrats are looking up, thinking that the contest among so many republicans, may give their candidates a chance to slip by. The number of candidates for both nominations increases every week and the average citizen has already lost count. The fight will go on to a finish unless the war ends precipitously, and then Colonel Gardner would go back to his seat with new honors.

THE BOSTON MAN WHO CLAIMS to have invented a new motor that is to be operated by a new source of energy claims altogether too much for his new invention for the public to immediately believe in his contrivance. It is interesting, however, to note that he has succeeded in convincing a group of men in authority of the advisability of appointing a committee of scientists to confirm his claims. Let it be hoped that his sanguine aims are realized. The world can afford to make him a millionaire if he does what he claims with his new source of power. The builders of aeroplanes will welcome his discovery and invention. It will help win the war, for the war will be won in the air.

THERE IS NOW NO REASON FOR COMPLAINT concerning the gardens of our North Shore. Conditions have been ideal and the green stuffs are growing well. There are potatoes everywhere and the gardens are very large. If the North Shore is any indication of the planting made the country over, there will be plenty this coming winter for all our Allies and ourselves.

THE ISSUES OF THE WAR are now becoming more clear each day that goes by. Democracy, liberalism and government by the people, for the people, are the great stakes for which the world contests. The recent movement in Germany indicates that even the higher powers in that autocracy have become aware of the real purposes of the world and have begun to feel pressure from within. No one who knows the conditions in Germany, for a minute believes, that the German people are ready for, or now believe in, a revolution to gain their just opportunities, but slowly and surely the lessons of democracy will be learned and when the German people have learned that lesson the pressure will be more intense. There is, now, no reason for the allies to be over sanguine as to the immediate possibilities of peace and victory, but there is every reason to believe that there are signs of power in the Allied cause and evidence of weakening in the enemy camp. A tree dying slowly at the root may struggle through several years before it finally ceases to be.

THE AUTHORITIES IN NEW YORK have seized over ten thousand dollars worth of egret feathers and burned them in enforcing the law against their sale and use. The gathering of egret feathers entails great suffering because the plumage that is so greatly prized is at its best only in mating time and when the young birds are in the nest. The capture of one bird means death, usually, to a little family and methods used by natives in gathering the feathers are unprintable so cruel are they. The Boston and New York women have all expressed themselves strongly on this question and the egret feather in a hat is the "white badge of cruelty."

CORNMEAL IS BEING SUGGESTED as a substitute for the wheaten meal, which has been used almost wholly in England and in France, while in America the people have been more or less acquainted with the properties and food values of cornmeal products. There is no question but what the use of cornmeal will in a large measure assist in making the wheat flour go farther, but there are limits even to this economy; not only because the corn meal flour requires a proportionate amount of wheat flour, but because of the relative digestive values of both kinds of flour.

LYNN HAS NOT YET SETTLED the labor difficulties in the shoe industry and the end is not yet in sight. The national officer was unsuccessful and arbitration and conciliatory measures, while considered, have not been effectively tried and meantime both sides in the controversy are losing money, time and opportunity.

THERE WILL BE A NEW LIBERTY BOND ISSUE floated within a year and it, will be well for the American people to make their plans accordingly so that they may be prepared for the next great "drive" to win the war.

THE INTEREST IN RED CROSS WORK continues unabated and there is every reason for the public support given. There are ample opportunities for service on our Shore if you will look up the workrooms.

THE CESSATION OF THE U-BOAT WARFARE in all of the successes of the past month has been a welcome relief. The last two weeks have seen a decided lessening of the power of these dastardly war methods. However, it must be remembered, that the German submarine attacks have been made by periods. That is, the boats are outfitted for a period and when they arrive on the scene of action there is the news of their deadly toll. Then, the craft go to bases for repairs and refitting and then return. During the period of outfitting no news is heard of their depredations. The present lull in the storm may be due to one of these periods of time when the craft are on their way to their bases or the period of preparation. However, with all allowances for such plans and manoeuvres, it is more than evident, that the submarine warfare is not going to settle the war in favor of Germany. It will not be "the" decisive factor the Germans dreamed and that the Allies feared.

AUTOMOBILE OWNERS REALIZE, after a season or two of experience, that the charges made for railroad and trolley travel are not so large as they formerly appeared to him. The humble "fliver" will cost the owner at least five cents per mile and a six cent fare does not strike such terror to the purse as would at first appear. The man who uses the trolley has no care of the mechanism, has no interest in the deterioration of the plant nor any responsibility in case of accident. The motorist, who has paid the price for his pleasure in work, invested capital and anxiety as well as money, realizes that a trolley company can never grow affluent on a six cent fare.

AN INTERESTING WRITER in one of our news journals has come out in favor of an abolition of tobacco in the interests of economy of money, economy of human health and the economy of labor and the economy of land used for its production. He makes out an interesting case, but nothing has been heard as yet from Washington. Congress has other tasks of importance on hand evidently.

CALIBAN HAS COME and Caliban has conquered. The great spectacle so dramatically staged has proven to be all that it was represented to be. The cause was a worthy one and the enterprise a financial and artistic success.

PERHAPS not everyone knows of the group of women from Manchester and other North Shore places who are doing unusually strenuous work these days. These women are spending two days a week in Boston in the Peter Bent Brigham hospital doing Surgical Dressings work; are working each Thursday afternoon in the Manchester branch at the Fire Engine house; and besides are doing work at the French Wounded workroom at Mrs. Edward S. Grew's coach-house in West Manchester. Some of the residents of Manchester are also giving their Thursday afternoons to Surgical Dressings for the Manchester branch and the entire day on Fridays to Red Cross work in the Manchester workroom in the Engine house. No slackers among the North Shore women.

Added to the already large Chicago contingent at the Oceanside, Magnolia, are Mrs. Dole and her pretty daughter, Miss Pauline Dole. This is their first visit to Magnolia. They will make a month's stay.

Francis M. Stanwood, Jr., has been with his parents in Manchester this week by a special leave of absence from the "Malay," the boat in the Coast Patrol on which he is stationed.

THE CIVIL WAR VETERANS are to have a reunion this war year in the City of Boston and it promises to be a most interesting event. Over fifty years have passed since these honorable men were soldier boys in blue, fighting for the unity of our nation. When that long line passes through the city streets of old Boston everyone should remember with gratitude that it was the work done by those men in 1861 which made it possible for this country to face the present situation, united and strong. In truth it may be said that the salvation of our nation by that war will prove the determining factor in this war, if America, united and free, is the force that will end the war. America divided would have made Prussia easily the master of the world and made autocracy and not democracy the ruling force in the world.

THE DRAFT DAY DRAWS NEAR and the fatal drawings will be made from the wheel. Conscription has delayed because of the slowness with which the returns have come in from the larger states. The task is a tremendous one and skilled men are now at work. There is every reason to believe that the method to be tried will prove fair and acceptable to the American people.

THE HARVARD REGIMENT has been officially recognized as was to have been expected. The military instruction given there is second to none outside of the instructions in the regular military circles. Harvard has surely risen to the occasion and has been giving its young men a fighting chance to win out in the struggle for life and death.

THE WOMEN'S MUNICIPAL LEAGUE has issued a timely bulletin and with the coöperation of the Boston markets and the Boston Fruit and Produce exchange an effort is to be made to place chicken salad on the tables of all to use the lettuce that is on the market and the chicken available now at reasonable prices.

ONE OF THE BEST TASKS that could be undertaken now would be a scheme to feed Germany. Yes, literally that. Because back of that suggestion is victory, freedom and peace. When peace is declared undoubtedly there will be the new task laid upon the nation of feeding Germany.

Mrs. Henry W. Peabody of Montserrat has returned from a week at Northfield, where she attended the Women's Foreign Missionary society's summer school of which she is chairman of the committee of arrangement. The study book for the society is "African Trail" by Jean Kenyon Mackenzie, a writer for the Atlantic Monthly, which has published two chapters in advance. She is also the author of the juvenile text book for the society, "African Adventures." Mrs. Peabody is planning a house party of ten Chinese girl students for next week.

The Puritan Tea House at Montserrat is proving an ideal little place to stop for tea these hot days. Yesterday a tea party was noticed on the big cool veranda industriously knitting while waiting for a dainty luncheon. Mr. and Mrs. Houston A. Thomas and Miss Margery Thomas of Hamilton have entertained guests recently; also Mrs. W. H. Hoyt and Mrs. J. B. Picket of Wenham have been guests.

Margot is showing neckwear and belts in the most unique and desirable fashions. The Margot shop is in the new tea room of Page & Shaw on the drive between Beverly Farms and Pride's Crossing.

Children who expect to march in the Chautauqua parade next Monday should report at the playground at 1.30 o'clock with flags, flowers, etc. All who march will be admitted free to the opening entertainment.

A visit was paid to the local playgrounds by 15 boys from the Salem Y. M. C. A., under the leadership of Physical Director Odell, on Wednesday afternoon. A ball game was won by the local boys, 15 to 4.

About 40 Manchester youngsters paid a visit to the Beverly Farms playground, under the charge of Playground Director McCarthy, on Monday afternoon. A feature of the trip was the ball game in which the Manchester boys defeated the playground team at the Farms, 10 to 5.

The little folk at the playgrounds are employing part of their time these days making roller bandages for the Red Cross. This part of their work is an interesting diversion and takes up the relaxation period not spent in games and exercises. A junior tournament will be started at the playground next week.

On page 54 of the BREEZE is given Manchester's "Honor Roll" of young men, who have offered their services to the nation in the present struggle, and the branch of service in which they are enlisted. It is the most complete list yet compiled and combines those of the Public Safety committee, the Red Cross and the Selectmen. However, if any names have been omitted additions will be gladly made. According to the present figures there are 57 men from Manchester in some of the various branches of service.

Manchester FOOD CENTRE Telephone 116 NOTES

Instruction, consultation, demonstration are all free. Inquiries by telephone or in person are welcomed at any time. The newspapers each day print advice on the food question in our country. Such advice is in general very good. The problem of each householder is, however, peculiar to her own household. So much information and advice given does not apply in the least to the conditions in her home. A wise application of the principles laid down by our Federal and State experts may be made in each and every family in the United States.

To know how to do this is difficult to be sure, but to make no effort at all shows a lack of patriotism, foresight, and sometimes even of intelligence. Each one of us must do her utmost at this time. It is a matter not only of personal, home economy, but of national service, each woman doing her bit.

The Food Centre wants to help the women of Manchester to play a part in this great work, to apply general principles to particular cases, and to understand what science has done, and is doing for us.

The lectures this week were on "Food and its Relation to the Body."

Next week on Monday evening at 7.30 and again on Wednesday afternoon at 2.30 there will be a lecture. The subject will be "Practical application of the Balanced Meal in the Household." This lecture follows the one given this week, but a clear understanding of it does not necessarily depend upon having attended the one previous.

Everybody is invited and will be made very welcome.

Joseph S. Leach, a former Manchester man who now lives in Roxbury, was a member of the entertainment committee for the Plate Printers convention in Boston this week. Mr. Leach is an expert engraver and is employed in Cambridge. He recently declined an offer of a position in the Bureau of Printing and Engraving in Washington, D. C., to continue in his present business. The object of a big demonstration held in connection with the convention was to show that the beauty to be derived from printing from steel and copper plates can only be obtained from hand work. The hand process employed in the government printing offices is now the subject of criticism.

CHAUTAUQUA NEXT WEEK

ALL ACTIVITY IN MANCHESTER TO CENTER ABOUT BIG TENT AT MASCONOMO PARK FOR FIVE DAYS.

Every other enterprise will take second place to Chautauqua in Manchester next week. The ticket selling campaign has been pushed during the past week and early indications are that the attendances at all of the performances should be good. The season tickets remaining in the hands of the committee are to be sold at $2 each and every ticket sold over the 500 guaranteed by the 50 local men will be for the benefit of the Red Cross, the money to be given to the local branch for its work. None of the money for the single admissions purchased during the course of Chautauqua will apply to the Red Cross fund so everyone should, if possible, obtain a season ticket. Single admissions to the afternoon performances are 35 cents and the evening admission price is 50 cents. Admission to all evening entertainments if purchased singly would be $2.50 and the total admission, if purchased singly would be $4.25 for all afternoon and evening entertainments and lectures. The $2 season ticket admits the bearer to every entertainment throughout the week and is transferable. Children are admitted to any session for 25 cents and junior tickets admitting to all ten sessions are sold for $1. The latter also apply on the quota of the guarantors and would be added to the Red Cross fund if the quota is exceeded.

A Connecticut town recently sold 75 tickets above its quota and realized $150 for its Red Cross branch by hustling. The importance of purchasing season tickets cannot be too strongly urged, as none will be on sale after Monday morning.

The quality of the entertainments and lectures to be given by Chautauqua are worth many times the prices asked and are made possible only through the cooperative method employed by the directors.

One of the features will be the junior Chautauqua which will be held for the children, mornings during the week. On Friday, the last day of Chautauqua, a play will be given by the children of Manchester, who will be costumed and drilled for the work during the week. The play, "The Good Fairy Thrift," was written especially for Chautauqua by Nan Oppenlander Eberle. Among the characters are Uncle Sam, George and Martha Washington, the Savings Bank, Wastefulness and Good Fairy Thrift. The play has an excellent lesson for the little ones.

All of the sessions will be in personal charge of Miss Meddie Ovington Hamilton, Chautauqua superintendent, who is on her sixth year of service for the Chautauqua association. Formerly a high school and college teacher, since 1903 she has been a Chautauqua speaker exclusively and has the distinction of being the first woman Chautauqua superintendent in the world. In addition to her duties as superintendent, Miss Hamilton will deliver four series lectures at the afternoon Chautauqua.

The program day by day is as follows:

Monday—2.30 p. m., lecture by Miss Hamilton, "Burn's, the People's Poet." Concert by Berkeley sextet. 7.30, concert by Berkeley sextet, lecture by Leonora M. Lake, "The Rights of the Child." Chronophotographs.

Tuesday—2.30 p. m., lecture by Miss Hamilton, "Lowell and the America Idea." Concert by Colangelo's Italian band and Venetian Troubadores with Millicent Melrose, soprano. 7.30 p. m., concert by Colangelo's band and Miss Melrose. Lecture by Dr. Frederick Coan, "The Tragedy of Armenia and Syria, by an Eyewitness."

Wednesday—2.30 p. m., lecture by Miss Hamilton on "Riley, our Poet of Democracy." Entertainment by McDonough-Baird Co. 7.30 p. m., entertainment by McDonough-Baird Co. Lecture by Dr. Paul M. Pearson, "The Joy of Living."

CHARLES O. LEE.

Charles O. Lee, a lifelong and widely known resident of Manchester, died at his home at the corner of Union and Beach sts. at 6.45 o'clock this Friday morning, following an illness of over a year. He had been growing weaker during the last month and lapsed into unconsciousness Thursday morning.

Mr. Lee was born in Manchester May 9, 1851. He was the son of Andrew and Jane E. (Bailey) Lee, descendants of earlier settlers of Manchester. He is the last of his generation of the large Lee family, branches of which a generation or two ago included the most prominent members of the community. Mr. Lee was married May 9, 1881, his 30th birthday, to Ella L. Cheever, who survives him. He leaves no children. His only other near relative is Mrs. John Marshall of Manchester, a sister.

Mr. Lee with his brother, the late Frank Lee, for many years conducted the drug business founded by their father. About 10 years ago Mr. Lee retired from business, the store being taken over by Benjamin L. Allen, who at present conducts it. Mr. Lee was a member of Magnolia lodge, I. O. O. F.

THIRTY-NINTH OUTING

ELDER BRETHREN OF MANCHESTER
HOLD ANNUAL PICNIC AT TUCK'S POINT WITH BIG ATTENDANCE.

Overcast skies have no terrors for the Elderly Brethren of Manchester. With threatening clouds overhead all day and promises of rain in the atmosphere, Thursday was not exactly ideal picnic weather. Nevertheless, over 100 men, ranging in age from 50 odd years upwards to within a few months of 90, enjoyed themselves at the 39th annual picnic and chowder dinner at Tuck's Point. The rain held off and if the skies overhead were dull the interior of the picnic building was bright by contrast.

As was the case last year Nehemiah C. Marshall had the distinction of being the oldest man present. He passed his 89th birthday a few months ago, but the added year has not left any traces, for Mr. Marshall was as spry as ever. Other men past 80 were John Rogers Allen, 87; Joseph A. Torrey, 86; Capt. J. K. Winn, 84; Julius F. Rabardy, 84; Nathan B. Goldsmith, 83; Charles P. Goldsmith, 82; Charles H. Killam, 82; and Daron W. Morse, 82.

These officers were elected: E. P. Stanley, pres.; L. W. Floyd, vice-pres.; I. M. Marshall, sec. and treas.; Theodore C. Rowe, J. S. Reed, F. W. Bell and T. B. Stone, executive committee.

Patrick H. Boyle started off the program with a reading of the poem, "Your Flag and My Flag." Other speakers were W. W. Lufkin, N. B. Sargent, Rev. Geo. L. Gleason, F. M. Stanwood and W. H. Rider.

Because of the lack of space and the lateness of the event a fuller account is postponed till next week.

The annual ball of the A. S. C. S. club is announced to take place on Friday evening, August 10, in Town hall. A bang up time is assured, if the affair is anything like previous occasions by this crowd of Manchester young men.

A grand Irish concert and dance under the auspices of Div. 20, A. O. H., Manchester, will be given in the Town hall, Tuesday evening, Aug. 28. The affair is in the hands of a competent committee and a program will be offered that will long be remembered by those who see it.

Will the families of such men please send this information to Mrs. George F. Wood, chairman, or Miss M. Lizzie Hull, secy., Beverly Farms.

A number of new arrivals registered at the Tunipoo Inn this week for the remainder of the season. The hospitality, home comforts and its excellent service is certainly proving very attraction to the many who find the Tunipoo Inn just the desirable quiet, comfortable place to stay while spending a season on the North Shore.

The annual fair of the Ladies' Sewing circle, the auxiliary society of the Beverly Farms Baptist church, was held on Thursday and was the most successful one in the history of the society. ## SIXTH VICTORY

MANCHESTER WINS FAST GAME
FROM ST. JOHN'S CLUB BY SAME SCORE LATTER WON BY ON JUNE 9.

Manchester turned tables on the fast St. John's Catholic club nine of Cambridge last Saturday and won a sharply played game 6 to 2, the same score by which St. John's beat the local nine on June 9. Woodman pitching for Manchester allowed only four hits, two of the scratch order. The two runs St. John's managed to send across the plate were made in much the same way Manchester's two tallies were made off St. John's a month ago. A home run drive to the brook was responsible in both cases. Woodman had not entirely recovered from his injury of the previous week, but it did not show in his pitching.

The game was half gone before the scoring began, although Manchester had touched Fitzgerald for five safe hits up to that time. Up to the fifth inning, when the cleanup started, it was anybody's game. Manchester had the bases full in the second inning when Woodman came to bat with two out, but his batting eye was out of order and he fanned. After two were out in the third, singles by Sheehan, Devlin and Meehan filled the bags again, but Ford, who was up next, failed to come through with a safe hit, grounding out to second. Elivard got as far as third in the fourth inning, but died there. He was hit by a pitched ball, advanced to second a head of McCarthy's throw and went to third because the catcher missed second on the throw, the ball going to center field. St. John's also got a man as far as third in the fourth inning without scoring. O'Connor sent a high fly to right center which Elivard went out of his territory to field and missed. He made two bases on the drive and stole third on the throw in.

The "wrecking crew" began operations in the fifth. O'Leary poked one out to left field and got to second when Cleary muffed O'Connell's throw of Sheehan's bunt. Meehan came across with his eighth consecutive hit and it was a dandy, scoring both O'Leary and Sheehan and landing Meehan at third. Ford got his second hit of the game and scored Meehan, but went out at second, trying to stretch the drive for a two-bagger. Grover showed there was nothing the matter with his old batting eye by coming across with a corking three-base drive. Elivard was hit by Fitzgerald and got first. Woodman grounded to Cleary and the scoring was over for awhile.

Gourley flied out in the sixth and O'Leary singled to center field. O'Leary stole second and Sheehan walked to first. Devlin singled and O'Leary scored. Meehan sent a long fly to center and was out, but Sheehan scored on the throw.

Leahy went to first in the seventh session when O'Leary let the ball slip while fielding the bunt. O'Connor flied to Grover. McCarthy caught the next one out of the groove and sent it to the brook for a home run.

Elivard hit to shortstop for a base in the seventh and Woodman helped him along with a single. Elivard stole third and Woodman second. A long fly to left field by Gourley brought Elivard home with the last run.

One of the feature plays was pulled by O'Leary in the third. Woodman was fielding his position in the good old-fashioned way, taking all chances that came his way when Haley drove a hot one at his head. Woodman stuck out one hand and knocked down the ball, but could not field it. O'Leary scooped up the ball with one hand on the run and snapped it to first in time to catch the runner. Langley of St. John's pulled a fast one in the eighth when he intercepted a hard hit ball by Meehan. After knocking down the ball he fielded to first and covered the bag again in time to put out Sheehan on a double play.

Ford, the new shortstop, fielded his position lots faster than Holt had, getting four assists. He is also better at the bat and came across with two clean hits, one scoring a run. The team has now rounded into pretty good shape and with only one defeat against it this season is beginning to look forward to the talked of Marblehead series—if such a series is practical this year.

MANCHESTER

David Chadwick has been at the Boston City hospital for a minor operation this week.

Giles Coughlin of 14 Norwood ave., is one of the most recent Manchester young men to join the colors. He has gone to Camp Funston in Texas with Battery E., 20th Field Artillery of New York for training before being sent to France.

"Military observers" from the 125th company, M. S. G., visited Gloucester on Tuesday evening to witness the drill of Co. G of the 8th Mass. infantry. Another party paid a visit to Salem armory last evening to watch the drill of the 129th company of the State guard in that place. The local guardsmen are after all the pointers they can get.

WRITES OF EAGLEHEAD

William Ogilvie, who was second man at "Eaglehead," the estate of Mrs. James McMillan in Manchester, was among the men who recently enlisted in the "kilties." In a recent letter to a member of the household he enclosed the following poem which he had composed:

TO THE GIRLS OF EAGLEHEAD

When I get up in the morning,
 After being asleep all night,
 I think of dear old Eaglehead
 Where everything is so bright.

But after breakfast I feel blue
 When the mail clerk comes around,
 No letter in the bunch from you
 For William can be found.

When you're sitting in the summer house
 And thinking of times so grand,
 Don't forget the boys at Fredericton
 Who are marching behind the band.

Now I hope you girls enjoy the life
 In the village by the sea,
 As much as I enjoy myself
 In the ranks of the O. S. C.

We're here to do our bit, ye ken,
 For the dear old Union Jack,
 And if we get the Kaiser, girls,
 We'll surely bring him back.

Just scribble something cheerful
 Ere you go to bed at night,
 Or early in the mornin'
 When the sun is shinin' bright.

Whether post card or a letter,
 Fill it full of fun
 For the Kiltie who is waiting
 In the camp at Fredericton.

—PRIVATE WILLIAM OGILVIE.

RIFLES FOR STATE GUARD.

The Massachusetts state guard, at its headquarters at the State house, received last Friday a consignment of 5500 Springfield rifles which will be distributed next week. It is expected that several thousand more Springfield, already ordered, will be received within a month.

Officers said Friday that 133 companies, with an average membership of 65, have been organized. The state has equipped nearly 70 of these units with uniforms and 20 others have equipped themselves.

SPEEDING SHIPBUILDING.

Great satisfaction is taken on the Pacific coast in the statement that "no port in the world is busier in shipbuilding than the port of San Francisco." This state of things is especially welcome in a city where for the time being the high price of steel had halted the construction of steel-framed buildings, except where the material has been already engaged. This helps to make shipbuilding easier, because the structural steel workers are learning that trade, to which they take naturally. It is also believed by the San Francisco Chronicle that house carpenters can become ship carpenters as easily as structural iron workers can become workers on steel ships. Finally there appears to be seasoned timber available for turning out a good many wooden ships.—Springfield Republican.

Manchester baseball fans are beginning to take an interest in the negotiations under way between Manager Walen of the local nine and the managers of the Marblehead outfit. A conference is to be held next Tuesday evening at Marblehead and it is expected that one of the results will be an arrangement for a series between the two nines. The clash last season affected the tender feelings of the local fans to such an extent that they are desirous of heart balm in the form of a good old trimming for Marblehead. They figure that with Woodman in the box a series this year might turn out a little differently than last season's battles. The hope now is to have the inter-town contests take place the first of August instead of in September. With the Manchester team going at its present clip there is no doubt about the result of a series between the two towns.

Even Uncle Sam's secret service men have to observe the traffic regulations in Manchester. The other day an automobile loaded with employees of the Department of Justice sped through Central square at a good clip. "Slow up there," yelled Traffic Officer Cook, who was on duty in the square.

"Huh?" was all the startled driver of the auto could say as he slowed down suddenly. He seemed a little bit hurt at the suggestion that he was not privileged to "go the limit." As the car moved along Officer Cook got a glimpse of "U. S. Dept. of Justice" plate on the back of the car, but it didn't jar him any. What bothered him more was the fact that while he was looking after the other car Selectman George R. Dean slipped by in his

In order to still the clamors of Manager Donovan of the Salem Maples a game has been arranged with that team for tomorrow by Manager Walen. The Maples are old time enemies of the local ball-tossers and a regular old-fashioned scrap is looked for. Things are beginning to shape up for a series with Marblehead about the middle of August and Manager Walen is going to hold a conference with Managers Kelly and Grady in Marblehead next Tuesday. The local fans have an idea that Wodman has a shade on Davies as a twirler and would like to see the two in action in the series. As Woodman is enlisted in the Mass. Ambulance corps the chances of his pitching in the series are slim unless it takes place very soon.

Uniforms for the 125th company of the Mass. State guard will probably reach Manchester in time for distribution at the drill one week from next Monday evening. Capt. Robertson, Lt. Allen and Lt. Corley were in Boston Tuesday conferring with the state guard board about the equipment for the Manchester company. So many companies have been mustered in during the last week that the supplies on hand are running short. It is expected that the rifles for the company will reach Manchester sometime next week, and it is likely that a special meeting of the guard will be called for their distribution. An examination of about 20 applicants for the 11 openings for non-commissioned officers in the company will be held at the Price school hall this Friday evening at 7.30 o'clock.

The Junior Chautauqua is a big feature of the big community affair to be held at Masconomo Park next week. Between 9 and 11 o'clock each morning under the direction of Miss Verna Slade a trained worker with children, the little folk will gather in the big tent for games, folk songs and stories. The special attraction will be "Junior Town." The children will elect their own mayor, various boards,

COPLEY THEATRE.

Undiminished interest and crowded houses continue to be the rule at the Copley Theatre, Boston, where the Henry Jewett Players are scoring one of the greatest successes of the season, in the stirring war play "The Man Who Stayed at Home." This play, particularly timely in its disclosures, has taken Boston by storm and promises to run indefinitely at the Copley.

Disclosing, as it does, problems of intense importance in the present crisis, those dealing with enlistments and espionage, the play thrills one with its tense dramatic touches and deft humorous incidents. It is a play which will long be remembered and which will be classed with Gillette's "Secret Service" on account of the gripping interest it maintains on the audience from start to finish.

Rev. Abbot Peterson of Brookline, pastor of the First Parish (Unitarian), will preach Sunday at the Union Chapel. Services begin at 10.45 a. m.; all seats free.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE.

Louis Mann, the celebrated legitimate actor and the dean of American character comedians, comes to B. F. Keith's Theatre for a limited engagement of positively one week only, commencing Monday afternoon, July 23d. Mr. Mann will appear in his very latest production from the pen of Clara Lipman and Samuel Shipman, "The Good For Nothing." This is a very funny comedy, giving Mr. Mann an opportunity to perform some remarkable character work. He is supported by a large and excellent company of comedians. Another big feature of the bill will be Linne's Dancers, a great troupe of classic and ballet dancers, headed by the youthful premier, Mlle. Una, and assisted by a corps de ballet of 10 girls. They will appear in a series of delightful dance creations, all original with Mr. Linne, and gorgeous costumes and light effects help to make the act a very spectacular turn. Other attractions will include Bert Swor, the blackface comedian, late star with Al G. Fields' Greater Minstrels, in his latest monologue and comedy act.

By having a garden to look after you will not only be doing your country a service, but you will also have less time to find fault with the men who are conducting the war.

AUGUST COSMOPOLITAN.

The big feature in August Cosmopolitan is Robert W. Chambers's new novel, "The Restless Sex."

Another great story is "Blue Aloes," by Cynthia Stockley.

Other great writers and artists in this number are: Lillie Langtry, Herbert Kaufman, Ella Wheeler Wilcox, Jack London, John Galsworthy, Samuel Merwin, C. N. and A. M. Williamson, Mary Roberts Rinehart, George Ade, Arthur Reeve, Howard Chandler Christy, G. Patrick Nelson, Will Foster, W. D. Stevens, George Gibbs, Anton Otto Fischer, James Montgomery Flagg, John T. ### SAVE THE BABIES

INSTRUCTIVE DISTRICT NURSING ASSOCIATION OF BOSTON NEEDS FUNDS FOR ITS IMPORTANT WORK.

"The history of nations is determined not on the battlefield, but in the nursery, and the battalions which give lasting victory are battalions of babies." Our country is now very widely considering its battalions of soldiers. How about our battalions of babies? How many babies are there in Massachusetts, anyway? How many live? How many die. Is the death rate the lowest possible? If not, who is responsible? How many of us know these things?

A six months' study of their work just completed by the Instructive District Nursing association gives some interesting facts along this line.

1854 new born and well babies were cared for by the nurses of the Association during these last six months.

4724-pre-natal visits were made.

1937 visits were made to Infantile Paralysis patients (children crippled by last summer's epidemic).

1368 more new patients were taken on during this period than during the same months last year. (An average of about 230 per month).

$4811.00 was collected in fees, against $4270.00 last year, an increase of $500.00 in fees against an increase of 1300 new patients. This relative decrease in collected fees the Association considers due to the high cost of living. Every penny is absorbed in feeding, clothing and housing the family. Nothing is left for sickness with about 47 percent of the Association patients.

In the pre-natal and maternity cases, however, this general non-pay percentage is lowered to 33 1-3 percent. Nursing during pregnancy and confinement is increasingly valued, as its efficacy is proved, and mothers and expectant mothers strain every nerve to pay for it. Many pay for such nursing who pay for no other. They are, however, utterly unable to pay the full cost of each nursing visit, 55c; one dollar being, as a rule, the sum available for this entire service, which averages about fourteen visits. That is, 33 1-3 percent of those mothers of Greater Boston who employ the Association nurses (and the Association handles 20 percent of all the maternity cases in this territory) can, with effort, pay about 1-5 of the actual cost of nursing care at this time when it is so vital to both mother and child.

Who is responsible or the care of the rest of those mothers, whose babies are about to come or just come? Who is to pay for the nursing they require? The Instructive District Nursing association visits all who are sent or apply to them, without consideration of ability to pay. But to do this the association has to have money.

Not only has pre-natal nursing reduced the infant death rate 50 percent, according to a statistical survey; it has prevented demformities of babies and invalidism of mothers. That is, it saves lives and increases the effective force of our population.

Never has the conservation of our babies been so important as now, when our battalions of soldiers are entering the war where the wastage of man power has been so tremendous. The country will depend on this next generation, on its size, its strength, its vigor. ### NEW NUMBERING OF REGIMENTS.

The plan for resignating regiments of the war armies by number and branch of service only will be modified, it was announced at Washington Wednesday, so that it will be possible to determine from the number itself whether the regiment is a part of the regular army, the national guard, or the national army. Under the plan the regulars will be numbered upward as now, from the 1st cavalry, 1st infantry, and the like. The national guard regimental numbers, however, will not begin where the regulars' numbers end, but will begin at the 101st cavalry, 101st infantry, and the like. Similarly, the national army numbers will begin at 301, the regiments being designated upward from the 301st cavalry, 301st infantry and the like. Thus, any regimental number under 100 will indicate regulars, any number between 100 and 300 national guard, and any number over 300 national army. A similar arrangement for numbering brigades and divisions will be used.

American surgeons who have always desired a "course in Europe" can at last gratify their wish. One thousand of them are needed in France.

It's patriotic to take no more on your plate than you can eat at a single session.

If all of our prayers were answered there would not be much left for the other fellow.

PARTY FOR MISS FULLERTON

Miss Mary Fullerton, formerly bookkeeper at the Beverly Farms office of J. B. Dow & Co., who is soon to become the bride of Timothy Hayes, was much surprised the other evening when she called at Miss Rose Craigan's home on Hale st., Beverly, and found twenty girl friends there to greet her.

After Miss Mary's arrival much fun was derived in untangling the cob-web which was spread about the rooms. Each girl was given a string to unwind, at the end of which was a heart with an appropriate verse. Miss Fullerton's string was, of course the longest and it led her out on the piazza, where at the end she found a large clothes basket filled to overflowing. This was brought in and as each package was unwrapped much merriment was caused by the poetry enclosed. The gifts were many and useful and consisted of china, glass, aluminum ware and linen.

The dining room was prettily decorated with cupids and flowers. Dancing was enjoyed, piano and vocal solos were rendered by the Misses Louise Standley, Marion Harrison, Mary Fullerton and Kathleen McKiernan.

Willie was riding in a street car with his mother. In the seat back of them was a man relating in a rather loud voice to a companion the story of some boyhood escapade. "Why, Willie, what's the matter? We must get off here!" exclaimed the mother.

"I don't want to get off," cried the boy, "till I hear the end of the story!"

MONEY NOT TIED UP

Money invested in Liberty Loan Bonds is in no way in the world "tied up." So far as the Government is concerned the money paid in for these bonds, including that loaned our allies, is being and is to be spent in this country and therefore immediately paid back to the people for labor and products of the United States. So far from being "tied up" this money is in effect never withdrawn from circulation.

So far as the investor in the Liberty Loan Bonds is concerned his money is not "tied up" since there is always a ready market for United States Government Bonds. Everybody knows this. As shown by the subscription the demand for Liberty Loan Bonds exceeded the supply 50 percent. This creates an immediate market for the Liberty Loan Bonds. Another issue will be offered to the people the announcement of which will be made by Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo in due course. The oversubscription of the first issue is an indication of which may be expected for the second issue, which it is hoped will meet with a larger number of subscribers and a great sum subscribed.

PARK SQUARE THEATRE.

The closing of the Park Square Theatre, Boston, on Saturday, July 14, which ended the phenomenally long engagement of 23 weeks for "Fair and Warmer," terminated a notably successful season for this popular playhouse. The saying, "first theatre to open and the last to close," has been brought to commonest use in application to the Park Square.

Success after success has marked the present season which opened on September 4 with "Hit-the-Trail-Holliday." If the past season was notable in the fine theatrical fare offered, the promise of the good things to come for the approaching season betokens a veritable feast. The season will open on August 13 with a return engagement of Oliver Morosco's "Canary Cottage." Then will come a return engagement of "Good Gracious Annabelle" in answer to the insistent demand of hosts of Boston theatregoers, who have filled the mails in request for its repetition. Other attractions will be announced later, but with this list even the most pessimistic doubter could not cavil at the prospect of a banner season for Boston's most popular playhouse.

NATURALIZATION MEETINGS NEXT MONTH.

Archie M. Frost, clerk of courts of Essex county, has arranged special naturalization sessions on the evenings of August 2 and 3 at the Court house in Salem, for the accommodations of those who wish to take out either first or second naturalization papers. The unusual conditions brought about by the war have awakened an unprecedented interest in citizenship, and throughout the state the courts have been thronged with applicants for naturalization. Mr. Frost has arranged for afternoon and evening sessions in order that men who are employed during the usual hours of court sessions may be given an opportunity to take out their papers without losing a day's work.

The republican state committee, which has been stimulating naturalization work through the state this year, has requested the members of the local committees to assist applicants for naturalization in preparing themselves for these sessions.

The Scriptural doctrine that it is more blessed to give than to receive rarely ever evokes cheers when it is applied to money, but arouses uproarious enthusiasm in the matter of advice.

It is healthier to be a traitor to your country in times of peace than when a war is on.

SAVE VEGETABLE SEEDS

U. S. DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE
ASKS GARDENERS TO AID IN CONSERVING SEED SUPPLY.

Under normal conditions of commerce considerable quantities of vegetable seed are imported by American seedsmen from Europe. Since the beginning of the European war these importations have decreased, until at the present time they are relatively small. Furthermore, America has been called upon to furnish certain vegetable seeds to Europe, and this has increased the tendency to deplete the stocks available for our own use. In view of these facts, it is believed that the supply of vegetable seed in this country should be conserved and augmented to the fullest extent possible, says the weekly News Letter of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

While the practice of saving seed in the home garden cannot be generally recommended because of the difficulty in keeping stocks pure, it is quite feasible to save seed of many vegetables for one or two seasons. After that, the stocks should be renewed. At the present time the United States Department of Agriculture urges every gardener who has the facilities to do so to save seed for next year's planting. If this is done it will assist in the return of normal conditions, not only in the supply of vegetable seed, but also in the price to the gardener.

There is but one general principle underlying the production of good vegetable seed; that is, save seed from the best plants.

For seed purposes all vegetables may be classed as annuals or biennials. Annuals are such as ripen a crop of seed the same season as that in which the seed is sown; biennials ripen seed the season following that in which the seed is sown.

Beans.—The saving of beans for seed is a relatively simple matter. Beans are self-fertile, so there is no danger of mixing, but care should be taken to pick out a few of the best plants from which to save seed.

Peas.—Save seed from the best plants and treat as instructed for beans. It is important to select from plants showing the desired characters; for example, if seed is wanted of an early sort, save seed of plants maturing the first usable pods.

Vine seeds of all kinds.—Cucumber, muskmelon, watermelon, and squash seeds are so easily saved and so little is needed by the small planter that there is no reason, save the bother of it, why every one should not save his own seed this year. Here, again, it is important that the best fruits be selected according to the kinds that are being grown. Allow the selected fruits to ripen, cut them open, scoop the seed out into a dish, and wash thoroughly with water.

Lettuce, radish, spinach, etc.—These annuals seed abundantly, and, here again, selection is important. If you are growing a head lettuce, save the plants making the best head; do not use the left-overs that have failed to make good, as then the seed will probably produce still less desirable plants the next year.

Beets, carrots, and turnips.—These biennials should be stored in a moist cellar or in dry, well-drained soil, so that they will be kept cool and moist and not likely to become either dry, water-soaked, or frozen, or to start into growth. In all these cases the best roots, considering shape and color according to the variety and soundness, should be selected. The roots should then be set out as early in spring as possible, after hard freezes are past, and planted with the crowns 2 to 3 inches below the surface. The earlier these can start new growth the better the chances for a crop.

Cabbage.—Plants to be used for seed production should be started late, so that they will only begin to head at the time of the first hard frosts or actual freezing. The plants should then be pulled and stored, either in a cellar, so that they will be constantly moist, or by burying them in the open, so that the heads will have some air, but not be exposed to repeated freezing. When the pods are ripe the stalks should be cut and cured in a dry place. Later the seed may be beaten out with sticks.

BOSTON THEATRE.

A splendid double bill of feature pictures, new to Boston and shown here for the first time exclusively, including Valeska Suratt in her newest five-part romance, "The Siren," and beautiful Miriam Cooper in "An Innocent Sinner," in five parts will head the vaudeville and photoplay bill offered at the Boston Theatre the week of July 23d. Velaska Suratt, the vampire of the screen, with her snaky mannerisms, beautiful figure, and gorgeous gowns, will appear in a new dramatic production written especially for her and entitled "The Siren."

We might accomplish much more were we able to instill a little patriotism into the back-yard cat.

OUR FINANCIAL STRENGTH

Two billion dollars is a tremendous sum of money. Yet the American people have loaned their Government that much and have barely touched their resources. The money was raised so easily it only seemed to show the tremendous financial strength of the country.

It is not one-tenth of our bank deposits. It is less than one-eighth of our bank loans for one year. It was less than one-half of our national savings for 1916 and only five percent of our national income for that year according to estimates.

Not only is this first Liberty Loan Bond issue of two billion dollars much larger than the initial loans of any of the other nations engaged in the war but it was raised in much less time with much less effort and was subscribed to by a vastly greater number of individuals; this too when danger was far from us and the nation in a calm frame of mind.

The coming second issue of Liberty Loan Bonds, with the great mass of the people of the country much better educated as to Government bond issues and Government finances in general, it is reasonable to suppose, will be disposed of with even greater success than the initial issue.

The over-subscription of the initial issue of over a billion dollars augurs well for the success of the next loan. There are several million more investors in Government bonds in America than there were a month ago. Then there were some three hundred thousand holders of United States bonds; now there are over four million. And the thrill of the thought of our soldiers in France will rally the people to the nation's call.

ESSEX COUNTY POTATO GROWERS.

Are you spraying your potatoes? If so what are you using, Arsenate of Lead or Paris Green? Both are good to kill the bugs, but what are you doing to protect your crop from early and late blight. Remember that diseases must be prevented, by spraying, before they appear. Potato blight may soon be here so that if you have not been spraying or if you have been using Arsenate of Lead or Paris Green alone, start at once to protect your crop against disease by spraying at least every 10 days (giving at least 3 applications), using Bordeaux and lead, or Pyrox, which will not only kill the bugs, but will protect your crop against blight. For best results the material should be applied in a fine mist. Insure your potato crop at once.

LIMIT YOUR FOOD

THE following pledges are soon to be distributed throughout the country for signatures. Everybody is asked to help conserve the food supply of the nation:

Wishing to aid my country during the war, I promise—

1. To eat one wheatless meal a day.

2. To eat beef, mutton or pork not more than once a day.

3. To economize in the use of butter.

4. To limit my daily allowance of sugar in tea or coffee and in other ways.

5. To eat more vegetables, fruit and fish.

6. To urge in my own home or the restaurants I frequent the necessity of economy.

Don't sign it unless you intend following it. Showy patriotism will help very little.

NATIONAL ENCAMPMENT IN AUGUST.

Although but little has been said of the coming National encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic, the committees are steadily at work on plans for the entertainment of the visitors, who will come to Boston next month from every State and Territory in the country to attend the National encampment, which opens in Boston Aug. 27.

The following are the chairmen of the various committees: Accommodation, John E. Gilman; badges, Granville C. Fiske; decorations and parade, Col. J. Pavson Bradley; entertainment, Maj. Gen. Thomas R. Matthews; grand stands, John M. Woods; conveyances, Ainsley R. Hooper; information, Ephraim B. Stillings; invitations, Eli W. Hall; medical and public comfort, Henry Clark; press, Col. John D. Billings; reception, Department Commander Daniel E. Denny; printing, Adj. Gen. Philip A. Nordell; transportation, George A. Hosley; reunion, Edwin P. Stanley of Manchester.

It is possibly the last time the veterans will meet in Boston; and the gathering will undoubtedly serve as a patriotic inspiration to the youth of Massachusetts who will soon be called to the colors in defense of the same

The auxiliaries, the Sons of Veterans, the Woman's Relief Corps, the Ladies of the G. A. R., the Daughters of Veterans and the Sons of Veterans all hold their annual deliberations at the same time, which will result in a large attendance of the wives and daughters of the delegates.

The parade will take place on Tuesday, Aug. 28, one day earlier than usual; the change has been made to allow the visitors more time for social engagements.

The executive committee has established headquarters at room 27, State House.

NEWS-STAND PRICE OF BREEZE HAS ADVANCED—SUBSCRIPTION RATE REMAINS THE SAME.

The price of the BREEZE, at news-stands, has been advanced to 10 cents a copy for the six-month period, May to October, inclusive, at least, and possibly after that. Readers of the BREEZE should not misunderstand this statement: It is the news-stand price of the BREEZE that advances and not the subscription price. Subscription (paid in advance in accordance with the postal requirements) will continue at the old rate of $2 a year, and $1 for six months.

This radical change is made imperative because of the unusual advance in the price of paper.

We would urge upon those of our readers who are not regular subscribers, to place their order for the BREEZE so that it may be mailed them regularly every Friday morning. The subscription rate figures only 4c a copy, as compared with 10c, which will be the news-stand price everyone not a subscriber will have to pay after this month.

FOOD CONSERVATION CAMPAIGN.

Housewives and others anxious and eager to do their bit in the national food conservation campaign and to live according to the Hoover "gospel of the clean plate" have the question of how to do it answered for them in a bulletin on food thrift issued Monday by the Department of University Extension of the Massachusetts Board of Education.

The bulletin presents in concise, readable form practical suggestions, economical and tested menus and recipes with substitutes for expensive dishes which would be of aid to any home. Particular attention is paid to suggestions for "balanced meals" which represent saving and satisfaction. One may learn what to serve for every meal in a day, hearty meals and dainty meals. The recipes cover familiar dishes as well as Norwegian prune pudding and tomato jelly salad. The bulletin offers clear opportunity to differentiate between luxury and necessity and enables the reader to see why President Wilson said that every housewife who practices strict economy enrolls herself in the ranks of those who serve the nation and why J. Ogden Armour recently declared that the welfare of the nation depends upon the women and the success of food conservation.

The bulletin was written by Mrs. Elbert A. Harvey in consultation and with the advice of Dean Sarah Louise Arnold and Dr. Alice Blood of Simmons college. While it was prepared principally for the students of the Department anyone may obtain a copy by sending a postcard requesting it. Send the postcard to the Department of University Extension at the State House and ask for a copy of "Food Thrift."

MILITARY WATCH N W FINDS FAVOR

A few years ago the man, military or otherwise, who preferred his watch on the wrist, would have been a target for scorn and derision. Today, however, points of view have changed. Starting with the first guns of the great European conflict the popularity of the military watch has steadily gained until to day Uncle Sam's men recognize it as an absolute necessity in military affairs—in fact the only watch that wholly meets the peculiar requirements of such service.

Military Watches at our Store are from three to thirty dollars. A special low price of $10.00 has been put on this reliable Military Watch: solid nickel case, fine 15-jewel movement, non-breakable crystal, heavy solid nickel buckle, choice of fine pigskin or sealskin strap.

SWAGGER STICKS

The correct thing for the military man to carry when off duty.

In England, France and Canada one rarely sees a military man on the streets without one of these Swagger Sticks.

Our assortment is very complete, comprising 18 different styles and ranging in price from 50c to $2.50.

FOR SUMMER

Those of you who wear CONVERTIBLE BRACELET WATCHES will find a RIBBON BRACELET far more COMFORTABLE than metal links.

Ribbon Bracelets come in colors to match gowns: French blue, old rose, gold, sand, steel, purple, plum—and plain black. Other colors on special order.

It is no trouble at all to change from a link to a ribbon bracelet. Non-convertible watches may be altered to take a ribbon bracelet. Ribbon Bracelets may be had with sterling silver, gold filled, or solid gold end fastenings. The prices begin at $1.00.

ON THE WATER OR AT THE SHORE

On the other hand, we can grind for you here in our own shop, colored lenses to match the strength of your regular ones—in whatever degree tint you may choose.

We believe that quality and worth are economy; that good enough never can usurp the best; that the customer is generally right; that loyalty to the loftiest standards of our calling is as imperative as deference to the client's wish; and that when we have ceased to be apprentices to progress we have failed at our biggest task.

We strive to please our patrons with the same service and quality that experience has proved to be pleasing to ourselves.

Many noble-hearted women today are carrying bags like this. They are of beautiful cretonne or bright-hued silk and they lend a picturesque, quaint note to one's costume;—somewhat suggestive of other times when American women were rallying staunchly to the support of a war-tried nation, just as they are today.

Perhaps you already have a bag of this sort. Its uses are many. You may carry in it the knitting you are doing for the Red Cross work, and besides it will easily hold the little parcels that you buy at the stores and do not mind carrying with you, as well as the little accessories it is always convenient to carry.

Every woman, young or younger, should produce some article for the comfort of our soldier boys, with her own fingers and some knitting needles.

It is more than kindness, it is more than an expression of esteem. It is real patriotism. Many of our boys are not yet accustomed to the rigorous life of the army camp.

A Sweater or some other knitted garment will given them comfort and protection against colds and their results.

Food Enough For An Army

North Shore War Gardens Are Producing Abundance of Vegetables

Every one who creates or cultivates a garden helps, and helps greatly, to solve the problem of the feeding of the nations.—PRESIDENT WOODROW WILSON.

Every pound of food that is produced by those who have the opportunity to utilize small pieces of land for their own supply will help to relieve the general pressure.—LEONARD BARRON.

SO the country was admonished in the early spring, and right well it has responded. This article will deal mainly with the "small pieces" of land that have been utilized along the North Shore. The farming region or inland resorts such as Hamilton, Wenham, Ipswich, Essex and Topsfield responded to the general call of the special committee which appealed to the farmer of the country, upon whom, "in a large measure, rests the fate of the war and the fate of the nations."

Beginning with Beverly, the Garden City, many of the summer colonists generously gave part of their land to the garden committee which encouraged the community gardens among the townspeople. Much could be said of "the man with the hoe" on the factory gardens and vacant lot gardens in Beverly.

Now for BREEZE readers we will make a little summary of what the summer colonists have done in addition to regular gardens.

The old historic Hale Farm, the home of the Robert Hale Bancrofts, in Beverly, is surrounded with "war gardens." It has 31 gardens, 35x55 feet and 10 gardens, 60x50. At Beverly Farms, Miss M. E. Haven has given land making 15 gardens, 50x55. Mrs. John C. Phillips of Moraine Farm, North Beverly, gave twelve gardens, 50x60. Dudley L. Pickman gave five gardens, 6x60. Mrs. Henry W. Peabody of Montserrat has 70 school gardens, from 10x30 down to 4x30, and 30 adult gardens, 50x50. Beverly's garden supervisor, Marshall O. Lamphear, reports 200 adult city gardens, 550 home school gardens and 250 school gardens on common plots.

A rather unique garden plot is on the Bancroft home. A retired minister in Beverly is doing his "bit" by making a most unusual garden. It lies next to the family garden and closely resembles a rug in green and brown.

The outside border is potatoes, then around the four sides is a row of beans, and the inner pattern is of various vegetables. The Bancrofts have their usual thrifty looking gardens, as do all of the others of the Shore summer residents.

Mrs. Robert D. Evans of Beverly Cove usually has about three acres in vegetables and flowers. An extra half acre of potatoes was made room for this season by cutting down some trees.

At the Thomas P. Beal place about two acres of potatoes have been added to their usual garden.

A. Shuman has six acres in potatoes on the old Porter place, which he purchased a few years ago.

Col. Wm. D. Sohier has about an acre of vegetables on the estate of his sister, Miss Elizabeth P. Sohier.

The Henry B. Sawyer's have changed their flower garden to vegetables this season.

Dudley L. Pickman has potatoes and corn in his usual garden.

At the Alexander Steinert place on Hospital Point is a thrifty looking potato patch running clear across the fine front lawn.

Mrs. W. Harry Brown has changed the picking flower garden at "Sunset Hill" into a vegetable garden, and is doing with half the number of flowers. On the lawn is half an acre of potatoes in fine bloom.

Wm. Baldwin Miller has given an acre or more for a community garden for some nearby folk.

Dr. Henry F. Sears has added a few more potatoes.

Miss Katharine E. Silsbee has let out about 10 acres to others and has so much planted that her own help cannot take care of it all.

Miss Fanny P. Mason has all of the lawn around her house under cultivation in potatoes and other vegetables.

Charles H. Tyler has added a few more potatoes this year to his showy gardens and in the New Hampshire home has planted about ten bushels of the tubers.

At the John L. Saltonstall place about an acre more of potatoes have been added, and the butler and other men on the place have individual gardens.

"Oberland," the home of Dr. Franklin Dexter, like Hale Farm, is one of the old places that has responded to the garden call. It has no community gardens, but is planted on every available space—about six times more than usual. About three acres are in potatoes and other roots, and the croquet grounds are in cabbage and cauliflower. Flowers have given way to vegetables. This is a fine old place with its old stone house built about 70 years ago by Franklin Dexter, who, along with the Paines, Loring and Havens, "discovered" the North Shore. This place of about 17 acres has always been kept in a wild natural state and has an unusually interesting collection of wild flowers, including orchids, and many fine old trees. Perhaps the latest addition to the place is the gardener's attractive seven-room cottage on Hale and Prince streets, an artistic white house with green blinds and slate roof and modern equipment. It was designed by the firm with which A. N. Rantoul of Ipswich is connected. It stands on a pretty spot and is shaded by one of the largest elms on the Shore. The uncommon shape of the cottage makes it noticeable from the street.

In the Pride's Crossing section is noted the usual fine garden down by the water of Herbert M. Sears, and "Wood Rock" has a potato patch in addition.

At the Jackson home the large vegetable garden extends almost from the P. T. Jackson, Jr., place to the Harcourt Amory place, and potatoes are growing in abundance on the lawns facing the sea.

Mrs. Quincy A. Shaw's vegetable garden has been increased about one-fourth.

Judge Wm. H. Moore has planted an additional acre in potatoes and the artistic looking vegetable gardens near the race track of "Rockmarge" are a sight well worth seeing. The plan and construction of the beds make the place as interesting as a "green" flower garden.

The Washington B. Thomas place has about two acres in additional potatoes and vegetables and one and a half acres in new land. Gardens thrive on both sides of the street, and flowers in general have taken their departure, and given place to vegetables. About 300 Rhode Island Reds are also "helping" on the Thomas place.

The Robert S. Bradley gardens have added much in the vegetable line in the way of beans and peas. Two dump heaps have been converted into potato patches, and the cutting garden has been half utilized for beets and other vegetables.

The Gordon Dexter place has the front lawn well planted in potatoes.

At the Philip S. Sears place on Branch and Common lanes, some extra planting of vegetables in the various lines has taken place. Many of the Shore homes have very little space that can be cultivated among the rocks.

The Harold J. Coolidge place is a little "farm" of about 25 acres and here are cows and a flock of sheep (perhaps the only ones on the Shore). Outside of the woodland much is under cultivation. Rotation of crops is believed in here as well as succession, and after haying land is harvested other crops are raised on the same land providing food for the animals as well as for the table. The general vegetable supply has been doubled in many ways this season and flowers, except perennials, are not in the gardens.

The Loring families have added about one-fourth more in potatoes to their general gardens this year. The Misses Loring have their thrifty potato patch on the lawn by their house.

The Wm. W. Woods have a large patch of potatoes extending from their house down to the street on their beautiful lawn.

The John T. Morse, Jr., place in Pride's Crossing shows the whole lower lawn planted in corn.

Plenty of Gardens at Beverly Farms

In Beverly Farms the Sydney E. Hutchinsons have turned about three acres into vegetables. The swamp land that was improved last year with the idea of making a natural garden or park, lying just opposite the beach pavilion, has been made into a vegetable garden this year.

On the Haven estate, beside the community gardens, is a more extensive planting of potatoes.

The Neal Rantoul home about an eighth of an acre of potatoes is on the lawn in front, and the Hon. Robert S. Rantoul has a patch of about the same size on the lawn facing the sea.

At the home of the Hon. George H. Lyman about 70 barrels of potatoes are hoped for by the persevering and patient gardener. Never before have potatoes been raised on the Lyman place. Beans for canning are also progressing.

Arthur F. Luke has planted much idle land on the Wenham road near the Farms in potatoes, "at the call of his country," and plans to dispose of them in the most needed way for others at the right time.

Extensive Vegetable Gardens at the Manchesters

Manchester and West Manchester have some extensive vegetable gardens.

At the Lester Leland estate thirty-two bushels of seed potatoes were planted and this novelty (never before raised at Old Tree House) is growing thriftily near the greenhouse and railroad.

At the home of Mrs. Lathrop Brown (occupied by the John Markles) the two greenhouses are planted in potatoes and other vegetables. Potatoes are growing around the gardener's cottage where flowers formerly thrived.

At "Sunset Hill," Major Henry L. Higginson has had two acres planted in potatoes, a new addition, and a little extra added to the regular garden. (This is a fine old place to go gardening in, an interesting path, a short cut to the station, leads past an old well securely covered by a rustic roof wide enough to afford a resting place on seats under it, a sort of rustic tea house. The house bears the date 1878).

Samuel Carr's place, "The Jungle," is rightly named. In the limited, rocky woody place, all space available has been utilized; but, on the 160 acre farm at Southboro, Mr. Carr has 70 acres under cultivation in potatoes, corn and oats.

The Frances W. Fabyans have two acres of extra garden, including general vegetables and a planting of two bushels of potatoes.

"Glass Head," the home of the Gordon Abbotts, never had potatoes and baking beans before. It now shows an acre of potatoes and one-fourth of an acre of beans beside the usual garden. Flowers have been lessened.

The gardens at "All Oaks," the home of Mrs. Edward S. Grew, have an extra planting of carrots, beets and onions added to the well planned gardens on this rocky hillside, where scarcely a foot of land is wasted.

Mrs. Charles Stedman Hanks has potatoes growing back of her house and around the back of the small cottage on the place.

Mrs. Robert C. Winthrop, aside from planting more vegetables than formerly has about an acre in field corn, a new crop for the place, and has done with less flowers.

Mrs. John L. Thorndike has given her tennis court for a potato patch, aside from the general garden. Right well the potatoes seem to be enjoying the court.

Marblehead the Mecca For Many Well-Known People

Folk Who "Do Things" Find
Rest in Quaint Old Town

By KATHERINE GAUSS

MARBLEHEAD this season is displaying a new side to her many lovers. It is not because of its historic worth, or its name as a yachting centre, or because of its flying machines and plant, but this year it is because of the famous people who are staying in the old seaboard town. Every year sees an influx of visitors, but seldom has there been a year when a summer's stay has been the plan of so many well known people.

With an eye to the artistic side as well as to the comfortable side, these summer guests are mostly housed in the substantial old homes of bygone Marbleheaders, some remodeled and redecorated as to interior, but remaining ever the same on the outside. It is because of this very reason, that the visitor to Marblehead, receives so many delightful surprises upon stepping within the oftentimes dull and forbidding entrance to one of these old-time houses.

Now, who are the persons of fame living for the season at the old town? Well, first—to mention some of the women—there are the Misses Lora and Susan Scott, photographers of great artistic merit and perhaps of even more interest, as genuine homesteaders. Miss Susan Scott has taken up a homestead in Florida just south of St. Augustine and there with three-quarters of a mile of coast line and 90 acres of land, she lives seven months in the year, raising a crop, in order to claim a title to the land at the end of three years.

She is a sure enough pioneer going down to Florida, seeking out some land and going through the first process of losing money by receiving advice from a bunco man in real estate. Finally receiving a location from the government, Miss Scott went to the land which had been shown by the bunco man, only to find that it belonged to a Danish family, so she put her pack on her back, and walked thirty-five miles up the coast to where her land was actually located. At that, she found, after building a hut, that the land was just a mile further on, and this next winter, the hut will be moved into her land.

Here in a wilderness of beauty, Miss Scott proposes to live, fencing in her ninety acres, raising a crop and perhaps some sort of live stock, and then living happily ever after. She is twelve miles from the railroad and five miles from any neighbor, but happy as a clam all the winter through.

With these two delightful women, is another of world-wide fame, Mary Antin, who as a child, came out from Russia, learned of the promised land "America" and came to the United States, here receiving an education and wonderful support from that grand old man, Edward Everett Hale. She, with her 12-year-old daughter are basking in the Marblehead sunlight, after a strenuous season in lecturing and writing.

William T. Aldrich's New Summer Home at Peach's Point, Marblehead

On the same street living in one of the well known hostleries, is Mrs. Hugo Munsterburg and her daughters. Any pleasant day will see, Mrs. Munsterburg out with an easel and painting materials, sketching or doing oils of the beauty spots of town. She is a painter of much skill, and some of her garden scenes, especially those of the rose gardens, are charming. Her daughter, Margaret, is well known to the reading public as an author, having published several novels and books of poems. Here, in the seclusion of their apartments, Miss Margaret is preparing for her life work, the biography of her famous father, who was known throughout the world.

In an attic studio, Miss Vera P. Leiper is working day and night, in the interests of her art. She is a Colorado girl, having come to Boston to study at the Museum, later going to New York and on to Paris. She is of the colorist school, and her paintings in oils and water colors are filled with pure, high colors.

She has many strings to her bow, for in New York last winter she created a furore for wooden painted rocking toys while her clever handicraft work in wood was all the rage. Proficient in the use of the jig saw, and clever with her pencil, the toys turned out are fascinating. This summer she is experimenting with dolls, made entirely by herself, and fitted with artistically painted faces. These dolls are representative of types from various countries, while some are reproductions of famous persons of fairy book fame.

At the Hotel Leslie, Mrs. Elphinstone Maitland, of London, England, honorable secretary of the "Blue Cross fund" in America, is working hard, raising funds for the horses and dogs in the war. This society, founded by an English woman, Lady Lowther, just at the time of the Balkan Wars, has proven very useful in caring for the sick and wounded and crazed horses sent into the war zone. Hospitals have been established for them near the front, while back in the country, far from the sound of firing, rest homes for the tired out beasts have been organized.

In this country at the time of the border trouble, Mrs. Maitland was at the fore with money and valuable advice, and through her efforts the horses at the border were provided shelter from the hot suns, and medical care in sickness.

The dogs, which are forming such a valuable part of the medical forces in Europe, are often wounded in their search for soldiers on the battlefield, and so the French War Minister has authorized the Blue Cross to establish a base for their treatment, which has already been done, and ambulances have been supplied for transporting the wounded animals.

Then there is that enterprising young woman, who lives just over the line of Marblehead, in Swampscott, Miss Virginia Heal, who is but 19 years old, but has seen a wealth of the work of the world. Receiving her first training in relief at the time of the Salem fire, she has continued active in social welfare work, and with such success that she was transferred to New York as active secretary in a New York benevolent society. Inspired with the assistance which might be rendered with an ambulance, Miss Heal began to have visions of going abroad, so she took up the study of motor driving, French, and First Aid, and received honorable certificates in all.

She came back to her home, informed her family that she was going abroad and got in touch with Washington authorities and with friends in Europe, who set the wheels to work. A well known Belgian woman who has driven an ambulance under the patronage of the Queen of Belgium, heard of this young girl in the New England states, and sent for her to come and drive in her unit, under the patronage of Queen Elizabeth. Miss Heal leaves in August, and until that time is at home working in preparation for her duties, and speaking in the various towns, helping to raise money for the cause for which she has dedicated herself.

A mention of the women in Marblehead would not be complete without some mention of the all the year round residents, who in their way are equally busy and equally sought out. One cannot go into the town without visiting the famous "Rosary" at Devereux, where Mrs. Henry L. Foote raises the most marvelous varieties of these lovely flowers. A garden filled with over 4000 different bushes, with 1200 known varieties, is a garden worth having, and this year, more than any other, the garden has been at its best, and hundreds of visitors have made a special pilgrimage to the old garden.

This is not the life work of Mrs. Foote, and her friend, Miss Scumacher, but a recreation, for these ladies are landscape architects, going for miles, to lay out beautiful gardens. A sample of their creative ability is the Richard T. Crane, Jr., gardens at Ipswich, while other gardens all over the North Shore are the work of these ladies.

Marblehead is an ideal place to make a pilgrimage, and for the interested person, it is well to spend many a long day, seeking out the old spots, set back from the beaten path, and to get acquainted with those who have fallen under the spell of the old town's charm, and learn from them the things worth while.

The Benjamin Stickney Cable Memorial Hospital

Opening Exercises to be Held Next Saturday, Aug. 4—Few Facts About the Hospital

AT IPSWICH, next Saturday, August 4th, exercises will be held to mark the opening of the Benjamin Stickney Cable Memorial hospital, a gift to the town, of Mr. and Mrs. Richard T. Crane, Jr., of Chicago and "Castle Hill," Ipswich, in honor of their friend, Benjamin Stickney Cable, who was killed in an automobile accident two years ago. The building has been in the course of construction since last season and is a handsome building, on a hill in the southerly section of Ipswich,—at the junction of the main highway between Hamilton and Ipswich, and the road from Manchester and Essex.

The exercises on Saturday—Aug. 4—will be very simple. The meeting will be opened at four o'clock with prayer by Rev. T. Franklin Waters. Richard T. Crane, Jr., will present the deeds to the president of the hospital, Herbert Warren Mason, and the president will accept them, with fitting address. Judge G. H. W. Hayes will speak in behalf of the Town of Ipswich and F. R. Appleton will speak for the Coburn Charitable Home. There will be another speaker and the benediction will be pronounced by Father John N. Donovan.

The trustees of the hospital have been most fortunate

Roger Warner's New Summer Residence on Argilla Road, Ipswich

in securing such prominent men as the following to serve in the capacity of General Consulting staff: Surgeons, Drs. J. Dellinger Barney, Fred B. Lund, Charles G. Mixer, Samuel J. Mixer and William J. Mixer; medical, Drs. Charles W. Townsend, William B. Robbins, William E. Tucker and H. F. Vickery; children, Drs. Richard M. Smith and Maynard Ladd; ear and throat, Drs. Eugene A. Crockett and George H. Powers, Jr.; nose and throat, Dr. J. L. Goodale; neurologist, Dr. J. W. Taylor; skin, Dr. E. L. Oliver; obstetrician, Howard T. Swain and James L. Huntington; oculist, Alex Quackenboss; orthopedic, Drs. Robert B. Osgood and Lloyd T. Brown.

The active and visiting staff is composed of Drs. G. G. Bailey, Frank L. Collins, George E. MacArthur and M. C. McGinley. The dental staff: Drs. F. W. Keyes, E. J. Smith and F. A. Stockwell.

The following facts about the new hospital are furnished by President Mason:

Our total expense will be from $16,000 to $18,000 per year. We need about $5,000 more for annual maintenance. We have an endowment at present of $30,000.

The hospital has 24 beds, composed of two wards, three beds each; one ward, six beds; one ward, two beds; one children's ward, four beds; also five single rooms and one contagious room.

The hospital is fully equipped. It will have an ambulance, X-Ray room, pathological laboratory, five nurses' rooms, four maids' rooms, operating room, etherizing room, kitchen, airing porches, patients' sitting room, steam heating, electricity, etc.

The building is entirely fireproof, made of brick and cement.

It is the plan to have a dental and eye and ear clinics for school children and others.

Mrs. Helen S. Chapman is the superintendent. She will have entire charge under the direction of the executive committee of the trustees.

The local doctors will be the active staff, and the summer doctors and other eminent surgeons and physicians from Boston and Salem will be on the general staff.

We expect to have a six months' attendant's training class. As soon as the hospital is open, classes in first aid work and home nursing will be established. As a limited number can only be accommodated at a time it would be wise to sign for this at once.

There will be going on at the hospital days during the week sewing for the hospital, and for the French wounded work.

The trustees have voted to offer the hospital to the Government as a base hospital, in which case it is planned to accommodate 150 patients.

The trustees suggest that friends and those interested in the hospital send books, flowers, magazines, Victor records, vegetables, articles of clothing, etc., from time to time.

This is to be a free hospital for those who cannot pay. All who can pay, will be expected to pay the full price if possible. Private rooms will be $18 per week, and up. Ward patients, $10.50 to $12 per week. Fee for operating room $5. Any patient can have his own doctor at his own expense; doctors' services otherwise will be entirely free. There is a board of trustees of 15, an executive committee of four. The opening will be on Aug. 4. All the citizens of Ipswich and anyone interested will be cordially invited to attend the opening, whether or not he receives an invitation.

AT the request of Mr. Herbert Hoover, a meeting will be held on Monday, August 6th, at four o'clock, at the house of Mrs. Walter D. Denègre, West Manchester, to discuss "Food Control." Mr. Hoover's own program and suggestions will be presented by Dr. R. L. Wilbur, head of the department of Food Conservation in Washington. The committee in charge of the local meeting is composed of Mrs. Gordon Abbott, Mrs. Bryce Allan, Mrs. Oliver Ames, Mrs. Harold Coolidge, Mrs. S. V. R. Crosby, Mrs. Walter D. Denègre, Mrs. F. L. Higginson, Mrs. J. L. Saltonstall, Mrs. Barrett Wendell, Jr., and Mrs. Philip Dexter, chairman.

Mrs. Lucius Manlius Sargent of Boston has been a recent luncheon guest of Mrs. Franklin Haven at Beverly Farms.

The North Shore is interested in the wedding on Aug. 16, of Miss Mabel Webster, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin S. Webster, who spent last season in Manchester, to Richard Harte of Philadelphia. Mr. Harte is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Richard H. Harte and is a brother to Mrs. George Putnam (Katharine Harte) of Smith's Point, Manchester.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Knox Bell and son, Gordon Bell, Jr., of New York, are guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Russell S. Codman, Smith's Point, Manchester.

Miss Eleonora Sears' pretty little wire-haired fox terrier was lost in Beverly Farms the other day. It was seen running around aimlessly dragging its chain and was captured by Miss Margaret Lee of the Page & Shaw tea room. There it was kept tied up on the veranda until its mistress called for it.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Bell of Philadelphia have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. Sydney E. Hutchinson at Beverly Farms this week.

Guests at "Sun Dial," the Henry W. Farnum summer home at Magnolia, during the past week have been Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Drake and John C. Drake, Jr., of Chicago, the parents and brother of Mrs. Farnum, who was formerly Helen Drake. John C. Drake, Jr., is a prominent business man of Chicago, and is president of the Drake Hotel Company, and owner and proprietor of the Blackstone hotel, the best equipped and largest hotel in that city.

James MacGregor Means, one of the sons of Mr. and Mrs. James Means of Boston and Manchester, sailed a few days ago for France, in the American Field Service. The other son is in the Reserve Officers Training camp, Plattsburg. Mr. and Mrs. Means and daughter are dividing their summer between Boston and Andover, having leased their attractive year-round residence on Smith's Point, to Mrs. Rebecca M. Colfelt.

FREDERICK H. PRINCE, JR., and his bride, formerly Miss Elizabeth Harding, are now at "Princemere." Upon their arrival at the former's home on the Beverly Farms and Wenham road from their wedding journey through the Berkshires they were first seen by some of their friends at the West Beach bathing beach last Friday morning. Very charming and dainty did the young bride look beside her stalwart husband, the noted aviator. She wore a simple black satin sleeveless bathing suit with a white collar, black being the color of the stockings and sandals also. She had no cap. The young bride seemed to enjoy the North Shore waters immensely. Her home has been in Baltimore and Washington, where her father, William Proctor Gould Harding, is governor of the Federal Reserve Board. Mrs. Prince will be a welcome addition to the coterie of young brides on the Shore this summer.

Mrs. W. Harry Brown of Beverly Cove has had with her part of this week Major Sibert's wife and daughter, Miss Mary, and son, Edward, who is a cadet at West Point. Major Sibert is in command of one of the divisions in France. Mrs. Brown has been active in the recent Red Cross campaign in Pittsburg. Her son, Wm. H. Brown, Jr., is going to a camp in N. H., Aug. 4. He is a student at St. Paul's school and has been active in the garden work both at school and at his home.

Rev. Julian C. Jaynes of the First Unitarian church, West Newton, will preach at the First Unitarian church, Masconomo street, Manchester-by-the-Sea, Sunday, July 29. Service at 11 o'clock; all are welcome.

At the Union Chapel, Magnolia, Sunday morning, July 29th, Rev. John McGaw Foster, rector of the Church of the Messiah (Episcopal), Boston, will take the service. The hour of service is 10.45; all seats are free. Following the morning service, the Holy Communion will be celebrated.

George Bartlett, the youngest son of Nelson S. Bartlett of Manchester, sailed last Saturday for France, with a division of the American Ambulance Corps.

John N. Willys and family of Toledo, Ohio, are to spend the balance of the summer on the North Shore, having leased the estate of the late Eben D. Jordan, "The Rocks," at West Manchester. They will arrive next week. Mr. Willys is at the head of the Overland automobile concern and other extensive automobile interests. He is numbered among the richest men in the country. It was in 1912 that he spent his first summer on the North Shore as a tenant, occupying the Alexander Cochran place at Pride's Crossing that season. He has taken the Jordan estate at West Manchester on a sub-lease from the Eugene Dixons of Philadelphia, who had to change their plans because of the war. Mrs. Jordan is spending the summer at Bar Harbor.

WORK for the French Wounded at Mrs. Edward S. Grew's coach-house in West Manchester is steadily increasing these hot mornings. On Monday between 80 and 90 people were present at work. Miss Kathleen Burke, who recently spoke at the R. T. Crane, Jr., home in Ipswich, is coming to Magnolia for a short rest and may be obtained for an address the first of September. Mrs. Wm. H. Moore has been the donor of an electric cutter by which several layers of absorbant cotton and other materials can be cut at once. All this had formerly been done by hand. The cutter is similar to the one in the Boston workroom.

Just an item from the records: over 2800 bandages have been made and over 24,000 compresses, and other things in proportion. A gift of 65 shirts, much home-work in the way of hospital socks, etc., and $50 in pajamas were among the gifts of the week. The pajamas were to be made in Boston by the organized workroom of employed women. Among the bandages brought in Monday from home work a great pile was the work of masculine hands. (An excellent suggestion. If the men visited the North Shore workrooms, 25 or more, and saw how patiently the women are working these hot days, how would be tempted to do some rolling and folding at home.)

Among the workers noted last Monday were Mrs. Geo. H. Lyman and Mrs. Henry S. Grew, and besides the regular workers who are always present were seen Mmes. R. P. Snelling, R. S. Bradley, M. G. Houghton, T. F. Wilkins, F. I. Burnett, L. W. Morgan, Fulton Cutting, Robert Livermore, Thomas Barbour, John Hall, Gordan Bell, W. B. P. Weeks, J. Livingston Grandin, Sr., J. A. Richardson, Geo. Burroughs, E. M. House, J. W. Blodgett, Geo. Lee, S. Nicholson and G. Cabot, Miss Marion Greeley, Miss A. H. Putnam, Mlle. Germaine Cossini, and many other workers. The little children were seen, busy as ever, always a feature of this workroom.

Henry Clay Frick of Pride's Crossing has, for several years, been the unknown benefactor of a fund provided to give education to one hundred Pittsburghers in summer sessions of prominent colleges. Thirty students are now enrolled under this fund at the Harvard summer term.

Mr. and Mrs. Hallowell V. Morgan (Cintra Hutchinson) of Philadelphia are occupying the cottage on the Sydney E. Hutchinson estate of Beverly Farms. Mrs. Morgan is Mr. Hutchinson's daughter. They have been summering in Maine at Prout's Neck for several seasons, and it was there that their baby, Olga Morgan, was born last August. Their older child is Vaughn Morgan, a little three-year-old boy. During August Mrs. J. C. Stevens of Philadelphia, a sister to Mr. Hutchinson, will arrive with her children and occupy the cottage.

Sen. and Mrs. Henry F. Lippitt's young son, Frederick, a fine healthy looking youngster of six months, is doing his first "summering" at Beverly Farms. Laughingly he plunges his fists at curious folk who want to look into his cab to see Sen. Lippitt's "new baby." He has been at the Farms for some time with his mother and brothers, while his father makes occasional trips from the busy capital to see him.

Mrs. Franklin Haven of West Beach, Beverly Farms, has her cousin, Miss Mabel Endicott of Boston, and her brother, F. Munroe Endicott, with her this summer. A house-guest at present is Mrs. Stephen Decatur Harrison of New York.

WHEN the North Shore folk of this section hear Miss Ruth Draper in her recitation of monologues at the Red Cross benefit at the Essex County club, Manchester, tomorrow—Saturday—evening at 9 o'clock, the realization will come to them that a real artist is before them. Miss Draper, who is a granddaughter of the late Charles A. Dana is no beginner upon the stage. She has been giving her monologues in private for several years. The public has reason to be grateful for the opportunity to enjoy such a delightful series of dramatic miniatures as Miss Draper will portray. In all of her monologues, which are original, she shows the close observation that makes her figures seem fresh from life. She can sound a strong note of pathos, although her work is small in scale. What the effect of her style would be in a vehicle of wider scope it is impossible to say, but in the little sketches, with which she charms her select audiences, she reveals the qualities of an artist unrivalled. Tickets for Miss Draper's readings tomorrow may be obtained at the Essex County club, of Miss Julia Meyer, Hamilton; and of Mrs. H. P. McKean, Jr., Beverly Farms. The tickets are $3.

MRS. JAMES HENRY LANCASHIRE announces a morning reading: "Gardening with the Poets," to be given by Mrs. Waldo Richards, in Graftonwood Garden, Manchester, Wednesday, August first, at eleven o'clock, in aid of the Nursing Fund of the Ris-Orangis Hospital in France. The Ris-Orangis Hospital, situated directly behind the firing line on the French front, is known as the "Hospital under Three Flags"—French, British and American. If our American soldiers are sent to this part of the front, they will, when wounded, undoubtedly be cared for at this hospital. Dr. Joseph Blake of New York has been at the head of the Surgical staff until recently, when he left to take charge of Dr. Doyen's hospital in Paris, although he still remains as consulting surgeon. The chief of the staff is now Major Keller of the United States Army, who, with two other United States surgeons, have been granted leave of absence by the government on full pay to take charge of this institution. The Ris-Orangis Hospital was founded by Lady Johnstone (formerly Miss Pinchot) and Harold J. Reckitt, the well known Englishman; but owing to the enormous taxation which has been imposed upon the British, these two generous donors have found it impossible to continue the work alone. The French and English governments contribute partially to its support, but it is necessary to raise about $50,000 in this country, in addition to the funds for the nursing staff, if this institution is to be maintained. It is for this Nursing Fund that the proceeds of the Garden reading are to be devoted. The patronesses are: Mrs. George E. Barnard, Mrs. Albert J. Beveridge, Mrs. Alexander Cochrane, Mrs. Costello C. Converse, Mrs. William H. Coolidge, Mrs. Richard T. Crane, Jr., Mrs. Alanson L. Daniels, Mrs. John Hays Hammond, Mrs. J. Warren Merrill, Mrs. Henry Stephens, Mrs. Washington B. Thomas and Mrs. E. Laurence White.

In case of rain the reading will be given indoors. Tickets may be obtained from Mrs. James Henry Lancashire, Graftonwood, Manchester; Mrs. E. Laurence White, Beverly Farms; or at Grande Maison de Blanc, Magnolia; Wenham Tea House and Page & Shaw's Tea Rooms, Pride's Crossing.

Miss Harris of Chestnut st., Boston, was the successful and generous bidder for fine poster of the fallen soldier, painted by Miss Jones, which was auctioned for the benefit of the French Wounded after the reading of "Alice in Wonderland," at the "Gallery-on-the-Moors" at Eastern Point, Gloucester. The affair netted a large sum.

Age is no excuse for slacking say the inmates of the Home for Aged and Infirm in Cincinnati of which Emil Pollak is president of the board of directors. This statement is exemplified by the fact that not one of those who are knitting is less than 70 and some of them have passed the 80 year mark. Already 22 scarfs have been completed for the Navy League. Aged men are quite as busy as the women and are "snipping" material to stuff pillows. Material for the scarfs already completed was furnished by Mrs. Emil Pollak, and now Mrs. Pollak has sent another supply to be knitted by the old ladies for the Red Cross. This will keep them busy until October when Mrs. Pollak expects to return to Cincinnati. Mr. and Mrs. Pollak and children are guests at the Oceanside hotel, Magnolia, and have been coming to Magnolia for many summers. They have hosts of friends here.

MRS. ROBERT JORDAN opened her home in Beverly Farms yesterday afternoon for a musicale under the management of Miss Virginia Wainwright. It was considered one of the most pleasing and best musicales that Miss Wainwright ever gave upon the Shore. Her artists were Alessandro Alberini, baritone, formerly of the Boston Opera company, and Miss Hazel F. Clark, violinist. The accompanist was Miss Frieda Gerhard. Miss Clark is a charming young violinist and was becomingly dressed in white voile over pink satin with pink trimmings. Miss Gerhard was in white. Miss Wainwright was attractively gowned in green silk and wore a tan hat with black trimmings. Miss Charlotte Read of Manchester took up tickets. The guests were seated in the music room and veranda overlooking the rock garden which is a pretty feature of the place.

The patronesses are from all along the Shore, these concerts of Miss Wainwright's always being considered among the season's treats. Among those present were Mrs. S. Parkman Blake, Mrs. George Lee, Miss Sarah L. Guild, Mrs. Godfrey Cabot, Mrs. Amory Eliot, Mrs. Wolcott H. Johnson, Mrs. Daniel K. Snow, Mrs. Lyon Weyburn and many others. The next musicale will be at Miss Margaret L. Corlies', Magnolia, Aug. 16, at four o'clock. A treat of Egyptian and Old English songs in costume will be given. Ten percent of the proceeds Miss Wainwright is giving to Mrs. Week's American Soldiers' Home Service in Paris. After the last musicale Miss Wainwright will go to Saratoga Springs, N. Y., and also New Bedford for the rest of the season.

Mrs. C. Howard Clark, Jr., for many years in the Boardman Hill Mansion, West Manchester, is at her beautiful country estate at Devon, Pa. Her daughter, Mrs. John P. Hollingsworth, and daughter-in-law, Mrs. Clarence H. Clark, 3d (Eleanor Townsend), with Eleanor, 3d, the little granddaughter, are with her. Mrs. Clark has just returned from visiting her son at Fort Niagara, 2d Lieut. of Artillery, and her son-in-law, 1st Lieut. of Cavalry, where they are waiting orders.

Evans Spaulding, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis R. Spaulding of West Manchester, was one of the North Shore young men to sail for France this week. He is a member of the U. S. Marine corps and has joined the aviation squad.

The Joseph Leiter house at Beverly Farms is open as reported last week, but the Leiters will probably not be here is season. It is now occupied by Mrs. W. F. McCombs, Mrs. Leiter's sister, who occupied "The Meadows," the Gerard Bement house at Beverly Farms, last season.

Mrs. Henry W. Peabody of "Ledgewood," Montserrat, is entertaining a house-party of ten Chinese girl students from West Newton, who will soon be departing to college to take classical and medical courses in various parts of the country. She gave a pretty tea for twenty of her neighbors to meet the girls. Miss Constance Peabody and Mrs. Henry Taylor of New York assisted the hostess. Today the girls are being entertained at luncheon and tea at Mrs. Wm. N. Hartshorn's at her Clifton Heights home. On Saturday Mrs. Chas. Price of Montserrat will give a luncheon for them. Mrs. Peabody's tea was given in the tea room off the veranda overlooking the beautiful garden, now a riot of bloom. A big flag hangs from the veranda over the roses. Mrs. Peabody, who is a member of the committee on immigration of the World's Alliance for International Friendship, is always doing thoughtful and kind things for students of all nationalities and has entertained Chinese girls often.

THE PERCY GRAINGER concert at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Ames at Pride's Crossing last Saturday afternoon was a great success. Mr. Grainger gave his services and the entire proceeds will be given to the Essex County Chapter of the Red Cross. Among the guests were Mrs. F. L. Higginson, Jr., Mrs. Neal Rantoul, Mrs. Frederick Hall, Mrs. N. S. Simpkins, Mrs. R. T. Crane, Jr., Mrs. John L. Gardner, Mrs. H. Coolidge, Mrs. Fulton Cutting, Mrs. J. L. Thorndike and Mrs. Barrett Wendell, Jr.

Mrs. Ames' house was excellent for the hearing of the music by the many guests. A good sum of money was added by the sale of photographs from Sargent's drawing of Percy Grainger. Mr. Grainger played in his khaki uniform and his charming personality and music combined made the occasion a rare one for the Shore.

The third and last concert will be Saturday, Aug. 11, at 4 p. m., at Mrs. W. B. Thomas', Pride's Crossing, with the splendid young Russian pianist, Hans Ebell and Miss Mary Fay, the amateur who has become such an admired singer. Ticket sellers as before are: Mrs. F. L. WENHAM has again been chosen for the quaint little shop of the Folk Handicrafts of Denison House, Boston. In Central square in the former home of the "Tabby Cat and the Teakettle" is located the little shop. There are exhibited embroideries and laces made from old designs and in racial stitches by 250 women from Italy, Syria, Greece and Armenia. Paid workers plan and supervise the work at the settlement house. It is done in the homes of the women and paid for on delivery. It is then sterilized on the spot in the basement before offered for sale. It is sold in gift shops, not only on the North Shore, but on the Cape, in the Berkshires, and in Chicago and Detroit and even in far Seattle. The Wenham shop needs only to be more widely known to be a great success. It carries a line of artistic cement work and its new and most attractive feature is work done by Russian women in Lynn, under the supervision of Mrs. Herbert Newhall and Mrs. Goss. They also use old designs and maintain a high standard. Fascinating smocks and beach capes, serviceable and lovely in color are being turned out.

It is urged that this is a part of our business life which should go on. It helps materially to maintain the family life of many who will go to the front and of those for whom the high cost of living already proves an almost impossible burden.

The settlement house in Boston is at 93 Tyler street.

Folk Handicrafts have a three-fold purpose: social, artistic and business. The first is a basis for intercourse or friendship with our new American neighbors. The second is to develop the racial instincts and talents latent in our American life. The last is to give opportunity for the increase of scanty earnings by creating a market for objects of real value to the public.

THERE has been some decided misunderstanding concerning the work of the Economy League which the members of the executive committee are most anxious to correct. "Our purpose is to conserve waste and aid in the great Cause which is filling the hearts of all our countrymen," said Miss Elizabeth Gunn of Beverly Farms, a member of the executive committee. "In making our plea to those who have so generously cooperated in giving us their discarded waste paper, newspapers, rags, bottles and old rubber, we are extremely grateful, and though sacrifices are made on all sides we would not wish to ask help from those who sincerely feel it is not consistent with their means.

"Also the Economy League in its work will not interfere with the legitimate junk trade. As our organization grows we will see that the material is sold to the different junk men in the separate districts.

"If there are any who misunderstand or are not in sympathy with the work, the League would greatly appreciate a direct communication."

Guests for several days during the first part of the week at Att-Lea House were Fisher Corlies Morgan and his bride, of Philadelphia. Mr. Morgan is a nephew of Mrs. Corlies. Mrs. Morgan was formerly Mrs. C. Ross Smith and they were married at 2216 St. James Place, Philadelphia, on June 4th.

VERY popular has become the corridor garden at the North Shore Grill where of afternoons during tea hour, 4.30 to 5.30, tea is served at the pretty tables in the shade of the green arbor, and from the grill can be heard the scintillating music of the grill orchestra. It is ideal—this pretty custom of taking one's tea out of doors—and everybody seems to like this fashion, so well established has it become. Wednesday, August first, will mark the opening of the tea garden which is so attractive because of its tea tables, Japanese lanterns and luxuriant trees, shrubs and flowers all about. Because of the wooden floor the garden has ever been the rendezvous of the dancing contingent. Dancing out of doors is such good fun, and with the music floating over the veranda to the ears of the dancers it appeals wondrously.

Wednesday evening was a very popular one in the Grill. Many supper parties were given, many motoring from different points on the North Shore to enjoy the evening. Noted among the supper parties was one given by several people from the New Ocean House at Swampscott, which included Mr. and Mrs. Richard Mitton, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford D. Sawyer, Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Johnson, and Mr. Fairbanks. A feature of the evening was the rendering of several old-time songs by Miss Christine Miller, contralto prima donna.

THE BEVERLY FARMS church fair took place Wednesday from 11 to 6. The proceeds will be as usual for the benefit of the parish house. This is about the only function on the Shore this season being given for its regular purpose, all other affairs having been given over for war relief. But after much debate it was decided to give the fair for the original cause. The rectory grounds presented a very pretty scene with their attractive tables arranged around the edges of the lawn with the gardens adding a pretty feature for a background.

The tea table with its pretty fixtures was in charge of Miss Alice Thorndike, assisted by the Misses Katherine Crosby, Frances Bradley, Helen Frick, Ethel Cummings, and Mrs. Marshal Fabyan.

Cold drinks were dispensed by Mrs. John Caswell, assisted by the Misses Jane Bolam, Ella Snelling, Elizabeth Caswell, Dorothy Caswell, Jessie Means, Barbara Wells and Dorothy Wells.

Mother Hubbard's Cupboard was featured in the grab. Mrs. Walter Hunnewell, Jr., was in charge, assisted by Mrs. Roger Cutler, Miss Dorothy Paine and Miss Eleanor Whitney.

Ice cream cones and plates were sold by Mrs. Henry A. Murray, assisted by Miss Mabel Rantoul, Miss Harriet Rantoul and Miss Mary Curtis.

The Army and Navy table was in charge of Mrs. Richard Russell, Mrs. Phillip Stockton and Miss Alice Thorndike. Some interesting home work was shown here in the way of socks, sweaters, gowns and many varieties of comfort bags.

The candy table was in great demand and fudge made by the chairman, Mrs. H. L. Mason, had given out before the fair was hardly started. Mrs. Mason was assisted by Mrs. Robert Means, Mrs. L. Weyburn, Mrs. F. I. Preston and Mrs. Maurice Osborne.

The farm products, flowers, fruits and vegetables, were looked after by Mrs. W. B. Publicover, Mrs. Chas. M. Cabot, Mrs. Maurice Osborne, Mrs. Warner, Mrs. Chas. J. Allen and Mrs. Edward Estes. Many handsome vegetables and baskets of fruit were contributed from the fine gardens of Mrs. S. V. R. Crosby, Mrs. Wm. H. Moore, Mrs. A. P. Loring, Mrs. Sydney E. Hutchinson, Mrs. George A. Goddard and others. The handsome flowers came from the garden of some of the above also. Mrs. F. Meredyth Whitehouse sent attractive little baskets of plums and tomatoes. A great box of vegetables from Mrs. E. S. Grew of West Manchester was sold as a whole almost as soon as delivered on the grounds. It showed a marvel of skill in arranging ordinary vegetables of a superior quality so that it looked like a huge "bouquet" of foods.

Cakes were sold by Mrs. John Bolam, Mrs. W. J. Dodds and Mrs. Calvin Williams.

Useful articles made by the Ladies' Auxiliary were sold by Mmes. Thos. R. Jack, Nellie Borden, G. B. Northrup and Robert Smith.

The children's table was looked after by Mmes. E. F. Campbell, Carswell, Jos. H. Rogers and Eliz. Stoops.

The fancy table goods were sold by Mmes. Ernest Townsend, J. M. Younger, B. F. Osborne and R. P. Williams.

The table of articles for girls was in charge of the Misses Helen Hodgkins and Helen Campbell. They had an attractive little table under a huge umbrella.

The rummage table of wonderful and thrilling objects was in the hands of Miss Katharine Tweed.

THE HAMILTON-WENHAM Red Cross Branch—recently organized—is already beginning to send in good accounts of work done in its workrooms in the respective Town hall of Hamilton and Wenham. The workrooms are under the charge of Mrs. C. R. P. Rogers of Hamilton. They have turned out in their first fortnight 37 finished cotton night-shirts; and 200 yards of cotton have already been cut. In the near future they are looking forward to making kits to send out with our soldier boys from this district.

The Knitting committee in charge of Mrs. Charles T. Parker, has turned in sixteen sweaters, which have already been sent out as a much prized part of our Hamilton and Wenham boys' outfit. Twenty pounds of this wool was donated to Hamilton by Mrs. Meyer, and twenty pounds was donated to Hamilton-Wenham by Mrs. Parker.

Anyone wishing to knit for the Red Cross in this district may have their wool free of cost, by applying to Mrs. Parker at the Red Cross workrooms, either in Hamilton or Wenham. People are urged to attend to Red Cross meetings as regularly as possible. If each member would bring a friend or a maid, who could sew, it would be greatly appreciated.

NAHANT is actively engaged in Franch Wounded and Surgical Dressings work. The French Wounded work is in the old Town hall where from 45 to 50 workers are on hand on Monday, Wednesday and Friday each week. The work is under Mrs. Thomas Bradley and is progressing perfectly. Nahant people seem very serious on this side of the war and are doing their very best in time, money and labor.

On Thursday evenings at the Club a branch of the Surgical Dressings has been started at which both men and women work. Nahant men are doing excellent work and seem glad of an opportunity to help. This branch is under Mrs. Louis Bacon, Mrs. Charles T. Lovering, Jr., Mrs. Wm. E. Ladd and Mrs. Homer B. Richardson. About 30 hard workers attend these Club meets. This Friday at the Club a talk on Y. W. C. A. work is being given. J. G. Grant is chairman and the Mrs. Harold Peabody and Mr. Roberts will speak. Red Cross work is carried on Wednesday afternoons in the Town hall.

A HIGH CLASS RESORT FOR LADIES AND GENTLEMEN TO DINE AND DANCE

JAZZ BAND EVERY NIGHT

SUCH a pretty party was the Children's Afternoon fête given to the kiddies at the Oceanside Hotel, Magnolia, on Thursday afternoon in the ballroom. All the children had a good time, enjoying the games and then dancing. Miss Evangeline Beane, exponent of the dance at the hotel, was the hostess.

Crimson rambler were profusely used for the decorations about the ballroom, the fireplace being banked high with ferns and palms in lacey greenery. Small tables set about the room in outline fashion, each with a bowl of the crimson rambler roses, added a brilliancy of coloring, so effective. All the children were adorable, the girls in their prettiest frocks and the boys, smartly dressed, too. Several of the young ladies assisted Miss Beane in entertaining the children. "Blind Man's Buff," "Chairs," "London Bridges" all were played with a vim, begetting much mirth and laughter. Alternating the games the hotel orchestra played dance music and the children danced. The young ladies who assisted Miss Beane, all smartly frocked in summer afternoon attire, were Misses Ethel Morse, Janet Bryan, Isabella Wadsworth, Eleanor Wheeler and Carolyn Guild. After the children had played to their hearts' content and danced as well, ices and cake were served them at the pretty tables. The children who enjoyed the party were Suzanne Anderson, Helen Hussey, Margaret Brainard, Phyllis Hull, James and John Raleigh, Helen and Priscilla Rhodes, Joan Cleaver, John Wheeler, Ethel and Mary Caroline Hood, Duncan Edwards, Octavia and Ewing Buisse, Hilda and Evadna Hibben, Henry Livingston Rowe and Eleanor Rowe, Helen, Elizabeth and Barbara Richardson.

During the afternoon pretty red, white and blue balloons were given the children which afforded much amusement and added a picturesque note to the charming atmosphere. Many of the guests enjoyed the pretty sight and looked in on the party. This is the first of several which will be given during the season.

Armand Vecsey of New York has been a visitor to the North Shore Grill, Magnolia, having spent last week-end at this charming villa among the trees. Mr. Vecsey, a Hungarian violinist and composer, is well known among the music lovers of New York and is in charge of the music at the Ritz-Carlton in New York, the city famous hostelry. On Sunday evening Mr. Vecsey was host at a supper in the Grill, having for his guests, Miss Ruth M. Welch, Mrs. Maurice Joseph and Miss Christine Miller. Mr. Vecsey is expected at the Grill this coming week-end and it is hoped that he can be induced to play for his friends while here.

WITH admirable regularity the ladies of the Magnolia colony meet every Monday, Wednesday and Friday morning in the Oceanside Annex to work for the Magnolia Branch of the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital Surgical Dressings committee, and at the close of each meeting a vast amount of the dressings is completed for the use of the hospital corps in France. Every precaution is taken to lessen the dangers of germ carriers during the process of the work. Tables are covered with sterilized cotton and the ladies use all care in the winding of the gauzes and the making of the bandages. Of course the articles are properly sterilized when they are sent to the hospital at Boston, after being packed here and expressed to the hospital. Miss E. H. Jones, the worthy chairman of the branch, is ever alert to do all possible to make it a self-supporting unit. Mrs. Samuel S. Stevens, the treasurer, is always at the meetings and is working untiringly. Mrs. E. M. Jones is the secretary and ever lends her presence and efforts to the noble work. The mornings are divided among three ladies who are in charge as follows: Mrs. George L. Hamilton, Monday morning meetings; Mrs. S. S. Stevens, Wednesday mornings, and Mrs. E. M. Jones on Friday mornings. All ladies who are desirous of assisting in this mighty work of assuaging pain and alleviating the suffering of the Allied wounded are earnestly requested to come and help. As to finances! The work must go on, and it is necessary that contributions be made, which so far have been most generous, indeed. Offerings may be sent to Mrs. S. S. Stevens at "Blynman Farm," Magnolia. Among the most persistent and energetic workers are Mrs. Geo. E. Carter, Mrs. E. H. Binney, Mrs. Lee McMillan, Mrs. George Stevens, Mrs. E. R. Catherwood, Mrs. Alice Moore Richard, Miss Helen L. Coates, Mrs. J. D. Cox, Mrs. C. C. Converse, Mrs. J. L. B. Buck, Mrs. Edith M.

Binney, Mrs. F. R. Culbert, Miss Williams, Miss Faulkner, Mrs. E. B. Richardson, Mrs. Pierpont E. Dutcher, and the Misses Abbie and Helen Covel.

The workrooms are very light and airy and offer a comfortable place to work. Although the work is progressing nicely, yet much more must of needs be done, so ladies of the Magnolia colony, a call for assistance is here made.

Je l'ai Fait pour Lui

(I Have Done it For Him)

(Reprinted from Faith and Works, March 1917)

By GRACE WHITNEY HOFF

A GROUP OF SOLDIERS were pressing closely around a roughly improvised buffet where a woman was dispensing drinks. A passing stranger asks of an old railroad porter,

"What society is doing this work?"

"Oh, Monsieur," he replies, "she does so much good this brave woman, she is here every morning, and in the afternoon she begs for money in the town."

The stranger approaches nearer and sees a frail little woman dressed in a working woman's costume, a blue apron, a black shoulder shawl, no hat, two large cans, one holding steaming coffee and the other chocolate; and a little girl, not more than thirteen years old, standing near to a basket of bread. There is no sound of passing coins, for the food is given free of charge; a pledge of sympathy is slipped into the woman's hand, and the stranger continues his journey.

A few months later the same scene attracts the same traveler, he approaches the crowd of soldiers; the same little woman is there, but the face is sad and tears fall over the black shawl as she sobs, "Oh, Monsieur, I have lost my son, they have killed him, and it is for him I am coming here every morning, and now I have no child."

Behind the tears bursts a smile for the soldiers as she calls, "Come, come, little soldiers, chocolate, coffee? No, nobody pays here."

The months pass, and two years later the soldier's mother is still at her post, not the mother of one soldier, but the mother of all the troops who know her sympathy, her devotion and love, and these her words, spoken with a trembling voice, link the past with the present.

"It is in memory of my son that I am still here, I am happy only with my soldiers."

Her "oeuvre," as the soldiers now call it, has increased its possibilities, for now a board rests on two chairs, the cans are of larger size and a wheelbarrow is the luxury of this buffet holding the bread, the provisions of chocolate, coffee and sugar. A basket, with its supply of old unassorted cups and bowls, is in charge of a soldier, a member of the station "post."

The trains continue to roll into the station, and above the sounds of the whistling of the engine, the shouting of the railroad employees, the voices of the soldiers, the weeping of women and the groans of the wounded, the voice of France's heroine calls to the young recruits, permissionaires, the poilus, the brailleurs from Africa or the British troops from India, "Chocolate? Coffee? Come forward my little soldier, and you, what do you wish? Here take some bread, my lad. No, nobody pays here. Prenez! Prenez!"

And turning to the stranger, who again stands near to her, she says, "Help yourself! Help yourself! See how happy they are, they are like big children; it is for my son, who is no more, that I am doing this. I am happy only here. Step forward boys!"

How many women are standing in the calm strength of doing their duty during these hours of grave peril, not dependent on praise of the world, but inspired by the memory of the ones they loved, who went forth to live or to die as do those they now serve. It is for him, it is for the loved ones of others, that the kind heart spends all the affections of a tried, purified and transfigured soul, for it is war which is overthrowing selfishness and resurrecting humanity in the likeness of the Creator.

"I have done it for Him" should be the incentive of every Christian woman, so that through the mother-heart, the world may know God's power, purity and love. Paris.

*Life should be full of earnest work,
Our hearts unlashd by fortunes frown;
Let perseverance conquer fate
And merit seize the victor's crown.
The battle is not to the strong,
The race not always to the fleet,
And he who seeks to pluck the stars
Will lose the jewels at his feet.*

EAST GLOUCESTER.—An exhibition of paintings and sculpture at the Gallery-on-the-Moors, on the Atwood estate, Ledge road, East Gloucester, is being held from July 26 till August 18 inclusive. A private view of the pictures and sculpture was afforded the artists and friends, cards being issued by Mr. and Mrs. Atwood for Wednesday afternoon, at 4.30 o'clock. There was a large attendance. The collection is a very interesting one with varied subjects in oil, local scenes, views in St. Ives and portraits. Daniel O. Brewster of Boston is the director of the exhibition. The artists exhibiting include: Guy C. Wiggins, Louise Upton Brumback, Theresa F. Bernstein, Walter L. Palmer, John Sloan, Henry B. Snell, Martha Walter, all of New York City; George L. Noyes, Carl J. Nordell, Louis Kronberg, Eben Comins, Charles Hopkinson, William E. Atwood, all of Boston. The works of sculpture notable in this exhibition include the following: A. H. Atkins, Anna Vaughn Hyatt, Anna Coleman Ladd and Louise Allen. The public is invited any day, from 10 till 5 o'clock, excepting on Wednesday afternoon, August 1, when a musical will be held.

A prominent guest at Merrill Hall, is Mrs. W. Sanford Evans of Ottawa, Can., who is a noted pianist. She is a most gifted woman and she is generous in her playing at the hotel. Her brilliant and clear technique proves her an artist of rare attainments. Mrs. Evans has two charming daughters, the Misses Evans, who are both fine musicians, one being a pianist and the other a violinist.

Last Sunday evening, Merrill Hall guests were entertained by E. Lincoln Hatch of Newtonville, who has an extraordinary baritone voice. Mr. Hatch sang several songs, which were very much appreciated.

Among the late guests registered at Hotel Rockaway for an extended stay are: Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Guck-enberger of Boston; Mrs. Corinne Molino and young son, of Roslindale; Mrs. S. F. G. Wilder of Jamacia Plain; Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Cleeland, Springfield; Mrs. Nesbrey Ladd, Mrs. Mary Spear, Philadelphia; Mrs. I. H. Hollaway, Miss Dorothy Hollaway, Mrs. K. C. Mrs. Caleb Wood and daughter, Miss Naoini Wood of Philadelphia, have taken the Green studio cottage, on the Harbor View hotel grounds, where they are located for the season. They will not open their summer home on Eastern Point road, near Rocky Neck avenue, this season.

The Flannerys of New York have taken the Russel cottage, formerly occupied by the Pollards, at Eastern Point, for the season.

Miss Cecilia Beaux, the portrait painter of prominence, is occupying her charming studio on Green Alley, Eastern Point, near the second gate lodge. Miss Beaux is later than usual in coming from New York to her summer and permanent home in East Gloucester.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Coursen of Marietta, Ga., have opened their estate at Grape Vine Cove, near the Golf links and Brace's Cove.

Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Andrew of LaPorte, Ind., are located in Red Roof cottage, Eastern Point, for the season.

The patriotic and humorous recital held at the Hawthorne Inn casino on last Monday evening, by Wilford Russel, the baritone farceur of London Eng., was largely attended by cottage people and guests of the various hotels. Mr. Russel's patrons were among the leading cottagers of the colony, many of whom have served for him at ultra functions in Washington, New York, Albany, Portland, Me., Cleveland and cities in the South. Mr. Russel diverted from the usual character of his repertoire, by presenting a number of very clever and interesting readings. Generally, the artist has sung most extensively. Four very fine patriotic selections were "Righteous War," "The Twin Majesties—Imperial and Satanic," "Women of Paris" and "Brave at Home." Mr. Russel was assisted by Mrs. Russel at the piano and several members of Company G, 8th Regiment, Massachusetts National Guard, who took part in a song tableaux, "The Grand Old Flag." A collection was taken for the benefit of the Gloucester boys going soon to the front and a portion of the door receipts were handed over to Mrs. George W. Woodbury for the committee of the Gloucester Red Cross. Mr. Russel's program of amusing character stories, such as "Gardening," "The Chorus Girl," "A Telephone Tangle" and "Old Dr. Loveall," besides two songs, was thoroughly appreciated. The casino was appropriately decorated with flags.

Beachcroft guests include: Percy H. Goodwin, Jr., Baltimore, Md.; Mr. and Mrs. Paul J. Saeles, Cambridge; Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Redman and maid, Dorothy Redman, Sally Redman, Cambridge; Misses Gertrude and Ruth Richards, New York; Mrs. B. Chappell, Miss Harriet Chappell, New London, Conn.; Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Dixon, Toronto, Can.; Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Ives, Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Anschutz, Meriden, Conn.; Mr. and Mrs. A. Bennison, Boston; Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Bennison, Woburn; Dr. and Mrs. Francis Ford, Boston; Mrs. Alice E. Johnston, Washington, D. C. The Beachcroft at Eastern Point, under the management of Miss Day, is having a good season.

Miss Marie Shedlock of London, England, assisted by Miss Edith Bullard, soprano, of Boston, gave a very pleasing program at the Gallery-in-the-Moors, Eastern Point, last Saturday afternoon. Miss Shedlock's principal number was "Alice in Wonderland." The proceeds of the affair of Saturday were for the benefit of the French wounded. Miss Bill of the Hawthorne Inn was chairman of the committee.

MMOTORING is a universal pleasure which dissolves distances into nothingness when a matter of miles is considered. Every day it seems that a greater number of automobiles are seen upon the North Shore roads. Motor-ing is one of the most popular pastimes enjoyed by the guests at the Oceanside, nearly every one of them bringing their motor cars with them when they come to Magnolia for their summer days. In many instances, many who leave their cars in town wire for them when they are here but a few days, soon realizing that to thoroughly enjoy the vast beauties of the drives in a radius of fifty miles of the hotel, a motor car is most essential. Such was the way with Mrs. E. H. Bentley of St. Louis, a charming woman, who with her two boys, John and James Raleigh are season guests. Mrs. Bentley's hobby is motoring; so soon after her arrival wires were busy between here and St. Louis arranging for the bringing of her Packard car to Magnolia by her chauffeur. No sooner said than done! Now Mrs. Bentley is speeding over the roads of the North Shore, and enjoyed them in a great measure.

Miss Kate M. Voorhees of Cincinnati has joined her sister, Mrs. David J. Davis and Mrs. Davis, who are at the Oceanside for a lengthy stay. Miss Voorhees will remain until September. This is not Miss Voorhees' first visit here, she having been a guest of Mrs. J. M. Mitchell of Buffalo, who summered here last season.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Reuss of London, England, who are visitors in Boston, were week-end guests at the Oceanside, where they renewed friendships with the Misses Adsit of Chicago, who yearly summer here.

Baltimore arrivals at the Oceanside are Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Hood, Jr., and their three children and nurses. They will remain for the balance of the summer.

THE children are, every one, glad that Willis B. Allen has returned to the Oceanside hotel after a several weeks' absence. So fond are the children of Mr. Allen that every day the question was asked, "When is Mr. Allen coming back?" As has been his custom for a number of years, Mr. Allen has been making a visit in the White Mountains and was registered at the Crawford House in Crawford Notch during his visit. Here he enjoyed the hospitality of the hotel and cemented friendships among many who have been visitors at the hostelry as long as he. Fishing took up much of his leisure, and several fine trout were the result of his devotion to angling. The boys and girls at the Oceanside are anticipating some more good stories since Mr. Allen has returned. With an unlimited store of fairy tales and the like, the children are always eager to listen when Mr. Allen proposes a story.

The interior is very cozy and attractive, the small tables being covered with snowy white linen, with a small bouquet in the center. An impressive flag raising was held at the Hotel Thorwald Saturday morning, when a fine American flag was unfurled to the breeze for the first time, from the new staff, directly in front of the entrance to the hostelry. The large number of house guests and the corps of help including over 80 men and women assembled on the lawn and veranda and sang heartily "The Star Spangled Banner," as Master Frank Roberts, the little son of Manager and Mrs. Roberts of the hotel, pulled the string that let the banner free, cornet music taking the lead.

Taking all these pastimes into consideration the ladies of the Eastern Point colony are ever mindful of preparation for the Red Cross work and other patriotic duties. ANNISQUAM.—The yacht races of the Annisquam Yacht club are especially interesting this season, the Bird Class of boats being a lively addition to the fleet. As the regular races of the Gloucester Yacht club are not being held this season as in the past, more attention is directed to the Annisquam waters for the enthusiasts of the sport. During last Saturday afternoon's race, there was an accident, in which William M. Jelly of Salem, a well known Annisquam cottager nearly lost his life. There was a rough, hard sea, when the bird class started off in the stiff southwest breeze and off the lighthouse, all the boats had trouble. The Archeopetry, Prof. Norton's boat, containing Prof. Norton and his son, Ted Norton, and Mr. Jelly, was capsized, throwing the crew in the rough sea. Prof. Norton and his son succeeded in clinging to the bottom of the upturned craft, but Mr. Jelly, who is a heavy man and was in oil skins, was less fortunate and he had a difficult time of it, and probably would have drowned had not Harry L. Friend in the Squab and the crew of the Cygnet ran down to the rescue. Prof. Norton and his son tried hard to rescue Mr. Jelly. The later received no serious effects from his exciting experience and he is around as usual in the colony.

The regular Saturday afternoon tea was well attended last week. Mrs. George Adams Wood and Mrs. George Andrew poured. The dance in the evening was a pleasant affair, the Imperial orchestra furnishing the music. The matrons were Mrs. William Haxworth and Mrs. William H. Pear.

The Hardwick cottage on River road, Annisquam has been taken by the John F. Betts, of St. Louis, Mo.

SATURDAY evening marked the second formal ball given at the New Ocean House, Swampscott, thus far this season, proving a brilliant and notable event. A military air pervaded the hotel brought about by the many men in uniforms of the army and navy, who were guests for the dinner preceding the festivities in the ballroom, and dancing later with ladies.

Balmy weather made possible the gathering of many merry groups on the veranda surrounding the ballroom between dances, where pleasantries and laughter floated to the ears of the lookers on.

The ballroom was never more gay, amid brightness of myriads of electric lights and richly gowned women, with the intermingling here and there of the dress uniforms of the navy and army men, forming a ceaseless picture of changing coloring as the many dancers glided over the floor to the sparkling and rhythmic strains of the hotel orchestra.

Many beautiful gowns were worn by the ladies, some very gorgeous in coloring, others more subdued in their hue, but all pleasing to the eye and very beautiful. One especially lovely gown was worn by Mrs. Edward Holt, and was of pink satin embroidered in gold over a gold lace petticoat, garlands of roses appearing on the bodice. Mrs. M. M. Johnson wore an exquisite gown of black net spangled, over black silk. White chiffon satin embroidered in gold thread with touches of blue tulle fashioned Mrs. Richard Mitton's gown. Mrs. C. D. Sawyer wore an elaborate gown of white lace and chiffon, veiling white silk, with sequins in touches on the bodice.

Miss Helen C. Dole was robed in cloth of gold, a Lucile model. Lovely Miss Barbara Beebe wore a frock of wisteria chiffon velvet with paillettes of same hued sequins. The Livermore girls were bewitching in frocks of the latest mode, Miss Bessie wearing silver cloth banded with white satin, veiled with touches of maillart blue tulle; Muriel being frocked in layers of cerise tulle over white satin. A very pretty gown of pink georgette tucked, with insets of embroidery in delft blue, was worn by Mrs. Fred Corbett. Mrs. E. R. Grabow was charming in a gown of sky blue satin with insets of gold cloth and embroidery. Pretty Jean Grabow was smartly frocked in white embroidered net over silk. Mary Grabow appeared dainty in pale blue chiffon and picturesque blue hair bow. Mrs. Lamont G. Burnham wore a rich black lace robe over black silk and necklace of diamonds. Mrs. E. E. Bennett, embroidered white silk faille. A pretty frock was worn by Mrs. B. L. Hollander of New York, which was of orchid chiffon of violet and pink tones with foundation of rose pink silk. Mrs. H. F. Livermore was gowned in gray charmeuse with paillettes of silver.

Mrs. A. W. Preston was noted in a gown of ivory lace over white silk, heavy panels of opalescent on bodice and skirt. Her ornaments were pearls. Mrs. E. B. Marco, royal blue satin and diamonds. Miss Jean Randall's frock was of black net over gold cloth, a broad gold sash defining the waist line. Mrs. E. A. Shuman wore a beautiful gown of white lace and chiffon over a silk foundation, with pale blue tulle and satin adding their note of color. Her jewels were pearls. An exquisite gown of white lace over silk, with rhinestone trimmings, was worn by Mrs. J. P. Walworth. Mrs. R. K. Townsend, a gown of black silk and net with diamonds. A frock of the zouave model in silver cloth with iridescent paillettes was worn by Mrs. B. C. Heather.

Mrs. G. D. Paraschoe was very attractive in black net over silver cloth, with touches of crystal paillettes. She was robed in garnet velvet with trimmings of jet. Miss Cushing wore white net and silver with iridescent touches. Mrs. J. Adams was gowned in duchess lace over white silk, and wore a long string of pearls. Mrs. H. D. Kingsbury was very lovely in a gown of crushed rose net and satin with gold thread embroidery.

New Ocean House, Swampscott

EACH Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday mornings at the New Ocean House are very busy ones for the ladies of the hotel who engage themselves in the stirring cause of humanity and work for the American Red Cross. About 35 ladies are regular members of this unit, many others coming to assist when possible. The branch is self supporting, contributions having been given by its members in a most liberal manner. Mrs. Clifford D. Sawyer of Boston is organizer of the Branch and is the chairman, Mrs. E. R. Grabow and Mrs. Jealous, vice chairmen, Mrs. M. M. Johnson, treasurer and Miss Helen Thomas, secretary. A worthy and especial feature of one of the recent mornings of the Branch was the interesting talk given by Rev. J. H. Morron of Peoria, Ill., a guest at the hotel, who encouraged the ladies in their noble work and praised their loyalty and courageous effort.

Of the many pretty dinners given on Saturday evening in the beautiful dining room at the New Ocean House none was more charming than that presided over by Mrs. Homer A. Evans of Baltimore in honor of her daughter Miss Dorothy and several of her men friends from training camp at Harvard. The table was centered with a vase of American beauties. After the dinner dancing was enjoyed by the group.

Interesting arrivals at the New Ocean House are Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Marco, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Heather and Miss Marjorie Heather of Larchmont, N. Y. The group will remain for a lengthy stay. This is their first visit to Swampscott and they are much enamored of it.

Oriel Davis of New York, brother of Meyer Davis, who is the organizer of Meyer Davis Music organization, was a visitor at the New Ocean House on Saturday. Mr. Davis, a renowned pianist, was heard at a concert at Beverly on Saturday. Meyer Davis, whose organization is represented in part at this hotel, as a famous violinist.

An addition to the Providence contingent at the New Ocean House is Mrs. F. T. Doughaday, who will remain until the late summer.

Other season guests who have arrived during the past week are Mrs. Alice T. Pillsbury and Miss F. J. Rightmire of Pasadena.

In a tour of New England in their motor car, Dr. George Clymer Stout of Philadelphia and his daughters, the Misses Mary, Rebecca and Margaret Stout have been short stay guests at the New Ocean House. Upon leaving here they planned to visit Newcastle and Bar Harbor. "Miravista" the Stout summer home at Jamestown, R. I., is one of the show places at that watering place.

For an indefinite length Mr. and Mrs. F. Van Dusen White and Miss Marjorie Nicoll of New York will be guests at the New Ocean House, where they have become very popular with the hotel clientele.

Week-end visitors at the New Ocean House were E. H. Cluett and William G. Cluett of Troy, N. Y. Enjoying a motoring trip through picturesque New England these gentlemen of Cluett collar fame, and pioneers in this business in Troy, are very enthusiastic of the attractions which have offered themselves thus far in their tour.

In a beautiful setting of old rose and gray a very sumptuous dinner was enjoyed Saturday evening in the Tango Room at the New Ocean House. It was given by Mrs. E. O. Plummer, Mr. and Mrs. Zenas Sears and Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Brown to thirty of their friends. The table was artistically arranged with a centre vase of American beauties; corsages of red roses for the ladies and boutinieres of white roses for the men were at each place. A twining of greenery added a note of decorative beauty. An orchestra of several pieces entertained during the dinner. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Kingbury, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Holt, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Jealous, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Cross, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Carter, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Forbes, Mr. and Mrs. W. Nickerson, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Gale, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. A. Dill, G. W. Brown, Miss Todd, George Todd, T. C. Hollander and Louis Benton, the last two of Wenham. In a gown of flesh colored tulle over sunset pink with silver Mrs. Plummer was very attractive. Mrs. Sears wore an exquisite gown of delicate blue satin with touches of lace and pearls. Ashes of roses, satin embroidered in silver, with silver paillettes was Mrs. Brown's gown, which enhanced her beautiful color and silver hair. After the dinner the party repaired to the ballroom and enjoyed the dancing.

Many pretty parties comprise the brilliant Saturday evening hops at the New Ocean House, Swampscott. On last Saturday evening were noticed among the group of North Shore colonists, Mr. and Mrs. James C. Duane, Mr. and Mrs. James G. Widener of Brookline, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Arthur Shuman of Marblehead Neck, and Miss Jessie Costello of New York, who were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Deihl of New York, registered at the New Ocean House for the season.

The beautiful summer home which has just been completed for the Frank C. Spearins on Phillips avenue is now being occupied by the family. Of very pleasing structure, this house of colonial type is a pleasing addition to the villas on this very pretty avenue.

SWAMPSCOTT will remain in the sunshine of summer and its attractions for several months, yet. The days are full of work for the summer residents; the evenings full of social affairs, which are devoted financially to the Red Cross and the Navy League. A large garden fête will soon be given here for the benefit of the Red Cross, which promises to be very fashionable and gala. Many of the ladies of the summer colony who have during other summers been motoring away for several days at a time, are remaining at work in their homes, as well as in the homes of others doing relief work, which is making Swampscott prominent among her sister summer places. When the summer days are over and the summer residents hie themselves back, upon the slate of history will marked accomplishing of the greatest amount of war relief work that has ever been known here, done during the summer of 1917.

Visitors at "Peace Haven," the summer home of Mrs. Charles H. Bond on Puritan road, Swampscott, are Mrs. Consuelo Van Barentzen and Miss Aline Van Barentzen of Philadelphia. The ladies will remain for several weeks.

The Richard Wards of Tupelo road have been entertaining Edward Aldred of New York, a prominent man in textile affairs of New England. Mr. Aldred is a brother of Mrs. John Walworth of Lawrence, who is summering at the New Ocean House, Swampscott.

PHILLIPS BEACH summer residents are in a great many instances numbered among its winter ones, which is quite believeable from the fact that so charming is this spot, and so alluring its pretty villas, which by the way are so substantially built, that one can stay here through the whole winter and still be perfectly comfortable. Many of the houses are very durable, and because of their daintiness of structure, and coloring—many all white with green shutters—they are none the less cheerful when the storms of winter sweep with a vengeance up its pretty avenues. Every year the list of all-year residents becomes more lengthy and durable.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Hill of Atlantic avenue, Phillips Beach, are entertaining the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Morton Barrows of St. Paul, for a lengthy stay.

House guests at the A. W. Preston summer home on Atlantic avenue are Mrs. Leroy Porter Leas of Philadelphia, and her mother, Mrs. Charlotte Thompson of New Haven. Before her recent marriage, Mrs. Leas was Miss Doris Thompson of New Haven, and is well known in the upper North Shore, having been a summer visitor at the Preston home every season.

Mrs. Calvin S. Tilden of Phillips avenue has gone to Newfield, Maine, for the remainder of the summer. Mrs. Tilden made the trip by motor, arranging her journey in leisurely stages. A stop-over at the Mt. Washington, Bretton Woods, was included in her itinerary.

Joseph Chatman, son of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Chatman of Ocean avenue, is on a cruise with friends, leaving from Marblehead harbor during the past week.

Miss Squire of Humphrey street entertained at a pretty luncheon at her home on Wednesday of last week, a number of her friends enjoying the occasion.

One of the prettiest luncheons of the week was that given by Mrs. A. J. Sweet at the Tedesco club on Thursday. The ladies enjoyed bridge in the afternoon.

For the next month Mr. and Mrs. Louis Atherton will enjoy the attractions of Rangeley Lakes. They made the trip by motor car.

Interesting visitors in the Phillips Beach Colony during the past week have been Paymaster and Mrs. John N. Jordan of Brooklyn with their daughter, Miss Eleanor. They are visiting Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Terhune, who are Mrs. Jordan's parents. Mr. Jordan is a paymaster in the Navy and is now stationed at Brooklyn, and came on especially to deliver a lecture at Harvard. His stay will be short because of urgent military duties. Mrs. Jordan and Eleanor will remain for the remainder of the summer.

For his customary summer visit to Phillips Beach Howard M. Paul of Philadelphia is with his brother-in-law, E. N. Carpenter and Mrs. Carpenter, at their pretty villa on Ocean avenue. About the first of August the Carpenters will go with Mr. Paul to his camp in the Adirondacks.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Forbes of Palmer avenue have returned to their home after a pleasant trip to Lake Placid and Lake Champlain, N. Y. They made the tour and return by motor car.

BEACH BLUFF has many attractions for the visitor who may be an artist of observation, but it also has many allurements for the artist who executes upon the canvas the beauties of the rugged coast at this section of the shore, and the rich blue of the water which reflects in wondrous accuracy of coloring the sky above. Each day can be found wielders of the palette and brush who find a spot shaded from the view of the countless motorists and passersby and lose themselves in their work of duplicating these beauties of nature upon cloth.

Mrs. Alexander McGregor and daughter Miss Claire McGregor of Atlantic avenue have just returned from a visit to New York and the Plattsburg training camp.

On Wednesday evening the weekly dinner dance given at the Tedesco club was enjoyed by the largest gathering of its members and friends during the season. Aglow with electric lights and Japanese lanterns, and fragrant and gay with a profusion of summer blossoms the clubhouse presented a pleasing appearance to the guests as they arrived. The Salem Cadet Band furnished music for the concert which preceded the dinner, during the dinner and for dancing. Among the hosts were C. H. Conway, I. W. Chick, C. M. Boyd, D. Cunningham, Dr. W. R. McAusland, J. P. Squire, J. C. Dempsey, N. W. Willett, E. N. Carpenter, H. P. Breed, W. Evatt, A. W. Pope, Dr. F. H. Lahey, A. J. Sweet, S. S. Stockham, W. H. Felt, C. S. Grover, E. L. Davis, I. Vaughan and F. L. Ripley.

Clifton and Marblehead Improvement association entertained at a dinner given at the Tedesco club on Monday evening, which proved a very good time. Secretary Lansing was an honor guest and addressing the gathering. Other speakers were former mayor J. F. Fitzgerald of Boston, and E. W. Cobb. About forty were present, which included the town officials of Marblehead. Noticed among the number were C. M. Boyd, C. A. Dill, W. L. Terhune, Alexander McGregor, F. L. Gooding, C. W. Green and W. J. Halloway.

MARBLEHEAD will not be without her local boat races this season, as was first supposed, when the war conditions declared everything off. On Saturday, it was announced the first of the week, that local races will take place in the harbor, beginning at the mouth of the harbor, the race course extending around Half Way Rock and return. This was indeed pleasing news to the summer residents, for always do these races make gay the town and the neck. Boats of the R and Q classes have been entered, and several of the yachts of the P class,

An interesting race is expected. Many of the summer people who had planned week-end motor trips have cancelled them and will stay home to witness the competition between these smart little boats with their white sails spread in jaunty fashion.

Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus O. Baker of New York, who are summering at Peach's Point, have with them as their house-guest Miss Jessie Costello of New York. Miss Costello is being much entertained during her stay.

Many of the summer colony of Marblehead and the Neck attended the fête given by Dorcas Society on Wednesday for the benefit of the Red Cross. Those who assisted in making the day a success were Mrs. Eugene Crapley, Mrs. Leonard Humphrey, Mrs. Francis Bradlee, Miss Annie Gregory, Miss Annie Wilson, Miss M. E. Fabens, Mrs. Thomas Gulliver, Mrs. C. M. Greene, Mrs. Everitt Paine, Mrs. R. C. Bridge, Mrs. J. E. Walkley, Mrs. A. D. K. Shurtleff and Elizabeth Ramsdell. A substantial sum was realized.

Mrs. J. E. Goldthwaite of Boston and Harbor View, Marblehead, has just returned from a pleasant trip to Plattsburg where she visited friends in the training camp there.

For the benefit of the Red Cross a monolog recital has been arranged to be given at the home of Mrs. George H. Davenport at Peach's Point on the afternoon of August 2d, beginning at 3.30 p. m. The artist will be Miss Ruth Draper of New York of country-wide reputation as a monologist, who has given over to the Red Cross two months of her time for their benefit. Miss Ruth Draper will be heard at various places on the North Shore, including the Essex County club at Manchester and the Oceanside hotel at Magnolia. The patronage will include prominent Marblehead summer residents as Mrs. William R. Castle, Jr., Mrs. Francis B. Crowninshield and Mrs. George H. Davenport.

MARBLEHEAD NECK is missing much of its former gaiety this summer because of the absence of the big boat races—only local races being scheduled this season—but it has a long list of women and men who are doing all in their power to make the war relief of that section stand in relief among others. Mrs. Parker Kemble is one of the most diligent workers who has turned her attentions from the many social activities, which are always expected of her, to the round of work for the war sufferers. Another of the prominent war workers is Mrs. Frederick McQuesten, who opened her fine summer place "Questenmere," on Thursday afternoon for a Red Cross bridge. It was a very delightful affair, many of the summer colony of the upper North Shore being represented amongst the gathering. Thirty tables were occupied by players. Profuse summer blossoms were used for decoration, and a patriotic display of the American flag was seen. Assisting the hostess in pouring were Mrs. Charles H. Smith, a house guest at "Questenmere, and Mrs. Nellie Ross Currier. Miss Genevieve Page, Miss Isabel Evans and Miss Dorothy Currier served. Noticed among those having tables were Mrs. Everitt Paine, Mrs. R. J. Salter, Mrs. J. N. Ward, Mrs. Paul Rust, Miss Ward, Miss Webb, Mrs. Daniel K. Snow. Winners of prizes were Mrs. C. O. Baker, Mrs. E. A. Shuman, Mrs. Frank McQuesten, Mrs. Currier and Mrs. Smith. A goodly sum was realized for the Red Cross.

On Monday evening the dinner dance at the Corinthian Yacht club brought out the largest number of members and friends thus far this season. Into a floral bower of pink and white loveliness, refreshed with greenery, the rooms of the clubhouse were converted. Upon the wide veranda the music stirred its hearers to dancing, after the serving of a delicious dinner. The largest party was given by Nathaniel C. Lyon of Marblehead, who entertained fourteen guests. Other hosts were H. L. Rideout, W. C. Harris, W. M. Weston, T. L. Sutcliffe, C. D. Johnson, C. M. Barker, D. L. Furness, R. E. Pope, J. W. Knapp, G. C. Dempsey, H. V. Hunt, A. W. Stearns, Frederick Beebe, S. A. Beggs, C. W. Cheney, N. S. Forbes, W. W. Pratt, D. B. Hallett, F. C. Bates.

Sunday evenings at the Corinthian Yacht club are becoming vastly popular with the members, who, because of the war, are unable to spend the entire summer here as formerly, but who motor down for the week-end on the Neck, there to enjoy the refreshing breezes from the ocean, and to partake of the splendid food at the club which is unexcelled. On Sunday evening last, many motorists enjoyed the supper served, many reserving tables ahead. A supper was given by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cleghorn of Marblehead in honor of their guest, Miss Jessie Costello, which was an enjoyable event. Other suppers were presided over by E. P. Johnson, E. Paine, C. E. Longley, J. C. Robson, G. L. Webb, J. B. Palmer, H. E. Gardner and Thos. Curtis, H. J. Chaplin, J. T. Eustis.

"The "Carmina," a beautiful steam yacht put into the harbor at Marblehead early in the week for a stay of indefinite length. The owner, Francis S. Smithers, with true patriotic spirit has loaned the craft to the government, and in lieu of this has changed the familiar color of black and gold to that of battleship gray. Mr. and Mrs. Smithers live at Glen Cove, L. I., during the summer where their summer home, "Myhome," is one of the finest estates in that locality. They visit Marblehead each summer. Mr. Smithers is a member of the New York Yacht club and the Seawanhaka-Corinthian Yacht club of New York.

"Ellen" was the name given to the new submarine chaser owned by Charles P. Curtis of Boston which was christened on Friday last when Mr. Curtis entertained at a luncheon at the Corinthian Yacht club. Miss Curtis, breaking a bottle of champagne over the bow of the boat, gave it its name, and it is now awaiting orders from the government, having been loaned to the navy as it may need. A pretty luncheon was served on the veranda of the clubhouse, preceding the naming of the craft.

William C. Jewett of the Copley-Plaza, Boston, is spending the summer aboard his yacht, Sunshine, which is anchored now in the harbor at Marblehead. Mr. Jewett has just returned from a cruise along the Maine coast. On Wednesday he entertained at a dinner aboard the yacht in honor of his guest, Thomas Riley, of Helena, Mont. Included among the guests were Frank Hart of Boston, William S. Jewett, Jr., a member of the aviation corps, Albert Robinson, Miss Blanche Kilcup, Mrs. Edith Cook and Nella Latham of Quincy, Ill.

Returning from a cruise which terminated at Eggmoggin Beach, Maine, "Mystery," the pretty white steam yacht, with its owner, Mrs. Peter C. Hewitt of New York, aboard, has just cast anchor in the Marblehead Harbor for the second time this summer. Mrs. Hewitt, who is well known upon the Marblehead shore, will entertain during her stay which will be for several weeks, at least.

Frank B. McQuesten and John Herrick are the owners of "Inca," the submarine chaser which they have volunteered for use by the government. With all the swiftness which its name suggests, the "Inca" daily scouts the harbor at Marblehead causing no end of interest to onlookers.

The Men's Club House, Magnolia

Final Effort to Pay Off the Mortgage This Week

The Men's Clubhouse, Magnolia

THE MAGNOLIA MEN'S CLUBHOUSE is in a fair way to be freed from debt the first of August if its friends now unite in a final effort to finish the work they began nine years ago. Last summer, Eugene G. Foster, who has a residence on Coolidge's Point, took up the matter of the mortgage with Rev. F. J. Libby, the manager, and after investigation entered upon the task of wiping it out with energy and determination. The sum to be raised was $12,000.

The original cost of the building with land and furnishings was upwards of $31,000. Of that amount, somewhat over $20,000 was subscribed during the years 1908-1911. The list of these subscribers is as follows:

The club was self-supporting during the first four years of its existence, but in the summer of 1913, owing partly to mismanagement and partly to alterations that were made, it ran behind some $2000. Mr. Libby took the managership the following season, and since then the club's financial condition has steadily improved. The $2000 deficit has been paid by subscription. The payment of the annual interest on the mortgage has been, however, a heavy burden, which in lean years has proven impossible out of the income. A thousand dollars has had to be raised by subscription since 1913 to meet this drain. The subscribers towards the deficit 1913-1916 have been the following:

George A. Upton .....	$700.00
Mrs. Rebecca Colfelt .....	325.00
Miss Elizabeth Houghton .....	600.00
Mrs. Annie C. Thornton .....	317.50
Heirs of Robt. B. Williams .....	215.50

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Converse .....	200.00
Chas. W. Jones .....	25.00
Additional .....	10.00
Total .....	$3,063.00

When Mr. Foster took hold of the enterprise last summer, a subscription paper was started with the subscriptions payable only on condition that the entire debt of $12,000 should be subscribed by August 1, 1917. Mrs. C. C. Converse pledged $1000 on condition that another similar pledge should be made. This condition was met by Miss Fannie M. Faulkner and Miss Elizabeth G. Houghton gave $500 and promised to give in addition the last $500. The club itself had a banner year last season and was able to pay $500 on the mortgage. It had hoped to do as much this year, but will probably find it impossible. Altogether some $7,000 was subscribed, of which about $3,000 was paid immediately to reduce the interest charges. This leaves a balance of only $5,000, and it is strongly hoped that this will be pledged before the expiration of the time limit.

The Magnolia Men's club is the kind of institution that is needed in every community. It is a home for men away from home. What the Y. M. C. A. tent is trying to do for the soldier, the Men's club has been doing for eight years for a large floating population. To chauffeurs it offers the best accommodations they obtain in Massachusetts. Its shower-baths, its spotless rooms, its home-cooking and home atmosphere make it a particularly pleasant place to stay in. But it serves a much wider constituency. Its dances, its moving pictures, its bowling and pool and tennis, its cool reading room with the latest papers and magazines and with club stationery free to members, make it useful in one way or another to a large proportion of those who work in Magnolia, both men and women. Moreover, it is not idle even in winter, for then through the generosity of Mrs. Rebecca Colfelt, its alleys and pool tables are used every evening in the week by the village people.

The subscribers towards the $12,000 fund thus far are as follows:

"CURIOUS" WANTS TO KNOW HOW TEMPERATURE OF WATER IS TAKEN

Manchester, July 23.

To the Editor of the Breeze,

Dear Sir: I have for some time desired to inquire of you as to the methods employed by the custodian of the public bathhouse at Singing Beach in determining the temperature of the water. Naturally, a matter of interest to so many persons is undertaken most carefully and the announcements appearing each day in the form of numerals are, without doubt, exact. (When it happens, as it has on occasions in my experience, that the announced temperature of the ocean is apparently several degrees too high, the discrepancy is, of course, only imaginary.) I am interested to learn by what complicated instruments and in what painstaking fashion the thermodynamic condition of the water is determined. I should in fact, be pleased to know at what hour each day the test is undertaken, in order that I may be present at so interesting a scientific feat. In case the public is not usually permitted to attend the ceremony, perhaps you will be able to suggest some means by which I may obtain the exceptional privilege. Should I be so fortunate, I should like to bring my own thermometer with me and have it corrected, since it is, I regret to say, at wide variance with the official instrument of your town bathing establishment. Any assistance you may be willing to provide me in my quest for information will be warmly appreciated.

—CURIOUS.

Echoes of Emerson

By JOSEPH A. TORREY

Emerson's purest and deepest thoughts, being poetic in essence, are not content with being stated, but carry with them an impulse and a demand to be sung or chanted.

—E. P. Whipple.

Existence fails,
'Tis only life avails.

Love, not service, brings requite;
Love them, they will in thee delight,
Be in thy company day and night.

The same rose hangs on my rose-tree
That charmed the Roman and Chaldee;
The same bird sings upon the bough:
Nature is one eternal Now.

Time is Illusion's seat:
Nought is slow and nought is fleet.
But its subtle power

Can stretch an hour to a century's mete,
Or dwarf an age into an hour.

Scoop the water in your hand,
Take a handful of shore sand;

These elements about us lie.
What is shore but miles of sand,
The sea but water from strand to strand?
A little more or a little less, what doth it signify?

Just to fill the hour, I guess
That were happiness.
Fill my hours, ye gods, with bliss
So that I may never say,
When the hours have passed away,
And I reflect thereon,
"While I have been doing this Behold, an hour of my life is gone!"
But rather, I have lived an hour!

EQUAL SUFFRAGE NEWS

A very successful war luncheon was held by the Boston Equal Suffrage association last week, at Simmons college, with Dean Arnold presiding. The menu consisted of rice with tomatoes, corn muffins, cheese salad, cornstarch pudding and coffee. This lunch celebrated the enrolment of the Housewives of Greater Boston, conducted by the Boston Suffrage assn., for which piece of work they were specially thanked by Rear Admiral Bowles. About 68,000 women were thus enrolled for Thrift, and Boston is one of the first cities to send in a census of housekeepers.

The Massachusetts Constitutional convention, or a "little group of wilful men" therein, has blocked another chance for Equal Suffrage in Mass. and thus cast reproach on our own democracy at a time when we are supposed to be fighting "for the democracy of the world." But we have no time for bitterness in these busy days, and we know that national suffrage will soon come to us, as it has already come to the women of England and Russia.

MANCHESTER

A farewell party was held on Monday evening in Carpenters hall by the members of the local Painters union for two of their number who are leaving soon for service. Joseph Cogan, who is a member of Co. G, of Gloucester, was one of the boys called out on Wednesday. John Gillis, another member of the union, is aboard the U. S. S. Virginia, now stationed at Charlestown Navy Yard.

George R. Dean has sold his interest in Bullock's Bakery to William Barnett, who has worked at the bakery for many years, who learned his trade in Dundee, Scotland. Mr. Dean retires from the business to take the general managership of a new concern organized the past month, the purpose of which is to furnish washed sand and gravel for building purposes, road construction, cement and the like. It is located in the Bear Hill road section of Topsfield, Connolly Company is the name of the corporation. Mr. Dean will maintain an office in Boston. There is a big demand for material of this sort and Mr. Dean is the right kind of a man to push it; the business is a new one, as far as we know, in this section.

GRAND IRISH CONCERT AND DANCE.

EDITORIAL

THE MOVEMENT FOR EFFICIENCY and economy which has resulted from the declaration of war and the necessities required for the proper feeding of our allies and our armies not to mention our own armies, has awakened the people of America as they have never been before, to need and the advantages of economy and thrift. The Americans have believed that they were economical and thrifty, but war conditions have taught them much that never would have been learned otherwise. This may readily seem to be one of the great compensations of the war. For years old paper, rags and many other convertible paper materials have been wantonly destroyed or burned. The excessive prices of paper have increased the values of old paper materials and economy has not only been imperative, but remunerative. The Economy League of Beverly Farms is a commendable organization doing a good work in two ways by aiding the Red Cross society by their earnings and making use of materials that would otherwise be wasted or sold at a loss or at values not equal to their worth. The League has made arrangements with wholesale purchasers and waste materials are being sold at good values and the proceeds are being given to the Red Cross society for their work? The residents of the North Shore should know of this organization and of its work and save their paper materials. The weekly service which has been established will prove a help to housekeepers and afford them an opportunity of assisting the Red Cross society in ways that will not be left. In the aggregate the collections should prove large and the coöperation of all of the permanent and summer residents will make it possible for the organization to earn a tidy sum during the coming months.

FORMER SENATOR BEVERIDGE of our Shore wrote soon after the war a most interesting and valuable volume on the war. It is still up-to-date and will well repay anyone for the time required for its reading. In that volume the Senator endeavors and succeeds in presenting to the readers the opinions of the peoples of the countries at war and allows them to present their views. The work is done carefully and indicates skill and versatility upon the part of the author. The views of the war presented by Germans, Englishmen and Frenchmen still give one an insight into the problems, back of the war. The current events in the field of war, the three years of hard campaign seem to sustain the view entertained that this is a people's war with the Germans. The German nation is backing the Kaiser as may readily be seen even at this day and until that support has been withdrawn effectively the German military power will be sustained by the people. The impartial and careful way in which the author has succeeded in presenting the war from the point of view of the citizens of the nations at war makes the volume of more interest to day and more valuable than when issued. It is evident from the convictions of the men on both sides of the firing lines that the contest will be waged with determination.

THE FIELDS ARE GREEN with harvest promising crops and the season has been good. An average season from now on will mean much for our winter's supply.

THE SKILLED GARDENERS on our shore have been doing everything within their power to maintain the policy of our national government and early in the season endeavored to be prepared for the demands which are inevitable when harvest seasons come around and the land has been planted not only fully, but economically, in order that there be no waste in harvesting. This foresight has spared the North Shore from illy planned plantings. The farmers in some other sections of the state have not been quite so fortunate and the liberal plantings of the early seasons together with the enlarged plantings of others have upset all plans as the gardeners on the North Shore predicted. It is one thing to plant and another to harvest. The labor condition in some part of Massachusetts are so much changed since early spring, at planting time, that the most careful men have been deceived and waste has been inevitable. The early summer vegetables are unusually cheap and the present embarrassment has been valuable for it has served as a warning to all for the fall. Already the fall plans are made by experts, but amateurs will be surprised at the last moment and found unprepared for the strain of effective harvesting. Now is the time to plan for the harvests and the care of them.

THERE IS ONE LINE OF WASTE in the American home that has not been thoroughly studied, and that is the furnace or heating plant. There was a time when coal was cheap and when and increase in the amount of coal demanded by certain forms of heating apparatus were negligible because of the low price of coal. The price of coal has increased over one hundred percent in the last two decades and the problem has become acute. It will pay every householder to inquire into the respective merits of the various heating devices placed upon the market. In a factory the moment a machine is invented that will increase the work to a degree warranting its use the old machines are scrapped and new machines installed when the increased production will pay for the increased percentage return required on the investment. In the home, business methods are forgotten. But it would pay every householder to sit down and carefully calculate the advantages of making changes in heating the home. If there is a fifty percent increase in efficiency in heating and economy it is not difficult to see that it would be a move in the direction of efficiency to use money that earns a low rate that would make a high rate of return in economy and efficiency. The coal problem may easily be solved by considering the heater problem.

THE WAR HAS PRESENTED so many emergency matters that have required attention that everyone has been tempted to omit his usual subscriptions to the regularly organized charitable interests. The North Shore is efficiently served by two good organizations that should be sustained, the Beverly hospital and the North Shore Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children. These two organizations are doing their work efficiently and well and the North Shore subscribers to these two important organizations should be sure to include them in their list this year.

CAPTAINS OF WAR have marshalled their forces and kings are having days of anxiety and worryment. The Czar of Russia and the King of Greece have already received their commissions for retirement and have entered into private life, but there are other crown heads that are having their anxious hours. The Turkish ruler and the King of Bulgaria have no future to look forward to whoever wins this conflict. If the Central Powers win neither of these men will be rulers in any great sphere of influence. They will receive their instructions from Germany. If the allied powers succeed it is certain that the adjustment of the Turkish problem will mean a change of rulers and in Bulgaria as well. The democratic movement will have its sphere of influence in these two areas. If Germany loses the Kaiser's authority will have been ruined. The President has already stated his position that the nation, which he leads has no quarrel with the German people, but with their government, so that when the time comes for readjustments after the war is over, the Kaiser will be without power. Whoever wins, the lesser rulers of Europe will have lost their power. Kings depart!

THE EMBARGO PLACED BY PRESIDENT WILSON was a strategic move toward ending the war that must not be overlooked by even the casual readers of the newspapers. The armies are being enrolled and trained, but the war is being prosecuted with vigor. The embargo makes it quite impossible for neutrals to reexport goods, imported from America or to import from America food stuffs to take the place of her food stuffs raised in the neutral country and exported into Germany. The embargo is an effort on the part of our nation to prevent all exports from America aiding directly or indirectly the German power. Licences have been denied to all vessels and the embargo has been put into practice. It will be a formidable weapon for the allies. While America was neutral it was impossible for her to use this great source of power to aid the allies.

CURRENT AND GOOSEBERRY BUSHES are pulling up their stakes and departing from North Shore estates. Science has found that the White Pine Blister first inhabits the humble currant and gooseberry bushes. On these the fungus grows and from hence to trees where the greater damage is done. The state department is after the annihilation of the pest, and it is going at the root of the matter this week, according to the law. So if our currant and gooseberry bushes are infected they are simply a nuisance and must be cut out. Often they are developing a good case of the fungus without the owner's knowledge. That is where the work of the state "tree doctor's" advice comes in to serve the interests of all.

THE GREATEST DRAFT in the history of our country took place on last Friday and without strife or any form of irritation throughout the country. The entire nation has been back of the President and Congress in the preliminary and the final plans of the draft and will be to the end. Citizenship involves not only privileges, but responsibilities and one of the responsibilities is and ever must be that of defending the nation in the time of war. All of the men between the ages of requirements of the draft law have been drawn and the order in which they will be called for service has been determined. This is in accordance with the principle of universal military service. The quietness and effectiveness of the draft will be a stunning piece of news for the powers that be over the line.

THERE IS NOTHING that has appealed to our sympathies more than the work which has been done in the hospitals in France and Belgium. The wonders that have been accomplished, with but little to work with, are a great credit to the skill and devotion of the faithful physicians and nurses who have been loyally at work. Now, however, these base hospitals take on a new interest because these institutions will care soon for some of our own boys who are wounded in the service across the sea. Hospital work has always appealed to the sympathies of warm hearted and generous people, but the war hospital work has demonstrated anew the interests of every patriotic citizen. The wonderful help that has been given to the Red Cross and its work is a demonstration of American sympathies. For this reason the address of Mrs. Sewall on the work of the military hospitals in and about Avignon are interesting all who have heard of the work in southern France. To do efficient work without clinical thermometers, soaps or new linen is impossible, but the work has gone on and effectively. Mrs. Bradley has opened her home on Sunday and there should be a large audience to hear Mrs. Sewall's address upon the work. Surely in all the multiplied interests of our people there is a place for the important service of the military hospitals.

HOUSEKEEPERS and the managers of households should not overlook the cards which have been distributed quite generally along our Shore in the interests of Food Conservation. The plan as outlined is simple and should prove effective. Each householder is requested to pledge himself to use all food materials with economy. Inasmuch as every American is patriotic and agrees with the principles involved the signing of the pledge merely affords the opportunity for giving expression to that determination. Germany has attacked the problem in true autocratic fashion and has taken up the question of food and its economy and the people obey "law." The American method is somewhat more democratic, more in keeping with American ideals, but it will prove just as effective in America. Germany expects America to fail in her plans, but here again she must be taught the lesson that this is a people's war in America.

MANCHESTER HAS HAD four happy and profitable days for which the people of the town and of the neighboring districts are grateful to the guarantors who assumed the responsibilities incident to the coming of the Chautauqua organization. The sessions have been profitable, entertaining and educative and the guarantors were warranted in assuming the responsibilities of the enterprise and are to be congratulated upon the success which was attained. For many years the Chautauqua circuits have been successfully carried out in the west and the idea that began in Chautauqua of having summer assemblies has spread far and wide. The sessions held in Manchester were a part of the general circuit of the Chautauqua organization. Manchester has improved the opportunities presented and much good has been done. The enterprise has demonstrated its usefulness and could be repeated some other year with success.

THE SOUTHERN CAMPS for our boys are approved by General Leonard Wood on the grounds that our northern winters will prevent the young men from having their proper training in the winter. It is ideal weather now for drill and maneuvers, but in October and November a southern camp will have uncontested advantages.

"A voice is waiting to see you, Ma'am," is the way a new maid called her mistress to the telephone.

There will be a band concert on the Common tomorrow evening by the Salem Cadet band, the second of the series.

Mrs. C. E. Bullard of Peterboro, N. H., is visiting her daughter, Mrs. J. Alex. Lodge, Church st., for a few days. Mr. Bullard was here for a brief visit, too.

The funeral of Charles O. Lee was held Sunday afternoon at Memorial chapel, Rev. A. G. Warner officiating. Members of Magnolia lodge, I. O. O. F., of which the deceased was a member, attended in a body. Burial was in Rosedale cemetery.

The Red Men are to hold their annual family picnic and outing at Tuck's Point on Thursday, Aug. 9. The local Red Men and their families have been invited to attend the picnic of the Daughters of Pocahontas of Gloucester, at Tuck's Point, next Thursday, Aug. 2.

The last opportunity to see Woodman in action will be given the local fans tomorrow when he will work against the Queen Quality nine. Woodman has enlisted in the Ambulance corps and was called out Wednesday. He has leave to play tomorrow. The Queens are playing great ball this year and Manchester will get a run for her money. There should be a big attendance.

Fourteen Manchester boys were called out on Wednesday morning to join their regiments of the National Guard, which were called into the Federal service that day under President Wilson's proclamation. They reported at their armories at 8 o'clock promptly, not a man being among those missing. The men who reported at the armory in Salem were taken to headquarters in automobiles by Raymond C. Allen and George S. Sinnicks. The men who have gone from Manchester this week are as follows: Frank B. Amaral, Harry Baker, David Chadwick, Joseph C. Chadwick, Perley Roderick and Walter Smith, Co. H, 8th Mass. Inf.; Joseph Cogan, Co. G, 8th Mass. Inf.; Irving Baker and Elmer A. McFarland, 6th Mass. Inf.; Joseph Coen, 6th Mass. Inf.; John F. Coughlin, Battery A, Mass. Field Art.; William Francis, Roland J. Kitfield, Joseph J. McNeary and Gordon A. Slade, 1st Mass. Engineers.

Manchester FOOD CENTRE Telephone 116 NOTES

A conference at Amherst will take Miss Bradbury away from Manchester next week. The Food Centre will, therefore, be closed from Saturday, July 28, until the following Thursday, Aug. 2. The week after its reopening will be devoted to exhibiting the different methods of drying. The work done at the Centre that week will be, to a great extent, drying and the lectures will be demonstration lectures on the same subject.

The following week the series of lectures on Food Values will be resumed.

It is expected that the discussions at the conference will be not only very interesting, but of very great value, as they will represent the opinions and experiences of many different organizations and individuals. Any information received at this great meeting will be passed along to the people of Manchester and the surrounding towns.

It is gratifying to know how many people are interested in the Food Centre. Telephone calls and visits at all times of the day prove that many people realize the value of such a Centre at this most trying time, and that they are trying to aid in furthering the project by their interest and coöperation. At the same time the Centre should be a benefit to the householder. All kinds of advice is being given by amateurs and experts alike. Some of this is valuable, some of it is dangerous. Waste should be avoided, but indiscriminate economy is worse than waste as it sometimes is detrimental in its influence on industry and trade. Each individual householder should try to judge wisely just what is her particular duty, and then perform that duty to the very best of her ability. This of course is not always a simple task.

Among the recent enlistments from Manchester are Joseph C. Chadwick, The Misses Annie and Litta Diamond of Forest st., are enjoying a two weeks' vacation with relatives in Chelsea.

Uniforms and guns for the 125th Co., M. S. G., reached Manchester yesterday afternoon and the uniforms were issued last evening after sorting by Supply Sergt. Bell. Some of the trousers and coats fit "too quick" for the big men in the company, but the boys hope to squeeze into their khaki before next drill on Monday evening at the playground.

On page 59 of the BREEZE is the list of Manchester men whose numbers were drawn among the first 3000 in the draft at Washington last Friday. Nearly half of the number given will be summoned before the examining board in the process of selecting the 145 men who will be taken from this district. Many whose names appear in the list are already enlisted in some branch of service.

William Chapman, George Holmes and Harry Pascal, who enlisted in the Canadian army some time ago, returned to join the Forestry unit, to which they are attached, last evening. They have been visiting in Manchester on leave since Monday. They went to Canada to enlist in the artillery, but enlistments had closed for that branch and they were assigned to their present unit. They expect to go to France soon and will then be transferred to the artillery.

Examination of over 20 members of the 125th Co. of the Mass. State guard on Friday evening of last week at the John Price school hall resulted in the selection of the following non-commissioned officers: First Sergeant, Allan T. ## CHAUTAQUA WEEK

HUNDREDS ATTENDED ENTERTAINMENTS IN BIG TENT AT MASCONOMO PARK IN MANCHESTER.

Manchester's Chautauqua is now almost history. There remains only the performance by the children of Junior Chautauqua this afternoon and the performance of "The Man From Home" by the Avon players tonight. The week has been a joyous one for the hundreds who have frequented the big tent on Masconomo Park and have drunk in a variety of entertainment and inspiration. Already a contract for next season has received a number of signers among the guarantors.

Monday afternoon the Chautauqua was opened by Dr. Plass, former president of Washburn college in Kansas and now business manager of the Swarthmore Chautauqua. In the absence of Miss Hamilton, the superintendent, he acted in that capacity. Entertainment was furnished by a sextet of charming young ladies who sang and played to the delight of the audience. In the evening Mrs. Leonora M. Lake, known to thousands as "Mother Lake," lectured on the "Rights of the Child."

Dr. Plass discussed "English Humor and Ours" on Tuesday afternoon and Colangelo's Italian band entertained. In the evening Colangelo's musicians, assisted by Miss Millicent Melrose, a gifted soprano, entertained. Dr. Frederick Coan, who witnessed the massacres of the Armenians by the Turks and Kurds, told a gripping tale of the horrors of war in the Orient. He attributed the massacres to German influence.

Dr. Plass lectured on Wednesday afternoon and the McDonough-Baird Co. entertained. Dr. Paul Pearson lectured on the "Joy of Living" in the evening. On Thursday afternoon Dr. Plass lectured on "England's Democracy and Ours." Last evening Dr. Simms lectured on "The Calf Path." Music was furnished by the Mordelia Novelty Co.

While the attendance at the Chautauqua sessions was small on the first day the audiences grew until by Wednesday night the tent was filled to capacity. The guarantors were compelled to stand a loss of about $5 apiece or $250 for the entire town, due to the fact that people bought single tickets after Chautauqua had started instead of buying the season tickets from the guarantors. That money was lost to them after being obliged to stand the loss on the guarantee fund. The campaign for next year is already under way and it is thought with a better understanding of the system of bringing Chautauqua more season tickets will be sold next year. It happened that after settling for the guaranteed fund a surplus was discovered from the sale of season tickets. Co. G, of Gloucester will pass through Manchester this forenoon in automobiles on their way to the mobilization camp of the 8th regiment in Lynnfield. Gloucester is planning to give the boys a grand "send-off." Manchester ought to do its share by a generous display of flags,

In the boat race of the Annisquam Yacht club, on Saturday afternoon, the occupants of Prof. Norton's boat, the Archeopetry, the professor, his eldest son, and Wm. Jelly, a well known summer resident, had a thrilling experience and a narrow escape from drowning. There was a stiff breeze, a head sea, which gave trouble to the whole fleet. A sudden gust of wind turned the Norton boat bottom up, throwing the occupants into the rough waters. They clung to the bottom of the boat till rescued by H. L. Friend of the Squab and the crew of the Cygnet. Mr. Jelly is a heavy man and was burdened with an oil skin suit, but apparently suffered no ill effects from the exposure. Prof. Norton is the son-in-law of J. A. Torrey of this place.

How Do you
Pronounce

Chautauqua anyway? Some of the boys who hang around the big ten have degenerated the pronunciation into "shoot a quarter" and, there are some of the guarantors who feel that $5 would sound better if you could get the proper accent.

In the draft last Friday the names of Bertram and Frank Floyd, sons of Town Clerk Floyd of Manchester were in the first group drawn. George S. and Willard Rust, brothers, were also in the first group and Josef and Kazinierz Warsak, brothers, were caught in the toils. Another coincidence was that Joseph Floyd, a third son of L. W. Floyd was drawn at Dulce, N. M.

The beautiful hand-made flag which has adorned the staff in front of the Pierce Studio, Manchester, since Fourth of July was without a staff for a few days. Some young people, probably returning from a dance, caught at the dangling halyards and pulled the staff from its place. Mrs. Chute reported the affair, but is not inclined to prosecute the youngsters, although the offense violates a Federal law, she says.

Someone invited Dick Baker to have a swim at Singing Beach, Manchester, the other day. "You couldn't drag me into that water," said Dick, "but I think they ought to furnish setees and ice water for those of us who don't enjoy the bathing." Why not hammocks and lemonade, Dick?

"Prince," a handsome collie, four years old, belonging to George A. Sullivan, Union street, Manchester, tried to cross the railroad tracks at Beach street last Sunday evening just as the Gloucester-Boston express came through at a mile-a-minute clip about 8.15. Those who were at the crossing waiting for the train to pass felt sure "Prince" was ground to pieces and that he could never stand the impact of such a fast-moving engine, but when Officers Andrews and Sheehan came a few minutes afterward ready to shoot the poor dog in case there was a spark of life left, they found him lying in the grass beside the track, along by the bowling alley, wagging his busy tail, and acting in no wise unusual, other than seeming to be ashamed of himself for getting in the way of the engine. He limped a little and the gathering crowd was of the opinion he was injured internally, for it could be nothing short of miraculous that a dog could be picked up by a flying express train, knocked or carried 75 feet without some injury. "Prince" was carried home in a wheel-barrow, much to his chagrin, it would seem from the way he tried to escape his would be benefactors. Inquiry by the WHISPERER, who called to solicit information as to Prince's health early Monday morning, elicited the information that he had romped off during the early morning. "Prince" ought to have a place of honor in Manchester's State Guard company, for a dog that could stand what he went through and escape might fit in handy some day when the boys are out guarding some railroad bridge next fall.

Observer—"I noticed you got up and gave that lady your seat in that street car the other day."

Observed—"Since childhood I have respected a woman with a strap in her hand."

Eager Lady—"But what if your engine stops in the air—what happens? Can't you get down?"

Aviator—"That's just what 'appens, mum. There's two Germans up over in France now with their engines stopped. They can't get down; so they're starving to death."

MANCHESTER VS. MAPLES

LOCAL NINE WON SLOW GAME BY SCORE OF NINE TO TWO WITHOUT MUCH EFFORT.

Although the Salem Maples got the first two runs of last Saturday's game in Manchester, the local nine won easily by a score of 9 to 2. Grover, who was in the box for the local nine after an absence for several games, twirled in good form after his long rest. He was wild at times and walked five men in the first three innings, but steadied down in the pinches. The injury he received to his arm some-time ago has evidently had no ill effect on the pitching wing.

The game was a little slow in spite of the heavy hitting of the Manchester batters, the runs coming too easy to make the players hustle. The first run came in the second inning when Grover passed Lovett and Gray sacrificed. The runner scored from second on Connors two bagger to right field. O'Leary made a bad throw to Devlin of Goldsmith's grounder and the latter was safe, Connors going to third. Goldsmith advanced when Finn drew a pass and filled the bases. Wallace sent a liner to Gourley and Connors scored. Goldsmith was out at the plate on a pretty throw by Gourley.

Devlin fled out to Goldsmith in the second inning. Meehan slammed the ball across the brook for three bases and scored when Ford singled to center. Woodman singled to right and Elivard went out on a grounder to Connors. Grover beat out a bunt that advanced Ford and Woodman, the former scoring and Woodman stealing third. A wild throw by Murray to catch Woodman gave Manchester another run.

In the fifth Devlin got to first when Donovan dropped a high fly in his corner of the garden. Goldsmith made another error that let Meehan on the bases. Ford sent a drive to center that scored both Devlin and Meehan, but was out himself at third trying to get an extra base on the drive. Woodman got a two-bagger and died at second when Elivard fanned.

Devlin got to first on Goldsmith's error in the seventh and stole second. He was caught at third trying for the extra base. Meehan singled to right field and advanced on Ford's two bagger. Woodman brought in both men with a drive over the brook. It was a two-bagger, but he got no farther, for Elivard went out on a grounder to Goldsmith.

Manchester got another brace of runs in the eighth when Grover doubled to right. Gourley singled to right and stole second while Grover stole home. Devlin's two-bagger brought Gourley home. Devlin went out trying to steal third. About the only features of the game aside from the way Manchester hit Connors' deliveries, were the base running tactics of the local players. They took lots of chances to make the game fast, but the Maples were not in their class.

In company with Leonard Singer of Boston, Mr. Bradley was taking Singer's motor boat back into the basin at the time of the accident. Mr. Bradley was standing on the deck polling the boat into the lock when he lost his balance and fell into the water. He could not swim, and Singer threw him a life preserver, but Bradley failed to grab it and before any further aid could be given he sank and was drowned. There was a swift current and his body was washed out into the lock. The body was recovered by the Metropolitan Park police after much effort and it was removed to the North District Mortuary. The remains were brought to Beverly Sunday. Mr. Bradley was born in Manchester. He is survived by three brothers and four sisters.

ALL RESPONSIBLE

NONE TOO OLD TO DO SHARE IN GREAT WAR, IS KEYNOTE OF SENTIMENT AT ELDERLIES PICNIC.

"We all have a responsibility in this great war," said Rev. George L. Gleason of Topsfield, a former Manchester pastor, in the course of his remarks at the picnic of the Elderly Brethren at Tuck's Point, Manchester, on Thursday of last week. "We are living in the most wonderful age of the world's history. It is a wonderful opportunity we have today to fight for democracy. We are going to put down imperialism and wipe out autocracy, and before we are through, plutocracy. We are going to get rid of aristocracy and when the war is over establish a moral and spiritual democracy, a universal brotherhood. That is something worth fighting for."

Mr. Gleason recalled the days of his pastorate in Manchester and spoke of the boys who had attended his Sunday School classes who were now men of affairs. Some of the pleasant memories of his life in Manchester, he said, were related to the acquaintances he made among the summer residents of the then growing Manchester colony. "I was always democratic in my instincts," he said, "but I was forced to confess that I had never met men of such rare qualities as those among the people of wealth who came to Manchester summers."

Another speaker who recalled days long gone by in Manchester was Prof. N. B. Sargent. He said he never saw the white sails on the Merrimac near his home in Haverhill but he was reminded of the familiar scenes of Manchester harbor and memories arose of days when he sailed in or out of the harbor or, perhaps, was stuck on the mud flats. "Those who live among these surroundings all the time cannot appreciate the beauties as those who live apart from them. It is said that 30 years ago I left Manchester, but I did not; I took Manchester with me, and she has been a mighty good friend to me in all my leisure moments." The speaker closed with quoting the lines from his famous song, "The Same Tides Flow."

W. W. Lufkin, who declared he spoke under the privilege extended to "candidates for office," recalled the days when he worked on the Gloucester Times and his two great aims were to be able to boss John D. Woodbury in the manner the latter bossed him and to attend a meeting of the Elder Brethren. He was glad to have realized one of his ambitions. He spoke highly of Congressman Gardner, whose retirement from Congress to take a commission in the army was one of the early sensations of the war. Of all the Congressmen of whom it was reported that they were going to enlist in the army in the event of war, the first and only man among them thus far to answer his country's call has been Augustus P. Gardner. Mr. Lufkin commented upon the flag of the Elderlies upon the masthead below the Stars and Stripes and said he was sure they were behind the flag in the present struggle as they had been in previous trouble.

F. M. Stanwood, who a year before at the Elderly Brethren picnic had prophesied that America would soon be in the war and that there would be a united country responding to its duty call, again spoke in the role of prophet. He said he had been much impressed by the interview given the previous Sunday by Lord Northcliffe in Manchester when he said the war had not yet run its course. "We are on the eve of a long and protracted struggle," said Mr. Stanwood.

"The harvests of Germany are such that they can go on with the war at least another year; the success of the U-boat campaign doesn't seem to lessen. No one knows the dark and devious ways we must travel, and the sacrifices we must make before we reach the end, but that the war will be settled in America and by Americans, I have not the least doubt."

Rev. W. H. Rider of Essex said it was very kind to make an make an opening at these gatherings for a foreigner, and it was a great pleasure to come and view the beautiful scenes on Manchester's shores, and better still, to look into the faces of those present. The speaker related some interesting anecdotes, and in closing prophesied a successful culmination of the war, which he said was "just as sure to come as the tide was to come in again between yonder rocky headlands. The end no man can doubt, for it belongs to the Almighty." In conclusion, the speaker recited a poem, "Keep Going."

MAGNOLIA

An article on the Men's club—what has been done in the past and what it is hoped to do this season—in a financial way, is printed on another page. Read it!

Dances are held at the Men's club every Wednesday and Saturday evenings and moving pictures each Friday, at 7.45 p. m., followed by a second show the same night.

Services will be held in the Village church Sunday, at 10.45 a. m. and at 8.15 p. m. Dr. Eaton, the pastor, will preach both morning and evening. Organ recital from 8.15 to 8.30 p. m.

Rev. John McGaw Foster, rector of the Church of the Messiah, Boston, will take the service at the Magnolia Chapel, Sunday morning, at 10.45. Following the service the Holy Communion will be celebrated. All seats free.

The date for the Village church fair is Wednesday, August 1st, and it will be held at the church, morning, afternoon and evening. The patronage of the people will be appreciated by a small, but loyal, company of hard-working women, who are not only deeply interested in the Village church, but also in other worthy causes, as may be seen any week-day or night at the "Little Chapel" on Magnolia avenue.

There are some anxious fathers and mothers here these days for their sons have been called into the service of their country to fight the world's greatest enemy of civilization, but there are no "slackers" among them and they will not disgrace the good names they bear. Among those who have already reported for service are Harold Dunbar, who has already seen service "on the border," Guy B. Symonds and Egnar Swanson, who is in the navy.

ONE CHILD, THREE DOLLARS

To the Editor:

Children are the world's most precious possession. There are no brighter or more beautiful children anywhere than the little Armenians, the victims of Turkish cruelty, many thousands of whom are now on the very brink of starvation. The committee for Armenian and Syrian Relief tell us that three dollars will feed one child for a month. Will not everyone whose means permit it, sacrifice some small luxury, and buy the life of a child?

The whole need is too vast to be met. Many of the children will perish. But every gift means that some child will live who would otherwise die. Contributions should be sent to the Treasurer of the Armenian Relief fund, Henry D. Forbes, National Shawmut Bank, Boston, Mass.

MOTOR CARS IN UNITED STATES.

Iowa led the United States in 1916 in the number of motor cars registered in proportion to population. She had one car for every 11 persons. California was a close second with one car to every 13 inhabitants. Nebraska and South Dakota had one for every 13. Arkansas could show but one for every 116.

The average for the United States is one car for every 29 persons, according to figures presented by the office of public roads, United States department of agriculture, in Circular 73, "Automobile Registrations, Licenses and Revenues in the United States, 1916."

The price of the BREEZE, at news-stands, has been advanced to 10 cents a copy for the six-month period, May to October, inclusive, at least, and possibly after that. John Banks of Mendham, N. J., was a visitor a portion of the past week at Beverly Farms, the guest of his aunt, Mrs. Peter F. Ward, Valley st. Mr. Banks is a star pitcher and is playing this season at Worcester.

A reception was given Tuesday evening at G. A. R. hall to the Beverly Farms young men who have enlisted in the U. S. service, most of whom went away on Wednesday. The affair was by Preston W. R. corps and Andrew Standley camp, S. of V. Refreshments were served and each one presented with a "comfort kit." They were wished God-speed, good luck and a safe return. The soldier boys responded through Thomas Brady, and expressed their thanks and appreciation. The singing of "America" closed the event.

The registered men in Ward 6, of whom there were a total of 152, were of course exceedingly interested in learning whether or not their red ink numbers were drawn. While the list is incomplete and awaits the official verification from Washington, the following are some of the first drawn: Paul Breno, George P. Kehoe, Alex. Stein, Martin J. O'Malley, John A. Trowt, James Sewall Day, J. M. Jeffrey, Alfred Lematais, James J. McManus, Q. A. Shaw McKean, John J. Bresnahan, Jr., Aug. H. Sullivan, Hershel Lutes, Roco Sarocia, Wm. Bontritsa, Swen Johnson, Samuel Vaughan, Thomas J. Riordan, Vincent Prato, James J. Butler and James L. Logue. Several other names will probably be added to the above list.

Of interest to the Ward 6 men who were registered for the draft is the fact that their red ink numbers commence at 1946 and run to 2090 inclusive.

There will be a dancing party given by the St. George associates in aid of the widows and orphans of the British soldiers and sailors, in Neighbors hall on Tuesday evening, Aug. 14.

Ezra P. Williams of Preston post 188, G. A. R., was reminded of his 70th birthday the latter part of last week by receiving an official note of congratulation from Preston W. R. C. and a birthday cake from Andrew Standley camp, S. of V.

Connolly Bros. had their Ford coupelet stolen at Boston last Friday. It was left for a short time on Beacon st., near the State House, and when looked for had disappeared. It was found on Saturday, three miles out of Worcester, abandoned along the side of the road, and not much the worse for its trip. The thieves got away.

Miss Mary Fullerton, returning from a walk on Monday evening, was pleasantly surprised to find 15 of her friends gathered at her home. She was showered with all sorts of kitchen utensils of tin and aluminum. After the surprise the evening was happily spent at music and refreshments. Miss Fullerton is soon to become the bride of Timothy Hayes of the Beverly Police force.

The roll of honor of the Beverly Farms boys, who have answered the call to the colors, most of whom marched away on Wednesday, or previously, includes the following: Lt. Herman Macdonald, John Murphy, Hugh O'Brien, Frank Kelleher, Reginald McDonnell, Robt. Connell, Roy Woodbury, Wm. Nolan, Michael Cadigan, Battery F, in camp at Boxford; Thomas Brady of Headquarters Co. B, 1st Field Art. of Allston, who also went away on Wednesday; Geo. Drinkwater of the Field Hospital unit, Henry Wright of the Harvard unit, John Neville, the regular army, Wilbur Hardy, wireless operator in the Naval Reserves.

One of those who marched away this week to the tune of "The Girl I left Behind Me" was Walter Lerner, a nephew of Mrs. Wilbur J. Pierce of Beverly Farms and a grandson of Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Hoffman of Manchester. Young Lerner was on the Mexican border, is a member of the Somerville Co. and went to the training camp in Georgia on Wednesday. There were various side attractions and refreshment table. Nearly everybody who was asked bought tickets or helped out in some way, with the result that a goodly sum was presented to the boys for pocket realized, divided into equal parts and money. The event was a most pleasant one and certainly must have made the boys feel good. Misses Margaret McCarthy, Mary McTiernan and Emily McDonnell, popular telephone operators were leaders in the management of the affair and were assisted by a number of other young ladies.

WHY BOYS LEAVE THE FARM.

"Why did you leave the farm, my lad? Why did you bolt and quit your dad? Why did you beat it off to town, and turn your poor old father down? Thinkers of platform, pulpit, press, are wallowing in deep distress; they seek to know the hidden cause why farmer boys desert their pas. Some say they long to get a taste of faster life and social waste; some say the silly little chumps mistake the suit-cards for the trumps, in wagering fresh and germless air against the smoky thoroughfare. We're all agreed the farm's the place; so free your mind and state your case!"

"Well, stranger, since you've been so frank, I'll roll aside the hazy bank, the misty cloud of theories, and show you where the trouble lies. I left my dad, his farm, his plow, because my calf became his cow. I left my dad —'twas wrong, of course—because my colt became his horse. I left my dad to sow and reap, because my lamb became his sheep. I dropped my hoe and stuck my fork, because my pig became his pork. The garden-truck that I made grow—'twas his to sell, but mine to hoe. It's not the smoke in the atmosphere; nor the taste for 'life' that brought me here. Please tell the platform, pulpit press, no fear of toil or love of dress is driving off the farmer lads, but just the methods of their dads!"—J. Edward Tuff.

MAY TAKE THIRTY

FIRST CALL IN DRAFT MAY TAKE OVER THIRTY FROM MANCHES-TER, BUT MANY ARE EXEMPT.

There was considerable excitement in Manchester on Friday evening of last week over the drawing of Manchester men in the big lottery which was held in Washington that day to secure the men for the first big national army. All day long Oliver T. Roberts, who was the Manchester man on the exemption board for the 23rd district, was besieged with questioners interested in the draft either for themselves or some relative or friend. Mr. Roberts and Town Clerk Floyd were both unable to supply the "red ink" numbers by which the registrants were drawn. Mr. Roberts went to Beverly in the afternoon where the exemption board was in session and in the evening Mr. Floyd also made a trip to Beverly, returning with a copy of the list of numbers of the Manchester men. Checking the newspaper reports of the drawing by the "red ink" lists, it was possible in the evening to give a partial list of those whose numbers were drawn in the first groups.

There was considerable misunderstanding about the drawing owing to changes made in Washington at the last minute. Instead of several drawings when men were needed to fill the ranks as planned under the original scheme, there was only one drawing which took the number of every man who registered on June 5. This was confusing to many who thought because a man's number was drawn he was liable for immediate call. There were needless hours of anxiety for many. Another false impression abroad was that Manchester must furnish a certain quota and no more. On the contrary it was possible for Manchester to have furnished the entire quota for the district, or to have furnished none at all, but of course as the drawing resulted this did not happen.

It was determined that the quota for this district, which includes Beverly, Hamilton, Essex, Wenham and Manchester, was 358. This number was reduced, however, by enlistments to the extent of 213, making the net quota for the district 145. Of this number it is possible that 34 Manchester men may be summoned before the examining board in the process of securing the required number.

The newspaper tables of the draft numbers gave them in the order in which they were drawn at Washington last Friday. By finding the corresponding "red ink" number in the Town Clerk's list it was possible to learn who was drawn. There are 2707 men in this district. The Manchester men are listed as 2120 to 2390, inclusive. To secure the first 145 men in this district the examining board will summon the registrants in the order in which their numbers were drawn in Washington and keep drawing until the quota is made up. As there are only 2707 in the district any numbers drawn above 2707 should be eliminated from the tables in finding the order men in this district must report. It is estimated that not more than one man in three will be physically fit or free from exemption, so at least 435 from the entire district must be summoned to get the quota.

The BREEZE has compiled a table of red ink numbers of the men in the first 3000 drawn in Washington, which group it is said will be used in making up the first great national army. The order in which the men were drawn is given in the third column of the appended table and the order in which they must report at Beverly on the first call is found in the last column.

FOOD ENOUGH FOR AN ARMY

"Can" and "no waste" are the watch words at the home of Mrs. S. V. R. Crosby. Potatoes are growing in the orchard, and have been increased about five times over last year on the place. Sweet corn and other vegetables have been doubled.

At the Reginald Boardman home an acre of extra potatoes is seen and half an acre of corn besides an increase in beans and corn.

The Charles E. Cotting home has added more potatoes to the usual food supply.

At the Walter D. Denègre place the vegetable planting has been doubled and canning and preserving is in progress to provide for all of the workers on the place.

Mrs. Charles C. Walker is doing much canning and preserving. The destination of the products has not yet been decided upon but will be used where most needed. The vegetable crops have been doubled on the place this season.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur M. Merriam have an extra new potato patch reaching the length of their front lawn.

Smith's Point, Manchester, has some extensive vegetable gardens. Mrs. George Putnam has, besides her usual nice garden, a half-acre plowed up on her front lawn and planted in potatoes. A particularly beautiful hedge is seen on this place separating the vegetable garden from the croquet grounds. The pretty little garden with its low box border and old-fashioned flowers lies close to this vegetable garden.

Mrs. William Lowell Putnam has a wide stretch of lawn, about two acres, planted in potatoes. About one-eighth of an acre has also been added to the ordinary garden. A few things never before planted are 1200 cabbages and a few pumpkins. Three vegetable gardens thrive where two sufficed formerly. (The garden investigation on this place was quite pleasant, for the gardener showed a delightful path which led through the rose garden and down through the woody place to Lobster Cove.

Mrs. W. Scott Fitz has made a garden on land lying by the Essex County club grounds. This land has not been used by Mrs. Fitz for about nine years.

Mrs. Rebecca McM. Cofelt has a nice general garden at the Means place which she is occupying this season. Last season she spent at Beverly Cove.

On the Augustus Hemenway place under the supervision of George E. Cabot is an acre of extra potatoes.

At "Sunny Bank," the Albert I. Croll home about three-fourths of an acre of potatoes are growing on the lawn.

George R. White has an extra acre of potatoes, and more onions and vegetables that can be preserved in his usual garden. The walk down to the vegetables leads over the beautifully kept sloping lawn, through a charming little formal rose garden centered with a fountain, and thence to the gardens. The velvety lawns are very striking at "Lilliothea," and the big house topping the hill and the tall flag pole nearby are noticeable features on the Point.

At the Boylston A. Beal place is the usual garden besides a big potato patch made from what was formerly a general garden.

Towards Manchester Cove is the Phillip Dexter place. The cutting flower garden has been planted with vegetables and now "Boulderwood" shows an acre and a half of general vegetables.

Dr. George H. Washburn is expecting several barrels of potatoes from his front lawn garden, a space about 50x20, now bearing an "artistic" crop of white blossoms.

Miss Mary F. Bartlett has increased her general vegetable and potato crops and is planning on disposing of the surplus in the most needed way.

Mrs. Greely S. Curtis has gardens at Manchester Cove for the various Curtis families, all of which are typical Shore food gardens.

At the F. Meredyth Whitehouse place much has been planted. Two acres of potatoes, large turnips for cattle food, and extra corn, beans, carrots and other things are now thriving at "Crowhurst."

Mrs. Gardiner Martin Lane has planted the entire front lawn of "The Chimneys" in a great potato patch.

Community Gardens at Manchester

Manchester has some interesting community gardens which are now making a fine showing. Mrs. Walter L. Harris of Salem and formerly of Manchester gave 15 acres for garden purposes, about eight acres of which are under cultivation.

Mrs. Frederick T. Bradbury of Smith's Point gave three acres, all of which are cultivated.

Flourishing community gardens are also noted on Tuck's Point, and the public library grounds of Manchester come in for much admiration from the unusual sight of the potato vines which are so luxuriant around this classic looking little building.

The Shore residents among whom are the Ayers, the Alex. Cochranes, the H. C. Fricks, the F. L. Higginson, Jr.'s, the H. P. McKean, Jr.'s, the F. P. Fraziers, the J. H. Lancashires and the J. Warren Merrills are some of those classed with the "farmers" of the Hamilton region, therefore their food gardens do not come within the scope of this article, all of them having estates in the farming country.

Coolidge's Point is adding its "bit" in the food supply. Aside from the general nice little gardens on this rather limited land is the Italian garden on the Hon. T. Jefferson Coolidge place which is doing its patriotic duty by growing some vegetables within its box bordered beds.

In this "gardening" trip, much of which was done by walking and over the telephone, some gardens may have been overlooked, but not intentionally so.

The North Shore has done its share, and, as one resident says, we shall have to eat potatoes three times a day to get rid of them.

What I must do is all that concerns me, not what the people think. It is easy in the world to live after the world's opinion; it is easy in solitude to live after our own; but the great man is he who in the midst of the crowd keeps with perfect sweetness the independence of solitude.—Emerson.

Why remember the past unless to help you through the future? Have courage; and then—new things: greater happiness, clearer sunshine, and in the end a country where you may stay forever. Not less life, but more, greater, fuller, grander.—Fielding Hall.

A true garden, like a life well lived, is forever becoming, forever in process, forever leading on toward new goals.—Eaton.

Do not try to fly up the ladder of success. Ladders must be climbed. And as you climb do not forget that just behind you is another. Lend him a hand.—Margaret Slattery.

DEMOCRACY VS. EFFICIENT AUTOCRACY.

In the appeal of Herbert C. Hoover for support of the food conservation campaign the duty of the Americans "who stay at home" is clearly defined. Response or failure to respond to the request places an individual in the position of aiding either America or her enemies. He says:

"Only by self-sacrifice in America can war be won. Autocracy has been for years organizing its resources to the end that they have placed one out of seven of their population on the fighting line and have so mobilized the civilian population as to afford them complete support. They have suppressed production of every luxury and reduced even every necessity. Their arrogant confidence that they will become masters of the world is based on the belief that the materialism, the selfishness, and the jealousy of individual interests in democracy make it impossible for it to organize such a strength. They do not deny the bravery of the men of democracy in battle, but comfort themselves in the belief that we have not the self-sacrifice at home for their support. Our problem is not alone to mobilize our civilian population for the support of our fighting men, but we have also the responsibility of the support of the fighting men of our allies. We must feed our allies that their people remain constant in war. Liberty cannot be maintained on the empty stomachs of the women and children. Out of our abundance, by eliminating waste and extravagance, it is in our power, and in our power alone, to hold the wolf from the door of the world. Our obligation is greater than war itself—humanity demands it of us. There is no dictatorship in volunteer effort. It is by voluntary mobilization that we can answer autocracy with democracy. It is as great in efficiency and greater in spirit."

tion facilities in cities having more than 30,000 inhabitants. In all but two of the 213 cities covered by the report certain areas owned by the municipalities are specifically set aside as public parks. The aggregate number of these parks, as reported for the fiscal year 1916, was 3857, and their combined area amounted to 117,006 acres, or 183 square miles.

By far the greater number of parks, 417, was reported for Washington, D. C., but the greatest park area—7713 acres, or about 12 square miles—is shown for New York city. Other cities with large park areas are Philadelphia, with 5500 acres; Los Angeles, with 4127 acres; Chicago, with 3815 acres; Denver, with 3719 acres; Washington, D. C., with 3067 acres; and Minneapolis, with 3038 acres. The largest single park owned by any city is Fairmount Park in Philadelphia, which has an area of 3526 acres, or 5½ square miles; and the next largest, a park of 3027 acres, or more than 4½ square miles, is reported for Los Angeles.

The states of Massachusetts and Rhode Island maintain metropolitan park systems. That of Massachusetts covers 38 cities and towns, including Boston and Cambridge. The The Palisades interstate park system is administered jointly by New York and New Jersey.

All but 18 of the 213 cities of over 30,000 inhabitants maintained playgrounds (not including those open only to school children during the school year), the total number of such playgrounds being 2190 and their average area being a trifle more than two acres. The largest number, 185, is shown for New York, and the next largest, 160, for Philadelphia.

The expenditure for recreation purposes (excluding outlays) in cities of over 30,000 inhabitants during the fiscal year 1916 aggregated $21,637,007, or 67 cents per capita. The greatest per capita expenditures under this head which are shown for

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE.

America's foremost "Singing Comedienne," Nora Bayes comes to B. F. Keith's Theatre, Boston, for one week only, starting July 30 with a clever repertoire of songs and a fine assortment of new costumes which will interest the women. From all reports her songs are all new and the reception the "Singing Comedienne" has received elsewhere on this Keith circuit has been nothing short of wonderful. Miss Bayes is also doing her bit to aid "Uncle Sam" having recently purchased a big vegetable farm on Long Island. Thus far the famous actress has given a large amount of her products to the New York Home for the Aged and the Crippled Children's Hospital on Blackwell's Island. The patrons of Keith's will see Miss Bayes at her

One of the best attractions of the summer is offered for the Boston Theatre commencing next week and

They are two clever jugglers and have a happy faculty of breaking dishes and other decorations.

Mobilization!

The boys of the National Guard have been called to the colors. Preparations for departure are under way. The boys need things. Some will buy their needs. Others will be given them. But whatever is bought, whatever is given,—must be useful, must be compact, must be well made—for war is no afternoon tea. The articles must be of a quality that will bear, and bear well, the hard service to which they will be put.

Of such quality are the items described below. Military men and their friends are urged to note them carefully. Sensible articles all—things that will win the hearty approval of those who buy them or those to whom they are given.

And then there are the keepsakes—little tokens of sentiment that pass between those who go and those who stay. Here and there in the list below will be noted some things that will fulfill the mission of reminders, and as such be much cherished.

We believe that quality and worth are economy; that good enough never can usurp the best; that the customer is generally right; that loyalty to the loftiest standards of our calling is as imperative as deference to the client's wish; and that when we have ceased to be apprentices to progress we have failed at our biggest task.

We strive to please our patrons with the same service and quality that experience has proved to be pleasing to ourselves.

Many noble-hearted women today are carrying bags like this. They are of beautiful cretonne or bright-hued silk and they lend a picturesque, quaint note to one's costume;—somewhat suggestive of other times when American women were rallying staunchly to the support of a war-tried nation, just as they are today.

Perhaps you already have a bag of this sort. Its uses are many. You may carry in it the knitting you are doing for the Red Cross work, and besides it will easily hold the little parcels that you buy at the stores and do not mind carrying with you, as well as the little accessories it is always convenient to carry.

Every woman, young or younger, should produce some article for the comfort of our soldier boys, with her own fingers and some knitting needles.

It is more than kindness, it is more than an expression of esteem. It is real patriotism. Many of our boys are not yet accustomed to the rigorous life of the army camp.

Marblehead the Mecca For Many Well-Known People

Folk Who "Do Things" Find
Rest in Quaint Old Town

By KATHERINE GAUSS

LAST week the writer dealt with some of the interesting women in Marblehead during the summer, and now to include some of the opposite sex, who are doing things worth while, and are making a section of Marblehead into one of the most delightful sections on the North Shore.

To Mr. and Mrs. Silas B. Duffield of Front street, belongs the honor of what will be, in days to come, an artist colony, something totally lacking until their appearance in the town. This young couple have been for many years now, residents of Marblehead; they have bought the old Col. Jonathan Glover house and an adjoining house on Front street and these houses have been fitted with attic studios unusually attractive. Here under the genial care of these delightful people; artists and students are flocking to paint some of the glories of Marblehead in summer.

Mr. Duffield is an artist himself, and his Marblehead views in oils are exceptionally well done, and set off to best advantage in frames made by himself, for he is a wood carver of considerable talent. With all this, he is as well a worker in marble, and models in clay and bronze.

A visit to the Duffield sitting room on a warm summer evening reveals a gathering of people well worth while. Frank Flanagan, the Boston artist, who has returned from several years of study in Paris, to set up a studio in an old Marblehead house, down near the old Floyd Ireson place. A house filled with surprises, such as old colored window panes, hand-wrought cranes, old-fashioned shutters and colsets set into the backs of the huge fireplaces. Mr. Flanagan is a painter of exteriors and his exhibitions in the Paris salon, and in this country have revealed him an artist of pronounced ability. Mr. Larsen, the sculptor, is also a member of the Duffield household, but only on Sundays and holidays can he be reached, for all day long he is in Boston, hard at work with designs for gardens and terraces, and interior work for wealthy homes.

Another artist, who has made his home in Marblehead—

The Appleton Farms at Ipswich, on Historic Ground

This Beautiful Place, of More Than a Thousand Acres, in Family Since 1633

By LILLIAN McCANN

Monument at the Round Point in the Rides at Appleton Farms, Ipswich

IPSWICH chronicles compiled by the Rev. Thomas Franklin Waters in his history of the town in the Mass. Bay Colony, 1633-1700, contains an interesting item in regard to the beautiful "Appleton Farms."

The first Appleton, the immigrant, had land near the property of the Ipswich Historical society. It was a large farm "containing, foure hundred and sixty acres, more or less, meadow and upland as it lyeth, bounded by the River commonly called the Mile brook on the northeast and by the great River on the northwest, on the west in part by the Land of William Warener and by a swamp on the southeast, and partly also at the same end by the Land of Hugh Sherrat" ("entered into the Town booke—the 20th of December, 1638"). Mr. Waters adds: "This great farm has always remained in his family, except some small portions, most of which have been repurchased by his descendants. His son, Major Samuel, built a saw mill on Mile River near the bridge. It is the only estate probably in our Town which has descended without break to the present generation."

The farm has grown somewhat since those early days and now about one thousand acres of beautiful farmland and woodland comprise what is known as "Appleton Farms." Miles of grassy rides wind through the place over which it is a pleasure to ride these days. The rides were begun by the late Daniel Fuller Appleton, who cut away the brush and trees so that he might drive in and about the woods and pasture lands. His son, Francis R. Appleton of "New House" has widened and perfected the roads. Some beautiful pines are here and there along these lonely drives,—standing like sentinels over the aged forest. Many spots are dear to the Appleton children and their descendants, and there is scarcely a point without its associations.

The old ancestral home now occupied by Mrs. Daniel

F. Appleton and the Misses Julia and Sibyl Appleton was built in 1794. It is surrounded by fine old trees and is built on the site of a house that had probably been there for one hundred years. Time seems long and real when riding through this place.

At "New House," the home of Mr. and Mrs. Francis R. Appleton (a house built in 1880, and comparatively a new place for the farm), has been added a garden of great beauty and charm. It lies back of the big white house with its green blinds and pretty terrace and hedges and is entered by a descent of a few steps at a most attractive entrance.

The garden is long and of a formal nature, centered with a grassy court in the midst of which is a fountain. Gravel walks lead around the sides and ends through a double row of flowers, mostly of a perennial and annual nature growing in box-bordered beds.

The rose garden is entered at the lower end through an archway in a pine hedge and also a rose hedge. Tea roses are growing in eight formal beds and also other roses are gracefully bending around the walls, made of pine hedges mostly. Only one stucco wall is noticed about the whole garden, the hedges of pine seeming to be the most fitting and natural.

The large formal garden has ornamental red crab trees placed at intervals along the borders of flowers.

It is said that all gardens are good, but some are better than others. All have a peculiar charm. Perhaps the visitor in the Appleton garden for the first time views the pretty picture layed out, but thinks mostly of the historic interests connected with the broad acres lying so beautiful and peaceful, since time began, around the little garden spot.

From the rose garden is a vista out over the meadows and woods and a grass ride. This ride leads indirectly to the monument at the round point in the rides on the farm about a mile away.

It is a gray granite pinnacle, one of the twenty-six on Gore Hall, which was formerly the library at Harvard college. Gore Hall was built in 1838, was demolished in 1913 for the new general library, known as the Harry Elkins Widener Memorial library. This was given by his mother, Mrs. George D. Widener, now Mrs. A. Hamilton Rice. Harry Elkins Widener, Harvard '07, lost his life in the Titanic. The pinnacle was placed in "Appleton Farms" August 5, 1914. Among the engravings upon it is a poem by Mrs. Payne Whitney (Helen Hay) of New York.

Mr. Appleton's sister, Mrs. Charles S. Tuckerman of Ipswich, has written the following poem about the pinnacle:

CROWN OF LIFE.

*See here the pinnacle brought low from place
Of honor where the wise dream dreams and plan
Great deeds. Here now it looks into the face
Of children near and hears the voice of man.
So humbled it has joy not known before,
In this its lowliness has touch and sight
Of tender human things and sees the door
Of souls stand wide and knows the might
Of sympathy. It has come down to strife
Of earth. It has found here its Crown of Life.*

—R. T.

Coming back to the present,—"Appleton Farms" is in the midst of the busy haying season this week and its big meadows seem to be yielding an abundant crop.

Isle of Ferns-by-the-Sea

New Name for Island That is Not an Island at Manchester

Isle of Ferns-by-the-Sea is accessible to main-land by carriage

THE ISLE OF FERNS-BY-THE-SEA! How romantic! Yet it sounds much more attractive and less belligerent than Ram Island, by which name the little island, just off the tip end of Smith's Point, Manchester, has been known for generations. The dictionary tells us the word "ram" is used to explain what sometimes happens to vessels in war-times. It is what will happen to some of those German submarines if they show themselves in this vicinity, we surmise. The dictionary also tells us "ram" is a male sheep. But whatever the ram-ifications of the term, the present owner has decided to change the name to Isle of Ferns-by-the-Sea. Now "Isle" is not new to the North Shore by any means. But "Ferns"! That's the mystery. Ferns! Isn't the owner of this newly-named isle the same man—Walter L. Harris of Salem—who was the founder and proprietor of the now famous Fern-Croft Inn, at Middleton, prior to the days of autos? And isn't he the same one who built of logs, that most unique dining resort on the Shore at Marblehead seven or eight year ago, called Fern-Croft Cabin, now leased by Almy Bigelow & Washburn of Salem, Beverly and Gloucester, as a recreation house for their employees? We wonder if it is Mr. Harris' intention to call the cabin which he has had built on the island the past winter by the same suggestive name. Isle of Ferns-by-the Sea, by-the-way, has been under the spotlight more or less the last hundred years. Some claimed it belonged to the town of Manchester, others that it was the property of private individuals. It remained for Mr. Harris to win title to the island last year by having it passed through the land courts. While it is an island during a certain part of every day of the year, it is not always such, for when the tide is out it is plainly connected with the mainland, so much so that one may drive across in a carriage. About fifty years ago this man (then a boy) entered the Holyoke Insurance office. He is now its president and treasurer.

[NOTE:—Mr. Harris informs us he has changed the name of his property formerly known as Little Ram Island to Isle of Ferns-by-the-Sea, because there are two Ram islands in Manchester harbor.—Ed.]

A Bit of History! About the Loring Estate at Pride's Crossing

The Original 100 Acres Bought in 1845 Still in Delightfully Wild and Picturesque State

THE AVENUES of the North Shore have ever a sense of mystery and charm to the passer-by. Where and what do they lead to? What bit of history could be revealed if one were allowed to turn in wherever inclined? But the sign "Private Grounds" keeps many a would-be discoverer to the straight and narrow path of the "brown velvet" roads of the North Shore.

But you may go with me, if you like, down that beautiful avenue turning seaward off Hale street between the Pride's Crossing station and Mingo beach. You know it as the one bordered on either side by great elms, 15 on each side, whose tops form a magnificent canopy for the drive. Elms, 72 years old, said to have been brought from Danvers, these are the living monuments to the founder of the estate.

Long ago a Boston lawyer, tired and broken in health by his strenuous work, sought the North Shore in quest of a farm. Charles Cushing Paine had purchased his farm of about 100 acres at Beverly Farms in 1844. (It was not known as Pride's Crossing until between 1850-55.) This lawyer, Charles G. Loring, noticed the beauty of the place lying between Mingo beach and the Paine estate, so in 1845 he purchased 100 acres mostly from a Mr. Smith who had previously bought direct from the Indians settled upon it. Then he built his summer home in 1846.

The original house is still standing and is occupied by the Jacksons, his grandchildren.

In 1848 and '49 the Irish famine was a world calamity. Mr. Loring, Mr. Forbes and another gentleman sent a ship loaded with food for its relief. The English government was grateful and in return Prince Albert sent some fine Alderney cows to Mr. Loring. So a great barn was added to the place and kept stocked with these rare English cattle. The old barn, which was a wonder in its day, is still standing, and part is in use now as a garage.

It is built in three stories, the lower still showing the stalls for the cows and the second floor (now the garage) was the carriage house and contained the horse stalls and harness rooms, etc., while the third floor housed the great hay loft. The top floor is also reached from the outside by an inclined gravel driveway with a bridge over the washstands below.

At one time the many cows, the pig pens, the extensive chicken yards, and the usual activities of a farm made the old barn the center of a life that now can be only dimly realized.

A great swing was hung from the massive beams for the Loring children.

This was also shared with other children, for, along in the 1850's Pride's Crossing had the honor of having the Beverly high school located there. The little brown schoolhouse is still standing near the avenue leading to Judge Loring's. The schoolhouse with its typical roof can be plainly discerned. It was not wanted in Beverly, the town did not want to support a high school, so it was put as far as possible from the center in order to discourage young folk from attending. But they were not to be cheated out of their education and found Pride's Crossing none too far to come each morning to get what the little high school offered. Can you imagine these young boys and girls eating a hasty lunch and then ransacking the neighborhood for something to do to while away the noon hour? How appreciative they must have been of Mr. Loring's kindness in allowing them to use the big swing in his hay loft! The old barn came to be a part of the school routine, until, after a few years, the school grew so popular that it was taken to Beverly and has been well treated ever since. It is now one of the best in the states.

Mr. Loring shared his rare live stock with his neighbors throughout the county, and many a farmer began to raise Alderneys, pigs and chickens on a par with the Loring products.

Orchards of apples and pears were planted, which are still bearing fruit. And so the farm home grew.

As time went on the first one hundred acres became divided. Mr. Caleb William Loring built in 1852 on the eastern side, adding a drive through the woods and other lands held by various families. One peculiarity of this shore, as in other rural places, were the number of undivided shares of some old farm held, perhaps, through three generations.

General C. G. Loring built the house now lived in by the Quincy A. Shaws, and Augustus P. Loring lives in the "Off Lots," so-called by his grandfather, on Common lane. The Misses Loring live in the house built by their father and Judge Loring on a high hill, formerly called "Big Mountain" by the early settlers whose women folk used to go there before it was covered by the thick forest to see whether their husbands' fishing schooners were coming in from the Banks.

And so the order changeth, it is well for us to record briefly some of these traditions.

A walk over the grounds shows that all are in a delightfully wild and picturesque state. The babbling brook running through the grounds of the Misses Loring and Judge Loring, on its way down to Plum Cove beach and hence to the sea, is one of the most charming bits of nature on the Shore.

"Pompey's Garden" and the shores around the cove are associated with by-gone days. It was here that Pompey, an old ex-slave, lived, who used to play his fiddle while Beverly young folk danced merrily on the green. It was known as Pompey's "dell," and it is said he raised delicious strawberries. These berries and cream must have been a treat to the dancers.

In 1837 a great storm blew all of the trees down in the vicinity and from "Big Mountain" it was easy to see down Gloucester way. So the fine trees through the Loring grounds are less than a hundred years old.

Where the Misses Sturgis of Boston Spend the Summer

A CHARMING LITTLE GARDEN NOOK is secluded at "Rookwood," the Manchester home of the Misses Sturgis. On the hillside facing the water the little garden spot is lying enclosed with a low brick wall. The flowers are mostly perennials of the old fashioned kinds. Nothing formal or elaborate is noted in the place, the garden seeming to be a part of the natural belongings to the wild, rocky, woody place. The driveway leading in from Summer street winds through the woods up to the low red brick house with its green blinds and white trimmings. Graves island, or Dana's island as it is sometimes called, lies close to the shore at this point/Dana's beach nearby is one of the prettiest little beaches along. The Manchester shores. In this quiet and secluded spot is where the Richard H. Danas chose their summer home long ago when the North Shore was beginning to be known as a choice spot near Boston. Next to the Sturgis home is "Sharksmouth," the home of Mrs. Greeley S. Curtis, whose daughter, Miss Margaret Curtis, and Miss Mabel Sturgis are doing war refugee work in Paris.

"All Oaks", West Manchester, the Summer Home of Mrs. Edward S. Grew

"ALL OAKS" is the West Manchester home of Mrs. Edward S. Grew of Boston. The large stucco house of Colonial style with its six magnificent columns makes an imposing sight and is a landmark for the Manchester waters. Smith's Point and the islands seemingly a part of it cut off by narrow ways (Ram and House islands) are just across and add much to the waterview of the place.

A grassy terrace fronts the house and is surrounded by a wall covered with luxuriant American ivy. At one side of the house, just off the terrace, is a pretty spot made by roses climbing over rocks around two pools of much beauty. Heliotropes of both the tall and dwarf species are also very effective near the pools.

It is here that the beautiful fountain group, "The

ALONG the SHORE

MISS LOUISE McALLISTER will be the first bride of the mid-summer season upon the North Shore. Her marriage to Nevil Ford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Ford of Chestnut Hill, will take place next Monday, Aug. 6, at 4 o'clock, in the First Unitarian church in Manchester. The Rev. Paul Revere Frothingham of the Arlington street church in Boston will officiate. The bride's only attendant will be her young cousin, Miss Barbara Farnham, of Chestnut Hill, who is a niece of Mrs. McAllister. The best man will be Dr. Whittington Gorham of Albany, N. Y., a cousin of the bridegroom. A reception will be held at "Clipstone," the beautiful summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Boylston A. Beal, where the McAllisters are spending the season. The number of guests to witness the marriage will be small and confined to the relatives and more intimate friends, owing to the limited seating capacity of the little church. Miss McAllister's engagement was announced by her mother, Mrs. Hall McAllister, over a year ago. She is an accomplished musician, who is well known to the North Shore as the charming accompanist in the musicales arranged each season by Mrs. McAllister. Mr. Ford is a graduate of Harvard, class of 1913.

Mr. and Mrs. John N. Willys and their charming young daughter arrived at Manchester last Saturday afternoon in their chartered Pullman car, "Palm Beach." They are to spend the balance of the summer at "The Rocks," the estate of the late Eben D. Jordan, at West Manchester.

Mrs. Charles Arthur Carlisle, the Misses Anne and Kathryn Carlisle of West Manchester, and Mrs. F. S. Fish, Mrs. J. M. Studebaker, and Mrs. Breaux Ballard of Magnolia made up a party going to Rye Beach Tuesday for the lecture on war work by Miss Richards. Mrs. Ballard is of Louisville, Ky., and is spending a few weeks with her little daughter, Mary Jane, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Fish.

Miss Rosamond Lancaster has returned to her home on Smith's Point, Manchester, from Bretton Woods, where she has spent a week as the guest of Mrs. John Wanamaker.

Mrs. John Wood Blodgett's home at Pride's Crossing will be opened for Mrs. Hall McAllister's musicale this (Friday) afternoon. This is one of the best programs that Mrs. McAllister has offered and the house (Mrs. L. M. Sargent's) is of exceptional size and attractiveness for a musicale. The artists will be Mme. Sundelius, Arthur Hackett and Miss Carolyn Cone. Mrs. Constance Freeman Hackett and Miss Louise McAllister will be the accompanists.

Mrs. Z. Boylston Adams of Manchester has received a cablegram telling of the safe arrival in France of Dr. Adams.

COOLIDGE'S POINT colony has its own branch of war relief work and is confining its attentions, with a marked degree of success, to work for the French Wounded. First in the work is Mrs. Reginald Foster (Harriette Storey Lawrence), who has opened her house here for the work. Assisting in the work are Mrs. T. J. Coolidge, Mrs. S. H. Fessenden, Mrs. Ernest W. Longfellow, Miss C. F. Anderson, Mrs. W. A. M. Burden, Mrs. John T. Clark, Mrs. R. T. Paine, 2d, Mrs. George F. Willett and Mrs. James B. Waller.

Guests expected at "Crowncliff," the Eugene Gray Foster summer home at Coolidge's Point, Magnolia, are Mrs. G. L. Buckley and son, B. Lord Buckley of New York. The Buckleys will remain through August. Other guests of interest at the Foster home will be Mr. and Mrs. Walter David Gibson of New York, who will spend part of August here. Mrs. Gibson (nee Anne Southerland), is a sister of Mrs. Foster. A. F. Southerland, their father, is also at "Crowncliff."

Miss Dorothy Tenney of Marlboro street, Boston, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Benjamin Tenney, former residents at Manchester Cove, was a guest over the week-end of Misses Abbie and Helen Covel at their pretty summer villa on Lexington avenue, Magnolia. Miss Tenney is a student at Vassar college.

Very wise, indeed, was the choosing of Mrs. William H. Coolidge of "Blynman Farm," Magnolia, for the chairmanship of the Manchester Red Cross work. The vacancy was caused by the retirement of Mrs. Boylston A. Beal, the chairman, who resigned to go to Europe to continue in assistance of relief work in England. Mrs. Coolidge is ever successful in anything which she undertakes to accomplish, and with a winning personality calls forth the best abilities of her co-workers.

The Essex County Red Cross is planning an unusually fine concert for the close of the series. The last one will be Saturday, Aug. 11, 4 o'clock, at the home of Mrs. W. B. Thomas, Pride's Crossing. The artists are Hans Ebell, a young Russian pianist, and Mrs. Mary Fay, a charming amateur singer. Tickets may be obtained at the door or of the following: Mrs. F. L. Higginson, Jr., Manchester; Mrs. Neal Rantoul, Beverly Farms; Miss Harriet Dexter and Mrs. Henry C. Clark, Pride's Crossing; Miss Louisa P. Loring, Red Cross headquarters, Mason block, Beverly, Tel. 770.

Mrs. Harold D. Walker (Corinna Searle) is spending the summer in Boston with her mother, Mrs. Charles P. Searle. This is the first season they have not been in Ipswich since the building of their beautiful home, "Ingdisby," which has been sold the past week. Mrs. Walker is a frequent guest upon the Shore these hot days at the home of Mrs. William H. Coolidge, Jr., at Magnolia.

THE engagement was announced within the past week, by Hon. and Mrs. George von L. Meyer, whose country home, "Rock Maple Farm," is at Hamilton, of their daughter, Miss Julia Appleton Meyer, to Giuseppe Brambilla, counsellor of the Italian embassy in Washington, and a member of the official staff of Count Macchi di Cellere, the Italian ambassador there. Miss Meyer long has been prominent socially, and she has a wide acquaintance in several American cities, as well as abroad, from years of residence in Europe. Like her younger sister, Mrs. Rodgers, wife of Lieutenant C. Raymond P. Rodgers, U. S. N., and who formerly was Miss Alys Appleton Meyer, Miss Julia Meyer has spent several years in Rome and in Petrograd, which was then St. Petersburg, during her father's term as United States ambassador in those capitals. She is also well known in Washington, New York and elsewhere. Miss Meyer is a talented linguist, is fond of athletics and always has been extremely popular among her intimates. Miss Meyer's sister, Alys, was married in April, 1913, in Washington, to Lieutenant Rodgers, and on that occasion Miss Julia Meyer was maid of honor. Lieutenant and Mrs. Rodgers have made their home in Boston, the past winter, having a house in Mount Vernon street. The brother of Mrs. Rodgers and of Miss Meyer is George von L. Meyer, Jr., Harvard, '13, who married Frances Saltonstall. Giuseppe Brambilla, who was born in Milan, in Italy, in 1879, entered the diplomatic service in 1903. He has been honored with the official title of Cavaliere. He went to his present post at the embassy in Washington in December, 1914. In that city he belongs to the Metropolitan club. He is considered as a strong member of the diplomatic corps, well posted in foreign affairs and exceptionally well fitted for his official duties.

Dr. Wilbur of California, president of the Unitarian School for the Ministry, will preach at the First Unitarian church, Masconomo street, Manchester, Sunday, August 5. All are welcome. Service at 11 o'clock; communion after the service.

Mrs. L. C. Fenno and her daughters of Rowley are much interested in the Surgical Dressings work of the neighborhood. Each Friday morning the young girls of Rowley meet for work at the Fenno home where they are served with luncheon and continue their work in the afternoon. Sometimes 35 or more are present.

Mrs. Henry A. Murray, Jr. (Josephine Rantoul), of New York is planning to spend about six weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Neal Rantoul, at Beverly Farms.

Mrs. Bayard Tuckerman, Jr., of Pride's Crossing, has her sister-in-law, Mrs. Evans R. Dick, Jr., with her this summer. Mrs. Dick usually spends the summer with her parents, the Bayard Tuckermans of "Sunswick," Ipswich.

E. C. Fitch has returned to his home at Norton's Neck, West Manchester, from his customary salmon fishing trip along the shores of Labrador.

Mr. and Mrs. Craig Culbertson have returned to Louisville, Ky., from a visit at Manchester with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel A. Culbertson. Mrs. Culbertson's sister, Miss Craig, has also left for Kentucky.

5 per cent of Sale to Red Cross

THE apex of the season's gayeties on the North Shore will be reached on Saturday afternoon, Aug. 18, when Judge William H. Moore will hold an exhibition of his show-ring horses at Rockmarge Driving Park at Pride's Crossing for the benefit of the American Red Cross. This annual event has always been eagerly looked forward to by the summer residents on the Shore, but as it has been, up to this year, a strictly invitation affair for Mr. and Mrs. Moore's personal friends, the public has not before had an opportunity of viewing the blue-blooded stock that has made Mr. Moore's stables known on both sides of the Atlantic. This year, however, owing to Mr. Moore's interest in the work that the Red Cross is doing for our boys both at home and abroad he has decided to increase the attendance at the horse show by admitting the public; and the entire proceeds of the exhibition, which will be identical in character with those of other years, will be turned over to this cause.

The committee in charge of the arrangements is composed of Miss Katharine W. Tweed, chairman; Mrs. Bayard Tuckerman, Jr., Miss Louisa P. Loring, Miss Alice Thorndike, Miss Eleonora R. Sears, Miss Mary Curtis, George S. Mandell and Bayard Warren. The grounds, which are spacious, afford admirable opportunity for viewing the high steppers, which will be shown in harness by Judge Moore and George Chipchase, Mr. Moore's trainer, assisted by prominent society women who have shown the horses in past seasons. An attractive feature has always been the class for ponies, shown by Mr. and Mrs. Moore's little grandchildren. These ponies have been bred by Judge Moore at his place, the Seaton Hackney Farm, at Morristown, N. J., and include Berkeley Bantam and the two-year-olds, Seaton Saxon and Sandringham. Other horses to be shown, also bred by Judge Moore and sired by his great horse, Marlborough, are Moncrieff, winner of the Waldorf-Astoria cup at the New York Horse Show at Madison Square Garden in 1916, who also took the blue at the Devon Horse Show and at Washington this year. Among the novice horses, seen in a show ring for the first time at this show, are Medea, Mona and King Malo, all three-year-olds, and the stallion Rock Pride, who will be shown in hand.

Other horses to be shown at the Rockmarge Horse Show more widely known on account of their winnings of blue ribbons and championships at the International Horse Show at Olympia in London, at New York and other centres are Lord Seaton, International champion for single horses, who will be seen both singly and in tandem; Bountiful, champion and grand champion of the International Horse Show; Micah, champion at Washington and at Madison Square Garden, and so on through the list, making the aggregate collection of horses the finest group of notable prize winners to be seen at one time. Perhaps interest centres most conspicuously on the class for four-in-hands, in which Judge Moore will drive his famous team of greys, winners of the Alfred Vanderbilt Memorial cup at Madison Square Garden last year. This great four is made up of Toronto, General, Lady Grey and Greybird. His park four of bays, winning wherever shown, will share the honors with the road four.

The show will begin punctually at 3.30 o'clock and the driving park is only a few steps from the Boston & Maine Railroad station.

There will be ample space for parking motors; and from the hillside and broad lawns, the spectators will have an excellent view of the driving park. Tents will be set up on the lawns to shelter the guests from the sun's rays.

Tickets to the horse show, at $2.50 each, are on sale at Herrick's, at Delaney's drug store, Beverly, Varney's drug store, Beverly Farms; Allen's drug store, Manchester; at the Oceanside Hotel, Magnolia; or may be had on application by mail to Bayard Warren, Pride's Crossing.

Chas. E. Hodges, Jr., the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Hodges of Brookline and Ipswich is one of the North Shore young men who is waiting to be called into the service. Because of his youth he gave up his training with the R. O. T. C. at Plattsburg and joined the naval aviation corps, and is now awaiting orders.

Rev. William H. Dewart of Manchester Cove, rector of Christ church, Boston, is visiting camp Greenbrier, near the White Sulphur Springs, West Virginia, where his sons are attending the summer military camp.

Hon. Charles Nagle, ex-Secretary of Commerce and Labor, under President Taft, will be the principal speaker, at the opening of the Benjamin Stickney Cable Memorial hospital in Ipswich, Saturday afternoon, Aug. 4. Mr. Nagle was a personal friend of Mr. Cable; in fact, Mr. Cable served under him as Asst. Secretary of Commerce and Labor.

The meeting on Food Production, arranged at the request of Mr. Hoover, to be held in the coach-house at the W. D. Denègre estate, West Manchester, next Monday, has been postponed until further notice.

The Manchester Red Cross society is doing excellent work in all of its departments. Next week an account of the sewing, knitting and bandage work will be given. The meetings in the workroom at the Engine House on Fridays (all day) are constantly increasing.

Mrs. Walter H. Holbrook of Manchester Cove is entertaining Dr. and Mrs. Eugene A. Darling of Cambridge. Over the week-end she will have her son, Donald Holbrook, who is in the radio service of the Naval Reserve, and his fiancée, Miss Katherine Darling. Mr. and Mrs. Roger Hatch have been house-guests the past week, but have now left for their home in St. Louis.

THE HAVEN ESTATE at Beverly Farms, as are all other large places, is having a busy haying season. But where else on the North Shore would you see a yoke of oxen drawing in the great loads of hay? The large red and white oxen were seen the other day pulling a loaded wagon over the meadow back of the house of Miss M. E. Haven and Mrs. Waldo O. Ross. They were looked after by a young boy, while several men were busy raking and loading. The boy never left their heads, although they seemed of a most obedient nature. This hayfield lies next to the water and right by the Joseph Leiter home.

The community gardens are busy places these days. Miss Haven gave a great field for the purpose and Sundays as well as other days the "man with the hoe" is a frequent sight near the beautiful Haven gardens, close to which lie the community gardens.

This fine old box-bordered garden is, perhaps, one of the oldest on the Shore. Nowhere else can box be seen so large and so luxuriant.

At the house upon the hill where Mrs. Franklin Haven and her brother, F. Munroe Endicott, reside there has been added a conservatory this season. It is filled with some rare plants, among them being fuchsias of great beauty. The old-fashioned fuchsia is seen everywhere at Haven estate. It has stood for many seasons as the chief plant in the great vases on either side the main doorway.

Other plants in the charming little conservatory include the passion flower, an African plant known as the crassula coccinea, the blue double lobelia, orchids, the lilium auratum, rare begonias, cacti, the franciscea corymbiflora, a tropical plant with a purple flower and dark waxen leaf, the camelia stepanotis, and many other bright and rare flowers.

Besides the fuchsias by the house three large clusters of a beautiful flower planting are next the house, an attractive white structure with green blinds.

An enjoyable feature of the grounds is the wide grassy space devoted to croquet. The whole place is delightfully wild and in its seemingly natural state, while its drives and paths are some of the most beautiful at the Farms.

Mrs. James D. Safford of Norton's Point, West Manchester, has had a recent visit from her son and family from Springfield. The son is Lieut. Ralph K. Safford of the 2d Mass. regiment. A house-guest of Mrs. Safford this week is Mrs. Edwin Parlett of Springfield.

Mrs. W. F. McCombs has brought to "Edgewater" at Beverly Farms her pretty little dog, Henry Ford, so named because he truly believes in "peace at any price."

Cavaliere Giuseppe Bambrilla, counsellor of the Italian embassy in Washington, D. C., to whom Miss Julia Meyer, daughter of Hon. and Mrs. George von L. Meyer, is engaged, has been a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Meyer at Hamilton the past week.

SALEM BOSTON CAMBRIDGE BROCKTON

MR AND MRS. ROBERT S. BRADLEY's beautiful parlors at their Pride's Crossing home were thrown open for a talk last Sunday afternoon by their house-guest, Mrs. Sewall, the daughter of the late Admiral Robley D. Evans, on work in the French military hospitals in and about Avignon.

Mr. Bradley introduced the speaker, a most charming woman, whose voice had wonderful power in carrying its message of want and suffering to the audience. Some women knitted busily during the talk and her thrilling appeal at the close brought tears to all eyes. The offerings were gathered by Miss Frances Bradley and her sister, Mrs. Roger W. Cutler, a house-guest. Another daughter, Miss Rosamond Bradley, is now serving in Hospital 38, Poissy, France, where she went last December.

Among those present were Mrs. George H. Lyman, Mrs. Paul Moore, Mrs. Henry B. Sawyer, Mrs. John W. Blodgett, Mrs. W. Scott Fitz, Miss Mary F. Bartlett, the Misses Edwards, Charles C. Walker, and Mr. and Mrs. Godfrey L. Cabot and many others. Mr. Cabot gave a real military note to the meeting by coming in his uniform.

The speaker told in a graphic manner the conditions of the military annex hospitals. Nothing but the scant necessities is given by the government. Other things must be given by people charitably inclined. Linen is so scarce that the beds can be changed only once a month. The linen rooms of the hospitals are a sad place to visit. A sheet may look like a patch-work quilt and the nurses are praying for new linen, clinical thermometers (a hospital of 200 beds had only one), soap, clothes and socks for weary-footed men. With coal at $40 or more a ton, coats had to be kept on the beds to help keep warm, for blankets are scarce. The men often have no clothes when they are well enough to leave. Perhaps their clothes have been cut off in a hurried operation, or blown to pieces by a shell, or so bloody they had to be burned, when they were brought to the hospital. Therefore in leaving some go back to their homes very poorly clad many without underwear, and after a short rest, although depleted in health, hurry back to the trenches. She showed how they were thus subject to diseases, and stated that 80,000 men were lost last year by consumption. She told how a 5-cent glass of lemonade was weakened down to three glasses for three fever patients. Pathetically she brought home the fact that every bandage made now may mean a man's life, a life gone or saved to fight for us, and that soon, our own soldiers may be in these very hospitals.

Mrs. Sewall and her sister, Mrs. Marsh, became interested in the Avignon hospitals over a year ago and have done much to relieve the suffering there.

The Bradley grandchildren added their small mite to the attendance at the close of the talk. The sturdy little

Dear Estelle:

I made a discovery today, a real one. You remember Madame Helena Rubenstein who improved our complexions so marvelously when in Paris three years ago, and then later in New York at her "Beauty Armoury." Well, she has taken apartments in the North Shore Grill at Magnolia for the summer. Madame is giving me treatments for those awful freckles which annoy me so every summer, and they are fast disappearing. I have laid in a supply of her other lotions to save my sending for them to her place in New York. If you need anything from her shop I shall be pleased to order them for you.

—PRISCILLA.

AN English looking scene is the brick stable, garage and gardener's cottage on "Edgewater," the Joseph Leiter place at Beverly Farms. They are artistically grouped near the entrance and rose garden. The big bell in the tower on the barn is an unusual feature on a sea-shore home. It is said that during the time when Mr. Leiter's mother occupied the place several years ago, a great number of men were employed upon the premises and that the bell tolled out the working hours, seven, twelve, one and five. The bell's work is seemingly over now, but it hangs in the pretty tower and adds much to the effect of the group of brick buildings. Nearby is the greenhouse where extensive indoor gardening is carried on. Melons weighing ten pounds are now hanging in their safety nets all around this fruit house.

The large and English looking brick house stands close to the water and here is the revolving sun-parlor at one side of the place, making a charming place in which to sit and view the wonderful water vista.

"GRAFTONWOOD GARDEN" in Manchester made a beautiful setting for the unusual morning entertainment provided by Mrs. James Henry Lancashire as a benefit for the Nursing Fund of the Ris-Orangis hospital in France. The program was in charge of Mrs. Waldo Richards, who gave "Gardening with the Poets," a series of readings mostly from the modern authors, on gardens and their message. Near the close of the reading a thrilling talk was given by Charles F. Flamend, son of the French consul in Boston, who gave a graphic account of some of his personal experiences at the front. Mr. Flamend is home on a furlough and spent the day with the Lancashires.

Mrs. Richards was introduced by Mrs. Lancashire. Among the selections was that charming one, "Poets and Flowers," by Holmes; "The Glory of the Garden," by Rudyard Kipling; "The Old-Fashioned Garden," by J. C. Lincoln; that laughable and sweet story of the "Denominational Garden," by Alice Hegan Rice from her "Lovey Mary;" some short poems on birds and trees, and closed with a fitting one, "The Garden Song in War Time." This last is an unpublished poem written especially for Mrs. Richards by Angela Morgan. "High Tide" and Songs of Joy and Visions of the Present-Day Poets of America and Great Britain is the title of a book compiled by Mrs. Richards.

The guests were seated on the terrace between the great stucco house and the garden. The speaker stood on a small platform under the trees at one end next to the garden wall. The garden with its beautiful flowers in which the blues and whites are predominating made a most charming background for the pretty scene. The garden is in a hillside and a striking point is the tall forest looking down upon it from the rocky height. A handsome pergola and bird baths add much to the garden, as well as the grassy paths running through it and on down the terraces to the beach. Many of the ladies walked through the gardens at the close of the program. The pretty white morning dresses with here and there a touch of color, and the gay sun-shades (the sun tried its best to out-do the poets), all added to the picturesque scene.

Among those present were Mrs. Robinson Duff and Miss Mary R. Fay, who are house-guests at the Lancashires; Mrs. R. T. Crane, Jr., Mrs. John Hays Hammond, Miss Hammond, the Misses Hunt, the Misses Edwards, Mrs. J. Warren Merrill, Mrs. E. C. Fitch, Mrs. D. Herbert Hostetter, Mrs. E. R. Champlin of Rye Beach, Mrs. Wm. H. Coolidge, Mrs. Reginald De Koven, Mrs. O. W. Mink, Mrs. Farnham, Mrs. Harrison Musgrave and Mrs. Sheriff, the last three being from Chicago.

A display of French toys of an unique design showing soldiers on horses came in for much admiration. These were spread out on the billiard table in the house. Mrs. Lancashire purchased them in New York whence they came direct from France.

A distinguished guest at Att-Lea, the attractive summer home of Mrs. S. Fisher Corlies and Miss Margaret L. Corlies on Shore road, Magnolia, during the late days of August will be Miss Kathleen Burke, the author of "A White Road to Verdun," Honorable Delegate to the United States and Canada. Miss Burke lately appeared at "Castle Hill," the summer home of the R. T. Cranes, Jr., of Chicago, at Ipswich, receiving generous offerings for the Allied cause. During her visit to Att-Lea Miss Burke will speak at Mrs. Edward S. Grew's Surgical Dressings meetings held in the coach-house of her estate at West Manchester.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN N. WILLYS and little daughter, Virginia, of "The Rocks," West Manchester, will go to Bath, Me., early next week, and return on the Isabel, the handsome yacht that the government has just purchased of Mr. Willys. The yacht was built during the past year, and has not been seen as yet by the family, who, immediately upon the declaration of war, offered it to the government. It has now been purchased and will be brought to the Charlestown Navy Yard next week where it will be made into a torpedo boat destroyer. On the trial trip it made about 32 miles an hour. The Isabel is 245 feet in length and is of 26 feet beam. It is luxuriantly equipped as a pleasure yacht with the added quality of speed power. On the trip down from Maine, when the family will be guests of the government, the little daughter's playmate, Mary Virginia Reynolds, will also be a guest. The little girl is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold S. Reynolds of Toledo, O., and has accompanied the family to the seashore.

Dr. and Mrs. Edwin R. Campbell of New York are entertaining at Manchester Mrs. H. L. D. Lewis, formerly Miss Lucy Reis of Greenwich, Ct., who often visited the North Shore before her marriage. Mr. Lewis is expected up from New York to spend the week-end with the Dr. Campbells.

Despite the intense heat of the past week the North Shore Grill has been a popular place with the North Shore residents, enjoying the coolness of the corridor garden during tea hour and the evening's gaiety of dancing and supping. On Tuesday evening many supper parties were given, noted among which was the group of people entertained by Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Buckminster of Swampscott, whose guests were Miss Mabel R. Nickerson, Miss Grace F. Nickerson and Annet Purington. Another supper was given by Mr. and Mrs. John Moir, whose guests were Mr. and Mrs. Fraser, Miss Moir, Miss Greenwood and Leonard Lawrence.

Mrs. William H. Coolidge and Mrs. W. R. P. Emerson are organizing a class of First Aid which will meet in one of the parlors of the Oceanside Hotel Annex, Magnolia, on Monday and Thursday mornings at 10.30 o'clock, the first meeting to be held on Monday morning, August 6th. A complete first aid course will be taught, which training will fit the students for actual service in the war zone.

Miss Carolyn Guild of Boston, who is spending the summer at the Oceanside hotel with her parents, was hostess on Wednesday evening to eleven of her young friends when she entertained at a supper party at the North Shore Grill club, Magnolia. Covers were laid for twelve at a table made festive with a profuse bouquet of red Rambler roses. Place cards in the same coloring carried out the decorative motif. The young people enjoyed the dancing during the evening, and the hospitality of their hostess. At the table were Miss Elinor Wheeler, Miss Janet Bryan, Miss Ethel Morse, Mrs. C. A. E. King, Miss Jean Middleton, Arthur Tuckerman, Philip Bryan, Alexander Steinert, Edward Hussey, Wendell Anderson and Jack Middleton.

Mrs. Harry Blake and Miss Blake of Boston arrived yesterday at the Masconomo in Manchester for the month of August. Other arrivals this week include Miss Mary W. Norton of Boston, Mrs. C. E. Sciple, Atlanta, Ga., and a Philadelphia party composed of Miss Adele G. Tack, Miss Julia M. Dooley and Theo. A. Tack.

THE MYOPIA GOLF TOURNAMENT for the Hamilton-Wenham branch of the Red Cross was a great success financially and socially in spite of the extreme heat of the day, last Thursday. Promptly at 9.30 quite a crowd assembled at the Myopia Hunt club to take part in the Golf Tournament which was held under the auspices of Miss Julia Meyer of Hamilton.

A "Tombstone" foursomes was arranged and the entries attracted some of the best players along the Shore. Apparently the enthusiasm kept pace with the heat, which constantly increased during the morning and it was by some first rate playing that Mrs. Charles C. Auchincloss and Mrs. Hendricks H. Whitman succeeded in carrying off the two first prizes. The prizes were two very handsome silver platters donated by Mr. and Mrs. George von L. Meyer.

Luncheon was an informal though most satisfying feature, people forming parties and sitting at any vacant table.

The bridge which followed was in its way as successful as the golf of the forenoon. Tables were scattered about the broad verandas and in the ladies' reception room. The prizes were two very interesting silver-plated vegetable dishes, one donated by Mrs. Meyer and one by H. D. Schmidt of Magnolia. The prizes were won by Miss Helen Burnham of Wenham and Mrs. Grafton Minot of Nahant. Nathaniel S. Simpkins donated the playing cards. Miss Meyer and those who assisted her in carrying out the plans feel it to have been a splendid success. Three hundred dollars was cleared.

The Essex County club had a very successful meeting last Saturday night when Miss Ruth Draper gave her wonderful monologs before an audience which completely filled the large room of the clubhouse. The affair was given as a benefit for the Red Cross and about $500 was taken in.

Very encouraging news was received this week by the Magnolia Branch of the Navy League from its New York headquarters on Fifth avenue, in a letter which stated that the shipment which had just been received at the New York office had been most generous, each article being especially well made and that the box of sweaters, socks, helmets, wristlets and scarfs had been sufficient to fit out the crew of the submarine chaser "Alcedo," which has just started for France. The good work must go on, there are yet many sweaters, helmets, etc., needed by the Navy League, which urges all to continue the splendid showing made by this Unit.

Prominent in the many supper parties given at the North Shore Grill on Wednesday evening was that given by Mrs. William H. Hoyt of "Cedar Crest," Wenham, and Sioux City, Ia. The party was honoring Dr. S. N. Hoyt of Omaha, Neb. Jacque roses arranged as a centerpiece were the table decoration. Among the guests were Mrs. J. B. Pickett, Mrs. J. S. Felton, Indianola, Ia., J. B. Pickett, Wenham, and Dr. S. N. Hoyt, Omaha.

Tunipoo Inn at Beverly Farms, with its excellent service and splendid location, continues to appeal to a large number of guests, many of whom plan to remain until late into the autumn. The cool tea room and the broad shady piazzas of the inn are very attractive these warm days to many transient guests who drop in for refreshment. Among the new arrivals are the following: Miss Marion Crowe, Winthrop; Miss Priscilla Baldwin, Summerville, Pa.; W. H. Mackay, Boston; G. Brambilla, Washington, D. C.; Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Reid, Edmonton, Alberta, Canada; A. Hanna, New York City, and Miss Maybelle Still, Alstead, N. H.

THREE adorable children are Gray, Almira and Varick Foster, the sons and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Gray Foster of New York, who yearly spend their summers in their ideal and beautiful mansion, "Crowncliff," at Coolidge's Point, Manchester. When the season is over these happy children are ever loathe to leave their summer home for 'tis here that they romp and play to their hearts' content upon the fine estate which, in its ideality, borders upon the sea. Gray is a manly boy of nine, Almira a beautiful little girl of seven, while baby boy Varick is but three. Gray and Almira are expert swimmers, although of such tender years, and can do many stunts in the waters at the beach upon the estate. The crawl stroke for Gray is an easy matter, and the speed which he makes in the water is surprising. Almira is a close second to her brother in water sports and can dive in fine style. Gray is spending part of his summer among his school books, being aided in their mastery by his tutor, Mr. Lange, of New York. Both Gray and Almira ride horseback exceedingly well and of fine days are often seen in the saddle. Their mother, who was formerly Miss Florence Southerland is the daughter of A. F. Southerland of New York, who spends his summers at "Crowncliff."

Mrs. Edward P. Motley, Jr., who before her marriage at Bar Harbor several weeks ago was Dorothea Fremont Smith, has been a visitor at the home of Mrs. H. G. Nichols on Summer street, Magnolia, for the past few days, returning to her home in Boston on Tuesday. Mr. Motley is in training at Plattsburg Military camp. While at Magnolia Mrs. Motley was entertained extensively.

For the week-end Donald Holbrook, the son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Holbrook of "Underledge," Manchester, visited his parents, coming over from the Naval Reserves Training camp at Harvard, of which he is a member. Mr. Holbrook is an under-graduate at Harvard and expects to soon be called to France. During his stay he enjoyed the hop at the Oceanside hotel and the dancing at the North Shore Grill, in company of several of his fellow officers of the Harvard camp who came to Magnolia for Saturday evening, returning to town on Sunday by motor.

A visitor to the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Elias Ponvert at the McMillan cottage on Shore road, Magnolia, is their son, Elias, who has just returned north after a business trip to the Ponvert winter home at Hormiguero, Cuba. Before coming to Magnolia, Mr. Ponvert visited his summer home at Connecticut. He will remain for the month of August.

Mrs. Robert S. Minot and Mrs. A. E. Pingree of Boston and Lakewood, N. J., are guests of Mrs. J. Livingston Grandin, Sr., at Beverly Cove. Captain W. M. Minot of the 2d Mass Field Artillery, and family are to join them for the week-end. Capt. Minot is stationed at the Curtis Guild camp, at Boxford.

Mrs. William R. Nelson, who is summering at her fine place on Fuller street, Magnolia, has just returned from a motor trip through Maine and environs of Lake Champlain. Mrs. Nelson is expecting the arrival soon of her friend, Mrs. Charles Webster Littlefield, wife of Captain Littlefield of the U. S. Navy, who is now in active service. Mrs. Littlefield has many friends on the North Shore who will be pleased to have her among them during August.

A NEW DEVELOPMENT at Magnolia this season is the season, is the transformation of the well known studio of the late F. K. M. Rehn in Oak's field, into a gallery, where a series of exhibitions will be held under the auspices of the artist's son, Frank K. M. Rehn. In order to insure the artistic success of this new venture Mr. Rehn has enlisted the support of a new and rising firm of New York art dealers, from whose galleries on 57th street will come the latest and best work of some of foremost American painters. The exhibition now on comprises among other exhibits: "The Moonlight Ride," by George Bellows—the clou of the Bellow's exhibition of this spring in New York; "A Chinese Girl" and "Patience Serious," by Robert Henri; "Nymph in the Woods," by Childe Hassam, one of the most important of this great artist's works; a marine by Henry Solden Dearth; a Blakelock from the collection of George Inness, Jr.; carefully chosen examples of the art of Frederick Ballard Williams, Edward Bell, Bruce Crane, W. Granville Smith, Carlton and Guy Wiggins, Irving Couse, Carl Nordell, R. Sloan Breddin, F. K. M. Rehn and Paul Dougherty. The Studio-

Gallery is open free to the public everyday in the week from 11 a. m. to 6 p. m. It is Mr. Rehn's intention to maintain these exhibitions continuously through the summer.

Margot is showing a fine array of "week-end" bags, excellent for auto trips, in the amount of toilet articles that can be carried in their depths. The Margot shop is located in the charming new tea room of Page & Shaw at Beverly Farms. A glance over the register of the tea room shows it is fast becoming a favorite place for the young folk in the vicinity to entertain.

The Puritan Tea Room at Montserrat has been established three years, and its manager, Mrs. E. A. Manning whose house was burned in the Salem fire, is beginning to reap the benefits of long establishment and permanent location. The little place is doing an excellent business in these trying days. All who go once want to go again to the cosy, cheerful little house.

IPSWICH will be the mecca tomorrow, Saturday, Aug. 4, for the many who wish to attend the dedicatory exercises of the Benjamin Stickney Cable Memorial hospital, given to the town by Mr. and Mrs. Richard T. Crane, Jr., of Chicago and "Castle Hill," Ipswich. Funds recently raised for the hospital through the opening of "Castle Hill" gardens netted $815 the first Saturday and Sunday, and $400 the last Sunday. Mr. Crane made the hospital a present of a $4000 Liberty Bond.

Mrs. Louis Le B. Chaplin (Julia Tuckerman) and children of New York are at "Applefield," the home of Mrs. Chaplin's mother, Mrs. Charles S. Tuckerman. Mr. and Mrs. Leverett S. Tuckerman, 2d, are also spending the summer with the former's mother. Mrs. Tuckerman was Miss Linda Scarritt of Boston. Their wedding took place early in June.

Mrs. William G. Wendell (Ruth Appleton) and baby of Charles River are spending the summer with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Francis R. Appleton of "Appleton Farms," Ipswich. Another daughter's family, the Clarence L. Hays, are occupying the Hoyt cottage on the Farms. Mrs. Hay was Miss Alice Appleton.

Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Crane, Jr., will have with them this week, Mr. Crane's sister, Mrs. Emily C. Chadbourne of Paris, who has just returned from a year's travel in China. The Cranes spent last week in New York. A recent meeting of the Hospital Workers, a band of Ipswich women who are sewing for the hospital, was held at "Castle Hill." At this regular weekly meeting 50 were present. Refreshments were served and the beautiful gardens were viewed during the day. The making of everything for the new hospital is being done, except the hemming of sheets and pillow cases. Bandages and surgical outfits, tray cloths, dresser scarfs, etc., are among the things worked on.

Mrs. Robert Haydock (Ruth Harrington) of Milton is passing the summer with her mother, Mrs. Francis B. Harrington, of the Argilla road colony.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace P. Willett and Miss Rachel Willett of So. Orange, N. J., who usually summer in Ipswich, are spending the season at Poland Springs.

At the South Green Tea House in Ipswich recent dinner guests have been Mrs. Bayard Tuckerman and her brother, Appleton Smith, of Ipswich; Mrs. D. F. Appleton and her sister, Miss Roxana Cowles, of Ipswich, and Bayard Tuckerman. Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. Dawes of Ipswich have been supper guests. This tea house was opened last year by the beautiful South Green, shaded by some of the finest old elms in New England. It is a popular place for teas and card parties.

Busy days are the rule in Ipswich. On Monday mornings the French Wounded workroom is at Mrs. Herbert Mason's house. Tuesday is Red Cross afternoon at the Warren street school. Wednesday is canning and in the evening Red Cross again. Thursday is home cooking and French Wounded and Friday afternoons Surgical Dressings at the school in charge of Mrs. Francis R. Appleton. The French Wounded work at the Mason home has an attendance of about 50. Mrs. Roger S. Warner is chairman.

Y<sup>e</sup> Rogers Manse in Ipswich is considered the tourist's hotel. When you step into the hall and see the charming old colonial staircase you see something typical of the whole place. The rooms are large and airy and modernly equipped without taking from the charm of the old-time house.

THE opening of the Barnard garden in Ipswich is proving quite an attraction. The George E. Barnard place with its beautiful garden has long been known on the North Shore. The Barnards will use the money obtained from the Thursday afternoon openings during the season for war relief. They are hoping to send an ambulance to France with the proceeds. About one hundred visitors see the garden each week. Mrs. Barnard assisted by the Misses Arminel Wood and Susannah Wood and Miss Eleonore Richardson help in looking after the guests. Other young girls also assist. Tomorrow Miss Edith Bremer and some other Manchester girls will help sell flowers or tea. Mrs. Barnard's nephew, Henry Stearns of Providence, R. I., a tennis player of note, and Grinnell Willis, son of N. P. Willis, the poet, of Morristown, are guests at the Barnard home. Mr. Willis is enjoying the golf links at the Essex County club daily.

A pretty garden party for the Girls' Friendly society of the Ascension Memorial church in Ipswich was held last Saturday on the lawn of "Merryfield," the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jere Campbell. The committee in charge was Mrs. Howard Doughty, Mrs. Joseph Ross and Mrs. Robert Kimball. Among those contributing fruits, vegetables and flowers for sale and who were also present were the Appleton families of "Appleton Farms," the Bayard Tuckermans, Mrs. Charles Tuckerman, Mrs. Charles G. Rice, the Wm. G. Thayers, Mrs. G. L. De Blois, Mrs. Henry M. Berry, Miss C. B. Dobson and others. The party was to have been held at the home of Mrs. John Heard, but owing to her sickness was held at the Campbell home. Dancing and songs by the girls were enjoyed on the fine lawn over which were hung great flags of various nations.

Y<sup>e</sup> Olde Burnham House in Ipswich seems to be a great favorite with the North Shore sojourners. Mrs. Herbert Nickerson of Beach Bluff gave a bridge luncheon for 12 on the yellow piazza, remaining until late in the afternoon. The Clement Studebaker family of Rye Beach were tea guests last week, also Mrs. M. H. Bryan of the Oceanside, who had five guests. Miss Ethel Morse is a frequent luncheon guest. Mrs. Herbert Gale gave a luncheon for three; Mrs. Potter took tea with several friends, and Mr. Higinbotham of "Castle Hill" was a dinner guest the past week. A party of young folk from Rye Beach made merry at a lobster dinner in the grill room last week. This quaint old room with its candle light has a charm and fascination for all. Among the guests were the Misses Josephine Flood, Anna Barroll, Gertrude Parker, Edith Whittemore, and Philander Caber, John Cutter and Wayman Allen. A party of 13 Eastern Point, Gloucester, folk were entertained in the grill by Mrs. Clarence P. Byrnes and daughter, Miss Martha Byrnes. Mrs. Geo. E. Tener was of the party. Dr. and Mrs. Goodell and Mrs. Allan Farmer of Bass Rocks have been guests at this fine old house. Lobster dinners are more popular than ever before.

The Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Wm. G. Thayer of Holiday Hill," Ipswich, have two sons in war service. Sigourney Thayer is with Battery A, Mass. Volunteers, and Wm. G. Thayer, Jr., is in the reserve officers' training corps.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Morgan Day of Dayton, O., and Brookline are getting their new home ready for occupancy. They recently purchased the Marshall place on the Essex road in the Candlewood section. They have two daughters, the Misses Arminel and Susannah Wood.

"ALL OAKS," WEST MANCHESTER

Water Sprites," reign supreme in the cool depths of their ivy encircled home. This group was made a few years ago especially for the Grew gardens by Mrs. Maynard Ladd, the sculptor, of Smith's Point, Manchester. It has been photographed the past week by Mrs. M. E. Hewett of New York for Vogue.

The sun parlor with its cool looking blue and white rose furnishings opens out towards the fountain and pools. English ivy growing on the wall and trachelium coeruleum blooms, delicate purple flowers of a rose nature, add much to the charm and summery atmosphere of the parlor.

At the opposite side of the house everything is different. Here nature holds sway and a walk leading over a rustic bridge runs down to the rocky beach and past a natural rock garden in the course of construction. On this side of the house are many wild flowers, a great alder bush on the edge of the terrace, roses and lilies among the rocks, and later will be the white wild asters, all giving a pretty rustic effect and a succession of bloom.

The rock garden promises to be one of the most beautiful on the Shore. It is admirably situated and is even now showing beautiful "pockets" of rock plants down the slopes almost to the water. The little bungalow on the place is in the midst of this fascinating garden. The "pockets" made so skillfully and artistically are filled with typical rock plants among them some from the Alpine regions. Others are the Anemone, Campanula, Phlox, Primula, Saxifraga and Sedum. Seen everywhere is Dianthus—the divine floweret. Wild Cornell makes a charming setting for one "pocket." The selection of the most fitting plants is a strong feature in the garden, also the arrangement of the steps and paths leading through it. A pretty spot showing both beauty and utility is made by blackberries trained over rocks. Nearby is thyme, viola borders, salvia, blue harebells and other dainty rock flowers.

On the five or more acres belonging to the Grew home is the usual flower garden, with its greenhouses and cutting garden, the fine vegetable garden and fruit garden. The whole garden plot is watered by the Skinner system. Many beautiful flowers are in the greenhouse and the vegetable garden is growing some onions that will tip the scales at two pounds. The gardens are explicitly complementary of the maxim: "By the work one knows the workman."

Some one has written: "What a splendid peace-head-quarters is a garden! In this time of war we are all heartily recommended to turn our attention to a garden. Could anything be so delightfully impersonal? Even your enemy approves of your garden."

And any one would approve of the informal new rock garden at "All Oaks" with its close-to-the earth plants of such an endearing nature. Near this garden stands the handsomely constructed coach-house which Mrs. Grew has turned into a workroom for the French Wounded Fund, beginning with last season, and in which eighty or more workers are now busy two days a week.

Summer Home of Henry S. Grew, West Manchester

THE home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Grew is also in West Manchester, on Harbor street, not far from "All Oaks."

The attractive shingled house with its showy white pillars stands in somewhat close to the street. It is of neatly laid off lawns, gardens and orchards. It was formerly known as the Fabyan place, being built about twenty-years ago and has been the Grew home for the past ten years.

An apple tree, supposed to be a hundred years old, is a remarkable and gigantic sight near the vegetable garden, which is attractively laid out on the hillside facing the railroad. Nearby is the tennis court with a wire enclosing the top over which near the four corners is a graceful growth of woodbine. Pretty white flowers are growing along one end with a handsome green background.

The little formal garden lies by the house and is entered directly from the veranda. It is a pretty and unique sight with its eight oddly shaped box-bordered beds surrounding the little foundation in the center. A double row of medium high box with perennials between the rows surrounds the little garden. At the back and directly opposite the entrance from the veranda is a rose arbor. The garden impresses one more as a spicy box garden than a flower garden, and the picture of its geometrically laid out beds and luxuriant box lingers in the memory as well as whiffs of its spicy odor seem to.

RARE July weather favored the dedication of the Laura Shuman vacation home for poor children and working girls at Foster and Standley streets in the Centreville section of Beverly on Sunday afternoon. Over 400 people from Greater Boston and along the North Shore attended the simple dedicatory exercises. The building, which cost about $60,000, is the gift of Hon. and Mrs. A. C. Ratschesky of Beverly Cove. It is but one feature of the Ratschesky Charity Foundation established in January, 1916, by Mr. and Mrs. Ratschesky. It has been presented fully furnished and completely equipped to the Jewish Charities of Boston, under whose direction it will be conducted.

The vacation home at Beverly was given by Mr. Ratschesky and his wife in memory of their sister, Laura Shuman, who died in 1904. In presenting the keys of the home to Mrs. Joseph M. Herman, chairman of the Ratschesky Charity foundation, Mr. Ratschesky said:

"Twelve years ago there passed from our midst one of God's fairest children and her untiring efforts to help the sick and the poor are to be perpetuated by me in a memorial fitting to these her leading attributes. Therefore, as my second donation to the Ratschesky foundation, my wife and I present to the community in the name of our dear sister, this vacation home for poor children and working girls of Boston."

The keys were in turn presented to Mrs. A. Koshland, also of the Beverly Cove colony, chairman of the Country week home federation of Jewish charities, who made a short address of acceptance. Following the exercises the home was opened for inspection by the guests who marveled at the completeness of the furnishings. Refreshments were served upon the lawn.

The home is situated well back from the street and surrounded by a ten acre tract of woodland and is away from the noise of traffic. In spite of its seclusion it can be reached easily by street and steam railroads.

The home was opened on Tuesday morning for the first group of little folk, who will enjoy its hospitality. It accommodates 36 besides the resident matrons, nurses and social workers. All of the rooms have large field-stone fireplaces and the rooms are paneled with high wainscoting of wood and have beamed ceilings. Inserted over the fireplace in the reception room is a bronze tablet in memory of Miss Shuman. The building is steam heated and lighted by electricity. One of the features is a large library.

GAY was the throng of guests and visitors who made life throb at the Oceanside, Magnolia, last Saturday evening when the smartest group of people joined forces here and had a good time. It meant the Saturday evening weekly hop and it meant a thoroughly pleasant time. With the copious mingling of uniformed young men, some in the olive drab of one branch of the service and the blue of the sailor boys, with now and then a natty all white suit of the marines, the picture for the onlooker was one to remember. Many dinners were given preceding the dance, a delightful beginning for the evening's festivities. A very pretty dinner was given by Mr. and Mrs. Frank R. Culbert, who had for their guests, Mrs. John E. Lancaster of Smith's Point, Manchester, and Mrs. Warren Smith of New York. Mrs. Culbert was gowned in an exquisite creation of cream lace in flounces over silk with pale blue touches on bodice and girdle. Black silk richly brocaded in gold with sequins was worn by Mrs. Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. Gustavo diRosa were among the dancers at the Saturday evening hop at the Oceanside hotel. Mrs. diRosa wore an exquisite gown of cloth of gold striped in pale blue, with gold slippers, her wealth of golden hair completing the lovely picture. The Brainard girls, Adelaide and Frances were pretty frocks of gold cloth veiled with golden brown chiffon, with girdles of gold. Very striking were these tall, stunning girls as they appeared together frocked alike. Mrs. J. Arthur Hull was noted in a becoming gown of navy blue net over an underdress of silver cloth, with touches of silver for trimmings.

Mrs. James Green of Washington, a season guest at the Oceanside, wore on Saturday evening a beautiful gown of white silk veiled with black tulle with ropes of rhinestones for trimmings.

Mrs. C. F. McMurray was gowned in black satin with layers of black chiffon, paillettes of opalescent and rhinestones appearing on the bodice. Mrs. George Carter wore a very beautiful gown of shell white silk embroidered, with lace and chiffon as garnitures.

A beautiful creation of delft blue silk heavily brocaded in rose patterns of gold, the simplicity of line enhancing its beauty and charm, distinguished Mrs. Edith M. Binney at the Saturday evening dance. Mrs. Otto Kirschner was gowned in peacock blue tulle over silver cloth with iridescent paillettes for trimmings.

Miss Sarah Guild, who is summering on Norman avenue, was noted among the visitors at the Oceanside Saturday evening wearing a black brocaded silk richly embroidered in white and silver.

Very beautiful was the gown worn by Mrs. Alice Moore Richard—a creation of nun's gray net heavily beaded with sequins over gray silk. Mrs. J. R. Chisholm was noted in a panne velvet robe of rose with ropes of pearls for trimmings.

Mr. and Mrs. Spencer Kennard (nee Madeline White) motored down from their Brookline home where they are spending the summer to enjoy the Saturday evening dinner and dance at the Oceanside. Their many friends were pleased to renew friendships. Mrs. Kennard was very stunning in a gown of white net with panels of white satin and rhinestone trimmings. A corsage of red roses added color.

Tuesday week some of the girls in the Oceanside hotel, Magnolia, contingent accompanied by Miss Evangeline Beane enjoyed a picnic at Lake Chebacco, motoring in the D. B. Hussey automobile presided over by Helen Hussey. When the group arrived at the lake a fire was kindled and a steak broiled, and the "fixins" cooked, including potatoes, which were baked in the embers. After dinner had been partaken of the girls enjoyed a motor ride, returning to the hotel in the late afternoon after a very pleasant trip. The group included Helen Hussey, Suzanne Anderson, Joan Cleaver and Miss Evangeline Beane.

NEVER did the rocks on the Shore road at Magnolia look more inviting and cool than they did during the hot, sultry days of the early week. The waves of the incoming sea, when it receded left the rocks refreshing and tascinatingly free from the torrid atmosphere with the result that numbers of the summer colony climbed over their smooth surface to rest awhile, at some particular spot which appeared most appealing. One amusing incident, aside from the dangers which might have resulted had nobody been present to help, was the alarming discovery, of one of last winter's prettiest Boston débutantes, when this fair girl awoke to the fact that she was quite far out, seated upon one of the biggest rocks, and the tide had risen much higher than she had any idea. She was rescued by a gallant young officer in khaki.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Paine, who have during other summer seasons been at the Oceanside, Magnolia, but who are this season at their town home at Brookline, were luncheon guests at the hotel on Saturday, accompanied by their sons, R. TUESDAY EVENING'S DANCE at the Oceanside was not universally participated in by the guests because of the extreme heat of the past several days, but the children enjoyed the first few selections of the dance program in larger numbers than usual, bedtime hour being extended by special permission. Among the children was noted Phyllis Hull, a very sweet little girl with winsome manner. In a fluffy white frock, her golden brown curls tied back, she danced lithesomely and gracefully. FROM nine until ten on Monday evening, despite the torridity of the weather, a large number of guests at the Oceanside hotel and many cottagers listened to Miss Ruth Draper of New York in monologs for the benefit of the Red Cross. This petite and dainty young woman in an inimitable fashion entertained for the hour holding the attention of her listeners from the start to the close. Several splendid sketches were given leading up to a climax of a heart stirring number given in French, Miss Draper vividly illustrating her spoken picture by shawl, cap and carrying an infant. Her French is excellent, her voice most clear and convincing. An offering was taken up by Miss Janet Bryan and Miss Pauline Lemieux, which was very generous and encouraging. The proceeds, Mr. Rhodes announced, would go to the District Red Cross.

Miss C. H. Bovey with maid of Minneapolis is an August arrival at the Oceanside and is occupying apartments in Highland cottage of the Oceanside group. Accompanying Miss Bovey is Miss I. A. A MARSHMALLOW ROAST and story-telling party was the attraction of Monday evening for the children at the Oceanside Hotel. Miss Beane, the hotel's teacher of dancing, knowing full well the love which the children have for Mr. Allen, and knowing that he was to depart of Wednesday for home, arranged the happy event. In one of the parlors of the Annex an applewood log fire was kindled, and with Mr. Allen seated in a big, arm chair, the children in mute admiration about him, stories were related, which brightened their eyes and made them, O! so happy. After the first stories the children toasted marshmallows, then the lights in the room were extinguished and again Mr. Allen entertained, this time with ghost stories, so thrilling, and yet, so creepy. When nine came, a very late hour for the kiddies, they bade "good-night" to Mr. Allen and Miss Beane, assuring their host and hostess that they had had a "wonderful time." The children who enjoyed the treat and stories were Phyllis Hull, Margaret Brainard, Helen Hussey, Suzanne Anderson, Helen and Priscilla Rhodes, Lawrence Johnson, John and James Bentley, John Wheeler, Duncan L. Edwards, Jr., Ethel Hood and Emily Everett. The children love Miss Isabella Wadsworth, so to make the party complete, this gracious young lady attended their party, and made the kiddies very happy, indeed.

Joining the Pittsburgh contingent at the Oceanside for August are Mrs. Joseph R. Woodwell and Mrs. M. Graney, prominent in social and charitable activities in that city.

Mrs. Frederick Tillinghast of Albany has come to Magnolia to be the guest of Mrs. J. W. Tillinghast at the Oceanside for August.

Chester Lockwood was a week-end visitor at the Oceanside, coming up from Bridgeport where he is training on a submarine chaser. Chester was cordially greeted by his many friends here. Quite interesting was the fact of the greeting between Chester and his brother, Winthrop, who also spent the week-end here. The boys haven't seen each other for several months. Winthrop is with the ambulance corps in training at Allentown, Pa., and is making his farewell visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lockwood, who are here for the summer. Winthrop expects to be in France in a few weeks.

EASTERN POINT.—The extremely hot spell has certainly sent the people from the city to the cool, exhilarating breezes of the seashore. Hawthorne Inn is filled to its utmost capacity and the other houses are filling rapidly. Although the thermometer registered around the 95 mark on Monday, East Gloucester people were thankful for the stiff breeze coming from over the bay and harbor. It was by no means a cool day, but a record-breaker for hot air in this vicinity.

The date set for the presentation of "Arabian Nights" at the Hawthorne Inn casino, is August 17. Louis Kronberg of Boston, the artist, whose ballet girls are famous on canvas, will pose the large number of male and female characters in this story and the entertainment of the evening. Mrs. William K. Harcourt is arranging the entertainment.

Mr. and Mrs. John Greenough of New York are occupying their pleasant Eastern Point cottage this season.

James C. Farrell and family of Albany, N. Y., are occupying the big Farrell estate at Grape Vine Cove.

Mrs. Georgienne Holmes Thomas has arrived here from the South and with her retinue of servants has opened the spacious Sherman estate, on Eastern Point road, near the Harbor View.

The old New England homestead, which Mr. and Mrs. Jack Raymond purchased of the Dagle estate, Highland street, East Gloucester, has at last reached its destination at "The Ramparts," Eastern Point, and it will be fitted up for Mr. and Mrs. Raymond to occupy. The old house was first moved from the top of the street to the harbor dock and then transferred on a shipping lighter, from Boston, and carried down the harbor to the boat house beach of the Raymond estate. The exact age of the house is not known, but it is at least 200 years old.

A splendid musical on Thursday evening, at the Hawthorne Inn casino, was the Italian operatic concert held for the benefit of the Red Cross and the American Fund for the relief of the French Wounded, by Ingo Simon, the noted opera singer. Mr. Simon was assisted by Mrs. Mildred Story Ellis, soprano, the accompanist being George B. Stevens of Gloucester. A large and appreciative audience enjoyed a finely selected program and Mr. Simon, who has a remarkable voice was enjoyed in every number. His selections were: "Intorno all' idol mio," from the opera "Orontea," by Marco Antonio Cesti, 1620-1669; "Affé, me fate ridere," from the opera "Serse," Francesco Cavalli, 1559-1676; "O leggiadri occhi belli," Anonymous, 16th century; "Lasciatemi Morire!" from the opera "Arianna," by Claudio Monteverdi, 1568-1643; "Vittoria! Vittoria!" by Gian Giacomo Carrissimi, 1604-1674; Recitative and Aria from "I due Foscari" by Verdi; "Barcarolle" from "La Prigione di Edinburgo," Ricci; "Largo al Factotum."

Mrs. Ellis, who possesses a sweet, soprano voice rendered "Storielle del Bosco Viennese," by John Strauss; "Il Barbiere di Siviglia," Rossini and "Una Voce poca fa." Mr. Simon and Mrs. Ellis sang two duets, "La ci darem la Mano," from "Don Giovanni" by Mozart and "Dunque io Son."

The patronesses for the recital were: Mrs. John Hays Hammond, Mrs. John Clay, Mrs. John Greenough, Mrs. Edward Loftus, Mrs. Charles Liffier, Jr., Mrs. William Harcourt, Mrs. Joseph O. Procter, Mrs. Thomas Conant, Mrs. F. A. Barker, Mrs. Carleton Parsons, Mrs. Isaac Patch, Mrs. George W. Woodbury. Mr. Simon, who is an Englishman by birth has two brothers who have died on the field of battle in France. When the war broke out, Mr. Simon had an engagement at the opera house in Buda-Pesth, Hungary. The fine personality of his singing and the colorature were marked in what he sang before a North Shore audience on Thursday evening.

A. H. Atkins, the Boston sculptor, and John Sloan, the New York painter, both have studios on the Harrington estate, Eastern Point road.

EAST GLOUCESTER.—One of the most important musical events of the summer season, in which North Shore society was greatly interested, was by the Duchess of Richelieu, at the Gallery-on-the-Moor, Eastern Point, on Wednesday afternoon of this week, at 4 o'clock, before a large and representative audience. The affair was held for the benefit of the French Tuberculous Soldiers' Relief Fund. The Duke and Duchess while here were the guests of Mrs. Joseph A. Flannery, of New York, whose cottage is at Eastern Point. The Duke was incapacitated in the war and with his talented wife, who possesses a beautiful soprano voice, they are eager to assist in aiding France in the great struggle. The head office of the French Tuberculous Soldiers' Relief Fund is at 681 Fifth avenue, New York, the members of the central committee being W. K. Vanderbilt, His Eminence James Cardinal Gibbons, Miss Louisa Lee Schuyler, the Duchess de Richelieu and many other prominent people. Tea was served, following the musical, Mrs. John Clay of Chicago and Eastern Point, presiding at the urn.

The singer of the afternoon was introduced by John Greenough of New York and Eastern Point, who also introduced the Duke of Richelieu, the later giving a brief sketch of the fearful condition of tuberculous soldiers at the front.

BASS ROCKS.—Things appear lively at the Bass Rocks colony. People are arriving daily, filling up the hotels; at the bathing beach is a much-animated scene daily, especially during the heated season of the early week. The golf links and tennis courts are used continually and aside from the good work going on among the women of Bass Rocks, at the clubhouse, sewing for the Red Cross, there are many affairs of a social nature in progress. The Bass Rocks Golf clubhouse veranda is a most charming spot at this time, with its extensive and wonderful bloom of Dorothy Perkins pink ramblers. Not only are the railings, posts and roof edge literally covered with hundreds of feet of the green and pink vines, but the long pergola leading from the first tee to the clubhouse is laden with the roses. It is one of the finest and most effective displays in this vicinity of the North Shore.

On last Saturday night at the clubhouse, the big bridge party held for the benefit of the Red Cross was a very enjoyable affair.

Last Friday afternoon from 4 till 6 o'clock, the Bass Rocks clubhouse was the scene of a pretty birthday party, when Master George Worden, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Worden of Detroit, guests at Hotel Thorwald, Bass Rocks, was host to about fifteen of his young friends, on the occasion of his tenth birthday. The young folk had a happy time and refreshments were served. Master Worden received for one gift, a bugle, and it is rumored that he will be permitted to lead the house orchestra on some future occasion.

The first concert by the Eighth Regiment Band, of Lynn, to be followed by a dance in the casino, takes place this Friday evening, at Hotel Moorland, Bass Rocks. Another concert takes place in two weeks' time.

In the men's handicap golf tournament held at the Bass Rocks golf links, July 25 to the 28th, J. H. Eaton was the winner with a score of 3—2.

Mrs. Allen Farmer of Bass Rocks and Percy Ather-ton of Hawthorne Inn, won the golf club tennis tournament in the mixed doubles, July 19 to the 21st. The Siamese Minister Prabha Karawongsee and Miss Katherine Remick were second.

The tennis notices for this season, at the Bass Rocks golf club tennis courts are as follows: August 2d to 4th, Ladies' double tournament; August 16th to 18th, Men's Doubles tournament; August 30th to Sept. 1, Mixed Doubles tournament. All tournaments are open to members and their guests. Owing to the conditions existing because of the war, prizes will be omitted, but the names of the winners will be inscribed upon an Honor Roll, which will be kept in the clubhouse. All entries must be made before 5 p. m., on the Tuesday preceding each tournament at the club office.

Among the delightful people spending the summer at Bass Rocks are Mr. and Mrs. Edward Douglas Stair, whose home is at 1750 Jefferson avenue, Detroit. Mr. Stair is president of the Detroit Free Press, one of the leading newspaper properties in the Middle West. Mrs. Stair was Miss Grace Crookson of Ohio. There are two children, Edward D., Jr., fourteen years old, and a most attractive daughter, Miss Nancy, in honor of whose 17th birthday Mr. and Mrs. Stair gave a little dinner at the Oceanside Hotel, Magnolia, last Saturday evening, prior to the dance. The Stairs are spending the summer in the Rotan cottage, on Grape Vine Cove. Mrs. Arthur Murray of Washington, wife of General Arthur Murray, has been visiting Mrs. Stair this week.

Among the list of interesting motorists to the Bass Rocks colony last Sunday, were Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Moulton and two sons, of Los Angeles, Cal., who motored all the way across the country in their Marmon car to Hotel Thorwald. The Moultons left Los Angeles on June 30th, taking the southern route, through the Grand Canon way, thence to Texas, then going north through the Mississippi valley to Chicago, thence east from Chicago along the Great Lakes. It was a wonderful trip, without any mishaps. The party goes back along a northern route, the first stop being at Poland Springs, thence to the Mount Washington hotel. Stops are being made at interesting points along the route.

Mr. and Mrs. Winthrop Sargent of Haverford, Pa., have arrived at their Bass Rocks cottage, Nautilus road, for the rest of the season.

BAG and LACE SALE

WEEK OF AUGUST 6

*Irish Hand-Made Laces from the Nunneries of CanadaTHE LANTERN SHOP PIGEON COVE

(Near the Hotel Edward)

Friends at Bass Rocks of William T. Humble and daughter, Miss Elizabeth Humble of Fort Worth, Texas, are pleased to see these Thorwald guests here again, for the season. Mr. Humble is a golf enthusiast and has entered the tournaments now on. Miss Humble is a charming young blonde and is one of the smartest gowned guests at the Thorwald.

Miss Lillian Hostler of East Orange, N. J., is a very attractive young lady in the Thorwald social set this season. Miss Hostler is a brunette type and appears exceedingly well in evening dress.

In response to the request of Mr. Hoover, for New England hotels to conserve the wheat product, the Hotel Thorwald will give a trial of a week, of not serving white bread at the table. The house is already using a "war bread," which is very good, the leavings of old bread mixed with some new dough, proving successful. Mr. Hoover states that it is a question of sending every available ounce of wheat to Europe. It takes less cargo space and it is the most economical food.

A prominent guest at the Moorland, is Bishop John G. Murry, of Baltimore. Bishop Murry is accompanied by his wife and family.

Among prominent guests at present spending a season at the Moorland are: Henry C. Whitlock of Philadelphia, the Misses Swindell of Philadelphia, daughters of the great woolen merchant; C. B. Montgomery of Cincinnati, O.; Mrs. J. C. Dean of Chicago, Ill.; Capt. Jones, Vicksburg, Miss.; General Pennington, U. S. Army (retired) of Washington, D. C., and E. H. Perry of Austin, Tex.

ANNISQUAM.—A largely attended and enjoyable card party was held at the Annisquam Yacht clubhouse, last Wednesday evening. The first prize for whist was won by Mrs. Searle Marlow and the second by Mrs. William Rice. Harry H. Wiggin won the first men's prize and Sherburne Wiggin the second. Miss Marjorie Mace won the women's prize for the "500" score and Wesley Pear the men's prize.

On Friday afternoon, at 4 o'clock, at the cottage of Mrs. Charles F. Bradley, Adams Hill, Annisquam, Mrs. Henry A. Wise-Wood, a summer resident of the Annisquam colony gave a very interesting talk on "The Wings of the U. S. A." and "Women's Part in Winning the War." While those present were greatly inspired, it is doubtful if the Annisquam women can be any more active or faithful in their patriotic duties for the Red Cross work and relief for soldiers and sailors in this great war across the seas. Mrs. Wise-Wood showed clearly the valiant and valuable service woman can be in her talents, strength and devotion.

Mr. and Mrs. Hollis French of Boston, are occupying their cottage in Rock road, Annisquam.

A Sensible and Beautiful Porch Rug

A JAPANESE RUG, made in Japan where grass and straw rugs have been made for centuries, is a very sensible and beautiful rug for the summer porch.

It is sensible because it will stand outdoor wear. Rain or sun will not hurt it. If it becomes soiled, it may be scrubbed with soap and water and made as fresh as new. It is beautiful not in the sense that a rich oriental rug is beautiful. It is beautiful for its summer coolness and cleanness. Try one on your porch.

An interesting affair at Village hall, Annisquam last Thursday evening, was the entertainment given by members of the summer colony for the benefit of the French Wounded. Prices for the posters brought from $5 to $11.50 each, the amount of the sales being added to the fund for the worthy cause.

ROCKPORT.—One of the most important events of the summer season in Rockport, in which summer residents are always interested, was the big hospital fête, held Wednesday afternoon and evening on the lawn of the L. M. Haskins hospital, for the benefit of the hospital. "The Call of Liberty," a patriotic pageant was presented under the direction of Miss Vianna Knowlton and Paul Gardner of Boston, a well known dancer in Tech shows and recently in the production of "Caliban" at the Harvard stadium. The day was perfect for the fête and the attendance were large both afternoon and evening. The grounds were brilliantly illuminated at night, with the addition of the fine moonlight. The many booths were well patronized and a good amount of money will be realized for the benefit of the hospital. The patronesses from the summer colonies included: Mrs. George H. Babbitt, Mrs. Charles S. Adams, Mrs. Perley Chase, Mrs. A. G. Clerk, Mrs. George H. Corey, Mrs. Henry Edward Drayton, Mrs. Harry Dutton, Mrs. Charles Evans, Mrs. James A. Gage, Mrs. F. Park Day of the Pigeon Cove Village Improvement society will be held this season on August 22. The afternoon will be given over to a lawn sale of refreshments and in the evening, there will be a clam bake or steamed clams, with green corn and all the fixings.

The Lantern Shop on Green avenue, Pigeon Cove, near the Edward, is having a special bag and lace sale the coming week. Beautiful hand-made bags of different patterns and designs by Mrs. Mosely, will be on exhibition, as well as rare Irish lace, made by the women of the nurseries of Canada. This quaint little shop is laden with attractive souvenir treasures.

PIGEON COVE.—Louis E. Miller of Cincinnati entertained at a dinner at the Edward Tuesday evening: Mr. and Mrs. T. McKee Graham of Pittsburgh, Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Boykin of Camden, S. C., Mrs. George Biggs of New York, Mrs. Lucie W. Edwards of Camden, S. C., Miss Anne M. Wilshire of Pasadena, Cal., J. L. Graham of Camden, S. C., and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Miller of Cincinnati.

A very popular feature of the Edward is the musicals on week-end afternoons and evenings. The dancing is also enjoyed by the patrons, and the inviting porch is the gathering place of many members of the North Shore's smart set.

She had tried in vain to get her telephone number. "Hello, Central," she inquired, sweetly. "Can you suggest the wrong number to ask for in order to get 6330 Franklin?"

The consciousness that we possess the sympathy and affection of one being, when all others have deserted us, is a hold, a stay, a comfort in the deepest affliction, which no wealth could purchase, or power bestow.—Dickens.

"Quietness comes from a lot of doing all taken together, I guess. It's like a river. The more water there is, the stiller every drop rolls along, and it's only the little brook that makes such a fuss and chatter."—The Outlook.

He—"Each hour I spend with you is like a pearl to me.

She—"Aw, quit stringing me."

Let us beware of losing our enthusiasm. Let us ever glory in something and strive to attain our admiration for all that would ennoble and our interest in all that would enrich and beautify our life.

"The Farm," Summer Home of the Wm. A. Paines at Beach Bluff

New Ocean House, Swampscott

ANNOUNCEMENT is made of the forming of a club which will have as its home the beautiful Annex of the New Ocean House, Swampscott, and which will be operated from October first to June first with all the appointments, comforts and conveniences of a city club, but with rather more of exclusiveness and selection. It is to be known as the Annex Winter club and will be under the same management as the New Ocean House,—E. R. Grabow Company. A nominal fee for membership will be levied, the members joining the first year to be charter ones, those affiliating themselves afterward to be received only upon election by vote. With the surroundings of this most artistic Annex, where everything combines to bring beauty and desirability, the success of this club is already assured, many having already sought membership. The Annex, which is steam-heated thoroughly with a splendid grill and several dining rooms, can provide all comforts of a city club. The rooms will be on the European plan, meals served a la carte. Weekly dances will be given, which will be an added attraction. The splendid tennis courts will be flooded and used for skating. With telephone service in each of the rooms, and the fastidious arrangement of rooms single or en suite with bath, the wants of individuals can be quickly satisfied. With the reputation of the New Ocean House behind the Annex Winter club movement, every detail will be cared for in the splendid manner of which the hotel's supervision is the criterion.

C. B. Deacon of Atlantic City, the manager of the Hotel Brighton, was a visitor to New Ocean House on Saturday, and dined with Mrs. George S. Baldwin of Chicago, who is a season guest here.

Mrs. Robert E. Hastings of St. Joseph, Mo., with children and nurse are registered at the New Ocean House for a month's stay, at least. Captain Hastings of the regular army is stationed at Fort Riley and will be a frequent visitor at the hotel during his family's visit.

To remain for a lengthy stay at the New Ocean House are Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Dixon of Toronto, who arrived early in the week after a tour of New England in their motor car.

Mrs. A. M. Galland of New York with her daughter, Miss Bertha Galland, a well known actress are among the recent arrivals at the New Ocean House for a lengthy stay. The ladies are accompanied by John J. Donnelly, also of New York, the prominent producer and manager. Among Mr. Donnelly's attributes are Viola Allen and William Hodge, both of whom will come under Mr. Donnelly's supervision during the coming season. The party are enjoying the attractions of this hotel, tenfold, and are daily among the surf bathers.

MIDSUMMER is making the New Ocean House at Swampscott, quite the most popular hotel on the North Shore, the close proximity of the shore hostelry to town, a matter of twelve miles, which can so easily be eliminated by a motor trip, each day brings numbers of visitors. All that is necessary to become a firm devotee of the New Ocean House is one visit. Where the cool ocean breezes blow, where the verandas are spacious and attractive, where the bathing is so delightful, where the service is unexcelled, nothing that would make the guest more comfortable having been forgotten,—all of these spell the wondrous attractions and possibilities of the New Ocean House.

George Choate, son of former Ambassador Choate, has been a guest at the New Ocean House for the past week accompanied by R. G. Moore and valet. Mr. Choate, whose home is in Brookline is planning a visit to Lake Louise and Banff in Alberta, Canada, expecting to start on Saturday.

Rear Admiral W. H. Bronson and Mrs. Bronson were among the notable arrivals at the New Ocean House during the first days of the week. With them are their daughter and son-in-law, Capt. and Mrs. C. L. Hussey. Both of the gentlemen are prominent in the military affairs of our country, both being stationed at Fort Riley, Kansas. They will remain at the hotel for a short time with their wives, the ladies expecting to remain here until the close of the summer days.

Saturday evening the guests here enjoyed the weekly hop with much vim and enthusiasm, the splendor of the gowns and appointments being much admired by the on-lookers. The third formal ball will be given on Saturday evening, August 4th, and elaborate preparations are now going on for the festivities.

Toronto is represented at this hotel by Mr. and Mrs. Victor Cawthra and daughter, the former's mother, Mrs. Henry Cawthra and sister Miss Cawthra. The Cawthras are prominent socially in the Canadian city where they entertain extensively and do much for charity. Mr. Cawthra is a banker with vast banking offices on one of the main streets of the city. These interesting people are expecting to remain at Swampscott until late summer.

Parker Sloane of New York and party of motorists were week-end visitors at the New Ocean House. So impressed were they with the hotel's attractions that they have arranged for rooms of a more lengthy stay upon their return from Bar Harbor, which was their object point after leaving Swampscott.

Yearly subscription to North Shore Breeze, $2.00.

SWAMPSCOTT calls forth always the admiration of visiting tourists, when the long stretch of beach is sighted beginning at the Lincoln House Point and extending with picturesque irregularity to "Sea Bend" the very fine summer home of the Ludwig Eisemanns, which tops the cliff at this verge. On, on, the motorist speeds through Puritan road with its winding way until, when Little's Point is reached, again the sea is before the eye, with a sweep of woodland and a small stretch of swamp, too. Little's Point is less secluded from the gaze of the visitor than Tedesco and Galloupe's Points, but it is nonetheless beautiful. "Brier Gate," the summer home of John Mason Little, is one of the most pretentious at this point, with its hedges of brier roses and natural beauty of ledges and trees. Included in the Little household are the two little girls, Grace and Helen, who are always active in the charitable and social affairs of Swampscott.

Frank C. Shattuck of New York has been a week-end guest at the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. George F. Schrafft on Puritan lane. Another house-guest at the Schrafft home is W. E. Schrafft, a brother of Mr. Schrafft, whose home is in New York.

"Mosterne," the summer home of Dr. and Mrs. William Jason Mixer at Galloupe's Point, has been leased for the remainder of the season to Mrs. Curtis Guild of Boston. For many seasons Mrs. Guild was closely allied with the summer affairs of Nahant, where with her father, Edward C. Johnson, and sisters, Mrs. John Laval and Mrs. Vittorio Orlandini, she spent her summers. The renting of "Mosterne" to other than a member of the Mixer family is the second break in this group of Mixer summer homes. Last summer Mr. and Mrs. George Mixer closed their house, "The Acorn," to go to New York, whither Mr. Mixer's business affairs took him. Mrs. William Jason Mixer (Dorothy Fay) with children is now with her mother, Mrs. Henry F. Fay at her summer home at Wood's Hole, having spent July at "Strode" with Dr. and Mrs. S. J. Mixer, her husband's parents.

The Red Cross Branch at Swampscott is happy to receive into its midst Mrs. Curtis Guild of Boston, who has leased "Mosterne," at Galloupe's Point, for the remainder of the summer. Mrs. Guild has been very active in the affairs of the Red Cross in Boston and will undoubtedly move with a like spirit in the circles of Red Crossdom in this colony.

BEACH BLUFF is never without the allurements of a fine beach. Even when other equally lovely spots are sweltering in the rays of the midsummer sun, what does Beach Bluff do? Calls forth its settlers, all clad in the smartest of surf clothes, and away to the beach they fly to sport through the white surf which is ever apparent. The kiddies have a splendid time on the beach, and there are a number of lovely children in this locality, too, many in bathing suits, from which show forth, plump little brown legs and arms, displaying the tinge of tan so desirable.

Expected guests at the "Fayrcliff," the Frederick L. Godding summer home on Atlantic avenue, are Mr. and Mrs. George Curley of Norwood. Mrs. Curley was an early spring bride, being Miss Ruth Richmond before her marriage.

Paul Ingraham of Boston and Nahant entertained a party of friends at the Preston Hotel on Tuesday evening in honor of his brother, Carl, a member of the Naval Reserves. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Rowe, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Sargent, Paul Cummings and Miss Hatch.

Mr. and Mrs. William B. Buckminster of Atlantic avenue are entertaining their grand-daughter, Miss Joan Buckminster of New York for the summer days remaining.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore P. Gooding of Atlantic avenue, are entertaining as their house guest, Miss Gertrude Miller of Winsted, Ct., who will remain until September.

Noted among the week's guests at the Preston are Mr. and Mrs. F. T. Blake of Worcester. Mr. Blake, first-class gunner of the Revenue Cutter "Pawnee," is enjoying a few days' vacation, and expects soon to return to his boat. Mrs. Blake, who has been spending the summer at York Harbor, came to Beach Bluff to be with Mr. Blake, who could not venture far from the Boston port. Mrs. Blake will return to York when Mr. Blake goes back to service.

PHILLIPS BEACH follows on, from its adjoining, westerly neighbor, Swampscott, in such an evenness of way that one never recognizes the division until told by a person "who knows." Its avenues are quite as shaded with stately trees as its pretty homes are equally abloom with flowers, which, by the way seem to have eclipsed themselves this summer. Never has there been such a riot of blossoms in "everyone's" gardens as appears this season. Content with being between its pretty neighbors the result is gratifying to all who have the pleasure of observing its individuality, yet its subtle blending.

Mrs. Fred Warren of Chicago has come to Phillips Beach to spend the remainder of the summer with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Percival B. Palmer at their Humphrey street summer home.

Paymaster John N. Jordan of the U. S. Navy has been called back unexpectedly to Brooklyn Navy Yard, leaving Mrs. Jordan and daughter Eleanor with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Terhune at their summer place on Ocean avenue.

Vawter Longley of New York, who has been spending the past few weeks with his mother, Mrs. C. E. Longley, at the Longley summer home on Atlantic avenue, has returned to business. C. E. Longley, Jr., and Mrs. Longley of New York are guests here for the remainder of the summer.

Neighborhood club doings are always popular, and when anything is planned at the club for a good time all its members come out with great force. The Saturday evening buffet suppers are booming vastly well attended, and there is a probability that these happy affairs will take place every Saturday evening instead of on alternate Saturdays. Last Saturday evening the second of the series and a very charming affair was held in the clubhouse. Dainty viands, all ready for the guests were arranged on buffets and tables in the pretty dining room which was decorated with flowers and a sprinkling of American Flags. The club room had been divested of its furnishings and an orchestra played music for dancing. Flowers in huge vases were everywhere about. Noted among the gathering of fashionably gowned people were Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Gage, Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Price, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Spalding, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. John Langmaid, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Lovejoy, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Breed, Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Hayford, Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Kimball, Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Carpenter, Mr. and Mrs. N. S. Dillingham, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Terhune, Misses Marjorie Aborn, Helen Smith, Marjorie Coulthurst, Mary Brown, Barbara Beebe, Ruth Paine and Ruth Johnson. Messrs. Spencer Serviss, A. H. Hastings, Richard Robbins and Lawrence Johnson.

MARBLEHEAD has a fascinating sound to the ear of the person who has never visited within its domain, but more indeed, is the enchantment when with a curiosity as well as a particular interest, this quaint old town is first seen by the tourist. Narrow streets with its houses rising from the very roadways, homes of once famous townspeople, who went to fishing, always so hazardous, and went to war with the same sterling qualities of iron will. Every season its quota of summer residents rises, exceedingly, until now, every portion of the town contains the summer homes of city people. Peach's Point this summer is conspicuous in its number of summer people who are aiding so substantially in the relief work of the nation. Such summer residents as the Davenports, the F. B. Crownshields, the Castles, the Hurlburts, the Hemenways, the Lincoln Davises, the C. L. Danes, all are doing a big share of the work with an enthusiasm so admirable.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Currier of Brighton, who have a summer home at Marblehead are receiving much sympathy from the shore residents in the death of their son, J. M. Currier, who lost his life in the recent wrecking of the inside of a submarine at Cavite, Philippine Islands, of whose crew he was a member. The explosion killed five Americans.

"Niroda," a beautiful white houseboat from New York, owned by John Moore steamed into the harbor at Marblehead on Wednesday, creating much interest because of its style. The owner with friends aboard will remain in the harbor for several days. They have been cruising the coast up as far as Bar Harbor and are en route to New York. Many fine sail boats, with white sails spread, dot the tranquil waters of the harbor. The Niroda being the only craft of its kind in the harbor at present is therefore, very distinctive.

Noted among the very pretty water craft anchored in the harbor at Marblehead is Ranger, owned by Thomas W. Slocum of New York, a fine steam yacht with a party of New Yorkers aboard. Mr. Slocum is a member of the New York Yacht club, Seawanhako and Larchmont Yacht clubs.

MARBLEHEAD NECK is always a bright star in the constellation of summer colonies of the North Shore, and is always coming to the fore with "something accomplished, something done." When national problems are to be worked out, such as our war relief at the present time, this section always does its share with alacrity. The residents have a strong "get together" spirit which has ever been commendable. The Red Cross is doing splendid work here due wholly to the activities of its women. Closely following in the giving of bridges and mornings for the helping on of the cause was the very tuneful musicale which was held at "Questenmere," the shore estate of the Frederick McQuestens on Wednesday afternoon, August first, one-half of the proceeds of which, and they were surprisingly large, will be devoted to the purchasing of comforts for our men who are defending the colors. The artists of the afternoon were Miss Margaret Whitaker, whose selections of the violin were well received. Harvin Lohre, tenor, entertained with several well chosen numbers. A fashionable gathering of people were present, and the contributions were most encouraging. Mrs. McQuesten in her own charming way received the guests.

August vacationists include Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Arthur Shuman of Mollhurst, Marblehead Neck, who are planning a real outing from the steady routine of busy everyday life in the way of auto trips to shore and country, including a trip to Newport. Mrs. Edwin Arthur Shuman may be seen almost any day driving her own car along the beautiful North Shore and Mr. Shuman looks forward to joining her in this very pleasant recreation.

To aid the work of the Special Aid society of Marblehead Neck of which she is an active member, Mrs. David Percival will open her house on August 10th for an auction bridge party which promises to be a very charming event socially as well as financially. Mrs. David Percival, who is secretary of the Marblehead Neck Unit of the Special Aid is always first in events of a charitable nature, and her popularity will undoubtedly make this bridge a signal event of the season.

Proceeds from the Red Cross bridge which Mrs. Frederick McQuesten gave on Thursday of last week at "Questenmere," the shore estate of the McQuestens, at Marblehead Neck, amounted to the splendid sum of $100, which amount has been made over to the Red Cross.

Included in the house-guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Parker Kemble at Marblehead Neck are Miss Carolyn Ranlett of West Cedar street, Boston, a school-mate and chum of Miss Frances Kemble. Miss Ranlett is well known among the shore residents, and is popular among her set. Expected guests at the Kemble home are Miss Josephine Barber and Mrs. Schleisner of Hartford and New York, who have been spending part of the summer at Hawthorne Inn, East Gloucester.

Mrs. C. E. Crouse of Syracuse, N. Y., formerly a Boston woman, at one time being soprano soloist in the Old South church, is visiting at "Questenmere," the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick McQuesten at Marblehead Neck. Other house-guests included in the household for a few weeks' stay are Miss Beatrice Warren of Hampton, N. Y., Miss Ruth Allen and Miss Agnes Allen both of Pawlet, Vermont. A week-end visitor of the past week was Chester W. Melville of Jamaica Plain, Mrs. McQuesten's son.

Mrs. Turner of the Boston School of Cookery gave a splendid talk at the Boylston on Wednesday under the auspices of the Marblehead Neck Branch of the Special Aid. Her subject was taken from the much talked of food conservation movement, illustrating in a very clear manner the benefits of food conserving, and the ease with which it may be done, in the most important branch of all, cooking. So necessary is it that both mistress and cook combine their best efforts for results, Mrs. Turner talked in the afternoon to the mistresses, and in the evening to the cooks. A goodly attendance was at both lectures.

One of the most enthusiastic workers for the Red Cross at Marblehead Neck is Mrs. Parker Kemble of New York. Mrs. Kemble was, before her marriage, Miss Celia Humphrey, only daughter of Captain William F. Humphrey of Beacon street, Boston, and was a much sought for society belle. Having interested herself in Red Cross work, Mrs. Kemble is giving over her Wednesday mornings from 9.30 to 1 o'clock for the work. Sewing is done at her home on these mornings with a great measure of success. On Thursday mornings the ladies meet with Mrs. Marion Higgins on Nanepashemet road for the making of surgical dressings.

Schoolmaster (at end of object-lesson)—Now can any of you tell me what is water?

Small and Grubby Urchin—Please, teacher, water's what turns black when you puts your 'ands in it!—Punch.

MARBLEHEAD THE MECCA FOR MANY WELL KNOWN PEOPLE

head for many years, is William J. Bixbee, who for many years had his studio in the old building formerly on the corner of Washington and Boylston streets, Boston. He was a member of Lowell Institute and studied in Cowles art school, and was a close friend of Marcus Waterman, well known as a teacher and painter in water colors. Mr. Bixbee says that Marblehead is at once the joy and despair of the artist, with its charm undefinable. He has a quaint studio, built on the top of one of Marblehead's rockiest rocks, and here with a room hung with fishing nets, the ceiling strung with stuffed birds, which sway back and forth in the slight wind, he paints water scenes taken from just outside his door, overlooking the famous Marblehead harbor.

Another artist, but in an entirely different line of work, is Arthur E. Baggs, who is the originator of the fascinating Marblehead potteries, found here and there among the North Shore stores. A graduate of the New York school of Ceramics, Mr. Baggs came to the old town to assist Dr. Hall, who was experimenting with work for nervous patients. These pottery works was found to be too exacting, and so, Mr. Baggs taught them other work of handicraft nature, until Dr. Hall established his now famous sanitarium at Devereux. Mr. Baggs, however, remained at Marblehead experimenting with cement, clay and colors, until he had the right composition, and now under his direction students turn out jars, vases and tiles of surpassing beauty, each one made by hand, from the designs worked out by Mr. Baggs, who is a skilled designer, as well.

Another type of work, which is typical of Marblehead, is receiving great prominence this summer, owing to the races of model yachts which are being held at Reed's Pond every Saturday afternoon. This work is done by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur I. Hennessey, who make toy yachts and models for the trade. In the races spoken of above, boats of the "Sonder" type are used and the children race them like veterans, seeming to know just how to set the sails and rudders to get the most out of each craft.

Mr. and Mrs. Hennessey build their yachts as scientifically as big yachts and they are as mathematically correct as any large yacht. Mr. Hennessey is a skilled draughtsman and wood worker and each boat is cut out of a solid piece of wood, dug out and decked over. Each one is fitted with metal keels of the proper type and weight and rudders that will do the proper work. Mrs. Hennessey is also a skilled wood worker and she attends to the cutting and fitting of the sails as well.

The "Marblehead dory," a native of these waters, is given their especial attention, although schooners, sloops, cat boats and Gloucester dories are built here in miniature. These people also make accurate models of famous boats, the exact measurements being sent to them, and then reduced until a real model of the original boat is designed, corresponding line for line. President Wilson bought one of these models last season and presented it to his grandson, of the Sayre family.

Another summer's resident of more than ordinary interest, is Kate Ryan of the Old Boston Museum days, and more recently of the Castle Square company. Miss Ryan, who was with the old Museum for 20 years, will doubtless be remembered by many of the readers, who knew and loved every member of that famous playhouse.

Of vivacious manner and sparking with cleverness,

Miss Ryan makes a delightful companion, and her reminiscences of the "good old days" are exceedingly entertaining, especially to one who can recall the various members of the company. Born in Boston, of a family who disapproved of the theatre, Miss Ryan at the age of 15, stage struck after seeing the Museum company perform the "School for Scandal," applied for a position in that company, and although she could neither sing nor dance, she was giving a position as an apprentice.

Nowadays one can scarcely remember that in olden days youths were glad to be apprenticed to such a company, and served sometimes six or seven years before taking any part of notice. The pay was far from munificent, being about $6 a week for a super and $12 for a leading character. When the company made its annual tour of New England, each member received in addition $1.50 a day for general expenses.

Miss Ryan recalled her first speaking part, when "Precisely at Nine, Ma'am" was the line to be spoken in "The Road to Ruin." A line carefully rehearsed for weeks, only to be forgotten when she stepped upon the stage, lost in sheer nervousness. Another time, when acting with Booth, she left by the wrong door, and much to the amusement of the audience was forced to pass a window, which was supposed to look out on the roofs of the houses opposite.

She recalls pleasantly the scenic effects of other days, when gas lights were used, shaded with colored glass for the different effects. A most inconvenient form of lighting, for the passing actor, often stepping on the gas cock, plunged the stag into darkness. The prompter of those days also controlled the "behind the stage" play, crying like a child, barking in imitation of a dog, shaking the beans in the tin box for falling rain sounds, or shaking huge pieces of ten sheeting for thunder.

Then, the theatre had its green room, a room fitted up for the actors when they were resting, for a call boy was sent around to keep the players informed of the progress of the play then going on. In the green room the leading members of the company lived like one great family during the hours of the theatre life, and, as many of them served in the company for 25 or 30 years, it really was like a great family. In such a place such men as Henry W. Longfellow, Oliver Wendell Holmes and William Dean Howells were entertained.

Miss Ryan recalls the days in the annual tour through New England, Marblehead was visited and old Capt. Snow served fish dinners to the actor folk, who were viewed with considerable doubt by the staid Marbleheaders, who did not believe as a whole in the frivolities of the theatre.

The old towns roundabout on the North Shore are simply teeming with interesting people, men and women, who are in their quiet way living lives of romance and bringing to the world achievements to be envied. It is hoped that the visitors to these shores, will be able to share some of the pleasure given by such friends of the old towns, and may live with them, not only in the memories of by-gone days, but look forward with them into the creations of the new day. New England is not entirely made up of things historic, but is also pulsing with the life of today which is worth more than a passing glance.

A patient in a hospital had to be fed on a daily diet of egg and port wine. When asked by the physician how he liked it, he replied:

"It would be all right, doctor, if the egg was as new as the port and the port as old as the egg!"

If It Were Only True--But

BREAKING THE HEAT WAVE

A sight which brought joy to the hearts of Manchester people (who suffered from the heat last Monday and Tuesday)—on the 9th of March.

WHEN everyone, including the ice-man was sweltering in the shade last Monday with the thermometer throbbing above 100, also in the shade, we saw a strange sight. Through the inner harbor in Manchester there plowed a seagoing tug with a big coal barge in tow. As it moved up the channel it was necessary to push aside huge cakes of floating ice, more than 10 inches thick and many feet in length and width. The BREEZE man who took the above picture had his overcoat on and only took off his gloves long enough to snap the picture. The icy blasts about the B. &

M. drawbridge made everyone in the vicinity hustle to keep warm. Yes, we actually saw the sight, but it was just a picture we took on the 9th of March. But wouldn't it have been great, if it had only been true—on Monday?

TO STRIP RED TAPE.

Prompt and efficient work by district exemption boards is expected by government officials as a result of stripping all red tape from the procedure of the tribunals. President Wilson's executive order outlining the principles to govern exemptions, coupled with instructions to the boards from Provost Marshal-General Crowder, are regarded at Washington as setting in motion the last phase of the selection process with a momentum that insures a minimum of confusion and delay.

The object of instructions is to impress the board with the view that their primary purpose is to select the personnel for the national army from the great reservoir of registered men in the shortest possible time. To that end they have been informed that no legal precedents bind them and that there need be no adherence to rules of evidence or other technicalities of court procedure.

The first reports of the local boards on physical examination are beginning to appear. As yet, however, they are not complete enough to make any logical deduction as to the probable average of rejection for this reason. The draft statistics of the civil war, which showed between 25 and 30 per cent rejected on this ground, still are the best guide on the question. Such figures as have come from the local boards are in general harmony with the old average. The average of rejections on physical grounds in regular army recruiting has been far higher, but conditions are entirely different with the selective draft forces.

In many districts where examinations are proceeding, a large number of men have asked for affidavit blanks on which to submit applications for exemption because of dependent families. This is no criterion of the exemptions to be granted, however, as each case must be considered on its merits.

When you have mastered yourself, the others come easy.

You may use anger if you will, but do not let it use you.

Zeal without judgement is an evil.

EFFORTS WHICH HAVE BEEN MADE on our Shore, to raise funds for the small military hospitals of France, under the leadership of Mrs. Robert S. Bradley, have been successful as was to be expected. The fund of $800, which was raised, should, and undoubtedly will, be made $1000. Additional subscriptions may be forwarded now to Mrs. Bradley and they will be added to the fund already raised. The work of the small French military hospitals as presented by Mrs. Virginia Evans Sewall on Sunday afternoon could not fail to appeal to the sympathies of all. The letter read from her sister, Mrs. Charlotte Evans Marsh, describing the limitations imposed upon the doctors and authorities and the privations of the patients, were heart rending. Accustomed as we all are to think of a hospital as equipped with every known facility for prompt, efficient, and sanitary service it is difficult to conceive that such conditions could exist in any hospital. The government makes a trifling allowance per day and out of this all necessities must be provided. The amount of government aid is too small. Conceive of a hospital unprovided with clinical thermometers, modern equipment, proper beds and linen rarely changed oftener than once a month. The Red Cross hospitals are being cared for by their organization and it would appear that the claims of these smaller hospitals should in some way be met. Mrs. Bradley hopes to have the fund reach $1000, but the cause is worthy of a greater interest from our wealthy Shore. It ought to be made more. The meeting held was successful in every way and will be but the beginning of an interest on our Shore in the small French military hospitals. Let the good work be maintained. The North Shore owes a debt to the daughter of the late Admiral Evans for presenting so worthy a cause. There is no knowing how soon our own boys will need the services of these same hospitals about Avignon.

THE RESOURCES OF THE TWO ALLIED FORCES should have some thought. The Central allies have a total population of one hundred and forty-seven million and American allies have a population of nine hundred and twenty-seven millions. Germany and her allies have resources amounting to one hundred and thirteen billion dollars and the American allies have four hundred and fifteen billions of dollars. But this is not alone a contest of resources in men and millions, but a contest of principle against inhumanity, and democracy against autocracy. The spirit of democracy will win, it must, eventually, and soon.

IT HAS BEEN DECIDED that attorneys will not be permitted to present cases for exemptions to waste the time of the Exemption boards. The cases for exemption will be tried on their merits and every worthy case will be considered. The principle of the selective draft is that every man must do his duty by his country and the board shall determine the merits of the case and the wisdom of sending the men into the field. The principle is right, the board is an honorable and just one and justice will be done. They will not be hoodwinked by carefully prepared "cases."

THE WORLD IS ALREADY WAR WEARY and the heart craves a message that the spirit of war, whether it be of conquest or of defence, cannot give; and where shall the world seek for it but in the spirit, not of Napoleon, but of the Christ. One of the tragedies of the war is the perfidy of the church in the enemy territories. Not only have intrigue and machinations permeated the courts of Europe and the colleges, but the representatives in the church have been in the pay and under the control of the military system of the government. In a current magazine a striking illustration is used to prove the point. A widow lady in the enemy country sought the consolations of religion and the spirit of Christ, but her quest was not successful. Her characterization of the ministers of the church were, "There is nothing but war, war, war! There is nothing there for me. The church does not satisfy the longing in my heart. It is not for such as me." Nothing but war, war, war, and hate, hate, hate! If the light be darkness how great is the darkness. The church has the only answer for this sad hour of strife and misery in its appeal for love, kindness, mercy, courage and hope. The simple grandeur of the Golden Rule never appeared more noble than in these sad hours of strife. The church in America is democratic and can never be controlled from without. It has proven through one hundred years that it is able to lift the banner of religion from the dust, and the cause will be maintained in this sad hour. Peace, happiness and kindliness are still the great virtues of humanity and to demonstrate their superiority and necessity the whole world challenges in the name of humanity the aggressions, insolence and inhumanity of a ruthless foe.

GREAT BRITAIN HAS SPOKEN her words concerning peace: "We did not enter the war for any selfish purposes, certainly not for imperialistic aims or to get indemnities. Our purposes were completely unselfish; therefore, we stood in a different position from any of our allies. We hoped to see Europe freer and more stable." That breathes of the proper spirit. America may respect her ally. There will be no difficulty in making true terms with Great Britain when the hour comes.

THE PRESIDENT HAS MADE A NEW APPEAL for the producers of foodstuffs to renew their interest and to make an herculean effort to save all of the food raised. The housewives along our Shore are meeting the situation and the canning interests have been profitable. The Food Centre at Manchester, is proving itself to be a most valuable agency in the work of food conservation by giving instruction to those who are seeking for a knowledge of the new methods. The North Shore has responded heartily to the President's call.

WHILE WE ARE DISPOSED to be discouraged at the news from Russia, be it remembered that it was Russia that sent the army to rescue of the Armenians and that it was Russia that first made the statement of war aims that has become a slogan for the Allies: "A general peace without annexations and without indemnities on a basis of the rights of nations to work out their own destinies."

THE NEWS FROM RUSSIA is disconcerting and yet not unexpected, but there is no reason for losing hope. Russia will take her stand as soon as she can. The marvelous changes that have occurred during the last months are a part of the beneficial results of the war and the overthrow of the government there is an advantage. German intrigue is still at work artfully, skilfully and successfully, but as certainly as America awoke from her sleep just so will Russia. Russia can make no gains by peace at any price and the war will be continued. It is true, there would be more hopeful conditions if Russia could have stood fast through the spring. We are too near events to fully appreciate their importance. A moment's thought ought to arouse us to the great gains that have really been made during this calendar year. The retreat of the Russian army is but a passing incident in a long struggle, not to be minimized in any way, but to be fully recognized. America has entered the world war as an active ally and one of the neutral states have followed the example. Russia has thrown off the rule of the Czar and Greece has dethroned her monarch. The submarine war has been ruthlessly declared, but August still sees its hopes unrealized. The United States has declared an embargo on all shipments to neutral countries. This in itself is an important and strategic weapon of offence and defence. A great liberty loan has been successfully floated. The national army is already on French soil under command of Pershing. A great sum of money has been raised for Red Cross work. A national draft has been successfully carried out and great camps for training officers established and are now at work. Congress has attacked the great problems of food conservation and the whole country is a unit in its sympathies and ambitions. The war has awakened all of the latent powers of patriotic devotion.

EVEN THE QUIET AND RESTFULNESS of our Shore have been disturbed during the last week, for there has been a fear-provoking storm and a torrid day unequalled in five years. The advantages of the Shore have been apparent. The two electrical storms that broke on Friday caused some damage, but in a way that cannot be comparable with the destruction caused all about us. It would almost appear that the storm went around the towns on the Shore as far as its main force was concerned. The wind blew terrifically and trees rocked in the wind. In Beverly great elms were uprooted and thrown over. The skill, alertness and intelligence of the men in the Chautauqua tent prevented accidents in Manchester. In Danvers the wind blew under the tent and carried it away. The men in Manchester knew what to do and did it. The walls were held in place and the wind failed to get under and the tent stood the wind storm. The week has been a trying one that will long to be remembered.

PICNIC DAYS HAVE COME, now, with all of their pleasures and joys, but these are war times. Municipalities and towns that have the tasks of cleaning up after merry picnickers would be glad to have the conservation principles concerning waste paper and waste food thoroughly enforced when applying to picnic lunches.

THE VARIOUS CAMPS IN THE COUNTRY have been named after military officers and the Aver camp is to bear the name of Camp Devens. Old Ben Butler has still followers and opponents in the old Bay State. What an interesting contest the proposal of his name would have made.

ITALY DELAYED ENTRANCE into the world conflict and for awhile her terms of peace were not well understood nor were her ideals and ambitions fully appreciated, nor have the remote causes which brought her into the war been understood. Austria has been selfish, envious and unjust in her policy toward the Balkans, the Italians and against their normal and altogether reasonable desires for a way to Asia. In the early Roman days great roads connected Italy with the Balkan Peninsula and with Asia. The policy of Austria has been to force the Balkan states to look to Austria as a means of access to Europe and to Asia and to prevent the normal intercourse which would naturally go across the peninsula. This policy meant the usurpation of control on the Adriatic and the prevention of the Serbian desires for a way to the sea. These policies underlying the larger one have been the remote causes of the war. Italy now hopes that Italian colonists in the North may have the right of their own governmental privileges, but the far greater desire is to put an end, forever, to the shortsighted Austrian policy of isolation for Italy and Serbia and substitution of the better policy of a community of interests. If Italy's hopes are fulfilled, Serbia, Italy and Austria will be drawn together. It is one of the issues of this great conflict. Examine them as we will, we discover that the enemy plans are selfish and the allies are struggling for liberty for freedom and opportunity. Austria is putting up against Italy and Serbia an unnatural barrier that is an evidence of selfishness and tyranny. The road over the Balkans with opportunities for free trade and uninterrupted intercourse will mean a renewal of life for all of the nations, and when that end is gained Austria will have been as much benefited as the Allies. Austria will eventually have gained as much as Italy by the hoped for success of the Allies.

THE WAR HAS OPENED THE EYES of American shoppers and consumers to the great wastes of time, energy and goods caused by extravagant purchases. Goods are purchased in good faith and then returned. There is waste of time in the sale, delivery, return, unpacking and return to the counter; and not unlikely the goods are damaged by the transit, and a loss is incurred. Who pays for this waste? Ultimately it is the consumer. He finds it charged up on his bill for goods. The increased expense means increased prices and sooner or later the consumer pays. The daylight delivery plans in Boston and the "take home your own bundles" will be productive of good results on all sides. Consumers should coöperate fully with efforts being made to save where saving can be made without any great sacrifice.

WHEN PEACE IS ARRANGED the nations of the earth must respect the national "cultures" and policies of other nations and the popular policy of Europe of resorting to compulsory methods of denationalization will end. Alsace and Lorraine are cases in point; as also are the provinces on the Adriatic and Poland in more northern Europe. Germany, Austria and Russia in turn have sought to compel alien nations, under duress, to adopt the "culture" of their respective nationalities, but when peace comes, and a real peace alone will provide these ends, every nation must have liberty with opportunity for the maintenance and development of its own national ideals and civilization.

THE PLAN OF AT LEAST ONE wheatless meal a day ought not prove very troublesome in these days when the gardens yield so much that is pleasing to the eye, nourishing for the body and satisfying to the appetite.

A son was born yesterday, Aug. 2, to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Freeman, 17 Bennett st.

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Winchester and son, Marshall, are starting tomorrow morning for Colorado, to attend the annual meeting of the Gold Cup Mining Co. of which Mr. Winchester is the president.

A special meeting of the North Shore Horticultural society will be held in Lane's hall on Monday evening at 8 o'clock for business connected with the new building. A large attendance is desired.

Stephen Verge, 73, who said he was a "cook at the big hotel on the hill," was picked up last Sunday evening by Officer Sheehan and held until Monday morning when attendants from the "big hotel on the hill" in Danvers came after him.

Miss A. N. Jainson of Boston and formerly of Manchester was recently married to Carl Wearer of Roslindale, where they are now living in their new home. They visited old friends in town one day this week. Mr. Wearer's yacht is out of commission this summer.

Mrs. John Miller of Melrose, who was the guest of Mrs. C. M. Dodge of School st., last week, had an experience few women of 82 are privileged to enjoy. During her visit every town and city in Essex County was visited by motor and a point made to thoroughly scout out every nook and cranny of interest. Mrs. Miller, who was delighted with the sights of the old towns of Essex, has the distinction of being the first woman member of a school board in this state.

Owing to the heat on Monday the drill of the 125th Co. of the State guard was postponed until Wednesday. It wasn't much cooler, but the boys all turned out, for it was the first time they drilled in their new uniforms. The non-coms are drilling several night a week with the new rifles which arrived last week. The guns will be issued to the company next Monday evening. They are Springfield of ancient vintage, but as they had never been issued previously the Manchester company is fortunate to get them, for they are better than most state guard companies have obtained.

Manchester FOOD CENTRE Telephone 116 NOTES

The Food Center reopened yesterday. This coming week much time will be devoted to drying. The new drying house is now occupied. Everyone will, without doubt, be interested in the work done there.

In European countries the surplus product is forced into municipal drying plants to make certain that there is no unnecessary waste, and to insure a supply of fruits and vegetables during the winter season. Why not make an individual effort toward the same end in this country?

Charles O'Brien in his book, "Food Preparedness for the United States," begins: "We have gone to war with the mightiest military and economic machine that the world has ever known. We are pledged to fight until that machine is broken. Our President has pledged us to wage war until the world is made safe for democracy, until the Prussian autocracy is eliminated and the German people freed from its domination. These ends will not be accomplished if we believe that the German war machine is already crumbling, that peace is not far off. Such beliefs are fatuous and will not topple down the Imperial German structure."

We ought, if there is truth in such a statement, and a great number of the thinking men of the country believe with him, to be as little of a drag on our country as it is possible for us to be.

Let us not spend only fifty cents when formerly we spent a dollar. Money must be kept moving in time of war. On the other hand what material we have at our disposal should be conserved. This is true economy. Canning and drying of any surplus food will help in this economy.

The Food Center can help in this effort at conservation. Instructions, consultation and demonstrations free.

MANCHESTER

Miss Sarah Sjolund left yesterday for Chicago to visit her sister, Miss Agnes Sjolund, for a few weeks. The latter is soon to be married.

The friends of Joseph Davis, one of the charter members of the Salem Cadet Band, that has been heard in Manchester so many times, will be sorry to hear of his death in Salem yesterday morning, from heart failure.

The School board is considering postponing the date of opening the schools until the middle of September this year. The first two weeks of school usual fall on the hottest days of late summer and little work is ever accomplished anyway at the beginning.

Charles Farley of the Mass. State Agricultural Extension dept. and Mr. Newbill, an official of the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture were in Manchester for a visit yesterday afternoon, making a call at the Food Centre. Mr. Farley was one of the speakers at the opening of the conservation campaign in Manchester when the Food Centre was started in the early summer.

Welcome news for many comes this week in the decision of the Park Board to keep the public bathhouses at the beach open after the present closing hour on hot days. During the past week the beach has been literally crowded by people seeking relief from the heat and Caretaker Kelliher has been besieged by bathers whom the limited capacity of the town bathhouses would not accommodate. Many have been disappointed because of the crowds who wanted to get into the water. Some Manchester people have even been forced to go to Beverly Farms for their daily swim. By keeping the bathhouses open on hot evenings for a hour or so after closing time an opportunity will be given to many who are employed during the day and cannot get away during the hours when the public bathhouses are open. The board has felt that these people are as much entitled to the conveniences of the bathhouses as the more fortunate who can get away for a swim in the day time. The Park board will be thanked for the concession more than once during the hot days to come by those who will benefit.

It is doubtful if there has ever been a time in this country when the women were as busy knitting and sewing for the soldiers and sailors as they are at present. History tells us that in the days of the Revolution the women took their knitting to church with them and knitted during the sermon. But in these days women have more leisure and all of that leisure time is now taken in knitting, knitting, knitting. And in some places they even take their knitting to church on Sunday. Everywhere you go today you see women busily engaged in knitting. At Chautauqua in Manchester last week over half of the women who sat in the big tent every afternoon were making their fingers fly over a sweater, wristlet or wool sock, while their eyes and ears drank in the entertainment. Any day at Singing Beach you may see scores of young ladies and some not quite so young sitting in the shelter of big umbrellas knitting as if their lives depended upon it—and perhaps someone's life will depend on the sweaters and socks knitted during these hot summer days, when next winter finds our boys in the trenches. Of course you know it is patriotic of the women to knit, knit, knit, and you admire them for it, but doesn't it make you wild when you get home and find your wife has neglected to get supper in order to finish those last dozen rows on the sweater she is knitting for the Red Cross.

Riding up from Salem the other morning we heard some people in the seat behind us exclaiming at the beauties of the gardens and houses along the North Shore. Each new scene that was revealed from the car window brought fresh bursts of praise from the strangers. We knew that the best scenery on our Shore cannot be seen when riding along the B. & M., but it was with pardonable pride we awaited their comments when we approached Manchester. But, oh, bitter disappointment! The first words uttered by the travellers after leaving West Manchester station were "Isn't it a disgrace that such a beautiful neighborhood should be spoiled by those unsightly rubbish heaps?" Alas, it was only too true. The first sight that greets one coming into Manchester is an unsightly dump that a few loads of loam might greatly improve.

The sudden electric storm which struck Manchester about 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon brought with a shower of hail that fell for two or three minutes. The hailstones were as large as cherries and several which fell were the size of walnuts. A peculiar thing about the storm was that while it abated just after three the 3.17 Gloucester-bound train pulled into the station the car windows were all open and the top and the sides of the cars dust-laden. Passengers said they had not seen a sign of rain, except pools of water beside the tracks this side of Beverly.

HOW THE TEMPERATURE IS TAKEN AT SINGING BEACH.

Editor North Shore Breeze:

A letter signed by "Curious" in last week's BREEZE inquired the method of ascertaining the temperature of the water at Singing Beach. As the correspondent expressed his regret at never having been present when ceremony of securing and recording the temperature was being performed, perhaps I can enlighten him. With the aid of a surgeon's scalpel a film of the surface water one-eighth of an inch in thickness, two feet wide and three feet, 4.5 inches long is carefully removed from the ocean at a point south-south-west of the bathing float. The utmost care is used to avoid breaking the film, as a single drop of the precious moisture lost would affect the temperature to be recorded by several degrees and hopelessly wreck the disposition of daintily constituted authors of unsigned communications. When the film of water that has been carefully folded into a small space is placed in a quart bottle and shaken until it expands sufficiently to entirely fill the receptacle. It is then given to a small boy who runs around the bath house six times chanting "How dry I am."

The circumference of the receptacle is then measured and when subtracted from the weight of the boy in ounces should give the temperature of the water in degrees Fahrenheit. If the number should chance to be uneven the formula must be repeated until an even degree of temperature is obtained.

Caretaker Kelliher of Singing Beach informs me that when this formula fails to work he takes an ordinary bath thermometer and casts it out into deep water with a coil of cord attached. After immersion for several minutes he records the temperature, allowing about two degrees for variation of currents. He also informs me that he has up to the present time been unable to control the flow of the tides or the changes of the currents about the rocks, but if he ever discovers a method of maintaining the temperature of the ocean at a degree agreeable to the tastes of each individual bather, he won't tell anyone about it—he'll get the method patented. He adds that he will be glad to install a bathtub and heat a sufficient amount of water to bathe the "curious correspondent" whenever he will make his identity known.

Very truly yours,

MASCONOMO.

BOY SCOUT OUTING AT "GRAFTON- WOOD."

Manchester Boy Scouts held their annual outing at the home of Miss Lila Lancashire, "Graftonwood," Manchester, last Saturday. The troupe of 32 formed at the home of A. G. Warner, scoutmaster, and headed by the troupe drum corps, marched to the Lancashire home. Bathing and water sports were enjoyed until one o'clock when luncheon was served on the beach. Sports were the order of the afternoon, the events being a three-legged race won by Roland Butler and Mark Sinnicks; a wheel-barrow race, won by George Peters and Roland Brooks; senior 100-yd. dash, won by Reginald Digdon; junior 100-yd. dash, won by George Peters; equipment race, won by Howard Roberts. After the sports the troupe gave an exhibition of drilling and at the close gave a farewell cheer for Miss Lancashire. The scouts greatly appreciate Miss Lancashire's generosity in making possible this annual outing. The return trip was made in automobiles furnished by Miss Lancashire.

MANCHESTER OUTPLAYED

WEAKNESS AT BAT AND IN THE FIELD
LOSES GAME WITH QUEEN QUALITY ON SATURDAY.

All the breaks were against Manchester in last Saturday's game with the Queen Quality nine of Jamaica Plain. In the first place Woodman, upon whom the main dependence was placed of winning from the Queens, failed to put in an appearance. Grover started instead, and although he pitched good ball, received such poor support that he was unable to do much against his fast opponents. To cap the climax of hard luck Manchester started the eighth inning with one run behind. Gourley got safely to first and O'Leary tried to beat out a bunt. His errors earlier in the game and his failure to come through with his usual stick work made his so anxious to get to first and redeem himself that he lost his head and slid into the bag. When his foot struck the bag his ankle turned under him, breaking one of the small bones.

From the first ball batted everything went bad for Manchester. O'Leary made a mess of fielding Norton's bunt in the first inning. Grover heaved the next bad one and let Norton get to second. Then Sheehan contributed an error that let Maloney on first and booted a second one to let Grieve arrive safely and Norton to score. Whelan bunted toward first, Devlin was unable to field the ball to second in time to stop Grieve, and first base was left uncovered so Whelan arrived safely. Cody popped to O'Leary for the first out. St. Angelo drove a high fly to center which Elivard muffed, Maloney scoring. Elivard recovered in time to throw Whelan out at second. Hunt was hit by Grover and the bases filled again, but Robertson grounded out to Devlin.

Inability to hit Murray when the bases were full lost Manchester the game even after fielding errors failed to completely give the visitors the game. Murray was unsteady and in the second inning let the bases fill up by walking Elivard and Francis after Ford had hit safely.

Murray helped to win his own game by pounding out the longest hit made on the local diamond this season. The drive cleared the wall in left field and landed in the roadway on Norwood ave. It bounded over into the brook on the opposite side of the road. Needless to say it was a home run.

Ford was passed with one out in the fourth inning. Elivard and Francis also drew passes and Grover grounded to Norton, forcing out Francis, but allowing Ford to score. Grover was caught for the third out while attempting to steal second.

Murray cracked the ball for two bases in the sixth and a single by Norton scored him. Francis drew the third of his four bases on balls in the sixth when he faced Murray for Manchester. Grover sacrificed and a single by Gourley scored Francis.

Clean hitting in the seventh gave Manchester another run and almost tied the score. Devlin singled to left field and scored on Meehan's two-bagger to right field. He was sent back to third under the ground rules and came in to stay a minute later when Ford drove out a two-bagger. Fast fielding by St. Angelo of the visitors prevented Meehan from scoring. Francis got his fourth base on balls in this inning, but Grover again failed to come across with a hit when the bases were full. The accident to O'Leary in the eighth put the finishing touch to Manchester. "Bill" Walen was drafted to substitute in place of Francis who replaced O'Leary at third. Francis played good ball in both positions and his work at the bat was a feature. He outguessed Murray every time he came to bat with the result that he was walked four times.

The visitors got two runs in the ninth. Grover hitting St. Angelo and Hunt bunted safely. Robertson sacrificed. St. Angelo furnished a sensation by stealing home with the ball in Grover's hand. Hunt came in with the other run.

NEW FOUNTAIN AT WALEN'S

During the past week a handsome, modern soda fountain has been installed at the Walen drug store in Central sq., Manchester. This improved equipment adds much to the appearance and capacity for service of this popular store. The marble service counter and cabinet of the fountain are 10 feet in length and beautifully finished. Just behind and below the long marble serving counter are located the receptacles for storing ice cream, syrups, crushed fruits, etc. Everything is scrupulously neat in white marble, enamel and silverplate.

There are three faucets at a level with the counter, two for "charged" water and the third for ice water. Ten varieties of soda syrups are obtained from as many pressure faucets along the back of the counter. The lower part of the counter contains three large pockets for storing ice cream containers. At one end are pockets for fruits and receptacles for instantaneous cleansing of spoons and dishes.

A big mahogany wall cabinet is behind the fountain. It extends the entire length of the fountain and is as high as the room. At either end of the convenient level of the display shelf begins a glass cabinet which reaches to the top and is used for storing tumblers and other glass ware. In the space between the glass cabinets is a huge plate glass mirror. The top of the cabinet is set off by artistically designed stained glass. Two antique lantern-like lamps are suspended from the center of the upper part of the cabinet to complete the beauty and usefulness of the cabinet. The lower part of the cabinet, beneath the display shelf, conceals refrigerator and storage compartments, the doors of which are distinguished from the mahogany panels by white marble slabs.

The whole effect is pleasing to the eye and the array of goods on the display shelf appeal to the appetite. The improved equipment should prove a great drawing card for the already fine soda trade of the Walen store.

AN OXFORD STUDENT.

A young cousin and namesake of our townsman, Deacon Torrey is doing his bit somewhere in France.

An American student at Oxford university, he lost interest in study while his fellows were enlisting. Seven students, of whom he was one, were closely bound in association of friendship, and wished to be united in a common service. Each declined an officer's commission, preferring to join the Royal Engineer corps and serve together. Young Torrey is billeted as bearer of despatches, with a motorcycle as a vehicle.

The following lines by an English lady reflects the English war feeling and will interest our readers.

THE SPIRES OF OXFORD.

I saw the spires of Oxford
As I was passing by,
The tall spires of Oxford,
Against a pearl-gray sky;
My heart was with the Oxford men
Who went abroad to die!

The years go fast at Oxford,
The golden years and gay;
The hoary colleges look down
On careless boys at play;
But when the trumpet sounded war
They put their games away.

They left the quiet river,
The Cricket field, the "Quad,"
The shaven lawns of Oxford
To seek the bloody sod;
They threw their merry lives away
For country and for God!

God rest you, merry gentlemen,
Who laid your good lives down—
Who took khaki and the gun
Instead of Cap and Gown.
God bring you to a fairer place
Than even Oxford town!

At a considerable outlay of money Joseph Vasconcellos has refurnished his barber shop in Central sq. with as handsome and complete an outfit as can be found this side of Boston. A huge plate glass mirror extends across the side of the shop on which the chairs are located. A marble slab provides the shelf for the utensils of the "tonsorial artists." There are three chairs resplendent in white enamel and green leather. Four antiseptic sterilizers are so located that there is one on either side of each chair. There are white enameled waste containers for used towels, etc. Last, but not least, there is a brand new leather and bronze chair with little rounding arms for the little folk who like to go to "Joe's" for their hair cut. ### NOTHING GAINED IN SLIDING TO FIRST

BASEBALL WRITER GIVES INTEREST-ING OPINION ON PLAY WHICH CAUSED MANCHESTER PLAY-ER A BROKEN ANKLE.

Frankie O'Leary, third baseman on the Manchester town baseball team slid into first base in last Saturday's game with the Queen Quality nine of Jamaica Plain and broke a bone in his ankle. The following discussion of this sort of play by I. E. Sanborn, a baseball writer, is of interest in this connection:

"Why does a baseball player slide to first base when trying to beat a close play? Because he thinks he can hit the bag quicker that way than by going across standing up. That fallacy was exploded years ago by actual test, but the younger generation of players either has forgotten it or never knew it, and the practice of sliding into first base is growing with each new relay of recruits to the majors. Even some of the older players, who ought to know better, are catching the disease.

"Way back before the present century began there was considerable agitation in favor of letting baserunners overrun second as well as first without incurring liability to be put out for it. The object was to increase the baserunning by improving a man's chances of stealing second. It was argued, and actually demonstrated by stop watch tests, that a runner had to slow up a fraction of a second to make a slide either head first or feet first. The reason was never clearly given, but some asserted it was because the runner had to break his stride to make the slide and others that he lost some of his bodily momentum.

"Anniehow" the tests showed the fastest possible way to get from one base to another was to stand up, run at top speed all the way, and overrun the bag. But it was decided against permitting runners to do that in going to second base because of the different conditions. At first base it is not necessary to touch the runner, but only to best him to that cushion with the ball, while at the other three bases it is necessary to tag the runner, as everyone knows.

"Under these conditions it really is an advantage for a runner to slide instead of going in standing up. Frequently when the ball beats the runner to second, third or home he can avoid being touched by sliding away from the guardian of the base and making it necessary to tag his spikes or his shins, whereas if he went in standing up he would present a much larger target for the baseman to touch.

"Consequently the movement to permit overrunning second base was sidetracked as a favor to foxy base-runners with the ability to slip around opponents, although at the cost of a fraction of a second in their slide. "There is no such advantage in the slide to first base, however, and the player who has the ability merely increases the chances of being thrown by the ball. It is quite probable that the players' habit of sliding to other bases on all close plays, so as to make it as hard as possible to tag them, is responsible for the growing practice of handicapping themselves at first base instinctively when a runner going to first sees the play will be close, he makes up his mind to slide the same as at any other base. "It has cost many a runner a life which he might have gained by sprinting across the base at top speed. Many decisions at first are by the wink of an eyelash, consequently the loss of a small part of a second is enough to turn the scale. Also the umpire sometimes is confused by the slide and makes the wrong decision because he expects the runner to flash past the bag instead of stopping.

If a man saves a cent each day he will not need to risk the loss of a friend at the end of the year by trying to borrow a dollar. New York Globe

GUARANTEE ANOTHER CHAUTAUQUA.

Although the guarantors of the Chautauqua held in Manchester last week each sustained a slight loss because the sale of season tickets did not reach the number expected, nearly everyone has signed the contract which will bring the Chautauqua to Manchester again next summer. In addition a number of others to whom the entertainments appealed as a desirable community feature signed this year. The attendance at Chautauqua for the week far exceeded the number required in the guarantee of season tickets, but as Chautauqua was a new thing in Manchester the majority bought single admission tickets instead of season tickets. It is expected that there will be little difficulty next season in disposing of the required number of season tickets. After the 50 guarantors had been secured last Friday evening, one found it necessary to withdraw, consequently an additional signer is needed to complete the contract. Those who signed are as follows:

MANCHESTER MAN LAST ON DRAFT LIST.

A Manchester man is the 2707th man on the draft list in the Beverly, Manchester, Wenham, Hamilton and Essex district. The man, the last one who will be called if there is ever need of such a call, will be Patrick J. Gilmore of Lincoln street. The first man to be called is James J. Kelliher of Garden street, Ryal Side, Beverly, an employe of the United Shoe Machinery company.

VALUE OF SCROD IN DAYS OF HIGH PRICES.

An authority on food conservation has recently complained that he finds a large number of small haddock on the market. In almost the same breath, he also complains that he paid 18c for a piece of large haddock. The small haddock he objects to are scrod haddock, known to hotel and restaurant patrons as "Boston Scrod." Large quantities of them are landed each week at the Boston Fish Pier, and, because of their comparatively low price, and the ease with which they are cut into filets to broil or fry, they are deservedly popular.

While scrod are plentiful, larger fish are higher in price. There is no reason why instead of paying a high price for a single slice of large fish, the purchaser should not take advantage of natural conditions and buy several small fish at a reasonable figure. If he doubts the flavor of scrod, let him ask those familiar with it.

The conscientious objector suggests no remedy for what he terms a "criminal waste," but what is in fact an opportunity for the consumer to save money. Once taken from the hooks, the scrod must either be thrown away or brought to market. Brought to market, scrod affords the discriminating public a chance to get a delicious and nutritious fish. Instead of creating a waste, the sale of scrod prevents it.—Hotel and Tourist.

MUCH USED BIBLE.

In the United States Supreme Court instead of many Bibles, we find but one small volume, now celebrated as the Justices' Bible, used continuously during all the years since 1800 for the installation of oaths of all the justices and the pledging of allegiance of all the attorneys who have practiced before that court. No wonder that on an average for about every decade of this period a new or extra outside cover of black leather has been required to keep the red Morocco binding of the little book in such freshness as it still possesses. This Bible is five and a half inches long and three and a half inches wide, and the tradition says that it formed one of 20,000 which congress imported in the early days of the republic to relieve the scriptural dearth of the country. The title page shows that it was printed at Oxford in 1709. This Bible has always been in the care of the clerk of the supreme court.

ARTIFICIAL SUNSHINE.

Among the efforts being made by England to get better crops, on account of the threatened food crisis, one of the most interesting is an experiment in growing cereals and other field crops with the aid of "artificial sunshine," provided by overhead electric current. ## A MESSAGE FROM THE RED CROSS

Mrs. Belmont Tiffany has written for the August issue of Harper's Bazar a very interesting article on "A Message from the American Red Cross to the Women of America." She especially mentions the part that women of society are taking in this great work, and also tells of the organization's rapid growth since the war began in 1914.

Mrs. Tiffany explains very clearly the different functions of the Red Cross; for instance, this is what she says about the Department of Civilian Relief:

"Perhaps it is not generally known by persons not familiar with the work that the Red Cross has a Department of Civilian Relief, with which the Department of Military Relief coordinates and coöperates. In other words, the Red Cross is responsible for relief of all kinds for our own army and navy and is chartered to take care not only of the sick and wounded soldiers, but of all who need aid of any sort. It is also required to take care of and look after the dependent families and children of the members of the United States Army and Navy. All over the country we are doing civilian relief work."

STATE GUARD READY

ELEVEN NEW REGIMENTS, 9000
STRONG, TAKES PLACE OF HIS-TORIC MILITIA.

In the make-up of the new State Guard, which takes the place of the old Militia, the 125th Co., Manchester, has a position in the 15th regiment. In order to avoid confusion the State Guard regiments begin with the number 11. In the old Militia formation the 9th regiment was the highest number, and it is still known as such by the public and military people.

Col. E. H. Eldredge is at the head of the 15th regiment and J. C. R. Peabody is the lieutenant colonel. The majors are Augustus P. Reynolds, 1st battalion; Lawrence Jenkins, 2d battalion; and Richard Lovering, 3d battalion. Major Lovering is a resident of Manchester. Richard Lawrence is the Regimental Adjutant, and A. Preston Chase is the Supply Officer.

There are three battalions, made up of (1st) Winthrop, Revere and Lynn (2 companies); (2d), Topsfield, Beverly, Salem and Hamilton; (3), Manchester, Gloucester (2 companies), and Rockport.

As at present constituted Butler Ames of Lowell, a summer resident of Bay View, Gloucester, is Brigadier General, commanding. Major Philip

S. Sears of Pride's Crossing is the Military Secretary.

General Ames has already reported to Governor McCall that his command of 9000 men and officers is ready for immediate duty and only awaits the word of the Governor to go into active service. Unless there arises some emergency, the Governor is not likely to call out the Guard, but it is understood of course, now that the National Guard, or State Militia, has gone out of the state service and entered the service of the Federal Government, the State Guard will be called upon by Governor McCall to perform duties which ordinarily would be performed by the State Militia.

ADVERTISING COMPETITORS.

The question before the merchant is not merely what he is going to do with advertising, says the Beverly Times. It is what advertising is going to do with him. The retail store need not think it can ignore the matter of advertising. For whether it tries publicity or not, it is affected by publicity, and it must meet the advertising of its competitors.

This is not merely that the enterprising merchants of a town are drawing trade away from those who are more conservative. It is also that all the merchants of a city like ours are affected by the advertising of great metropolitan department stores and mail order houses. If our merchants remain passive, a large section of their trade will be drawn away from them by the vast advertising campaigns on which millions are spent.

Mail order catalogs and big city newspapers are coming in here all the time, and the announcements in those mediums attract our people. The goods are not any better, if as good. But the fact that the sellers thereof have confidence to boom them as persistently as this, draws away the business from the home town. The only way to meet advertising is by advertising.

In its wider acceptance, understanding is the power of perceiving and conceiving, exclusive of the sensibility; the power of dealing with the impressions of sense and composing them into wholes, according to a law of unity, and in its most comprehensive meaning it includes even simple apprehension.—Coleridge.

Our history contains the name of no one worth remembering who led a life of ease.—Roosevelt.

Nothing is farther from the earth than heaven; nothing is nearer to heaven than earth.—Hare.

CHAUTAUQUA ENDED

FIVE DAYS' ENTERTAINMENT IN MANCHESTER CLOSES WITH WELL ACTED PLAY.

"The Man From Home," staged by the Avon Players was the closing attraction at the Manchester Chautauqua last Friday evening. The play was one of the best features of the five days' entertainment and brought round after round of applause from the audience of more than 800 in the big tent. The attendance at the final entertainment was the record-breaker for the week, the seating capacity of the tent being exceeded by nearly 100. The growth of favor of Chautauqua with the Manchester people could be marked by the daily increase in the attendance from 300 the first afternoon.

As a climax to the success of the last evening the last few signatures necessary to complete the contract, which is to bring Chautauqua to Manchester next year, were obtained. The announcement of the closing of the guarantee list brought a burst of applause from those in the big tent.

One of the addresses of the week of particular interest to Manchester people was that of Dr. P. Marion Simms of Des Moines, Iowa, on Thursday evening. Dr. Simms spoke on "The Calf Path," his subject relating to the overlapping of activities and waste of effort by small struggling churches in country communities. Choosing his subject from the poem of the name by Sam Walter Foss, he applied its lesson to the small town church. He said in part:

"Fundamentally Protestantism is one; but, unfortunately for the cause of Christ, it has allowed itself to be splintered into 164 separate denominations in the United States. These divisions have occurred over non-essentials—matters that might better have been left to the individual judgment and preference of men, and nobody would have been hurt.

"We have entirely too many houses and organizations to keep up—and somebody must pay the bills. One hundred denominations mean one hundred boards of home missions, one hundred boards of foreign missions, one hundred boards of church erection, one hundred boards for every activity of the church and one hundred sets of officers; while one great board of home or foreign missions, or one great board for any other activity of the church could do the work far better than so many little organizations.

"There is no better example of economic waste than that in the theological seminaries of this country. Only a few years ago the government reported one Protestant Theological Seminary in this country for every fifty-four theological students and one theological professor for every seven and one-half students. Think of such waste. The government reported two theological seminaries with only two students each enrolled for a whole year; two with three each, one with four, three with six, two with seven, three with eight, two with nine, three with ten each and several more with from eleven to fifteen each. Thirty-seven theological seminaries with buildings, grounds, endowment, faculties and equipment for an average of only nine and a half students each. Of the 164 denominations in this country two have theological seminaries, buildings, endowment, faculties and equipment enough to educate every theological student in the United States. If we would unify our churches we could take all the money now invested in theological education in the United States by the other 162 denominations and use it in some channel where it would bless humanity.

"Our superfluous churches and church machinery requires more ministers in this country than can best serve the Kingdom of God. Preachers are so thick that one can't throw a stick at a dog without hitting one. We have a Protestant minister for every four hundred fifty non-Catholic population. Roman Catholic priests care for a parish, on the average, of one thousand forty souls. If we would unify our churches and distribute pastors in such fashion that every pastor would become responsible on an average, for one thousand forty souls, we could instantly spare about eighty thousand preachers in this country.

"On a basis of loyalty to Jesus Christ and an absolute toleration of all differences in non-essentials we could unify the Protestant world. Loyalty to Jesus Christ is the only thing fundamental. Then ask no more. Leave men to work out their own system of non-essential theology as God gives them light. Let every man have baptism in any form he prefers—sprinkling or immersion. Give those trine immersion who prefer it. Let ministers preach what they believe with all their hearts to all who will go out to hear them. Nobody will be hurt thereby. While we think differently and can have our own preferences in practices, we can be brethren, working together in one common cause and in the service of one common Master."

TO FORM HOME GUARD

MEETING OF ALL INTERESTED IN RE-VIVING LOCAL COMPANY NEXT WEDNESDAY.

The following self-explanatory communication has been received by the BREEZE and should command the attention of all interested in the Home Guards of Manchester:

"At the commencement of training of Home Guards in Manchester, two companies were formed, one drilling Monday evenings and one on Wednesday evenings. These were formed of men whose occupations and circumstances were such as to prevent them from serving in the State Guard, as well as of those who have since enlisted for service anywhere in the State as the 125th. company.

"During the formation of this State Guard company the efforts of those in charge have been entirely taken up with the many important and necessary details of getting this company mustered and securing its equipment. As a result the drilling of the Home Guard company has been neglected and for the time has ceased. The Committee on Public Safety has been assured that many of the men unable to serve in the State Guard would like to continue drilling and the committee also feels that it would be an excellent plan to continue this work. They also feel that all between the ages of 18 and 50 should be enabled to receive training. Those liable to draft might thus receive preliminary drilling of advantage to them and an organization effected as a Home Guard whenever the State Guard company might be called elsewhere in the State.

"The committee is fully aware that there have been one or two minor matters of dissatisfaction in the drill work heretofore, but feel that all should realize that such things are bound to happen in spite of the best intentions on the part of those responsible.

"All who desire to continue are invited to report at the playground on Wednesday, Aug. 8, at 7 p. m., when competent instructors will be in attendance.

"Sub Committee on Home Guard,
"Manchester Comm. on Public Safety.
RAYMOND C. ALLEN,
"Chairman."

MAGNOLIA

It has been several years since this village has experienced such hot weather as we are now having.

Do not forget to write to our soldiers and navy boys. They will be glad to hear from their neighbors and friends.

The moving pictures at the Men's club, will be omitted tonight, owing to the entertainment, at the Women's club. A good show is promised for next Friday.

A minstrel show will be given at the Women's club this (Friday) evening under the direction of the matron, Mrs. Alice M. Peart, who, by the way, is not only very efficient, but also very popular among the girls and patrons of the club.

During the month of July "The Little Chapel Workers" have made and sent to the French Relief 645 articles. These busy women have recently been greatly favored by hearing two most interesting and instructive lectures given by Miss Hannah E. Godshalk of Philadelphia on "Constantinople and the Red Cross" and "Greece." Miss Godshalk has travelled widely with eyes and ears open and her vivid description of personal experiences and places visited was a rare treat to those who heard her. Especially interesting was her account of her acquaintance with the King of Greece and his family and the social functions which she attended in the King's palace.

Dr. Eaton, the pastor, will preach in the Village church Sunday at 10.45 a. m., and at 8.30 p. m., Ralph Harlow of Turkey, who has recently returned from unique experiences in Red Cross and relief work, in that most interesting country of the war zone will speak on "Sword and Famine in Turkey." The address will also be given at the Community meeting in the Manchester Baptist church at 7.30 p. m. He is a speaker of rare charm and concreteness and speaks with authority on recent developments in Turkey. He comes from five years of remarkable success as chaplain of the American College of Smyrna.

VILLAGE CHURCH FAIR A SUCCESS.

The ladies of the Village church held their annual fair this Wednesday and its success was due not alone to the efficient president of the Ladies Aid society, Mrs. Ernest Howe and the capable chairman, Mrs. Thomas H. Hunt, but also to others who presided over the different artistically arranged tables as follows:

Ice cream—Mrs. Frank Abbott, Bessie Abbott and Mrs. Clifford Story.

Grabs—Rose Nelson, Abbie May, Marion Scott and Dorothy Story.

Flowers—Mrs. Harry C. Foster, Miss Martha Wonson, Gertrude West, Izetta Wolfe and Dorothy Wolfe.

Candy—Mary Boyd, Dorothea McGoughy, Beatrice Story and Ruth Scott.

Cake—Mrs. Ernest Lucas, Mrs. William Wilkins and Mrs. J. Willis Malonson.

Aprons—Mrs. Fred S. Lycett, Amy Lycett and Mrs. Fred Dunbar.

Fancy work—Mrs. Frank Dunbar, Mrs. Samuel Brown and Mrs. Walter S. Eaton.

Twenty-five cent table—Mrs. Wilson B. Richardson, Susan Lycett and Mrs. Oscar P. Story.

Domestic—Mrs. Frank F. Story, Mrs. E. L. Story, Mrs. Jonathan May and Mrs. W. R. Boyd.

The day was ideal, the church decorated with flags, never looked more beautiful, the two large awnings pitched on the lawn added at least comfort to many, and despite the fact that even the rich feel poor these days, yet the fair was in no sense a failure though not as successful financially as in former years.

BOSTON THEATRE.

One of the greatest photo plays in which Virginia Pearson has yet appeared will be the big feature at the Boston Theatre during the week of Aug. 6. During a private screening of this latest production in New York experts say that it is a wonderful "movie." It is also possible that Valeska Suratt, "The Vampire of the Screen" will be shown in her very latest production, "Wife No. 2," and the former legitimate stage star is considered far superior than in her previous productions. The vaudeville bill far exceeds that of previous weeks and lovers of both vaudeville and the "movies" are bound to witness one of the best summer attractions here.

A Remarkable Display of Pearl Necklaces

Choice imitation pearl strands that rival in beauty the finest genuine pearls will be found in great abundance in our summer display.

Never have we offered so great a variety of sizes and lengths, and at such a range of price. We have them from $2.00 to $250.00 and every grade is the best that can be secured at the price.

There is the 15 inch length which encircles the neck closely, and there is the opera necklace in 22, 26 and 28 inch lengths. This is a very popular length as it is so attractive with the light summer dresses.

The less expensive necklaces are mounted with solid gold and fancy stone-set sterling silver clasps, while many of the higher priced ones have platinum clasps, set with diamonds.

The prices, too, are remarkably low, in fact, they are less than any we have ever been able to quote on necklaces of a like quality.

Surely it is a wonderfully complete assortment and well worth the attention of anyone interested in pearl necklaces.

A large verandah facing the water, which is at the disposal of knitting clubs and committees. Arrangements may be made for serving tea and other refreshments.

Ladies' room, writing conveniences, local and long distance telephone.

A staff of assistants always pleased to extend any possible courtesies and hospitalities.

We believe that quality and worth are economy; that good enough never can usurp the best; that the customer is generally right; that loyalty to the loftiest standards of our calling is as imperative as deference to the client's wish; and that when we have ceased to be apprentices to progress we have failed at our biggest task.

We strive to please our patrons with the same service and quality that experience has proved to be pleasing to ourselves.

Many noble-hearted women today are carrying bags like this. They are of beautiful cretonne or bright-hued silk and they lend a picturesque, quaint note to one's costume;—somewhat suggestive of other times when American women were rallying staunchly to the support of a war-tried nation, just as they are today.

Perhaps you already have a bag of this sort. Its uses are many. You may carry in it the knitting you are doing for the Red Cross work, and besides it will easily hold the little parcels that you buy at the stores and do not mind carrying with you, as well as the little accessories it is always convenient to carry.

Every woman, young or younger, should produce some article for the comfort of our soldier boys, with her own fingers and some knitting needles.

It is more than kindness, it is more than an expression of esteem. It is real patriotism. Many of our boys are not yet accustomed to the rigorous life of the army camp.

A Sweater or some other knitted garment will given them comfort and protection against colds and their results.

The Cable Memorial Hospital at Ipswich

Formally Presented to Town by R. T. Crane, Jr.,
Last Sunday, in Presence of Over 1,000 Guests

CABLE MEMORIAL HOSPITAL was formally presented to the Town of Ipswich last Saturday afternoon, Aug. 4, by Richard T. Crane, Jr., of Ipswich and Chicago, in the presence of over one thousand guests. The hospital is a gift to the town by Mr. and Mrs. Crane in memory of their friend, Benjamin Stickney Cable, who was killed in an automobile accident about two years ago while riding with Mr. Crane near Ipswich.

The public exercises were held on the terrace. Previous to these the unveiling of a bronze tablet in the main hallway took place in the presence of a few invited friends. The tablet bears the dates 1872-1915 and was the gift of Mrs. R. R. Cable, the mother of the late Mr. Cable. She was unable to be present at the exercises.

Hon. Charles Nagle, ex-Secretary of Commerce and Labor, under President Taft, and a personal friend of Mr. Cable, and also Rev. Wm. G. Thayer of Ipswich took part in the private exercises. Master Cornelius Crane unveiled the tablet, which was massed with laurel and delphiniums. It is the work of Bela Pratt, the sculptor, who died a few months ago, and is believed to be about the last piece of work he finished.

Rev. T. F. Waters made an eloquent prayer at the opening of the dedicatory exercises. This was followed by the presentation of the deeds of the property by Mr. Crane and their acknowledgement by President Herbert W. Mason, president of the board of trustees. The Hon. Geo. A. Schofield spoke in behalf of the town, and Francis R. Appleton of Ipswich spoke for the Coburn Charitable Home of which he is a trustee. Dr. E. A. Crockett of Argilla road spoke as a representative of the medical staff, and the benediction was pronounced by the Rev. Fr. John M. Donovan of Ipswich.

The Ipswich Hospital Corporation, appointed by the town, includes F. R. Appleton, J. S. Lawrence, Rev. T. F. Waters, Malcolm Donald, J. H. Proctor, Hon. G. A. Schofield and J. A. Tuckerman. When Mr. Crane's offer was made the corporation accepted it and elected the following trustees: Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Crane, Jr., Mrs. L. C. Fenno, Mrs. F. B. Harrington, James H. Proctor, F. W. Kyes, Geo. E. Barnard, John A. Tuckerman, Mrs. R. S. Kimball, Rev. T. F. Waters, J. S. Lawrence, James W. Appleton, Bayard Tuckerman, Hon. Geo. A. Schofield and Herbert W. Mason. Mr. Mason is president, Mr.

Dr. J. Dellinger Barney's New Summer Residence,
Argilla Road, Ipswich

Waters, secretary, and H. N. Doughty is treasurer. Mrs. Helen S. Chapman is superintendent and the resident physicians of Ipswich and of the summer colony as well as others compose the medical staff.

The architect was Edward F. Stevens, with Chas. A. Coolidge as the consulting architect. Marr Brothers & Stuart Company were the contractors. A handsome garage is now in process of building. The building and ground and the most perfect and complete equipment known in the hospital world has been included in this munificent gift. It is now ready for occupancy. It may become a base hospital, as it has been offered to the government for the care of wounded soldiers. It could care for 150 men.

The committee of young men who have been making a canvass in the interest of a maintenance fund, and boy scouts of the town acted as ushers for the day. Tea was served at the close by Mrs. Herbert Mason, Mrs. Bayard Tuckerman, Mrs. Geo. Schofield, Mrs. Arthur Ross, Miss

The "Spaulding Gardens" at Beverly Farms

Again Coming Into Its Own as One of the Show Places of North Shore

One of the Attractive Walks in the Spaulding Gardens
(Picture taken several years ago.)

THE SPAULDING GARDENS at Beverly Farms, now the property of Albert C. Burrage of Pride's Crossing, will be the scene of some very interesting experiments in "glass-gardening" this year.

Tropical fruits of an unusual nature in this country are being started. Among them are the lokuat, kumquat, ugenia, pomegranate, banana, guava, feijoa, avacado, the last a California plant considered very hard to grow. It is sometimes called the alligator pear and bears fruit weighing from one to three pounds. The usual peaches and nectarines, apples, pears and grapes are seen bearing an abundance of fruit. Bunches of grapes weighing over three pounds are now ripe. Potted fig, pear, plum and apple trees are an interesting sight. Melons of a huge size are ripening in their nets, and the gardener reports 400 as the June picking.

Aside from the fruit is a great shipment of orchids, many from Africa, So. America and the Philippines. Some are very rare and have just been plucked from the trees in their far-away homes, but are being established here by the expert orchid grower in charge of this department. Orchids are being raised from the seed, a very unique experiment.

The aquatic house with its semi-tropical plants is underway. Here are seen the rare lotus and papyrus plants of Egyptian renown, and many beautiful water lilies and other plants.

At the Pride's Crossing place are two new greenhouses. One is for plants and will contain the show plants from the gardens. In this there will be a room for begonias, one for orchids, one for palms and the other rare tropical plants, and a fourth section will be a rockery or fernery. This house is now well stocked with plants.

The other greenhouse, a "twin," is on the opposite side of the place near Mingo beach. The four sections will house the rare fruits, and will be divided into a grapery, a tropical house, an orchard, and a section for pears and melons.

The superintendent of all this "glass-gardening" is Douglas Eccleston of New York, who has had much experience on large estates.

The most beautiful part of the Spaulding gardens is the rose garden and its ornamental surroundings of miniature lakes, fountains, bridges and classic looking ornaments. This was laid out twelve or more years ago by Mrs. Henry L. Foote of Marblehead, who also laid out the R. T. Crane, Jr., gardens at Ipswich.

The rose garden is the same as it always has been, and contains 2000 rose bushes in its 36 beds, not counting the great climbers that twist themselves over the handsome iron trellises which surround the plot.

The whole spot is a fairyland of roses, walks, water and fine old trees. This seems like a garden haunted with memories of the past, for, we are told that in its early days it was open to the public and sought by people from all over the country. It was the property of William S. and John T. Spaulding of "Sunset Rock," Pride's Crossing.

A Bit of Early Manchester History

Some Interesting References to the Forts or "Watches" of the Revolutionary Days

Summer Home of Mrs. J. D. Safford, Norton's Point, Manchester, Showing Rock Garden in the Making in Early Spring

MRS. JAMES D. SAFFORD of Norton's Point, West Manchester, is making a garden among the rocks at her home, purchased a few years ago, that will, in time, be one of the many attractive rock gardens that are increasing in popularity upon the Shore. Vegetables and flowers are now about equally sharing the pleasure of growing among the fine old rocks. Terraces, paths and stone steps and rustic seats add to the pretty spot with its wonderful outlook. But the most interesting thing in the garden is the long low stone wall high up on the cliff next to the sea. This is the remains of an old intrenchment thrown up long ago in war times, and has suggested the recalling of the following bits of history.

In the early records of the Town of Manchester compiled by Alfred S. Jewett, town clerk for many years, we find some interesting references to the forts or "watches" of the Revolutionary days.

"Att a Town Meeting in Manchester on fryday the Twenty First day of Appril Anno: Domini: 1775. previous to the Fight at Concord, In order to do something for the safty of the Town: Andrew Woodberry was Chosen Moderator for s<sup>d</sup> Meeting and firstly was Voted to keep four Watches: one at Glasses head or Black Cove: to Rang from Chubs Creek to Marsters Point, one in the Center of the Town to Range from Bennetts Hill to Edward Hoopers Corner: one at the old-Neck to Rang from the Northern End of Glasses Beach to Thunder-Bolt Hill: and one at Kettle-Cove on great Crow-Island: 2<sup>dly</sup>. Voted to Build two Watch Houses, one at Glasses Head or Black Cove: and the other at Crow Island: 3<sup>dly</sup>. Voted that the select-men be and are hereby Impowpered to Build said Watch Houses: 4<sup>ly</sup>. Voted that if any Person shall Refuse to watch when they are properly warned. shall pay a fine of two Dollars: 5<sup>ly</sup>. Voted that Lieut. Hooper shall have the Care of the Watch at Kettle Cove: 6<sup>ly</sup>. Voted that if any Person not Meet on an Alarm with all his Accutermments shall pay a fine of Forty shillings: 7<sup>ly</sup>. Voted that Each watch shall be at their Posts at half an Hour after sun sett and to Continue there watch Till sun Rise." A month later is found this record: "Voted to Build two Watch Houses one at Glasses Point and the other at Image Hill:" and "that the select-men be a Committee to agree with some Carpenters to Build said Watch Houses in the Cheapest Manner." Later, "Voted to Keep three watches in the Town and to Buld a Watch at Mr. Procters point * * * * no negro shall be allowed to watch."

It was voted to

"throw up Some Intrinchments In sum Convenient Place In the Town. Secondly Voted to Choose a Committee of Five men to Lay out som Convenient Place In the Town for Intrinchments. * * * * Forthly voted that the People of Town should work Two Days If they Please on said Intrinchments. Fifthly voted that the Committee shall lay out such Places for Intrinchments as they shall Think Proper. Sixthly voted to Indamnify those Persons on whose Land Intrinchments shall be made agreeable to other Towns."

In the war of 1812 Manchester was ordered to "place a watch along the coast, erect flag-staffs, and provide flags for signals and alarms. A breastwork was thrown up on Norton's Point, and the present Powder House was built on Powder House Hill. The seaboard was in particular danger from the enemy's cruisers, and was almost wholly unprotected from Salem Harbor to Eastern Point. Petition was made to Government for powder and two six-pound cannon, and the people drilled and armed themselves in almost constant expectation of an attack." (The Manchester Home Guards are echoing those times at the present.)

The little red powder house with its sharp pointed roof is perched upon the hill near the water tower and is clearly seen from various points in Manchester.

The history of the town further says of the soldiers of 1812:

"We can almost see these sturdy men, some of whom survived until a quite recent period, mustered on a bright spring morning, at sound of fife and drum, on the Common, answering to their names, exhibiting their arms and ammunition, going through their simple evolutions in the presence of an admiring crowd of youngsters, and then adjourning when dismissed to the tavern and regaling

Powder House at Manchester Built during the War of 1812

ing themselves after the arduous service with cider and flip, captain and men now on a perfect equality—a part of that citizen soldiery which our country has never found wanting in time of need. * * * *

"Although the town did not suffer from any descent of the enemy upon the coast, the presence of the cruisers in the Bay caused a good deal of alarm at times, especially among the women, who were often alone, and who hurried with their children and valuables to the woods on the first alarm from the coast-guards. There is a somewhat apocryphal tradition that one good woman on reaching a place of safety, found the spoons all secure, but in the haste and trepidation of flight the baby had been left behind. The story may have originated in the disordered brain of some unfortunate bachelor."

West Beach a Popular Spot During the Warm Days

Some Dissatisfaction, However, Because of Rate Charged for Use of Beach and Pavilion

The Pavilion at West Beach, Largest Bathhouse on North Shore

WEST BEACH, at Beverly Farms, has always been a popular spot during the warm days of summer. From all along the Shore people have been in the habit of coming in the motor cars, or afoot for a dip in the surf or to rest on the sands. In order to operate and maintain the beach the committee of citizens in charge have been forced, they maintain, to levy a charge for bathing, and have adopted a schedule of rates, ranging from $40 for a whole season for non-members, for the use of one compartment, to 60 cents for one dip (trah-sient). The charge is creating more or less of a stir, though the committee feel they are perfectly right in making the rates what they have. The members of the house committee are Nath. S. Simpkins, Jr., Samuel Vaughan, Robert E. Hodgkins and Fred W. Varney. In a circular letter issued by them the first of the season they say: "This corporation, which owns the beach, bathhouse and pier at Beverly Farms, is not organized for profit, and all its officers serve without pay. By its charter the members of the corporation are the all-the-year residents of Beverly Farms, who thus through the corporation are the owners. In order to operate and maintain the beach, bathhouse and pier, and to pay the interest on and slowly reduce a large debt incurred in building the new bathhouse, it is necessary to charge for the use of the beach, bathhouse and pier."

In a letter to one of the officers of the West Beach Corporation, Amos A. Lawrence of Beaver Pond section of Beverly, voices the sentiment of many of the summer colony as follows:

Aug. 3, 1917.

"Dear Sir:—It is only lately that I have learned your schedule or rates for the summer, —60c. for the privilege of bath on West Beach.

"I cannot express in words how strongly I feel concerning this prohibitive charge, not for myself, for I have long ago given up using the Beach, but for the poor people who do not reside in Beverly Farms.

"You probably have a legal right to keep everyone not residents of Beverly Farms off the Beach, but you have no moral right to do so, possessing as you do the largest bathhouse on the Shore, which is not half full.

"Very truly,

"AMOS A. LAWRENCE."

The Beverly Times expresses the situation in the following manner:

"Up town folk who have been making a run down to West Beach during the torrid spell have been complaining on the high cost of a plunge into the surf beating up on that sandy beach—but as they say, there's a reason."

"The wife of a Beverly business man went to the beach in the afternoon. Her little child went in bathing. When she started to come away a charge of 30 cents was levied and this despite that fact that the child did not use the privileges of the bathhouse at all. The mother was informed that if she went in bathing the charge would have been 60 cents.

"That's the story and here's the reason for such charges according to the folk who preside over the destinies of the beach. The popular place is controlled by a private corporation created by the legislature years ago, when men past middle age now, wore rompers. For years the beach was dotted with old wooden bathhouses of nondescript type. The corporation made up of residents of the Farms, planned a new, modern bathhouse and some people promised to contribute if the old bathhouses were wiped out. The new house was erected—the promise was kept and the old buildings were tossed to the discard. Some of those who promised to contribute failed to do so and the directors were faced with a deficit for its costs money to keep up the plant, the pier and keep the beach in good condition. Then a way of beating the nominal charge system developed. Folk would come to the beach in automobiles, all dressed for a dip. They would sport in the water—then allow the sun and the winds to dry up the salt water accumulations—go back to the cars and whisk away home—not using the bathhouse or paying a cent towards its maintenance. This led to the adoption of the charge system to even those who came to the beach in cars or afoot, had a dip and did not use the bathhouse. The plan hits some folk it was not meant to hit, but taken all around it seemed to be about the only way of collecting anywhere near enough for the running expenses—and so when folk tell about the high cost of charges—there's a reason."

Ford-McAllister Nuptials at Manchester

A WEDDING of charming simplicity took place in Manchester on Monday afternoon when Miss Louise McAllister and Nevil Ford were married in the First Unitarian church. The ceremony took place at 4 o'clock, the officiating clergyman being the Rev. Paul Revere Frothingham, D.D., of the Arlington street church in Boston. The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Francis H. McAllister. The maid of honor, and only attendant for the bride, was her young cousin, Miss Barbara Farnham, of Chestnut Hill, whose mother, Mrs. Frank A. Farnham, is the sister of Mrs. McAllister. The bridegroom's cousin, Dr. L. Whittington Gorham of Albany, N. Y., was the best man. The seating capacity of the little church is small and since the desire was for informality there were no ushers. An organ selection was played by Mr. Meyer, organist of St. John's church, Beverly Farms. The front archway of the church was done in Dorothy Perkins roses and hemlock and the chancel was banked with palms and white lilies.

The bride was gowned in white satin with yoke and sleeves of Brussels point lace, the long court train hanging from the shoulder. The tulle veil was fastened with the classic wreath of orange blossoms. Her bouquet was of white sweet peas and gypsophila. The maid of honor wore pale pink organdy with hat to match of chiffon and carried pink sweet peas. The bride's mother, Mrs. Hall McAllister, wore white pompadour chiffon and a white tulle hat. Mrs. Charles Edwin Ford (Anne Hopkins), mother of Mr. Ford, was dressed in pale gray chiffon with white lace trimmings.

A reception followed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Boylston A. Beal on Smith's Point, where Mrs. McAllister has been spending the summer during the absence abroad of Mr. and Mrs. Beal. The color scheme of pink and white was charmingly brought out in the music room, halls and veranda by great clusters of pink gladioli and white phlox. A small orchestra played and the young couple were given a merry send-off at the close when they left on a two weeks' trip through New Hampshire. Upon returning they will make a short visit in Manchester. Their future home will be in Boston.

Among the relatives were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Edwin Ford of Chestnut Hill, parents of the bridegroom, his aunts, Mrs. James Mumford of New York and Mrs. Gorham of Albany, Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Farnham of Chestnut Hill, and Mrs. McAllister's cousins, Mrs. Oglesby Paul of Philadelphia and Mr. and Mrs. James Purdon of Marblehead.

Other guests were Mrs. S. V. R. Crosby, Mrs. M. G. Haughton, Mrs. L. C. Fenno and the Misses Florence, Mariop and Elizabeth Fenno, Mrs. W. Scott Fitz, Mrs. Henry Grew, Mrs. John S. Curtis, Mrs. Robert S. Bradley, Miss Frances Bradley, Mr. and Mrs. Harris Livermore, Mrs. Allen Curtis, Mrs. Timothee Adamowski, Mrs. Wallace Goodrich and Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. Higginson. Among the Nahant people who attended were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Grafton Minot, Mr. and Mrs. Vittorio Orlandini, Mr. and Mrs. John Denny and Miss Katherine Sigourney. Others from Boston and Chestnut Hill were Mrs. Curtis Guild, Mrs. John L. Gardner, Major General and Mrs. Sumner, Miss Katherine Motley and Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Aspinwall.

THIS charming tribute to a tree by Joyce Kilmer is one of the poems receiving much favorable comment at the "Graftonwood" garden entertainment last week at the home of Dr. and Mrs. James Henry Lancashire. It was read by Mrs. Waldo Richards. The affair was given for hospital work in France.

*I think that I shall never see
A poem lovely as a tree.
A tree, whose hungry mouth is pressed
Against the earth's sweet flowing breast.
A tree, that looks at God all day,
And lifts her leafy arms to pray.
A tree that may in summer wear
A nest of robins in her hair—
Upon whose bosom snow has lain,
Who intimately lives with rain.
Poems are made by fools like me—
But only God can make a tree.*

That best portion of a good man's life—his little, nameless, unremembered acts of kindness and of love.—

MONTSERRAT TENNIS CLUB affairs this season are lacking among the folk who have formerly been its devotees, but who, now are engaged in weightier matters. The young set, however, have been having a merry tournament in which W. Harry Brown, Jr., and Jack Cabot were in the finals, each receiving a handsome silver cup. The players included Lawrence Coolidge, Thomas Laughlin, Jack Cabot, Adell Ryan, Ethel Cummings, Harold J. Coolidge, Jr., Eleanor Higginson, Eugene Kendall, Tucker Lindsay, Jack Blodgett, Eleanor Whitney, W. Harry Brown, Jr., Roger C. Coolidge, Katherine Crosby, William Laughlin and Dorothy Paine.

Dr. and Mrs. H. Frank Hammer of New York are again occupying the old Foster cottage near the Montserrat club at Beverly Cove.

Mrs. Wm. Baldwin Miller is recovering from an operation for appendicitis which she underwent three weeks ago at her home at Beverly Cove. Her mother, Mrs. M. A. Stevenson of Minneapolis, Minn., is with her.

"Willowbank," the new home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold L. Chalifoux (Elizabeth Burrage) at Beverly Cove, has become one of the attractive white houses of the Shore since their occupancy. The large main house, the guest house and the garage are all a snowy white with green blinds, adding much to the attractiveness of the place. Three immense willow trees supposed to be one hundred years old are standing guard on the bank of the pretty little beach at the foot of the lawn next the water side of the house. This lawn has the croquet grounds while on the front lawn is the tennis court with its roses climbing gracefully over the wire nettings. Mrs. Chalifoux is one of the coterie of young brides upon the Shore this summer.

Miss Katherine C. Blodgett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Wood Blodgett of Pride's Crossing entertained an interesting group of girl friends over the last weekend. The party was composed of girls who made their debut the past winter in New York where Miss Blodgett was one of the debutantes, and included Miss Margaret Grant Mason of Tuxedo Park, Miss Ulrica Drexel Dalhgren and Miss Eleanor Babbitt of New York.

Mrs. Henry W. Peabody's daughter, Mrs. Raphael C. Thomas, wife of Dr. Thomas of the Union Mission Hospital in the Philippines, writes to her mother at Montserrat of the strenuous hospital work she is doing in far-away Iloilo. She is also making a garden in her new home where she went the past winter.

North Shore friends of Captain and Mrs. Frank Northen (May Fitch), son-in-law and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ezra C. Fitch of "Riverhouse," West Manchester, who are stationed in England, will be glad to hear that the young son, Master Charles Fitch Northen, has entirely recovered from his recent illness. Mrs. Northen is occupying a cottage at Wotten Courtney. Captain Northen, who is private aid-de-camp to Col. Sir Douglass Dawson, is located near London.

"Edgewater," the Joseph Leiter home at Beverly Farms, was the scene of a family gathering last week. Mrs. William F. McCombs was joined by her parents, Col. and Mrs. John R. Williams of Washington, who will spend the summer. Mrs. Williams' mother, Mrs. Hewett of St. Louis, also joined the party. Mrs. Leiter came for a brief visit only, as did also her sister, Mrs. John Ballantine Pitney (Francise Williams), whose wedding occurred at "Edgewater" last September. She will make a short visit before returning to Fort Myer.

CORNER CENTRAL AND PINE STREETS, MANCHESTER

J. M. HART, OF THE HOTEL BRUNSWICK, BOSTON

THE WEDDING of Miss Elise Ames, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Ames of Boston and Pride's Crossing, and William Amory Parker, son of Mrs. Francis Stanley Parker of Boston, will take place Friday, Aug. 17, at 12.30 o'clock in St. John's Episcopal church at Beverly Farms. Rev. Neilson Poe Carey, the rector, will officiate. Plans are made for a small and simple affair, and there will be no bridesmaids. The engagement was announced the middle of July.

An engagement of interest is that of Miss Vivian Wessell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Wessell of New York, to Alexander Lynde Cochrane, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Cochrane of Commonwealth avenue, Boston and Pride's Crossing. The engagement will be a short one as the marriage will soon take place very quietly. Miss Wessell has been during a part of this week the guest of her fiancé's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cochrane, at their place on Hale street, at Pride's.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Moore have had their grandson, Master Edward S. Moore, Jr., of Lake Forest, Ill., with them for the past three weeks at "Rockmarge," Pride's Crossing. Mrs. Moore and her younger children are expected next week, while Mr. Moore will join the family later.

Miss Harriet Rantoul returned to her home at Beverly Farms this week from a trip to Maine resorts.

Mrs. Alexander Winsor (Hope Bancroft) and baby of Weston are now at the summer home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hale Bancroft of Beverly. Mr. Bancroft has been in poor health all this season. Through his generosity "Hale Farm" is now showing an abundant crop of vegetables in the community gardens which he gave to the townspeople in the spring. The whole place is practically surrounded by the little gardens.

At "Foxcroft," the Hamilton home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Seavey, the latter's father, Mr. Foster of Toledo, O., is paying his annual visit.

The Masonomo House in Manchester treated its guests to "movies" last night. On next Thursday night the Ruth Fielding children will appear in the casino. Arrivals this week are Mrs. W. B. Palmer of Mt. Vernon, N. Y.; the L. J. Plumb family of New York; Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Hypson of Ontario; and Mr. and Mrs. Bernard S. Clark of New York. Many tourist parties are constantly stopping at this finely situated hotel.

Mrs. Leverett Saltonstall Tuckerman (Linda Scarritt), who is at "Applefield," Ipswich, is one of the season's brides, who is receiving some pleasant attentions from Ipswich residents. She was recently entertained at a luncheon by Mrs. Bayard Tuckerman. Her twin sister, Miss Gwendolen Scarritt, has been among her guests lately.

ALL the North Shore is looking forward with keen interest to the exhibition of William H. Moore's horses at Rockmarge Driving Park next Saturday—the 18th—for the benefit of the Red Cross. These annual exhibitions of the world-famed prize winners have been among the most exclusive functions of the North Shore season, to which have been invited Mr. and Mrs. Moore's friends, but this year the general public is privileged to attend, at $2.50 per person, for war relief. A big crowd is expected. The first class—stallions in hand—will be called precisely at 3.30, and will be followed at five and ten minute intervals by ten other classes, as follows: 3.35, pair horses exceeding 15.2 hands; 3.40, two-year olds; 3.50, park teams; 4.00, ponies not exceeding 14 hands; 4.10, tandems, 15 hands and over; 4.20, three-year olds; 4.30, champions; 4.40, single horses exceeding 15.2 hands; 4.50, pairs, ladies to drive; 5.00, road teams. Preparations are being made to handle a large crowd, if the day is fair; if not, the exhibition will be held on the Monday following.

Manchester's branch of Surgical Dressings, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Philip Dexter of "Boulderwood," met yesterday afternoon in the Engine house, and in spite of the rain, thirty-four workers were out. A glance over the room showed some of the same workers that were present in the morning at Mrs. E. S. Grew's coach-house at the French Wounded workroom. Much work is being turned out by the Manchester branch, often three or four hundred compresses come in weekly from home work. The average attendance is fifty and at a recent meeting 4,040 compresses were turned out, the usual out-put when the weather does not interfere with the attendance.

AMONG the distinguished visitors to the North Shore this week was Secretary McAdoo of President Wilson's cabinet. He was here only a few hours, a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Wallace of Washington, who are spending the summer at the Boardman estate, upper School st., Manchester. Very few knew of his presence here.

Miss Rosamond Lancaster of Manchester will go to Newport Saturday to attend the Disston-Wanamaker wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Arthur Carlisle and the Misses Anne and Kathryn and Woodson Carlisle, accompanied by their house-guest, Mrs. Noel Dunbar of South Bend, Ind., were luncheon guests Wednesday of Mrs. Frederick Cunningham (Gertrude Oliver) at the Vesper Country club in Lowell. The Cunninghams are frequent guests along the Shore. Mrs. Cunningham is a young bride whose former home was in South Bend.

Remember there are two shows every evening at the Larcom theatre, Beverly,—6.30 and 8.30, the last feature never starts until 9.30. Cool as ocean breezes. adv.

MR. AND MRS. AKSEL WICHFELD opened "Swiftmoor," at Pride's Crossing, this week. They were here about two weeks ago for a few days when they were among the dinner guests at a large function given by Mrs. George Lee in honor of Lieut. Maurice and other house-guests. Mrs. Wichfeld's two small boys, Clarence and Lloyd Moore, have been on the Shore for a few weeks. Jasper Moore will not be with the family until the last of August, as he is at East Hebron, N. H., attending the Mowglis camp,—a camp for boys named after the gray ape in Kipling's Jungle book. Miss Frances Moore will join the family next week. Tomorrow, Aug. 11, she will be one of the bridesmaids at the wedding in Newport of Miss Pauline Disston and John Wanamaker, Jr., at which Gurnee Munn, of Washington and Manchester, is to be the bridegroom's best man.

Jack Cabot, son of the Godfrey L. Cabots of Beverly Farms, has been giving a tennis tournament at the Montserrat club the past week. Cups were given to W. Harry Brown, Jr., and to Miss Virginia Ryan. The young folk playing were William and Thomas Laughlin, the Misses Adele and Virginia Ryan, Wm. Tucker Lindsay, Elizabeth De Blois, W. H. Brown, Jr., Eugene Kendall, William Goddard, William Coolidge, Jack Cabot and his house-guest, Léon Dupriez of Belgium.

Mrs. Fulton Cutting and baby are at the home of the former's father, Francis I. Amory, at Chapman's Corner, Beverly Cove.

HON. ALBERT J. BEVERIDGE is evidently interested in the the American Audubon society. The fine old trees on his estate at Beverly Farms and the cool depths of his artificial pond are ideal attractions for our feathered friends. On the fences here and there are seen signs telling that shooting is prohibited and also: "Protect the birds as a war measure! The food destroyed in America by insects and small rodents would feed the people of Belgium! Birds are the great natural enemies of these pests. The laws of this State and of the Nation protect insect-eating birds, but many are being shot wantonly and for food. Report violations to the nearest game warden or to the National Association of Audubon societies, 1974 Broadway, New York."

Mrs. Wm. E. Littleton of Beverly Farms is visiting at the Bar Harbor home of her daughter, Mrs. Frank T. Griswold.

Mr. and Mrs. Sydney E. Hutchinson of Beverly Farms left last Saturday for a week's motor trip to Dark Harbor, Me.

Mrs. Henry Stephens is entertaining Mrs. W. P. Holiday and Mrs. S. Backus of Detroit at her home at Pride's Crossing. Her daughter, Mrs. Julian Harris, is in Manchester in a cottage on Summer street.

THE Manchester Red Cross workroom has been unusually active the past month. The extreme heat has not kept the workers away nor hindered the home work perceptibly. The following is the July report: 42 surgical shirts, 19 sets pajamas, 12 shoulder wraps, 80 triangular bandages, 93 T bandages, 46 handkerchiefs and 21 fracture pillows. The knitters have made 69 sweaters, 46 pairs of socks, 3 caps and 4 helmets. Also 72 four-tailed bandages and about 500 rolled bandages have been turned out. Mrs. William H. About $400 was made for the Nursing Fund of the Ris-Orangis hospital in France by the entertainment given in Graftonwood garden last week at the home of Dr. and Mrs. James Henry Lancashire in Manchester.

Mr. and Mrs. W. V. Kellen and Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Warner, both summer residents at Cohasset on the South Shore, have been guests for a short stay with Mr. and Mrs. Costello C. Converse, at their summer cottage, Magnolia.

Mrs. Phillip H. McMillan of Detroit is expected today to join Mr. McMillan at "Eaglehead," where he has been with his mother, Mrs. James McMillan, for some time.

A house guest at the shore home of Mr. and Mrs. Otis Weld Richardson at Magnolia, for a lengthy visit is Miss Helen Johnson of St. Louis. During her stay Miss Johnson is being much entertained, and is seen at the bi-weekly meetings of the Magnolia Surgical Dressings Branch at the Oceanside Hotel Annex.

Dear Estelle:

Yesterday's visit to Magnolia was a success. At Mme. Marie's Individual Apparel Shop on Lexington avenue, I found beautiful summer things reduced one-half to make room for adorable early fall creations acquired on her recent visit to New York. I decided upon a chic blue serge frock, a Jenny model, so simple and stunning. Its only trimming is an artistic design in blue bugles on bodice and skirt. The skirt is so new, large about hips and then fairly melting into nothingness at the bottom, quite narrow. In the splendid array of French blouses of washable marquisette I chose one of blue and white stripped which has the new peplum basque. Will call for you at three Saturday and we can visit Mme. Marie's together.—PRISCILLA.

MRS. ROBERT S. BRADLEY of Pride's Crossing reports that $1150 is now the fund raised by the Shore for the small military hospitals of France. This is the outcome of a meeting held on Sunday afternoon, July 29, at the Bradley home, at which Mrs. Virginia Evans Sewall, daughter of the late Admiral Evans, spoke on the small French hospitals in and about Avignon. The government makes a trifling allowance per day for the purchase of mere necessities. But this, with the utmost care and economy for which the French people are noted, provides only enough linen to change beds just about once a month, and other things in proportion. It had been hoped to reach $1000, but now that sum has been exceeded. The money will be used for such necessities as linen, clinical thermometers (a hospital of 200 beds was found with only one), soap, clothes, bed covers and the like. Too much cannot be done to provide simple comforts for the wounded men.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Coolidge, Jr. (Eleanor Cole), of Summer st., Magnolia, are receiving congratulations upon the birth of a son, their first-born, yesterday.

Ralph Harlow, who has been on the North Shore the past week in the interests of the Armenian relief work, was in Harvard at the same time as A. P. Loring, Jr., of Pride's Crossing, and Rev. C. S. Pond of Beverly Farms.

THE ESSEX COUNTY CHAPTER of the Red Cross is supporting a "hostess house" at the Boxford camp. The pleasant and useful little place is situated on the grounds and has two trained nurses in attendance. A house was used that was already standing convenient to the camp. The rooms have been fitted up as rest rooms and places for mothers, sisters and women guests to stay while making their brief visits to the soldiers. Hostess houses are being placed at various camps and many are in charge of the Young Women's Christian Association of the country, as was explained at a recent meeting at the home of Mrs. Henry Clay Frick at Pride's Crossing. The past week a woman came from far-off Texas to see her soldier at the Boxford camp, and the hostess house was considered a most welcome place. Many are finding much interest in the camp and consider the late afternoon from 4.30 on the best time to see some of the most spectacular drillings. Some West Manchester residents have been over and report the hostess house as a product of our Red Cross for which we can all feel thankful.

At the "Rehn Studio," Magnolia, this week, a great deal of favorable attention has been attracted by the large canvas of Robert Reid's entitled, "The Gold-fish Bowl." This painting, which was awarded a gold medal at the recent Panama-Pacific International Exposition, is generally conceded to be among this noted artist's greatest achievements, ranking in beauty and subtly of charm with his well known "Fire Screen" in the Corcoran Gallery at Washington. Another favorite exhibit—also a new-comer this week—is Frederick J. Waugh's "The Under-Surf," a dramatic rendition of rocks and ocean achieved with all this painter's remarkable knowledge of wave forms; and in sharp contrast of mood and motif "Kaug-hsi and Quinces," by Dines Carlsen, the boy prodigy of the art world today. The studio-gallery is being well received, and it is a pleasure to note that despite all the festivity and anxiety of this summer and war time the North Shore is not without its many who are availing themselves of this opportunity to enjoy the pleasures of art within its quiet seclusion.

QUITE the most gay function of the season—in fact the first party of the summer—will be the dance at the Essex County club next Thursday evening, August 16, under the auspices of the Beverly Hospital Junior Aid association. It is being held a little earlier than usual so that the young men just home from the summer's training at Plattsburg and with the Harvard regiment will be just in time for the affair. It will be the biggest and most prominent function of the summer in that regard, for there has been an appalling lack of life on account of the large number of men away from home engaged in war preparations. The short respite between training camp and leaving for the army posts a few weeks hence, will provide many opportunities for the male sex to mingle once more in the life of the Shore. Dancing will be at 9 o'clock and an opportunity will be provided for those who do not care to dance, to play bridge. Tables may be reserved at $10 each. Tickets for the dance are $5 each.

The campaign in the interests of the American Committee for Armenian and Syrian Relief will be concluded on Sunday afternoon at five o'clock by a community service at the Beverly Farms Baptist church, Rev. Clarence Strong Pond, minister. Ralph Harlow, who addressed the services at St. John's church, Beverly Farms, the union meeting to the Congregational and Baptist churches in Manchester and the service at Magnolia, will speak again. Dr. James L. Barton, the national chairman of the American committee, will make the principle address. Augustus Peabody Loring of Pride's Crossing will preside. The meeting will be a North Shore community meeting including Beverly, Beverly Farms, Wenham, Hamilton, Manchester, Magnolia and Gloucester. Among those endorsing the movement are Hon. Albert J. Beveridge, Roland W. Boyden, Augustus Peabody Loring, Alexander Cochrane, John L. Saltonstall, Philip Stockton, Richard H. Dana, Bayard Warren, Rev. Clarence Strong Pond, Misses Loring, Colonel Henry L. Higginson, Mrs. Henry W. Peabody, Mrs. W. E. Littleton, Mrs. A. H. Little, Miss Elizabeth Houghton, Mrs. Robert Means, Mrs. Lawrence Morgan, Mrs. John Caswell, Rev. Neilson Poe Carey, Mrs. R. S. Bradley, Mrs. W. B. Thomas, Gordon Abbott and others. The Red Cross organization is encouraging the raising of these funds because aid from its treasury would exhaust its resources. The United States government has already cared for the Belgium Relief fund by a loan, the Red Cross subscriptions have been taken, and now the Armenian Relief work has the right of way. The residents of the North Shore have unparalleled opportunity of learning about the work in the Near East. The community service promises to be one of great interest and no one should miss it.

Mrs. George G. Snowden has returned to her cottage at Manchester Cove from a trip to Philadelphia.

On Wednesday afternoon at the North Shore Swimming Pool weekly card party, a large gathering of Magnolia and Manchester's card loving contingent played cards, six tables being occupied by players. A very beautiful gray sweater was given as the prize and was won by Miss Eleanor Jones. The sweater was given by Miss Elvine Richard of New York who knitted it. Miss Richard has the record for sweater knitting at the Oceanside where she is a guest, having made twelve sweaters since the first of July. The fact of the sweater having been hand-made doubled the value of the prize.

SUMMER MUSICALES have long been part of the North Shore season's festivities. In these sad days many of them are given for some worthy cause, some where all of the proceeds go to the charity, as in the Red Cross recitals, others where a portion is given as the ten percent which Miss Wainwright is giving to relief work in Paris, and the amount of one third of the proceeds which Miss Charlotte Head Allen has been giving this season and last to the fund for French Wounded. Miss Allen's first concert was at the Magnolia home of Miss Margaret L. Corlies when she had artists of great ability who are helping in war service as much as possible. One was a young Polish tenor, Harvin Lohre, a struggling artist who will one day, no doubt, be famous, and Miss Margaret Witaker, the gifted young violinist. This was a very enjoyable affair on July 20. Today at 4 o'clock she gives a concert at Mrs. John Markle's in West Manchester. Among the patronesses are Meses. A. J. Beveridge, J. W. Blodgett, F. M. Boynton, W. H. Brown, R. Burrage, E. R. Campbell, C. C. Converse, A. Eliot, E. C. Fitch, W. S. Fitz, R. Frothingham, E. P. Gavit, J. L. Grandin, H. S. Grew, J. H. Hammond, F. Haven, F. L. Paine, 2d, E. J. Prest, J. H. Proctor, G. Snowden, A. Steinert, W. A. Tucker, J. Wales, B. Warren, F. M. Whitehouse, Wm. M. Wood and the Misses M. L. Corlies, Fanny Faulkner, Eliz. G. Houghton, Fanny P. Mason and A. T. Rice.

Miss Virginia Wainwright's next and last musicale will be Thursday, Aug. 16, at the home of Miss Margaret L. Corlies, Magnolia. The artists will be Georgie M. Morris, dramatic soprano (Egyptian and Old English songs in costume) and May Donner, violinist. The patronesses have not been published so far. They include Meses. L. M. Sargent, S. P. Blake, E. S. Grew, George Lee, F. Dexter, B. Warren, R. Jordan, H. F. Sears, L. Curtis, W. S. Fitz, Wm. Appleton, J. G. Beals, G. L. Cabot, J. C. Phillips, W. H. Moore, P. Dexter, E. C. Fitch, H. C. Perkins, O. Bates, W. E. Ladd, C. H. Dalton, D. B. Fay, H. S. Grew, W. R. Peabody, O. Ames, G. Abbott, A. Eliot, V. Orlandini, B. Tuckerman, Jr., Wm. Phillips, R. McM. Colfelt, H. L. Chalifoux, R. Vaughan and the Misses S. L. Guild, F. P. Mason, M. L. Corlies, Georgina Lowell, Amy Peabody and F. M. Faulkner.

At the Brownland Cottages in Manchester a week-end party of friends was entertained by Wm. H. Beers. They were from New York and were motoring through to Maine. Luncheon guests of Miss Bradford, Saturday, were Mrs. Henry S. Grew and Mrs. S. Parkman Blake.

On Sunday next, Aug. 12, services at St. John's church, Beverly Farms, will be held at 8 and 10 o'clock as usual. The Rev. W. H. Dewart, rector of Christ church, Boston, will officiate at both services.

FOR the benefit of the little children of Brittany whose French fathers have lost their lives in U-boat tragedies, a musicale has been arranged to be given at the Gallery-on-the-Moors, at East Gloucester by Miss Anna Seaton Schmidt on Monday afternoon, August 13th, at 4 o'clock. The artists will be Miss Christine Miller, prima donna, who has offered her services for the musicale, and a treat is in store for her hearers. Mrs. Maurice Joseph of Cincinnati will be her accompanist. Miss Dorothy Schmidt will be seen in several poetic and classic dances. All moneys secured for the relief are sent direct to Miss Nourse, the artist, in Paris, who then directs the distribution among the needy, which gives rather more of a personal touch than when distributed from one large unit. Mrs. W. A. Allen of Commonwealth ave., Boston, a yearly guest at the Oceanside Hotel, Magnolia, was instrumental in bringing this most noble charity before the North Shore residents, who have aided most generously. $2 a ticket will be charged, and already one hundred tickets have been subscribed for.

Included among the week-end guests at "Stonehurst," the summer home of the Claude Kilpatricks on Shore road, Magnolia, was Mrs. E. Ormonde Power, whose summer home is at Babylon, L. I., where she has a beautiful estate.

Mrs. Pierpont Edwards Dutcher of Milwaukee, who is spending the summer with her mother, Mrs. C. H. Bull, and her daughter, Mrs. J. L. B. Buck (Dorothea Dutcher) at their summer home on Lexington avenue, Magnolia, has been enjoying a visit from her son, Pierpont E. Dutcher, Jr., who makes his home in New York.

Guests at the E. B. Richardson summer home on Norman avenue, Magnolia, for a short stay have been Mrs. J. H. Sherburne and Miss Alice Sherburne of Brookline. During their visit they enjoyed the swimming at the North Shore Swimming Pool.

A house guest at the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Elias Ponvert on Shore road, Magnolia, is Mrs. Josefa Lombard of Havana, Cuba, who will spend the month of August. Mrs. Lombard yearly visits Magnolia and has many friends among the summer colony on the North Shore.

C. W. McClure of Youngstown, Ohio, has been a guest at the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Porter Pollock of Youngstown, who are occupying the Lee cottage on Shore road, Magnolia, this season. The Porter Pollocks are well known to the North Shore colony and have visited here during other seasons. Mrs. Pollock was before her marriage, Mary Wick of Youngstown. Her children are Mary and William, popular members of the North Shore Swimming Pool, where daily they enjoy the surf as well as swimming in the Pool.

Miss Elizabeth Gunn, who has been doing such efficient work as the director of the Economy League, in aid of the Red Cross, has just returned to Beverly Farms from a vacation trip with her parents. She motored from New York to Plattsburg. The Economy League work is growing and it affords the North Shore residents an opportunity of disposing of their waste paper and magazines in aid of a worthy cause. The headquarters of the League is at the Page & Shaw Tea room, Beverly Farms.

PINK and lavender sweet peas with bridal veil were the flowers used for decoration at the pretty tea which was given on Saturday afternoon at the North Shore Grill by Miss Helen L. Covers were laid for nine. Miss Coates wore white French serge with a hat of white net and lace. Her guests included Mrs. J. N. Kirchner, Miss Florence St. John Baldwin, Miss Irene Cramp, Mrs. Pierpont Edwards Dutcher, Mrs. James M. Green, Mrs. Simpson, Mrs. Thomas Lockwood, Mrs. C. F. McMurray.

HAMILTON-WENHAM branch of the Special Aid Society for American Preparedness is having busy and profitable days in its two workrooms, Monday afternoons in the Wenham town hall and Wednesday afternoons in the Hamilton town hall. Thus twice a week these workers of the inland resorts with Mrs. Alanson L. Daniels as the energetic chairman are ready to welcome visitors to their commodious quarters. A few weeks ago a visit was made to the Wenham hall. This Wednesday a visit to the Hamilton hall was made late in the day when the work was about completed. The two workrooms use 1000 yards of gauze a week and average 1700 compresses, 18 cotton pads and 35 bandages as the output of surgical dressings to be sent into Boston. Forty is the usual attendance, and since the classes started a branch of 15 members has been opened at Wenham Neck and also a similar sized one at West Wenham.

Noted in attendance is Mrs. J. Picket, secretary, Mrs. John A. Tuckerman, treasurer, and among other workers Mmes. Geo. S. Mandell, James H. Proctor, Wm. G. Mitchell, Richard Sears, Jonathan Brown, Jr., Nathaniel S. Simpkins, W. H. Seavey, Neil Rice, A. C. Burrage, Jr., W. H. Johnson, Richard Smith, W. E. Choate, John B. Moulton, H. A. Thomas, Wm. T. Lambert, Chas. F. Ayer, E. B. Cole, C. T. Parker, J. H. Gifford, Frank Trussel, Francis Sears, Gerard Bement, Fred Kilham and Miss Helen C. Burnham. Miss Anna Agassiz, Miss Elizabeth Baker and Miss Eleanor Seavey are among the young folk interested in the work.

Miss Elizabeth Baker of Brookline is visiting at "Old Farm," the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alanson L. Daniels in Wenham. Miss Baker is a charming young girl who has entered into the work most heartily that the women of the community are carrying on, and since she came to Mrs. Daniels' she has helped greatly in the work at both of the weekly meetings.

Mrs. Gerard Bement of "Antique House," Hamilton, is entertaining Mrs. Worthington Smith, who was among the workers Wednesday at the surgical dressings.

Mr. and Mrs. Neil Rice (Emma Mandell) are living in the Sargent house in Hamilton, which is near the Fred J. Alley Place. Their wedding took place early in June at St. John's church, Beverly Farms, soon after the engagement was announced in May.

Mr. and Mrs. Jonathan Brown, Jr., of Hamilton have returned from a motor trip to Plattsburg, Montreal and through the White Mountains. They were accompanied by Mrs. Warren Johnson and Miss Dorothy Johnson of Salem and Mrs. Churchill Nehard of Pittsburg. At Plattsburg they visited Lawrence Brown, son of Mr. Brown's brother, Ed. T. Brown, of Swampscott.

Miss Julia Meyer, whose wedding to Giuseppe Brambilla, counsellor of the Italian embassy in Washington, is planned for an event of the autumn, is actively engaged in the Red Cross work in the Hamilton-Wenham branch. Not only an enthusiastic worker in the workroom, but she recently put through a lively golf tournament at the Myopia club which netted $300 for the work, and she is constantly planning and carrying on good works of a similar kind. Her sister, Mrs. C. Raymond P. Rodgers, who is spending the summer with her parents, Hon. and Mrs. George von L. Meyer, in Hamilton, is in charge of the workrooms in Wenham and Hamilton.

IPSWICH—Y<sup>e</sup> Olde Burnham House in Ipswich is the popular place to go for tea after visiting the Barnard Gardens which are open to the public every Thursday afternoon. Many parties are seen, among whom have been Mrs. M. R. Bryan of the Oceanside, Mrs. J. E. Lancaster and her daughter, and among the younger set have been Jack Middleton, Chester Lockwood, and the Misses Jean Middleton, Ethel Morse, Janet Bryan, Carolyn Guild and Adelaide Brainard. Mr. Pomeroy of Rye Beach entertained a party of fourteen at a lobster dinner in the popular Grill room. Clement Studebaker and family and Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Carlisle were among the number. Mrs. Brown of the New Ocean House at Swampscott gave a luncheon and bridge for fourteen, Monday. Every year the quaint old house with its refined atmosphere and unique service as a tea house grows dearer to the hearts of the North Shore guests.

The Ipswich Red Cross has been doing excellent work in spite of the intense heat of the past weeks. There is a call for pieces of old linen to be sent to the workrooms in the Warren street school. Comfort pillows are in demand and may be done at home. Mrs. Howard N. Doughty is chairman of the workroom committee.

The South Green Tea House in Ipswich has an ideal little lawn where tea is served out under the trees these hot days. The view of the fine old Common from the tea tables is unusually attractive.

Y<sup>e</sup> Rogers Manse is doing such a rushing business in Ipswich that many guests have been turned away these hot evenings. Special supper parties seem to be the attraction at the fine old Inn, so conveniently located near the center of the town.

Dr. and Mrs. Frederick B. Lund of Beacon street, Boston, are among the newcomers in Ipswich on the Argilla road, where they have the Dr. Mark Richardson cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Mason of Hingham were week-end guests at the home of the former's brother, Herbert Warren Mason, at Candlewood Farm. They were among the guests at the dedicatory exercises of the new hospital on Saturday.

Something About Two Interesting Places in Ipswich

WALDINGFIELD road in Ipswich has two places situated upon it that are of general interest to BREEZE readers. These are "Sunswich," the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bayard Tuckerman, and "Applefield," the home of Mrs. Charles S. Tuckerman.

Bayard Tuckerman is an author and lecturer of note, and Mrs. Tuckerman (Annie Cotton Smith) is a sister of Dr. Roland Cotton Smith of Washington and "Cottonfield," Ipswich. Their place is noted as the avenue with two great willow trees on either side, trees of peculiar growth and great beauty. An attractive willow walk is also a feature of the place. This leads across the fields to the estate of Randolph Appleton, whose summer home burned about two years ago. The place has some fine old trees other than willows, and a pretty little garden, the most noticeable feature of which is the rustic arbor in the center, reached by a grass path leading down from the house. The arbor has four gravel paths, one from each entrance, and pansies and lilies are growing in the inter-sections. From the center of the little arbor is a good place to look around at the perennial border encircling the garden plot, all of which is enclosed by a stone wall on one side, and wire and hedges on the other sides. A handsome cedar of a very ornamental nature stands in the grass plot near the arbor.

At "Applefield" the garden shows what can be done by its owner, Mrs. Charles Tuckerman, who rises early in the day and works among the flowers battling with the weeds.

Some one has said: "To create a beautiful garden is a genuine gift to life. Value in every endeavor is judged largely by its capacity for service; a service enriching, refreshing, gladdening life, or awakening it to greater effort or higher ideals. A flower-crowned garden, glowing in wondrous colors, resonant in delicate perfume, vibrant with the whisperings of nature is the very embodiment of service."

Such is the charming little terraced garden of Mrs. Tuckerman, where old-fashioned flowers and rambler roses grow so happily together. The terrace is at one side of the house and gravel walks lead down through it and under the rose arches to the orchards and hayfields beyond. Hollyhocks stand guard around one end, just outside the long vine-covered arbor or tea-house which encloses one end of the garden. A sun-dial and bird bath and little statue in the arbor are among the garden ornaments. Bright yellow lilies hold sway in one part and the place has interesting informal little groups of flowers growing here and there which add much to its friendliness.

Do Your Duty

By ROBERT J. MILNE

OH, Mother dear! said a widow's son,
My country needs my aid;
I can hear her trumpet's calling,
And you know I'm not afraid.
But I'm thinking mother darling—
Oh who'll take care of you
When your only boy shall march away
Neath the old Red, White and Blue.

*But she answered,—Do your duty,
My daring boy so brave;
Go forth and fight with all your might,
Where'er our flag shall wave.
Your father fell in Cuba,
There's no coward's blood in you,
And may Heaven guard my only boy
Neath the old Red, White and Blue.*

A ship is on her way to France,
And among those heroes brave,
Who sailed away at the dawn of day
O'er the blue Atlantic wave,
There's a young heart feeling lonely.
Since he said his last good-bye,

When he kissed his loving mother,
While a teardrop dimmed his eye,
And she answered,—Do your duty, etc.

In a trench somewhere in sunny France,
Where the battle raged all day,
Now tired and worn, but cheery still,
A youthful soldier lay.
And as he slept he dreamt of home
And the scenes that his childhood knew,
As he clasped once more his mother's hand
While again he said adieu.
And she answered,—Do your duty, etc.

The bugle call cut short his dream,
For the treacherous foemen came
With their shot and shell and poison gas,
And their murderous liquid flame.
But the boys, who waved the Starry flag,
Just hurled them back once more,
And our hero heard his mother's voice
As she answered,—Do your duty, etc.

OCEANSIDE HOTEL MAGNOLIA

WHEN Saturday evening comes everybody is ready and glad, because it means the week-end hop at the Oceanside, Magnolia—a pleasing event always. On these occasions the absent members of the families stopping at the hotel return whenever possible, and the dancing is always lively and spirited. Saturday evening eclipsed all previous affairs of the season in the way of gaiety and good fun. Long before the dancing was begun desirable seats were chosen by the clientele who enjoy looking on, and the dancing contingent awaited the first strains. Many uniformed men were amongst the ever-moving picture of swaying couples, gliding over the waxen floor to the melodies played by the hotel orchestra.

Never were the gowns more beautiful, the exquisite textures of materials and the beauty of line calling forth admiration from those whose eyes followed the dancers. Mrs. F. S. Rhodes appeared in white taffeta embroidered in gold in panner, over shell pink and gold lace, heavy gold embroidered and tulle forming the bodice. Mrs. Eugene Gray Foster of Coolidge's Point, who was among the dancers, wore a creation of King's blue net over same tone silk with gold embroidery paillettes upon bodice, drapes of tulle forming angel sleeves. Dainty and winsome Ethel Morse was frocked in delft blue gold cloth and point d'esprit, garlands of roses for garniture. Helen Middleton's lovely frock was of silver cloth, straight lined and girlish, rose festoons showing at bodice and over shoulders. A Callot gown of all black silk and net was worn by Mrs. David J. Davis, very beautiful. Demure Jean Middleton wore a frock of delicate pink, with loops and puffs of billowy chiffon in pleasing simplicity. Apricot charmeuse with gold thread lace and pearl paillettes fashioned the pretty frock worn by Mrs. F. K. M. Rehn, who came in for the dancing. Pretty Miss Pauline Lemieux wore a frock, jouave model, of orchid chiffon taffeta with pearl embroidery upon the bodice. Vivacious Eleanor Wheeler's dark coloring was very striking because of her frock of baby blue taffeta with frills of white net and lace. Ashes of roses taffeta threaded with silver embroidered and lace was the beautiful gown worn by Mrs. G. H. Oliver. Gold cloth with panels of mauve net and bands of gold embroidery fashioned Miss Florence Clendennin's frock. In a beautiful gown of black lace and satin, rich silver brocade forming an over-bodice, and in pointu, fashioning an overskirt which fell en traine, Mrs. F. R. Culbert was very stunning. Miss Cugel's fair coloring was made more beautiful by a lovely frock of shell pink silk and net with silver lace.

A STIMULUS to the social activities of every season at the Oceanside Hotel, Magnolia, is the coming in of the second week in August, the reaching of the top-notch of summer, the mid-season. It is then that the guests begin to arrange for their undone share of the entertaining, with the result that gaieties fairly hum. Dinner parties are given in such numbers that the quiet and routine of the dining-room becomes changed, the atmosphere is aglitter with merry groups, who dissolve themselves into hosts or hostesses surrounded by guests at the festive board. The past week has found things just at this pass, the propitious weather aiding much the ambitious host or hostess to make his or her party quite the most charming and pleasurable.

THE concert preceding the Tuesday evening dance at the Oceanside attracted large numbers of guests who enjoyed the orchestral strains in a most attentive manner, taking seats about the ballroom long before the time set for the dance. While the numbers who danced were not as many as the Saturday night dance, yet the informality of the evening was very pleasing and resulted in many joining in the good time as the evening progressed, until by the time the second half of the dance program had begun, a goodly number was dancing. The children had a good time for the first few numbers, providing genuine pleasure for the onlookers.

The Cape Ann Resorts

EASTERN POINT.—There is much going on socially in East Gloucester at the present time. Events for the benefit of the Red Cross and the war relief are finding a hearty and sympathetic response. The principal affair of the present week was the presentation of "A Blot In the Scutcheon," by Miss Grace Elliston, the prominent New York actress, who is a guest at the Hawthorne Inn. The reading was held at "The Gallery-on-the-Moors," on Tuesday afternoon, at 3.45 o'clock, for the benefit of the Navy Comforts League. On Tuesday of last week, Mrs. Alfred Patridge Klots of Rochefort-in-ferre Morbihan, France, spoke before a large audience, on her experiences in a Brittany house during war time. This was for the benefit of the Hawthorne Inn Casino Unit of the American War relief. Tea was served. A great deal of interest is being taken in the forthcoming tableaux production of "Arabian Nights" and other tableaux and special features, at the Hawthorne Inn casino on next Friday evening, August 17, for the benefit of our Soldiers' and Sailors' fund. Those who witnessed the fine tableaux of "Omar Khayam" at the casino last season, under the direction of Mr. Kronberg, the Boston artist, will be interested to learn that the same talent practically, will be seen in "Aladin," "Sinbad, the Sailor," "The Four Calendars" and "The Sleeper Awakens." Mrs. Alice (Fischer) Harcourt is in general charge and Miss Nina Stockton is secretary.

The play "Sackett's Corner Folks," was presented at the Hawthorne Inn casino, by members of the Riverdale, Gloucester Grange, for the benefit of the War relief work.

It is interesting to note that the guests of the Rockaway hotel have formed a Rockaway unit of the Gloucester Branch of the American Red Cross. The ladies met for the first time on Tuesday morning at the Gloucester Yacht clubhouse, near the hotel on Rocky Neck, where the unit will meet regularly on Tuesday and Friday mornings. Miss Davison is the chairman and much enthusiasm is manifested in the good work.

The guests of Hotel Rockaway received a great musical treat on Sunday evening, in the new ballroom of the hotel, when Mrs. Margaret Gerry Guckenberger, the contralto concert singer, of Boston, rendered a delightful repertoire of songs. Miss Ellen Johnson of Savannah, Ga., also a guest at the Rockaway and who has studied in New York contributed to the pleasure of the evening by singing three songs. Benjamin Guckenberger was accompanist for his wife and Miss Johnson, his fine piano work being much appreciated. Mr. Guckenberger is director of many fine musical organizations. The musical was very informal and guests called for a number of favorite selections which Mrs. Guckenberger so artistically sings. Her voice is rich, powerful and dramatic in opera numbers, while in lighter selections she strikes the heart's sympathy with tones that are expressive, delicate and sweet. In the number of songs Mrs. Guckenberger sang were three sacred selections: "Day of Peace," by Barnly; "Like As A Hart Desireth," by Alliston; and "Thank God for a Garden," by Del Riego. Other songs were "Annie Laurie," Liza Lehmann; "By the Waters of Minnetonka," by Lieurance; "Deep River" (by special request), Coleridge-Taylor; "Mighty Lak' a Rose," by Nevin; "Mammy's Song," by Harriet Ware; "Four Leaf Clover," "Joan's Farewell to the Hills," by Tschakowsky and "Evening Song," by Gilberte. A dinner party was given to Mr. and Mrs. Guckenberger by Frank Duveneck, the noted artist of Cincinnati, O., and Miss Duveneck, at their cottage near the Rockaway, previous to the recital. Mr. Duveneck and his sister, besides other artists of the colony were present at the recital. Miss Johnson sang with pleasing expression: "Songs My Mother Taught Me," by Dvorak; "Who Knows?" by Ball, and "H 'Leure ex Luise," by Hahn.

Miss Eleanor Frost of West Newton and K. D. Loose of New York, will be the house-guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob L. Loose for 10 days, arriving on Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. Loose are now quite settled in their Eastern Point cottage, "Sea Rocks."

Professor Pabodie of Cincinnati, O., who is known as having prepared ex-President Taft for college, and who has been coming to the Rockaway for a great many years with his wife, is spending this season in Bay City, Mich. Mr. and Mrs. Pabodie felt unable to come the long distance east at this time.

Dr. and Mrs. W. T. Parker of Northampton, the former a retired army surgeon, are prominent guests at the Rockaway.

Annual guests of the Rockaway recently registering are: Dr. Ralph Waldron, wife and daughter of Newark, N. J.; Dr. and Mrs. William F. Gilman, Worcester; Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Wycoff, son and daughter, Springfield; Grace L. Jenkins, Alfred Jenkins, Richmond, Va.; Mrs. Edward Winslow Ware, Chestnut Hill; Mrs. A. T. Monteith, Miss Evelyn Monteith, Jamaica Plain; Misses Nora and Selma Ettlinger, Cincinnati; J. Ettlinger, Detroit; M. A. Bidwell and wife, H. M. Bidwell, Miss S. Macki, Miss F. Bidwell, Harford, Ct.; Mr. and Mrs. William F. Zabriskie, Detroit, Mich.

The exhibition of paintings and sculpture at the Gallery-on-the-Moors is attracting many visitors daily. Besides the number of sculptors exhibiting, as mentioned in last week's BREEZE, is Charles Grafty of Philadelphia. He has two "sketches" and a figure of a man called "The Struggle," all of which are being greatly admired. The name of Hayley Lever, the New York artist, was unintentionally omitted from the list of last week. Mr. Lever has a notable subject of "St. Ives Herring Boats" and a local subject "Morning at Gloucester." The painting "Moonlight," by Henry B. Snell, received honorable mention at the Philadelphia Art club in 1916. It is a fine color composition. The "Winter Morning," by Charles Hopkinson has much color value in green tones, while Carl J. Nordell's figure of a child sitting amidst blue flowers is faithfully painted and is attracting much attention. Both paintings, "The Valley" and "Lumber Boats," by George L. Noyes are good examples of his clever work. W. E. Atwood has put interesting personality in his "Manchu," the head and bust of a woman. The subject is splendidly treated. The sculpture is a notable part of this exhibition. There are 25 subjects, the work of Anna Vaughan Hyatt, Albert Henry Atkins, Charles Grafty, Anna Coleman Ladd and Louise Allen. The two largest figures are "Hebe," by Louise Allen and "The Water Carrier," by Mr. Atkins. A bronze figure of General Pershing has much strength of character, the work of Anna Coleman Ladd. The tremendous action is shown in Miss Hyatt's work. "Sleeping Pan," strikes an affectionate as well as sympathetic note in this mythological favorite. This interesting exhibition will continue through August 18th, and the public is cordially invited. Trolley cars stop at the foot of Mt. Pleasant avenue and Ledge road and motor cars can reach the studio by the way of Grape Vine road.

The first band concert at Hotel Moorland, by Quimby's band (formerly the Eight Regiment band), of Lynn, took place last Friday evening, there being an attendance of about 800 people. The fine program by the instruments and three singers in the company of musicians, was heard from the verandas, from automobiles on the road and on the rocks close by the hotel. It was a wonderful moonlight night and electric lights on the veranda where the band was stationed, added to the brilliancy of the scene. Dancing was held in the casino after the concert, admission being by ticket. It was a gay party and proved most enjoyable to the guests of the Moorland and friends from the cottages.

ROCKPORT.—There is considerable social life now at the Rockport Country club. At a recent meeting of the Ladies' committee, it was voted to give four Tuesday afternoon bridge whist parties. Mrs. Charles B. Strecker and Mrs. A. Perley Chase were chosen chairmen. On Tuesday afternoon of this week there were eleven tables in use. Tea was served. On Wednesday evening, the annual party and "horse trot" was held and proved an attractive and enjoyable event for the large number of persons present. A supper similar to the splendid one served last year, will be held on the evening of Wednesday, August 15, and Mrs. Guy C. Leavitt was chosen as chairman. A concert, later in the season is being planned. Mrs. George F. Babbitt to manage the affair. A golf tournament is on this Friday and Saturday, at the Rockport Country club, weather permitting, and members of the Massachusetts Golf association will be guests.

Mrs. Clinton Warren of the Land's End cottage colony, gave a tea recently at the Rockport Country club, which was a pleasant social gathering.

Major E. B. Finlay, Mrs. W. C. Finlay and Miss L. N. Finlay, of Montreal, Canada, are guests at the Turk's Head Inn, Land's End.

President H. A. Garfield of Williams college, son of the late President James A. Garfield, wife and daughter, Miss Garfield, are at Turk's Head Inn, for the season.

Madam Hopekirk, the noted pianist, has arrived at Rockport for the season and she is occupying the cottage of Mrs. Frederick Rugen of Springfield, located on Marmion Way.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cutting of Newburyport are entertaining Miss Clarkson of their home town, at their Marmion Way cottage.

Mrs. Clarence Pogue and daughters, of Cincinnati, O., are registered at the Turk's Head Inn, Land's End. Mrs. Pogue's two sons are at Plattsburg Training station.

Recent Turk's Head Inn guests include: Dr. S. P. Lowry, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Tobey, B. J. Morse, Mr. and Mrs. Craig, E. J. Somers, Boston; Mrs. Whiting and two sons, New Haven, Ct.; Webster Edgerly and the Misses Edgerly, Washington, D. C.

Mrs. R. L. Morse of Springfield, E. F. Lohr of New York City, and Miss Grace Lindabury of Malden, arrived recently at the Straitsmouth Inn, for a sojourn.

Dr. Van Allen, rector of the Church of the Advent, Boston, has been the guest of the Sprague family, Rockport Headlands.

While the Land's End ladies have no Red Cross unit, interest is being taken by individuals in war relief work Selfishness is the ugliest and meanest trait in the human character.

When Disraeli was prime minister of England a good looking young man applied to him for a government position. "I know, sir," said the applicant wistfully, "how little I know."

"Dear me," said Disraeli, "as much as that? I haven't got half that distance yet."

"Oh, yes," replied the old major, "but I escaped shortly afterwards through the divorce court."

Summer Home at Swampscott

PHILLIPS BEACH is basking in the sunshine of the midsummer days of this season, which is unique in its many features of amusement. Bathing has been the most popular pleasure here for the past week, the very torrid atmosphere demanding daily visits to the beach where some of the smartest bathing suits of the season were seen. Phillips Beach is very attractive with its generous stretch of flat, white sands, and when the tide is ebbing the bathers are many who come from the pretty villas which dot this portion of the North Shore to play in the surf. Children with their attendants spend many hours in the sands, piling it high, or burying one another in ostrich fashion, both affording much amusement for them.

Week-end guests at "Sunnyfield," the Phillips Beach home of Frank E. Wright, were Major Thomas L. Jenkins and Dr. S. A. Kelleher, officers in the training camp at Boxford. During their stay the gentlemen enjoyed the hospitality of the Tedesco club, a dinner being given for them there.

Band concert night at the Tedesco club was exceedingly gay, the number of people enjoying the dinner-dance being greater than ever before this season. With the ideal weather, the porches were filled with tables; the golden glow of the lanterns, which were in decorative lines, lighted the way for dancing and dining. Gorgeous bouquets of snap-dragons, roses and sweet peas were used in floral decoration about the interior of the clubhouse. Among the many dinner parties was one presided over by T. H. Conway, who had for his guests, C. E. Conway, Mrs. Clarence Schultz and several military officers. Mr. and Mrs. F. E. McOusten entertained a party of seven. Other hosts were F. P. Cox, T. R. Neath, F.

E. Wright, Dr. W. R. McAusland, C. R. Crowin, N. M. Smith, C. H. Chute, H. B. Sprague, E. B. Blodgett, 2d, C. W. Cheney, C. M. Boyd, M. P. Clough, C. F. Sprague and Dr. A. T. Mannix.

Every Wednesday morning the girls of Swampscott, Phillips Beach and Beach Bluff are present at the Surgical Dressings Morning which is held in "The Playhouse," on the shore estate of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Paine at Beach Bluff. Presided over by Miss Esther Paine and assisted by a large number of girls, the work has progressed marvelously, many dressings being made at each meeting. By the payment of a nominal fee by each of the members, and the generous donations received through the efforts of the girls, this branch of the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital Surgical Dressings Committee has financed itself, a large number of compresses, sponges, pillows and bandages being made at each meeting, as well as flannel shirts and slippers, the two latter going to the Boston office of the French Relief. With the charming atmosphere of "The Farm" about the playhouse, the girls have worked well, accomplishing much under these pleasant conditions. Miss Barbara Beebe and Miss Constance Lewis are the committee appointed for the surgical dressings, while Mrs. John H. Blodgett and Miss Ruth Blodgett are in charge of the hospital work. Assisting in the endeavor are Misses Mary Clapp, Helen Smith, Helen Jones, Carolyn Heath, Helen and Mary Mills, Marjorie and Katherine Brush, also Miss Rothwell, Miss Horton, Misses Claire McGregor, Dorothy and Louise Paine, Miss Norton, Miss Hills, Mrs. Robert Kimball, Mrs. Vale, Mrs. J. B. Fallon, Mrs. G. H. Billings, Mrs. S. G. Adams, Mrs. W. S. Shrigley, Mrs. N. S. Dillingham.

"Sport House," Herbert E. Gale's, Swampscott
New Addition to Summer Property

New Ocean House, Swampscott

NEARLY five hundred people enjoyed the third formal ball which was given at the New Ocean House, Swampscott, on Saturday evening, proving to be one of the smartest social functions thus far this season. The hotel, a blaze of electric lights, told of the gaiety within its walls. The dancing, which attracted large numbers, was prefaced by a number of dinner parties in the dining-room rotunda, where a riot of rich coloring lent to the scene of beauty by the gorgeous gladioli and roses, greeted the eye,—the beautiful gowns adding their picturesque note. The ballroom was filled with merry dancers during the hours from nine to twelve, many uniformed men coming in for the evening's festivities.

Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Scott and son, Billy, of Philadelphia, are among the arrivals of the first of the week to remain during the month of August.

Golf occupies the morning hours of Mr. and Mrs. Francis X. Ryan of New York, who have joined the Tedesco club to thus be enabled to play their favorite game during their visit at the New Ocean House.

Toronto's large contingent at the New Ocean House has been augmented by the coming of George Haslop, who will remain for a lengthy period. On Saturday he will be joined by his father, who expects to remain until the close of the season.

Mrs. Mark W. Cresap, with daughter, Helen, and son, Mark, Jr., of Chicago, arrived at the New Ocean House the first of the week to remain until the close of the season. The Cresaps were guests here last season and have many friends in the hotel's clientele.

St. Louis is represented at the New Ocean House by Mr. and Mrs. Walter W. Candy, Walter and Billie Candy and Miss Candy, a very lovely young lady who is a pleasing acquisition to the hotel's younger set. The group will remain for August.

From far away Havana come Mr. and Mrs. Jose Veiga with their daughter, Miss Gertrude for a stay at the New Ocean House. The group are so pleased with Swampscott that they will remain for a lengthy visit.

A beautiful picture, the work of Rauterdahl, a Futurist color artist of singular ability, has just been hung in the corridor leading into the Presidents' Room at the New Ocean House. Brilliant colorings in artistic blending, such as can only be perfected by a pupil of the new school, the Futurist ideal, illustrate a port in the Caribbean sea, the effect being especially fine when viewed from the proper angle. Many favorable comments have been passed upon this work, which is a pleasing acquisition to this corridor of white marble.

THE SANDMEYER girls, Hortence and Gretchen have come to the New Ocean House for their usual August visit, arriving on Saturday last, their mother, who made a hurried trip to their home in Lincoln, Ill., joining them early in the week to remain until September. After a trip through the Orient and Honolulu, which extended into many weeks, these interesting girls are displaying, each day upon the sands very attractive beach umbrellas, bizarre in effect but most unique, a fashion very popular upon the shores of Japan and the Philippines Islands. Both Hortence and Gretchen enjoy the surf, and daily are seen taking their dip. They also ride exceedingly well, and a daily canter is enjoyed. Motoring takes considerable of their attention, both girls being able to drive in a masterly fashion.

As has been their custom for several seasons, Mr. and Mrs. Dan A. Donahue of Salem, are guests at the New Ocean House for August. During their stay they will have as their guest for part of the time, Miss Genevieve Condon of Lawrence, a sister of Mrs. Donahue.

Mrs. C. D. Fraser of Ardsley-on-the-Hudson, accompanied by Miss Marion Cowen, is registered at the New Ocean House for a lengthy stay.

An interesting addition to the New Ocean House clientele is Miss Mary Conners of Buffalo, who with her maid will be a guest at the hotel for a few weeks' stay. Miss Conners is the daughter of one of Buffalo's most prominent business men and is a leader in the society of that city. A devotee of golf, many of her hours will be spent upon the golf links at the Tedesco club.

Ottawa is represented at the New Ocean House by the recent arrival of J. Lumsden and daughter, Miss Ruth McPherson Lumsden, a member of Ottawa's most exclusive society. Mr. Lumsden is one of the most influential of the capitol's citizens, and is one of the biggest lumber magnates in all of Canada. The other members of the Lumsden family are expected shortly. They will remain at Swampscott until the middle of September.

H. A. Evans of Baltimore, a prominent man of affairs in his home city, has joined his wife and daughter at the New Ocean House, where they are spending the summer, for a short stay. On Saturday evening in honor of Mr. Evans' arrival, Mrs. Evans entertained a dinner party of twelve which was a very charming affair. American beauties were used for table decorations.

Mrs. C. W. Middleton and Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Middleton, Jr., of Tomsdale, Pa., are guests at the New Ocean House for a stay. The Middletons are friends of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Preston, who have arranged several events in their honor.

SWAMPSCOTT throbs through the quiet of midsummer shore life and the duties of Special Aid and Red Cross Work, which in its entirety is exceedingly large. Bridges, teas and all forms of entertaining have disappeared from the social calendars of the hostesses. Formerly the conversation of its residents was of its good times, its parties, dances and the like, but now everyone's thoughts flow in the channels of sweaters, socks and other articles of knitting, or else how many gauzes and bandages can be made in the hours given for this branch of endeavor at the Neighborhood club or at Mrs. Mixer's, or perhaps at the Red Cross Mornings supervised by Mrs. Watters and Mrs. Aborn. It is certainly surprising to know just what great amount of work is accomplished by these splendid women, the records of which are not exceeded in the many other units on the North Shore.

An interesting guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frederic Beebe on Puritan road, for a short stay, has been Miss Barbara Blake, a school friend of Miss Barbara Beebe, whose home is in New York. During her visit Miss Blake was much entertained. Other guests were Andrew Baxter, Jr., of New Rochelle and H. K. Sturdy, Jr., of New York, classmates of Harold Bickham Beebe at Harvard.

Miss Isabelle Evans of Brookline is a house-guest at the home of her cousin, Mrs. Emily Brown, at her summer home on Puritan road. Miss Evans is being much entertained during her stay.

After a pleasant visit to the Catskills, Miss Dorothy Charlton has returned to the home of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Bardol on Tupelo road.

Guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Bunting for the past week have been G. Hoffman, W. S. O'Connor and Edward Flash, Jr., all of New York. During their stay the gentlemen enjoyed the golf course at the Tedesco club, playing their favorite game each day.

The Lew C. Hills of Boston, whose summer home is "The Anchorage," Puritan road, Swampscott, have ever had a most beautiful garden about their comfortable shore place. Every other year gay flowers have bloomed with the greatest gorgeoussness of color. This season, however, things here are quite different. All that remains of the bright flowers are the borders of red geraniums which lead to the house from the road to the front porch. Upon both sides of the borders vegetable gardens flourish with much success, judging from the height of the plants and the general appearance of the planted plots. Mr. and Mrs. Lew C. Hill, contrary to their regular custom, are spending this season at Cape Cod, the Puritan road house being occupied by their sons, Edward and Harry, who, with their wives and children, make the appearance of the house both gay and active. Mrs. Lew C. Hill, who has been in poor health during the greater part of the spring and early summer, is now much improved, which is pleasant news to her many friends and intimates.

Dr. and Mrs. C. G. Mixer have been entertaining at "Bowood," their summer home at Galloupe's Point, during the past month Mrs. Charles L. McIntosh of Milwaukee, Mrs. Mixer's mother. During her stay Mrs. McIntosh was much entertained.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Forbes of Tupelo road, Tedesco Point, have just returned from a motor trip through the White Mountains and Lake Champlain. En route home they visited at Manchester, Vt., where Mrs. Forbes enjoyed the golfing, as she does at the Tedesco club of which she is a member.

Mr. and Mrs. George Mixer (Muriel Eaton) and their two children of Woodmere, L. I., are visiting the former's parents, Dr. and Mrs. S. J. Mixer at "Strode," their summer home at Galloupe's Point. Until last summer Mr. and Mrs. Mixer were residents of Boston and Galloupe's Point, Swampscott, removing to Long Island early in July of 1916, Mr. Mixer taking up the business interests of his firm, Stone & Webster in New York.

A fine portrait of Dr. Samuel J. Mixer in oils has just been finished by John Young Hunter of Scotland, which is a splendid likeness of this charming gentleman, and is being much admired by the Doctor's many friends. The portrait is of bust size, which portrays the artist's subject in a thoughtful mood, with a marvelous catching of expression about the eyes. Mr. Hunter, with Mrs. Hunter and daughter, Gabrielle, have been guests at Dr. Mixer's summer home, "Strode," during the painting of the portrait, departing early in the week for Jaffrey, N. H., where they will camp out for the remainder of the summer days, returning to New York in the early fall where Mr. Hunter has a studio.

Mrs. W. H. Brownson of Washington, and daughter, Mrs. C. L. Hussey, who have been spending July at the New Ocean House departed on Monday for a motor tour through the White Mountains expecting to make a stay at the Profile House. They will return to Swampscott in several weeks. Captain Hussey is Commander of the S. S. Birmingham, which is now in port at Boston. Rear Admiral Brownson is at Fort Riley in active service.

What we hope to be and are not is small comfort, and little credit.

BEACH BLUFF is perhaps one of the oldest of the resorts of the upper section of the North Shore. For many years it has attracted, as well as won scores of people, who became its summer residents after once enjoying its many diversions and noting its natural beauty. By "summer" has come to mean from May until October, and many are loathe to leave even then, for the Indian summer, which is ever lovely, whether it be at mountain or seashore, is always splendid on the North Shore.

From New York each summer come Mr. and Mrs. Roger Ogden Burton with their children to be of the household of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George C. Burton on Atlantic avenue. Their children Frances and Wilton, two lovable youngsters, are devotees of the surf, and can perform some aquatic stunts with ease and skill. Mrs. Burton was formerly Alice Vail Snowden, a Brookline girl.

A good time was enjoyed by several of the men friends of Elisha W. Cobb of Beach Bluff when he entertained over last week-end at his camp at Cape Cod. The trip to the camp and return was made in a high-powered motor boat. Last year Mr. Cobb spent much of his leisure time at his camp, but this year his visits have been less frequent.

After a pleasant visit to northern Michigan, Miss Esther Humphrey Paine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Paine has returned to "The Farm" at Beach Bluff. Over Sunday, Stephen Paine, who is a member of the Reserve Officers Training Corps of Harvard University, at Cambridge, was a visitor at "The Farm."

On Friday Mrs. C. R. Corwin of Beach Bluff, entertained at a luncheon given at the Tedesco club. Eleven covers were laid at a table whose nappery and silver were made more beautiful by the decorations of pink snapdragons and roses in a centre piece. Following the luncheon the ladies played bridge.

MARBLEHEAD NECK is becoming vastly popular with many people from Boston and its environs who motor down to spend a short time, and to enjoy the refreshing salt air breezes which ever stir here no matter in what direction the weather-vane may dictate. As a rendezvous for many week-enders its attractions are unlimited. On Sunday the stream of automobiles which wend their way through the boulevard down to the Neck is ceaseless, and many of these pleasure seekers being members at the Corinthian Yacht club find the clubhouse the most desirable place imaginable. So popular has the clubhouse become for the Sunday holiday seekers that large numbers are entertained throughout the day here. On Sunday evening, last Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Leeson of "Bridge Farm" entertained a number of friends at a supper given at the Corinthian Yacht club.

A new boat, painted battleship gray, of the submarine chaser type, has just been put into commission and is now in the harbor at Marblehead. It is owned by Henry A. Morss of Harbor avenue at the Neck. It has been given the name of "Kangaroo" and cost $25,000 to build, the engine alone costing about $5000. It is 62 feet long and is recorded as being able to make 25 knots an hour. It will undoubtedly be offered to the government for use if necessary.

Gorgeous pink gladioli in profuse array of stately beauty were used for the decorative motif at the Corinthian Yacht club on Monday evening at the popular dinner dance. Green vines and greenery were also used, making the lounge and ladies cafe which were used for the diners a floral bower, calling forth the admiration of all. Commodore J. B. Fallon was host to a party of ten guests at a round table which was placed in the centre of the room. Other members who entertained were Messrs. L. G. Humphrey, Sutton, Howard Whitcomb, C. M. Barker, E. W. Cobb, H. V. Hunt, F. L. Sutcliffe, C. E. Adams, H. A. Knowles, Vaughan Jealous, T. G. Frothingham, J. H. Grover and G. T. McKay. During the serving of dinner the Salem Cadet Band entertained with the rendition of a splendid concert, following which the members and their guests danced.

One of the smartest luncheons of the week was given at the Corinthian Yacht club on Monday when Mrs. Theodore Jones of Marblehead Neck was hostess to a number of ladies. At a table artistically arranged with gladioli greenery set upon the veranda adjoining the ladies cafe, and overlooking the harbor, the repast was served, after which the ladies enjoyed bridge.

Little Nancy Munroe, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Munroe of Marblehead Neck, entertained in honor of her fourth birthday on Tuesday afternoon. A number of her little playmates were present to celebrate with her the passing of the fourth milestone in her short life. A good time was enjoyed by the children, candies and ices being served, together with a lovely birthday cake which burned merrily with candles. Nancy received many little tokens of remembrance.

Friday of last week a picnic party was enjoyed by several of the summer residents of the Neck, who motored to Annisquam in their cars where they enjoyed the day aboard the yacht of friends anchored at Annisquam. Basket lunches were taken by the party and a royal time was spent. Those who participated in the out-doors treat were Mr. and Mrs. Frederick McQuesten, Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Baker, Mrs. E. A. Shuman, Mrs. Emily Brown, Miss Isabelle Evans, Mrs. Currier and Miss Dorothy Currier of Newburyport.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Dane of East Orange, N. J., whose summer home is at the tip of Marblehead Neck, are enjoying a motor trip to Plattsburg and Lake George, expecting to make a brief visit at their home in East Orange before returning to the Neck. Their three interesting young sons are at their summer home in care of attendants.

MARBLEHEAD is working long and untiringly for the progress of the Special Aid which is doing much for the relief of our men in the camps of the country as well as fitting out many of the sailors who have departed from our ports for active service in France. The Special Aid is a common cause and is represented here by both the members of the summer colony and the all year residents. The work is not confined to the town or to the Neck, many women of both localities having joined forces to make the tremendous showing which it has done. On Tuesday afternoon a very successful meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Richard E. Pope, who is the president of the organization. Very gratifying numbers attended the meeting, and plans were completed for a furtherance of the gigantic work. Announcement was made that wool for the knitting of the various garments for the soldiers may be obtained of Mrs. R. C. Bridge of Marblehead. It was also announced that the entertainment given at the home of Mrs. George Davenport at Peach's Point on Friday last by Miss Ruth Draper for the Red Cross Fund was a tremendous success, a large sum being realized.

Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel T. Pierce of Boston whose summer home is at Marblehead, announce the marriage of their daughter, Lena Snow Pierce to Napoleon Paulin, in San Francisco on July 26th. Mr. and Mrs. Pierce and daughter recently made a motor trip to San Francisco.

Mrs. Chester L. Dane of Peach's Point, who has been spending a short time in Washington, where she went to visit Mr. Dane, who is in command of the Tenth Deck Division of the U. S. S. Nebraska, has returned to the "Old Wharf House" accompanied by Mr. Dane who will make a brief stay, assuming his martial duties shortly. Jack Dane, their son, returned Wednesday from a pleasant stay at Ogunquit, Maine.

Mrs. Charles Gilbert entertained on Wednesday at a luncheon in honor of her guests, Mrs. Edward Earle of Detroit, who is spending the summer at the Oceanside Hotel at Magnolia, and Mrs. J. N. Kirchner also of Detroit. Red roses were used for table decoration. After the luncheon the ladies gathered upon the veranda and knitted for the Red Cross.

IT HAS NOW BEEN DEFINITELY established that our keen enemies have a great organization definitely at work to "hoodwink" the allies by opening and continuing trade with the allies through a neutral country, and particularly with France. As shrewd and as far-seeing as the enemy has been, the keener secrecy work of the allies has been effective in checking the work of the enemy. The war has many ramifications and it is giving both sides a task.

THE RESISTERS OF THE DRAFT in the West have not realized the seriousness of their offense. Resistance to the government in time of war is near to treason, and desertion means capital punishment. The transgression of civil law may mean imprisonment, but resistance to the government is unpardonable. The very life of the nation is at stake and slackers are open only to condemnation.

STATE GUARD MEN HURT IN AUTO ACCIDENT SUNDAY.

A party of 25 Manchester men, most of them members of the local state guard company, went to Lynnfield Sunday afternoon in one of the trucks of Sam. Knights Sons Co. to witness the drilling of the 8th regiment in camp there. Just after leaving the grounds on the return trip the truck approached a small car to which the driver was adjusting a new tire. A big touring car approaching from the opposite direction at good speed, passed the little machine and tried to squeeze between it and the truck. The rear hub of the touring car locked with the hub of the left forward wheel of the truck and before the occupants of the big truck were aware of what had happened they were catapulted out of the machine, which overturned. Everyone was more or less bruised and shaken by the fall and some were painfully injured by the heavy boards on which they had been seated falling upon them. Those most seriously hurt were George Chadwick, who suffered a fractured wrist, William Specht, broken nose; Albert Smith, strained back; Allan Dennis, cuts and bruises about legs and body; Everett Smothers, sprained wrist. The injured were taken to the field hospital on the camp grounds in Red Cross ambulances and given first aid by the army doctors. The occupants of the car were Gordon Burgess, William Burgess, Edward Chamberlain, John Corley, Samuel L. Wheaton, James Gillis, Wilbur Burchstead, Abraham Lampron, Jas. A. Burnham, James Taylor, Charles O. Charwick, George Chadwick, George Cameron, Everett Smother, Arthur Smothers, Edward Baker, Charles A. Fritz, Benjamin Stanley, Albert Smith, William Specht, Clarence Preston, Allan Dennis, Henry Lane and John Chapman.

GET READY THE WREATHS.

Fannie Hurst, America's most popular writer of short stories, never wrote a finer one than appears in September Cosmopolitan, now on sale. "Get Ready the Wreaths" has a tear and a smile in almost every line. It is a story of supreme love and sacrifice—of an indulgent mother, a selfish girl and old-world memories that sear the soul.

In this story Miss Hurst has touched a universal chord of sympathy and understanding that reaches deep down into every human heart.

When you read this story you will feel that you have a better understanding of humanity.

COPLEY THEATRE.

A tenth big week is assured at the Copley, where the Henry Jewett Players continue in their record success "The Man Who Stayed at Home," the play which has taken London and New York by storm and is meeting with unparalleled enthusiasm in Boston. It transports the audience from convulsions of laughter to tense, breathless silence in rapid sequence and is particularly timely at this present crisis in our national affairs. Disclosing as it does, problems of vital importance such as espionage and enlistments, it accurately depicts the false sense of security felt in England during the early days of the war, and which had much to do with the costly blunders of the first year.

Cupid has called louder than Mars to two Manchester young men who have joined their regiments with the expectation of soon going to the front. J. Irving Baker's engagement to a Worcester girl was announced last week. Young Baker belongs to Co. A of the 2d regiment and his company belongs to Worcester. Miss Ethel L. Andrews of the office of G. E. Willmington is wearing a handsome diamond engagement ring which she received on Tuesday, the donor, Frank B. Amaral, being one of the Manchester boys in Co. H of the 8th regiment. Both weddings will take place after the war.

EDITORIAL

THE FRIENDS OF BELGIUM have noticed that the appeals for funds have been withdrawn, and have wondered if the needs of the brave little country have been provided for. The Belgium nation still needs aid, but no funds are now being raised because of an arrangement which has been made between the United States and the governments of France and Belgium, jointly. The relief work expenses are to be met by a seventy-five million dollar loan by the United States Government, paid in six monthly installments of twelve and one-half million dollars each. After the six months period has elapsed some other methods will have to be adopted. But contributors to the Belgium Relief fund must know that all of their present gifts may be utilized and their gifts should be continued. Mr. Hoover is reported as saying, "Should any contributors desire to continue their gifts, notwithstanding the present position, they may be assured that their contributions will be expended sooner or later to great advantage, either during or after the war." He explains that although the installments are inadequate for the present needs of Belgium it will be impossible for the government to provide ships to carry merchandise for a larger sum, if provided. The arrangement is the best possible that could be made and it is hoped that the immediate needs as far as food is concerned will be met. This leaves the field clear absolutely to the Red Cross and to the Armenian and Syrian Relief work. The North Shore has effectually and generously subscribed to the Red Cross and to the Belgium Relief work and now it should give the Armenian and Syrian Relief work the right of way.

POOR ARMENIA'S PART OF THE WAR has been that of the innocent bystander. These long suffering people have been made the victims of the most awful cruelty the great war has brought. The loss of life among them and the suffering of the innocent and defenseless actually makes the terrible toll of battle in France fade into insignificance. Armenia's crime has been that her people would not accept the creed of the Moslem and for this offense and this only the Turk has slaughtered thousands on thousands of men, women and children. Even the barbarities in Belgium fail to compare with these outrages. But the awful indictment in the Armenian massacres is laid not against the bigotted and ignorant Turk, but against those war crazed German officials, who instigated the "Holy War" in the hope of arousing the Mohammedans of India against their English rulers, and who justified the subsequent events by their war-worn platitude of "military necessity." If no reasonable evidence will shake the fatuous confidence of the German people in their rulers then the time is not far off when reprisals must awaken them to the sort of war Wilhelm's war board wages.

THESE ARE THE DAYS in which the newspapers learn more and then more and tell less and less. There is a reason and the patriotic newspaper men are doing their loyal duty despite the apparent monetary value of a "scoop." There are many ways of serving the nation and the newspapers are serving in their way and loyally.

THIS IS A BIG COUNTRY! As one reads the various news dispatches he is apt to be struck by the fact that the United States covers quite an expanse of territory, that a very pressing issue in some sections is hardly discussed in others and that, as a whole, it is remarkable what really happens throughout the length and breadth of the land. The various clashes in New York, Pennsylvania, St. Louis, and other places over the immigration of negro labor have created considerable talk. So has the lynching of the I. W. W. leader in the state of Montana. The distances from which these events are viewed should not make us lose sight of their important bearing in their areas. We must all try to understand the viewpoint of the people in the localities where such things occur. The regular lynchings in the South, which have the condemnation of all good citizens, have no longer the unenviable precedence over such news from other sections. Similar things are happening all over the nation, and it behooves citizens to think about these matters and see if a public sentiment against such evils cannot be aroused, with the idea of self-reformation. Railing against what happens in a neighboring state does little good in comparison with a denunciation of some happening in our own commonwealth. Law abiding citizens must work for the upholding of the law in their own states.

THE CLEVELAND EXEMPTION BOARD, No. 5, has placed itself on record as approving of drafting young men who married to avoid conscription. The position is clear. Marriage, as it is now understood, does not exempt any man. The boards of exemption are to determine who are to be exempt and marriage will be only one of the factors which the boards will take into consideration for exemption. It is to be noted with pride that the North Shore has been particularly free from this sort of disloyalty.

THE CONVICTION STILL OBTAINS that despite the losses that are more than evident in Russia, that great people will rally once more to the contest. To those who are sceptical it might be well for them to consider what an opportunity the German press has to exploit the draft riots in Oklahoma to satisfy the peoples abroad. This government is going quietly about its work nevertheless, but skilful newspaper operators could use the events there to great advantage in German papers and doubtlessly they are. All news should be estimated at its value.

IN THE MULTIPLICATION of the industries that have been directly due to our war problems the work of the local Red Cross rooms must not be overlooked. Money is needed, is indispensable, but personal service is also required. Persons who are at leisure and who desire to assist America to win the war may find employment for their leisure hours at the local workrooms.

THE BOSTON FIREMEN are likely to obtain their one day off in three. Storrow declares it to be an unpatriotic move. One cannot but wonder! Yet one must admire the men who have been in the trenches with no vacation period in sixteen months!

THE WORDS OF ABRAHAM LINCOLN which were spoken early in the conflict for right, "stand with anybody that stands right. Stand with him while he is right and part with him where he goes wrong. To desert such ground because of any company is to be less than a man, less than an American. The issue before us is distinct, simple and inflexible. It is an issue which can only be tried by war and settled by victory. The war will cease on the part of this government whenever it shall have ceased on the part of those who began it. We accepted war rather than let the nation perish. With malice toward none, with charity for all, with firmness in the right as God gives us to see the right, let us strive on to finish the work we are in, and do all which may achieve a just and lasting peace among all the nations." These are immortal words that may well be pondered now. They meet the present situation. America cannot have peace now because we accepted war. Only when Germany is willing to cease making war will peace be possible. This is a war of defense and not offense and it will end as soon as the offensive activities are ended. The United States soil has not been attacked, but the principles of our government have. When it comes to comparisons soil and principles are not in the same class of values. Germany has attacked us where our greatest treasures are and we should not be deceived because the contest ground is in France. Germany can end the war at any time. "The war will cease on the part of this government whenever it shall have ceased on the part of those who began it. We accepted war rather than let the nation perish."

AT THE MAYOR'S RECEPTION tendered him on his return from Constantinople, Ambassador Elkus, when called upon, among other things told a short story of a lad in Turkey which expresses in a few sentences the sufferings of the old world and bespeaks the sympathy of the new. "America did not realize the hunger that existed in some parts of Turkey. I can best illustrate it by telling you about a little boy who was brought to one of the hospitals. His condition was such that he could not eat solid food, but he cried for a piece of bread. When the physician told him he couldn't eat bread he said he didn't want to eat it, he just wanted to put it under his pillow so that he could feel that food was near." Ambassador Elkus knew the appeal of that story and understood the sympathy of the American people. We are in debt to him for visualizing the suffering which, so far away, would not be understood or realized. When it is realized that only three dollars in our money will support a child for a whole month, is it any wonder that our nation has risen to the occasion and given with such unanimity and good spirit?

ELIHU ROOT HAS RETURNED from his important field of service in Russia and says, "America must muster its manhood with democracy against the power of autocracy. There will be death, widowed homes, sacrifice and sufferings, doubt, almost despair. In the end will rise a great free country remade in the spirit of our fathers, competent to accomplish its divine mission and carry liberty and justice throughout the world." Thus does he succinctly state our task.

THE NATIONAL OFFICERS have announced that Aliens who wish to waive their exemptions are eligible for service in our national armies. The decision is wise and was to have been expected. No other course was open. However, it does appear that the exemption of aliens should be dependent entirely upon their enlisting in the armies of their native lands. The alien question will be settled before many moons.

THE AMERICAN, ARMENIAN AND SYRIAN Relief commission, with offices in New York, have been operating in the towns along our Shore during the last three weeks and they will end with a mass meeting on Sunday. Ralph Harlow spoke at the Episcopal church in Beverly Farms last Sunday morning, at a union service of the Manchester Congregational and Baptist churches and at the Magnolia church in the evening, making a full and thoroughly successful day. The campaign of education has been continued through the week and the work will culminate in a meeting at the Beverly Farms Baptist church Sunday, at five o'clock, at which service Augustus Peabody Loring will preside and present Mr. Harlow and the chairman of the committee, James L. Barton. The great work will be presented in a graphic and interesting way and no one can afford to miss the opportunity presented for war service. The meeting is sponsored by a representative committee from among our summer residents and the interest aroused last Sunday ought to be effective. Now that the Red Cross and the Belgium Relief commissions have had their opportunity, the Armenian and Syrian Relief committee should have a hearing. The North Shore will not be amiss in its duty at this emergency. The nation that helped Belgium and sustains the Red Cross, will not neglect the curse-ridden land of Syria and the persecuted and martyred Armenians.

AN ENGLISH WRITER in the London Observer has dared to prophecy and we hope his prophecy is true. He has courage and hope that has been inspired by the aid that America has given by entrance into the great war. "Germany," he claims, "is bled white. Every action like this (the Flanders offensive), tells despite the masquerading bulletins. The truth percolates and penetrates. There can be no negotiation without evacuation. The Allies will not have sufficient power to negotiate until the Americans are ready. Then they will have all the cards. Just as steadily as we believed that the war would have to go through another winter, so we are convinced that with America ready it will end victoriously just before winter next year." There is prophecy of an early peace. A year from now does not seem to be so long to look in these days of stress and strain. The judgment does not appear to be carelessly made nor held with pugnacious indifference to the severities of the contest. Well may it be so. Peace is an end much to be desired and let it be now hoped that America may be able to help the Allies win their victory! However successfully the Americans battle, America must forever realize that it was the gallant contest of all of the allied forces which made victory possible.

RALPH HARLOW, WHO ADDRESSED the preliminary meetings held in Beverly Farms, Manchester and Magnolia gave a thrilling address at each place of the meaning of the war in the far east. The message was backed by a strong personality, and the vivid and accurate portrayal of the conditions existing there were revelations to his North Shore audiences. The great Armenian nation deserves the interest of the giving public.

THE MILITARY OPPORTUNITIES in the West are now beginning to be understood. The allies have a plan. No one tells. Yet, who cannot see the advantage that must be obtained in bending back the northern end of the German lines and by making a seacoast raid from the rear possible. Then the whole German line can be turned back and the U-boat bases destroyed and in a single movement both aims gained—the pressing back of the German line and the destruction of the U-boat menace.

NOTES

The past week the drying plant has been in use. With the dryers of various types employed here, we dry by sun, artificial heat and the electric fan. We have two dryers for use with artificial heat, the Granger and a Cook Stove Dryer. All persons, who are interested, and those wishing to learn, are welcome.

Drying, a method of food conservation, may prove useful and practical to everyone. Investigation of the process will prove worth while to the person having a very small surplus product, as well as to those who have a large surplus. Home-made appliances are quite satisfactory if one knows how to use them. At the Food Centre these appliances are on exhibition. Also the dried product is now being shown as an exhibit.

Manchester is fortunate in having one of the few Food Centres in the country. The Federal Government is recommending the establishing of these centres all over the United States, and is, of course, interested in our experiment here. It is hoping to see the community coöperating to make a success of the Centre.

Consultation, instruction and demonstration free.

Lectures to do with Food and Food Conservation are given every Monday evening at 7.30 and on Wednesday afternoon at 2.30.

AMOS F. BENNETT.

Amos F. Bennett, Manchester's oldest citizen and a man highly respected and honored by the entire community, passed away at his home 12 Ashland ave., on Saturday of last week. Death was due to hardening of the arteries from which he had suffered at intervals for the past few years. The end came quietly after an attack a few days previous. Mr. Bennett was 92 years and eight months old. He was born in China, Me., on November 24, 1824, and his early life was spent in that community where he obtained his education. Later he moved to Lowell, this state, where in 1847 he married Miss Amy Littlefield of Conway, N. H.

In 1857, Mr. Bennett, who was a keen business man and quick to sense an opportunity, came to Manchester, where a year later he founded the ice business at present known as the Manchester Ice Co. At that time Manchester's summer colony was in its infancy, a mere handful of city folk occupying cottages in what is now the populous Smith Point section. Mr. Bennett built his pond, dams and ice houses all by his own efforts and began in a very small way the business which afterwards he developed to considerable proportions. Under his skilful management the business grew and flourished until when he retired in 1898 it had become a valuable property. He disposed of his holdings to Edmonds and Crocker, who conducted the business under the name of the Manchester Ice Co. until the past spring when they sold out to Frederick and Thompson, the present proprietors.

In 1873, Mr. Bennett was imported by leading citizens of the town to become a candidate for selectman. Much against his personal wish he accepted the nomination and received the total vote cast of the Town meeting. He was continued in office until 1876 when he declined to serve longer. He was always interested in the welfare of the schools of the town and was made a member of the committee which had charge of the rebuilding of the High school after its destruction by fire. Although pressed to accept office on many occasions by his friends, Mr. Bennett, whose ambitions were confined to service in his home circle, declined to accept.

Mr. Bennett's religious principles played a strong part in his life, and his firm faith reflected itself in his sterling character which was an inspiration to all who knew him. From the day he was converted at the age of 16 and became a member of the Page st. Baptist church in Lowell he never faltered from the principles which he adopted for his guidance in life. In Manchester he was an attendant upon the services of the Baptist church and gave liberally to its support and to other charities. In politics Mr. Bennett was a believer in National Prohibition and always supported the candidates of that party and contributed to its campaign funds. He lived long enough to see his great hope of National Prohibition on the verge of reality.

His wife died in February, 1906, and since that time he has been cared for faithfully by his daughter, Miss Ellen Bennett. Although his health has been affected slightly since the death of Mrs. Bennett, he has been remarkably well for a man of such advanced age. Until just recently he has been able to get about without assistance. He was long a member of the Elder Brethren of Manchester and took a keen interest in their annual outings.

He leaves three daughters, Miss Ellen M. Bennett and Miss Mary E. Bennett of Manchester and Mrs. Adie J. Whitman of Beverly; two sons, Charles H. and Fred A. of Salem, and three grandchildren, Nellie Leonard of Manchester, Mrs. Grace Mitchell of Lynn and Harry Bennett of Salem.

Funeral services were held at the home on Tuesday afternoon, Rev. A. G. Warner officiating. Burial was in Rosedale cemetery.

WHISPERINGS of THE BREEZES

The 125th Co., M. S. G., of Manchester is not the only military organization which had to postpone drill on account of the hot weather last week. Over in Plattsburg at the R. O. T. C., which is the way they abbreviate Reserve Officers Training Corps, the weather made it necessary to change the schedule of work. A letter from a friend in camp tells us most of the boys are glad the grind is to be over next week. It has been "work, work, work" ever since camp started and some of them are not even cheered by the prospect of a commission when camp breaks on the 15th. They will all be glad of the two weeks leave which will be granted them until Aug. 27, even those who are to go south to help train the new national army. One of the interesting bits of news from Plattsburg is that members of the New England regiment have been conducting experiments in bomb and hand grenade throwing in the hope of improving the method now in use in the trenches. There are many college baseball players in the regiment and it is the opinion of the officers that the knowledge they have of ball tossing can be used in hurling bombs at the heads of Germans.

APPLIED WHITEWASH

MANCHESTER SPREAD IT ONTO PROSPECT UNION 11 TO 0 LAST SATURDAY IN SLOW GAME.

The battery of the Prospect Union team of Cambridge was too weak to stand the shock of an onslaught by Manchester's heavy hitters last Saturday and the visitors' defense crumpled in the second inning putting the game on ice for the local nine with a six run lead. There was never a chance of a come-back, for Grover was in old time form. Speaking of coming "back," the old southpaw had them all on the jump Saturday and twirled in same old snappy fashion that made him one of the most dangerous semi-pro pitchers to face a couple of seasons ago. Grover fanned 16 of the P. U. boys, held them to one clean hit and a scratch, made a couple of heady fielding assists and stopped a run in the fifth inning by tagging out Gleason between third and home plate. Incidentally he made two runs himself and drove home another with one of his two clean bingles—all of which is some playing.

Grover fanned the first three men who faced him with ten pitched balls. Gourley and Ford flied out in Manchester's half and Sheehan was given a base on balls by P. U.'s slow moving twirler. Devlin singled to Moxon and worked a double steal with Sheehan. "Bill" came home with the first run when Polak let the ball slip through his fingers to the backstop on the next pitched ball. That error was a sample of the way the visiting catcher held about half of Vickers deliveries.

Another procession to the plate and back to the bench was headed by Gleason in the second session of P. U. at bat. Polak and Whittle followed in order. Then the riot began. Fahey, first up for Manchester that inning, drove out a single to center. Elivard was hit and Francis also was sent limping to first. Then Grover brought in Fahey with a single to left. Gourley doubled to center and Elivard and Francis romped home. Grover scored on Ford's single and Gourley came home on another passed ball. Sheehan walked and Devlin and Meehan fanned. Ford was out trying to steal third. Nobody scored in the third, but Ford added a tally in the fourth after Gourley got a free trip to first and was out at second on Ford's grounder to Lahiff. Ford stole second. Sheehan walked and Devlin singled, letting Ford in. Sheehan went down to second and started to take another base. He was caught between second and third and was called out for dodging out of the baseline. Lahiff wanted to make sure of the out and raced over to tag him, while Devlin hit the trail to second and around to third. A lively little argument ensued, during which Polak tried to convince the ump that Devlin passed Sheehan before Lahiff tagged him. The umpire was willing to concede this, but insisted that Sheehan was out before he was tagged and that Devlin was safe at third. There is more hot air wafted from behind the plate lately than is generated on a whole Chautauqua circuit and the debates are getting tiresome to the fans.

In the sixth Sheehan singled to center and stole second. He scored on Devlin's single. Manchester grabbed three more runs in the seventh. Fahey walked and stole second. Elivard sacrificed and Fahey stole home. Francis was passed and advanced on Grover's single. He stole third and Grover pilfered second sack. As Francis stole third he overran the bag and Polak threw wild to third in an attempt to get him, Francis scoring. A two-bagger by Ford sent Grover across the plate and Gourley, who was passed, stopped at third. Sheehan grounded to Whittle, who caught Gourley at the plate on the throw. Devlin fanned.

Meehan got a two bagger in the eighth, but the next three men went out in order. P. U. almost scored in the fifth when Gleason singled and stole second and third. Polak went out on a grounder to Fahey, Whittle walked and stole second. Lahiff grounded a hot one to Grover who chased Gleason up the third base line and tagged him out. He then struck out Vickers.

ARMENIAN RELIEF

STIRRING TALK GIVEN IN MANCHESTER LAST SUNDAY WILL BE GIVEN IN BEVERLY FARMS NEXT SUNDAY.

Ralph Harlow, who directed the Red Cross relief work in the war zone in Turkey and who was chaplain of the American college of Smyrna for five years, delivered a stirring address at the Baptist church in Manchester on Sunday evening. He told of the massacres of the Armenians by the Turks at German instigation and made a plea for funds to save the thousands of women and children who are starving behind the shelter of the Russian lines in Asia Minor.

In the interest of the Armenian and Syrian Relief committee of New York a community meeting will be held at Beverly Farms Baptist church next Sunday evening, August 12, at 5 o'clock. Mr. Harlow will again be the speaker.

The paramount war relief need which is still uncared for and is now the star of first magnitude facing the American people today is the degenerate conditions of the Greeks, Armenians and Syrians, the advance guard of civilization in the Near East. All relief work for these peoples has been consolidated under the direction of the Committee on Armenian and Syrian relief in New York City. The purpose of the meeting is to present the special need of these people. Dr. James L. Barton the chairman of the National committee, which carries on this relief work in Western Asia and Ralph Harlow, who has recently returned from five years of unique experiences as chaplain of the American college in Smyrna, will address the meeting. The Hon. Augustus P. Loring of Beverly Farms will preside.

A cordial invitation is extended to the public to be present.

The following well known residents of the North Shore are sponsors for the meeting: Senator Albert J. Beveridge, Roland W. Boyden, Mrs. Robert S. Bradley, Rev. Neilson Poe Carey, Mrs. John Caswell, Alexander Cochrane, Charles E. Cotting, Sr., Charles E. Cotting, Jr., Richard H. Dana, Rev. Wm. H. Dewart, Amory Eliot, Samuel Eliot, Henry L. Higginson, Miss Elizabeth Houghton, Mrs. W. E. Littleton, Mrs. A. H. Little, Augustus P. Loring, Sr., Augustus P. Loring, Jr., The Misses Loring, Mrs. Robert Means, Mrs. Lawrence W. Morgan, Mrs. Henry W. Peabody, Rev. Clarence Strong Pond, John L. Saltonstall, Miss Isabel Semple, Philip Stockton, Miss Lucy Sturgis, Mrs. Washington B. Thomas, Bayard Warren and Rev. Albert Gardner Warner.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Spooner, who live near Boston, have spent two weeks in town with the latter's mother Mrs. James Ireland of North st.

The annual gathering of the Triple Link league in Boston will be held on Sunday, Sept. 9, when several thousand will parade. Members of Magnolia lodge, I. O. O. F., are planning to take up quite a delegation. Last year about 30 members marched and attended the services at Fenway park.

Manchester children are interested in the coming lawn party by the children of Ward 6 playground of Beverly Farms to which they are all invited. It will be held the afternoon and evening of next Thursday, Aug. 16. Cadigan's orchestra will furnish the music for dancing.

Manager Walen of the local ball team could not have secured a better attraction for tomorrow's game than the United Shoe of Beverly. The Shoe team is well matched with the local nine and still rankles from the effects of the 8 to 0 defeat Manchester administered the last time the Beverly boys journeyed to this place. It will be a pretty fight. Manager Foley of the Shoe team was disappointed at the result of the last game and thinks his outfit did not show at its best because of having played another game in the morning of the same day. That 15 inning game at Beverly which went to a tie makes him think he has a chance to come back. With Grover twirling in his old-time form the Shoe will have to go some to beat him.

Manchester will be represented as usual in the parade of the G. A. R. at the national encampment in Boston on the 21st of this month. It is expected that Essex and Beverly Farms posts may join with Manchester in attending the parade. There will be less than 20 from the three posts to go up that day and as the veterans will be unable to stand the strain of the march they will be obliged to ride in automobiles. They hope some of the kind friends of the G. A. R. will volunteer the use of three or four automobiles for the day to carry the men to Boston, through the parade and return. Allen post will be honored by having one of its members in a prominent position; E. P. Stanley, who is sr. vice dept. commander, will be active in the direction of the reunions of the week. A big delegation of the local camp of S. of V. will take part in the parade and L. W. Floyd will be one of the state delegates to the National S. of V. convention.

Bathers at Singing Beach last Friday afternoon saw one of Uncle Sam's aviators escape from one of the difficulties which beset flyers. When the flyer was some distance off the beach it was noticed by watchers that he was in trouble. The engine was heard to stop and the aviator volplaned down to the surface of the water. Caretaker Kelliher of the beach and John Allen started out to his assistance in the lifeboat, but before they reached him the aviator started his engine and proceeded a short distance along the water, again coming to a stop. He declined their help and also that of a launch which offered assistance. He finally gave up and was towed into Marblehead harbor by a launch. The aircraft was one of the sea planes of the kind being built at Marblehead for the government and had the red, white and blue insignum of an American battle plane.

ALL POSTAL EMPLOYEES NOT EX-EMPT.

A ruling issued by the postoffice department shows that department officials will make few requests for the exemption of postal employes from military service. Postmasters are instructed not to ask exemption for carriers or laborers or for clerks in second class offices below the $1000 grade, clerks in first class offices below the $1100 grade, or any above these grades unless they are qualified distributors of mail.

The ruling is the first formal action by an executive department in compliance with President Wilson's order directing that department officials indicate exemption and that the requirement of indispensability be rigidly enforced.

As generally construed, the postal ruling shows the purpose of the administration to make the government department leaders in freeing valuable employes for war service.

THE CAPE ANN RESORTS

ANNISQUAM.—The loveliness of this section of the North Shore is now being more fully realized, as the little ferry, "Wonasquam," plies up and down the river daily, carrying its large number of passengers. The view from the ferry is a great delight to sightseers, the stretches of green marshes offset by the blue, the hills and sand dunes of West Gloucester, the spires and ships masts rising above the hills of the eastern section, all give charm and poetry to the many pictures seen along the route. Here and there along the Annisquam river we see little picturesque places that more than invite the eye, therefore people are moved to take the trolley trip to Annisquam, getting off at the station near the bridge and walking down the village to various spots which are a perfect delight. Here in this quaint spot of Cape Ann, historically known as the pioneer place of the shore fishery, the rustic cottage with its old-fashioned gardens is something unusual to admire.

One of the grandest views of Annisquam is that obtained from the verandas of the Wonasquam Lodge. Over the tops of the trees and houses, one can see the Majestic river winding in and out of the wonderful marshes, with the white sails of the yachts skimming like birds over the surface of the water. Blue water and sky, green hills beyond and purple and lavender shadows that play constantly like fairies charming. Thus we get a simple glimpse of one day's panorama, soothing, untiring, exhilarating the soul to a new longing.

Wonasquam Lodge has a large number of guests, Mr. Shute as usual, being the manager and proprietor of the house. The regular hops are being held on Wednesday and Saturday nights with orchestral music. Miss Leora Pierson of Brookline gives private instruction in the up-to-date dances, in one of the drawing rooms of the hotel. Miss Corrilla Natuson Bannister, of Texas, last week gave a most pleasing entertainment of original folk-lore stories of plantation life, also physiological and phrenological character readings, at the Wonosquam Lodge.

Recent arrivals at the Wonasquam Lodge include: S. D. Hallock, Columbus, O.; Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Gottwald, Cleveland, O.; Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Bigelow, child and nurse, St. Davids, Pa.; Miss C. C. Nichols, Boston; Mrs. T. J. Tipper, Palmer; H. J. Bennett, Monson; Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Raymond, Miss Jessica Raymond, Albert Raymond, Sewickley, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. B. Minus, nurse and two children, Concord.

During the month of August, Episcopal services are being held on Sundays at Village hall, Annisquam. Rev. Percy G. Kammerer, of Grace church, Providence, R. I., is conducting the services. Rev. Gabriel Farrell of the Church of St. Luke and the Epiphany, Pa., had charge.

Mrs. H. B. Duane of Annisquam is entertaining her mother, Mrs. Julia Raymond, of Larchmont, N. J.

The yacht race as seen from the verandas of the Annisquam Yacht clubhouse on Saturday afternoon, was a particularly attractive sight. The afternoon tea was largely attended. The tables were prettily decorated with dainty blue flowers. Mrs. Harry Duane and Miss Dariel Stearns poured.

Ladies of the Annisquam colony are cordially invited to work for the Red Cross, at the cottage of Mrs. C. F. Bradley, every Monday and Thursday, from 10 till 12 o'clock. Interest is being taken especially on surgical dressings and clothing for war sufferers. Contributions, no matter how small, will be received by the Annisquam Unit, treasurer, Mrs. Hollis French. Last year, the busy Annisquam Red Cross branch sent 33,562 articles to France.

Last Wednesday, a sale was held in Village hall, Annisquam, for the benefit of the Boy Scouts and more than $30 was realized for the fund.

Prof. Richard Holbrook of Boston, has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. William S. Booth of Norwood Heights, Annisquam.

Mrs. Otis Shepard of Norwood Heights, Annisquam, has been entertaining Mrs. Margaret Newton and Miss Dorothea Shepard of New York City.

Sanford Riley and family, of Worcester, have arrived at Annisquam, for the summer at the Jelly bungalow, Norwood Heights.

Dr. and Mrs. Frank E. Draper of Arlington and Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Gale of New York City, are occupants of the Munster cottage, Diamond Cove, Annisquam.

Leaders of the younger set at Annisquam, entertaining recently at the Barnacle Tea House, were Frederick D. Hawkins and Donald Simson. Among the guests were Miss Carolyn Bailey, Miss Marie Norton and Miss Katharine Gordon.

At the delightful tea veranda of the Brynmere, Annisquam, Mrs. Dwight P. Thomas, of the house entertained several of her friends, among them being Mrs. Harry Wiggin, Mrs. Frederick Ives, Mrs. Arthur Kidder, Mrs. Henry Sherburn and Mrs. Frances Hill.

By-Water Inn, Annisquam, has a large number of prominent guests, who are enjoying the season at this finely situated house on the bay side of the river. Among the guests at this resort are: G. G. Smith, wife and daughter, Katherine, Philadelphia; Thomas Hannah, wife and daughter, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Miss Lucy Osborne, Miss Katherine Price, Mrs. F. H. Howard, three children and nurse, Williamstown; William Whitton, wife and son, Byron Whitton, Dorchester; Miss Anna Chapman, Miss Ethel Vaughan, Cambridge; Mrs. Anna Richardson, daughter, Helen Andrews, and son, Newell, of Wellesley; Miss Frances Cobban, New York; Robert S. Miss Alice F. Peterson of Bridgeport, Conn., is spending her vacation at Beverly Farms and incidentally at West Beach.

The children of the Ward 6 playground will give a lawn party afternoon and evening on the playground Thursday, Aug. 16. Cadigan's orchestra will furnish the music.

John Matheson of Rock Fort, Pride's Crossing, and Mathilde Bicket of the same address were married by the Rev. E. J. V. Huiginn in Beverly on Monday, Aug. 6.

A party of Beverly Farms ladies are meeting regularly every Tuesday afternoon at G. A. R. hall where they are sewing for the U. S. soldiers and sailors as a Committee of the Red Cross.

J. Sewall Day is another well known Beverly Farms young man who came under the draft. He took his examination on Tuesday, passed and did not claim exemption. He is ready and waiting to serve when wanted.

The U. S. Machinery Co. baseball team of Beverly goes to Manchester tomorrow afternoon to play the deciding game of the series. It will be a big attraction for the fans from Beverly Farms and a large number will probably attend.

War times have apparently affected many social events at Beverly Farms. Instead of a dance or social being held in Neighbors hall every week as in years past there have been only a few the whole season and only one or two are booked for the future.

A hearing is called at City hall,

Beverly, on Friday, Aug. 24, at 10.30 a. m. on the petition of the Beverly Board of Aldermen for the widening, straightening and relocating of a small portion of Hale st. between West and Beach sts. The portion desired to be thus improved lies along the front of the White and Lancashire estates. At present there is a bad curve at this point.

UNCLAIMED LETTERS.

Unclaimed letters at the Beverly Farms postoffice for the week ending August 8: Miss Ida Anthes, Miss Mary A. Ardier, Ruth Bruce, Mrs. Harry C. Byrns, Mrs. E. Parker Corning, Miss Sara Maguire, Miss Katherine McDonnell, Miss Susan Pederson, Alex. Stein, Mrs. Nathan Hanson, E. H. Hart, Miss Lena A. Hart and Miss A. H. Mild.—Lawrence J. Watson, P. M.

EXAMINATION FOR DRAFT.

One of the conditions of acceptance of men drafted for service in the new national army is weight. A table has been provided for the use of the examiners by which the weight and chest measurement of men of given heights may be determined. An allowance is made for variations in weight and chest measurement of a stated number of pounds per inch of height. Some of the Manchester men who were examined this week were rejected because their weight was below that of the appended table. Other points on which the men are examined include sight, hearing, heart and lungs. Precautions are taken to guard against fraud on the part of these examined and it is practically impossible

Mr. and Mrs. John R. Daly of St. Johnsbury, Vt., have spent the past week at Beverly Farms visiting friends.

Michael Cadigan and Robert Connell, members of Battery F in camp at Boxford, were home this week for a few days' furlough.

Last Sunday, Naylor's auto buss made a trip to Boxford and carried a load of Beverly Farms people for a visit to the local boys in camp.

Mrs. Wm. Winchester and son, "Billy," who have been sojourning at Newbury, N. H., for several weeks, arrived at Beverly Farms on Monday last.

Martin O'Brien is the new gate-man at the Beverly Farms station. Sidney Larcom the former gateman has been promoted to baggage master.

The annual mission at St. Margaret's church will begin on Sunday, Aug. 19th. There will be a week of services for women and a week for the men.

Miss May Brady is enjoying her annual vacation and is spending it mostly at her home at Pride's Crossing. Miss Brady is a stenographer at the State institution at Waverly.

Mrs. Benjamin F. Hawkins and child left last Sunday for Pittsfield where they joined Mr. Hawkins, who had been there about a week. They plan to make their permanent home there. Mrs. J. Millett Younger accompanied Mrs. Hawkins on her trip and was her guest in Pittsfield for a few days.

West Beach and the pavilion have been very popular for large gatherings the past week. A popular custom is the participation of luncheon by parties, who first enjoy the pleasures of a dip in the invigorating waters. The temperature of the water has been around 70 most of the time and this has induced a record number of bathers to enjoy the privileges.

Alderman Connolly at last Monday's meeting of the aldermen presented an order calling for 750 feet of granite curbing to be installed on Hale st. near Malt Hill. There has been much complaint for over a year because of the danger to foot passengers in that section, there being practically no sidewalk in some sections. The installing of the proposed curbing will definitely define a sidewalk and therefore increase the comfort and safety of the foot travellers in this section.

Miss Alice F. Barrett of North Adams has been spending a two weeks' vacation at Beverly Farms, the guest of friends.

On Tuesday the examination of men for the national draft army began at Beverly and 100 men were called before the board each day at City hall. The examinations were in charge of Alderman Thomas D. Connolly, chairman, Dr. James A. Shatswell and Oliver T. Roberts. On Tuesday the second man to qualify, who did not claim exemption, was a well known Beverly Farms young man, James J. McManus.

NEGROES AND ARMY OFFICERS.

This war may not see Negroes become soldiers on an unprecedented scale, but it will witness the employment of Negro officers in far greater numbers than ever before. In the Spanish-American war there were a number of Negro captains, and there have been several Negro majors—one, Charles Young, a graduate of West Point. Today 1200 men are training in the Negro officers' reserve camp at Fort Des Moines, Ia., and it is planned to officer the Negro regiments raised under the selective draft law largely with these men—the colonels and, at least at the outset, the majors to be white. About 200 of these future officers were picked from regular army units, and the whole camp is said to offer very promising material. Large numbers of professional men and many college graduates—nine of Harvard—are represented. Such a camp ought to train for leadership in civil life as well as in the war.

The bread of life is love; the salt of life is work; the sweetness of life, poesy; the water of life, faith.—Mrs. Jameson.

BETTER BE CAREFUL.

A suspicious peddler of court plaster has been going through Randolph, Vt., against whom the public was warned, when there, but from whom several bought, says a despatch. The health officers were informed of this fact and took measures soon after he left to recommend destroying the court plaster. News has come since he left there that he has been arrested. His goods were said to be filled with germs of disease, and unsafe to use. Manchester was visited by a court plaster peddler a short time ago and a number of people who bought were alarmed to read shortly after of the Vermont case. Whether there was any foundation to the story or not, the habit of purchasing medicinal remedies of any kind from peddlers is one to be discouraged.

What is founded on truth stands while the world stands.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip L. Stevens of Hartford, Conn., have been among the visitors at Beverly Farms the past week.

Miss Margaret McCarthy, a member of Dr. Warren's household, received a telephone message Saturday morning that her brother, who had been living in Bangor, Me., was accidentally killed.

The St. George associates will give a public dancing party in Neighbors hall next Tuesday evening, Aug. 14. It is for the benefit of the widows and orphans of the British soldiers and sailors.

Among the orders introduced at last Monday evening's meeting of the aldermen was one for the construction of an avenue from Hale st. to the Beverly Farms playground, which eventually will be continued through to Haskell st. This would not only be a great convenience, but would bring numerous house lots into the market.

The Grand lodge, I. O. O. F., has just issued its official report for 1916, which shows the largest increase in membership since 1895. There are 243 subordinate lodges in the State, with an average membership of 258. The suspensions for 1916 were but 1 1/4 percent of the entire membership. The invested funds amount to $2,828,263.43.

The Rebekah membership gained 616 to Jan. 1, a total of 36,122. Of these 11,751 are men and 24,371 women. There are 190 Rebekah lodges, an average membership of 191 and investment of $242,113.41.

1114 INFANTILE PARALYSIS VICTIMS GIVEN AFTER-CARE TREATMENT— HARVARD INFANTILE PARALYSIS COMMISSION MAKES REPORT.

The Harvard Infantile Paralysis Commission in cooperation with the Massachusetts State Department of Health has been engaged since November of last year in providing proper after-care treatment for the children left crippled by infantile paralysis.

Clinics have been held for the children in and about Boston at the Children's hospital and at the Mass. General hospital. In addition clinics have been held throughout the State at the following places: Newburyport, Springfield, Quincy, Lynn, Beverly, Greenfield, Worcester, Malden, Melrose Lawrence, North Adams, and Lowell.

While it was the original purpose of the commission to confine itself to the treatment of the persons paralyzed in 1916, only, it was soon found necessary to care for those deformed by the disease prior to 1916. In all, 1114 individuals have been treated.

In 1916 there were reported to the State Dept. of Health 1017 cases of the disease. Of this number 454 died. No paralysis resulted in 246 cases,

All the treatment and advice has been given free of charge, as well as much apparatus. Transportation has been supplied in many instances by volunteer automobile drivers. The work of the commission will be maintained as long as the public contributions support the work and the children require treatment.

THE CABLE MEMORIAL HOSPITAL, IPSWICH

Mildred Howard, Mrs. Grace Hill, Mrs. Arthur Tozer and Miss Helene Robinson.

Among those present were "all of Ipswich," and from along the Shore were seen Hon. Robert S. Rantoul, Mrs. Neal Rantoul, Hon. and Mrs. A. J. Beveridge, Dr. and Mrs. Marshal Fabyan, Mrs. J. Warren Merrill, Mrs. John W. Blodgett, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Cochrane, F. J. Alley, Dr. George H. Washburn and Dr. and Mrs. Maynard Ladd. Among Mr. Crane's guests were Mr. McKee and Mr. Shepley. Guests of the Mason family were Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Mason of Hingham. Mr. Mason is at the head of the Metropolitan chapter of the Red Cross.

The beautiful grounds which are being laid out by Landscape Architect Arthur A. Shurtleff of the Argilla road colony came in for much admiration during the day.

Mr. Shurtleff has given his services entirely free for the cause.

The great crowd of people completely took possession of the building and for about two hours at the close of the exercises poured through its halls and rooms from the kitchen departments to the upper story.

The operating room (the most up-to-date in the country) with its wonderful lighting facilities afforded by a great window and artificial means, and the doctor's preparatory rooms adjoining were much admired. The cool and restful looking rooms, with their dainty white beds (24), the comfortable chairs and tables throughout, the children's ward, the nurses' and maids' rooms, the patients' sitting room, the nurses' parlor with its lavender furnishings—all were thoroughly enjoyed. From the kitchen with its big ice-boxes and range to the topmost room was heard nothing but favorable and satisfied comment.

The building has an endowment fund of $30,000, and as the expenses will be about $18,000 a year, the immediate need is for $5000 to complete the annual maintenance.

The Ipswich hospital idea was started many years ago by a group of young girls who managed to raise $1000 which has been in the bank ever since. It is something that the town has wanted for years.

In Mr. Appleton's remarks he spoke of Ipswich as always standing for justice, all of its prominent buildings as being associated with justice, and this newest one, the "temple of mercy," being so admirably situated at what had been known for centuries as the "parting paths," the junction of the main road between Hamilton and Ipswich, and the main road from Manchester and Essex.

The view from all sides of the building is excellent. The town spires about a mile away, the region towards "Appleton Farms," over Hamilton way, and the Candlewood section are spread out in a beautiful and inspiring panorama. One lady was heard to say that the "view and good air on the hill top" alone would make a patient well.

The big white house of the Herbert W. Masons is seen to much advantage from the sun parlor, over in the Candlewood section.

It is in making endless additions to self, in the endless expansion of its powers, in endless growth in wisdom and beauty, that the spirit of the human race finds its ideal. To reach this ideal culture is an indispensable aid, and that is the true value of culture.

Man never falls so low he can see nothing higher than himself.

The Cook Is Known by her Kitchen

A clean kitchen is the sign of a good cook. And a kitchen that keeps clean without constant drudgery is the sign of an up-to-date cook—one who uses the New Perfection Oil Cook Stove.

No coal-hod or ash-pan drudgery. You never have to sweep up after cooking on the New Perfection. Cooks fast or slow as you like, without soot or ashes. It's the Long Blue Chimney that does it. Visible flame that stays "put."

URGENT NEED OF FLOWERS AND FRESH VEGETABLES.
 To the Editor of the Breeze:

A very pressing call comes from some of the Settlement workers, for more fresh flowers, fruit and vegetables to be taken to their city neighbors and especially to the sick. The hot days of last week made the city streets almost unendurable, and at such times there is especial yearning for fresh growing things. The poor people, the sick and those in trouble have always greatly appreciated the gifts of flowers and green things brought to them by the Settlement workers, and it is painful to go to them with empty hands.

Is it not possible that in our zeal to save all our vegetables, we have forgotten to continue our customary ministry to the city sick by sending to them some of our garden products? The flowers, at any rate, do not need to be canned. We can best preserve their beauty by sharing it.

Please send any available flowers, fruits or vegetables for distribution to Denison House, 93 Tyler st., Boston.

Yours very truly,
 JESSIE S. R. GOLDTHWAIT.

Never mind where you work. Let your care be for the work itself.—

NAILING DOWN THE TRUTH.

Kaiser Wilhelm's letter of August 10, 1914, to President Wilson, made public by Ambassador Gerard, helps make history. In the dispassionate record of posterity, it leaves the black stain upon German militarism indelible.

"Knowledge having been received that France was ready preparing to enter Belgium," the imperial pencil set down; then crossed out "knowledge" and wrote "news." There was no such news. Neither was there such knowledge. The kaiser knew it. His staff had so ordained. In the north, France fought, as she had to fight, as Germany meant and planned that she should fight upon the defensive.

Yet upon this lying pretext the emperor wrote to the president that the neutrality of Belgium "had to be violated by Germany on strategic grounds." In this sentence he affirms the statement of his chancellor six days earlier, upon the momentous assembling of the Reichstag to vote its first war credit. For on August 4 Von Bethmann-Hollweg had said:—

Necessity knows no law. Our troops have occupied Luxemburg and perhaps are already on Belgian soil. (He knew they were.) Gentlemen, that is contrary to the dictates of international law. * * A French movement upon our flank upon the lower Rhine might have been disastrous. So we were compelled to over-ride the just protest of the Luxemburg and Belgian governments. The wrong—I speak openly—that we are committing we will endeavor to make good as soon as our military goal has been reached. Anybody who is threatened as we are threatened, and is fighting for his highest possessions can have only one thought—how he is to hack his way through. (wie er sich durchhaut).—New York World.

1867    This Year We Celebrate    1917

Our 50th Anniversary

From a modest beginning, back in 1867, our house has steadily grown to its present large size. The name "Daniel Low," which half a century ago quickly became a household term with the good people of Salem town, is now equally familiar in many thousands of homes throughout this country and in foreign lands, reaching even to the far corners of the civilized world.

Small wonder, then, that we of today are proud of this achievement. It is this feeling that prompts us to cordially invite our many friends everywhere to share our enthusiasm and to extend us their valued co-operation in our earnest efforts to make this anniversary year a most memorable one.

Within the past twelve months we have made extensive changes of a constructive nature. Most important of these was the erection of another large building to take care of our steadily increasing mail business. And it is gratifying to us that we find ourselves so much better equipped to serve you. Coming as they do at the start of our 50th Anniversary year, these changes give impetus to loftier ideals in actual merchandising.

For years past our Catalog has been noted for the high quality, the unusual variety and the moderate prices of the wares shown therein. To raise this trinity of already high standards is one of the responsibilities we shall shoulder this year, and it will be our constant endeavor to live up to these ideals the more efficiently each succeeding year.

We believe the success of our business has been due largely to the many novelties we have introduced, and we shall hope to maintain our leadership in this respect, endeavoring that such articles shall have practical use combined with originality.

The greater volume of our business means the carrying of a much larger stock, and better service to our customers, also earlier anticipation of conditions each year, with the dominant purpose of obtaining even better merchandise in even greater variety to be sold at even more moderate prices.

And so it is with pleasurable anticipation that we look forward to the greatest year in our history. To make it so lies, to a great extent, with our many friends all over the world. Our present measure of success is largely due to the liberal support of these friends, for which past favors we extend to them our warmest appreciation and our most sincere thanks.

To everybody coming to New England this year we extend an invitation to visit Salem with its wealth of places of historical interest, and to visit our establishment. It is always a pleasure to welcome those with whom we have enjoyed such pleasant business relations in the past, and we are at all times glad to make new friends.

Sincerely yours,

A large verandah facing the water, which is at the disposal of knitting clubs and committees. Arrangements may be made for serving tea and other refreshments.

Ladies' room, writing conveniences, local and long distance telephone.

A staff of assistants always pleased to extend any possible courtesies and hospitalities.

We believe that quality and worth are economy; that good enough never can usurp the best; that the customer is generally right; that loyalty to the loftiest standards of our calling is as imperative as deference to the client's wish; and that when we have ceased to be apprentices to progress we have failed at our biggest task.

We strive to please our patrons with the same service and quality that experience has proved to be pleasing to ourselves.

Many noble-hearted women today are carrying bags like this. They are of beautiful cretonne or bright-hued silk and they lend a picturesque, quaint note to one's costume;—somewhat suggestive of other times when American women were rallying staunchly to the support of a war-tried nation, just as they are today.

Perhaps you already have a bag of this sort. Its uses are many. You may carry in it the knitting you are doing for the Red Cross work, and besides it will easily hold the little parcels that you buy at the stores and do not mind carrying with you, as well as the little accessories it is always convenient to carry.

Every woman, young or younger, should produce some article for the comfort of our soldier boys, with her own fingers and some knitting needles.

It is more than kindness, it is more than an expression of esteem. It is real patriotism. Many of our boys are not yet accustomed to the rigorous life of the army camp.

A Sweater or some other knitted garment will given them comfort and protection against colds and their results.

The Children of the North Shore at Work and at Play

Many Doing Their Bit in War Relief Work as Well as Enjoying Out-of-Door Games and Sports

EVERYWHERE we see the children these bright summer days. On the beaches at play or battling with the surf, horseback riding, driving in their pony carts, playing golf, swimming at the North Shore Swimming Pool, working in the Red Cross and French Wounded workrooms, at their parties at the Oceanside, and in their home work the children are playing a part of the North Shore life that is not to be depreciated.

In the Manchester Red Cross workroom, at the Fire Engine house, among the children who work are Gabriella and Vernon Ladd; the little Rhodes children, Helen and Priscilla, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick F. Rhodes of the Oceanside hotel; Lois Arnold and Nancy Hayward. This workroom has an interesting set of young workers including the Misses Eleanor Higginson, Rosamond Merrill, Katherine Coolidge, Rose Fessenden, Ruth Grew, Isabel Boardman, and Betty Beal before she went to England. These girls and the children often roll 70 to 80 bandages in a morning.

The Manchester children have been doing a little Red Cross work at the playgrounds this summer. The girls have hemmed handkerchiefs, knitted mops and hospital gloves, made simple comfort bags, and in rolling bandages and the making of fracture pillows they have been ably helped by the boys. This has been done under their teacher, Miss Hall, to whom Mrs. J. Warren Merrill has just written a letter of appreciation from the Red Cross society. Mrs. Merrill makes much favorable comment upon the neatness and care with which the work is done. This will be shown in the exhibit at the close of the playground season.

At Mrs. Edward S. Grew's coach-house in West Manchester about 80 or 90 women have been meeting all summer to do work for the French Wounded. But they do not deserve all of the credit for the enormous amount of work turned out. Little fingers have helped considerably. Flies are one of the torments in France and the children have made many of the covers for tumblers. They have also made compresses, and have helped in many ways. Jimmy Grew, the ten-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry S. Grew, has gone to the coach-house regularly at the closing hour and helped Mrs. George H. Lyman, the chairman, in much of the packing and counting. Six bags of work made a complication of figures, and Jimmy has helped keep the place in the counting when interruptions came to Mrs. Lyman, and her assistants.

Many of the children brought pennies for the work. Little Jane Tucker, the nine-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Randolph F. Tucker, was given a dollar by her grandmother, Mrs. E. M. House, and immediately turned it over to the fund.

Eleven-year-old Esther Cunningham, daughter of the Stanley Cunninghams of Milton, has been faithful in her attendance each Monday (children's day) and has turned out very conscientious work.

The little Rantoul sisters, Mabel and Harriet, aged eleven and ten, have been regular attendants from Beverly Farms, each Monday, coming with their aunts the Misses Rantoul. One of these little sisters usually attended to the registry of the workers, passing the book around the tables for signatures and greeting late arrivals with the request for their names.

Other little workers are Eleanor and Jane Noble from the John N. Noble family at Pride's Crossing; Gabriella Ladd, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Maynard Ladd; and the Edmund Kent Arnold children, including Miss Lois, Marie and Rosamond.

Little Virginia Willys, the six-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John N. Willys of "The Rocks," West Manchester, has only recently arrived on the Shore, although she spent a summer here when much younger. Like many little girls of the Shore she is taking a strong interest in the work of the day, much of the spirit of which she has absorbed from her father and mother, who are continually working in the way of war relief. Virginia joined the Red Cross when she was out in California this spring at their winter home, and nothing delights her more now than to wear the simple little nursing gowns and caps of a nurse. Dressed in this garb she makes hospitals out of toy furniture and fills the beds with her dollies, which she treats with all the skill of a Red Cross nurse as far as Virginia can imagine. The "sick" dollies ought to respond quickly from their "wounds" when they fall into such loving and patient care as this little nurse administers.

Turning to Their Sports and Games—

From the more serious side of the summer let us turn to their sports and games. Ball games and other out-door exercises are featured in most of the organized play upon the Shore.

The Essex County club has some junior members who show promise of becoming expert golf players if patience and perseverance count for anything in the lessons which they are now taking under the able instructor at the club. Among the players is William Campbell, the ten-year-old son of Dr. and Mrs. Edwin R. Campbell of Manchester. William plays golf with much skill, but we imagine he enjoys his boat-building better.

Miss Hélène Ellsworth, the twelve-year-old daughter of the John Chess Ellsworths of Manchester Cove, is a thorough devotee of the sport. About every other day she is deep in the mysteries of the game, and divides the rest of the time between swimming and horseback riding. Her brother, Frederick, a ten-year-old, is another lover of the club grounds, and little Phyllis, who is only seven, tries hard to make strokes like Hélène and Frederick.

The Snowden boys, George and James or "Jim," are the twelve and ten-year-old sons of Mr. and Mrs. George Grant Snowden of Manchester Cove. They are strong, manly looking boys who are fast becoming experts at the sport.

Richard Carlisle, son of Col. and Mrs. Charles Arthur Carlisle of West Manchester enjoys the game so well that he was out on the links when the photographer arrived and missed getting in our group. His little sister, Eleanor, a seven-year-old, left her play in time for a picture, but looked out wistfully over the links wishing for "Dick."

Horseback riding is always enjoyed by the little folk. The five-year-old twins of the Wm. Baldwin Millers of Beverly Cove are often seen on their little black Shetland ponies (sisters) on the lanes around the Cove. Little Betty rides Miss Puzzle and Sally rides Cinderello, but not many can tell either the twins or the ponies apart.

Other riders are Betty Bartlett, Ann Gavit. Hélène Ellsworth, the grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. H. Moore, Gray Foster, Frances L. Higginson, 3d, Joan Higginson, Helen Farnum, Hilda Hibben and many of the Oceanside young folk, including the Misses Joan Cleaver and Suzanne Anderson. The three children of the Richard S. Russells, Gertrude, William and Richard S., Jr., are an interesting little group around the Pride's Crossing roads. Little Frances Weld is another rider. Pony carts play an important part in the children's outing. Little T. Dennie Boardman, 2d, is often seen in his on the Manchester roads.

On the Beverly Farms beach is a little tent back of the Sydney E. Hutchinson place. In this the children, Frances, Natalie and Edward gather their little playmates for good times during the bathing hours. The little folk of the J. Conyngham Stevens (cousins) and Vaughan Morgan, Jr., are enjoying the tent this summer. Other children who belong to the Beverly Farms group are Albert and Abby Beveridge, Francis Blake, Elvira Boardman, Sally Cabot, Gerald Bramwell, Jr., Richard Curtis, the Julius Eiseman and Frederick I. Emery children; Marshal Fabyan, Jr., and his two sisters; the children at the home of Sen. and Mrs. Lippitt; Helen and Henry Mason, Jr.; Alice Means, Lee McKean, Fanny, Pauline and William Henry, 2d, children of the Paul Moores, Marie Louise Reggio, the Q. A. Shaw, 2d, children, Nathaniel S. Simpkins, 3d, and the Barrett Wendell, Jr., children, of whom Barbara is the oldest, Sarah Lancashire White and others.

At Pride's Crossing are Clarence and Lloyd Moore (sons of Mrs. Aksel Wichfeld); Katrina and Wm. S. Spaulding, Jr.; the Ellery Sedgwick group; the John Noble family of four; the Robert Treat Paine young folk, Dorothy and Robert, Jr.; the P. T. Jackson, Jr., family, including Anna Loring, P. T. 3d, and Jonathan; Mary Flagg, the Charles C. Auchincloss and Harold J. Coolidge children, and Franklin Dexter, Jr.

The children of the Geo. H. Swifts, Henry B. Sawyers, John L. Saltonstalls and John Barry Ryans make up some of the little groups around the Beverly Cove section.

Among some of the children in Manchester not previously mentioned are the Wigglesworth grandchildren, Ruth Bremer, the Robert E. Brewer children, William and Shirley Burden, Barbara, Helen and Conover Fitch, Jr., Tommy Gannett and his baby brother, John Draper Gannett, Edith and Ruth Kosland, the Robert Livermore children, the Lovering children, J. M. Mitchell children, the James J. Phelan family, the six or more in the family of Rev. and Mrs. William H. Dewart, Leila Mary Stevens; Anna and Barbara Stevens and the Philip Stockton children, May and Charles. The Robert B. Stone, D. A. Sullivan, Eliot Sumner and Thomas Taylor families all have their share of little folk.

So we might go on almost unending and reckon up the children of the North Shore. They are here in goodly numbers and having the time of their lives these long summer days.

Marblehead and Swampscott, and the Cape Ann resorts have their full quota of children, all doubtless as active in their respective pursuits as those mentioned above, but is not the scope of the writer's activities to include these places.

Magnolia, the Beautiful, Lures Visitors From Far and Near

By KATHERINE C. GANLEY

MMAGNOLIA the beautiful, has ever been a colony of many attractions which season after season lure back the visitor to its fold who has once enjoyed its loveliness. With the combining so delightfully of seashore and country, rugged shore so picturesque with an occasional bathing beach for the visitor, Magnolia has become the summer home of families, families of boys and girls, whose parents bring them to the colony where this combination is so charmingly found. All social activities centering about the Oceanside hotel and its cottage circle, have made Magnolia popular for many, many years. At the Oceanside hotel every summer there are many children, children of parents, who before them, were summer guests at the hotel in their childhood days. Childhood earnestness is so appealing to elders, and little boy and girl pleasures are so interesting to the grown-ups. The Oceanside hotel without its coterie of children would be as a flower without perfume, for really, consideration and attention to their pleasures and happiness make up a greater and better part of one's existence. Golden-haired little girls with blue eyes have a way of their own in winning one's heart, and who would not drop his book or evening paper to hear little Brother Billy—and pay rapt attention too—tell of glorious luck on today's fishing trip, or perhaps his wonderful accomplishments at the North Shore Swimming Pool where he goes every day, and has learned to swim and dive.

Of the many children spending the summer at the Oceanside, to say which is the most popular would be impossible. Each and everyone of them are beloved of the hotel clientele, who are always eager and glad when a word or two can be had with them, as they come upon the verandas of the hotel with their nurses, or perhaps stroll through the lobby. Most of the children spend their mornings at the North Shore Swimming Pool where they frolic in the water under the supervision of an instructor, at their will. The constant swimming has accomplished wonders with these youngsters whose faces, arms and legs soon take on a becoming tan, and they grow stronger and better for the exercise. Knitting is a popular pastime with the little girls, and to see one without her knitting bag is indeed a rarity. Many of the little girls have made articles of clothing for the American Red Cross and the Navy League, and to see a little girl busily occupied with her knitting as she walks through the avenues is not an uncommon sight. Some of the boys are splendid swimmers, performing many feats in the Pool where they spend their mornings. The Raleigh boys, John and James, the sons of Mrs. E. W. Bentley of St. Louis are numbered among the best young swimmers at the Pool. Bruce King, the son of A. S. King of Toronto is a splendid tennis player. Bruce has traveled in many parts of the world and is, with his other accomplishments, a linguist. Marion Miller the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Miller of Buffalo is one of the girls who swim exceedingly well, as is also Phyllis Hull, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Hull of New York. Phyllis is also a graceful dancer. Two of the brightest youngsters in the hotel, who always have a quick and unexpected answer to any question put them, are the Buisse children, Octavia and Ewing, the children of Mrs. G. P. Oliver of New York and St. Louis. A very lovable boy is John Wheeler, the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Wheeler of Washington. Bubbling over with fun, John likes most of all to have a good time. Mrs. J. M. Hood of Baltimore has two pretty little girls, Ethel and Mary Carolyn, who are very popular with the other children, as well as with the guests. Duncan L. Edwards, Jr., the young son of Mrs. J. G. Graham of Camden, S. C., and grandchild of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Miller of Cincinnati, is a bright little boy with a lovable Southern manner due to his having been raised in South Carolina. One of the best knitters among the children is Margaret Brainard, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Brainard of Pittsburgh. Margaret dances well, also, and is often among the swimmers at the Pool. Marion Alexander is a newcomer to the Oceanside this season, and is the daughter of Mrs. W. T. Alexander of Elizabeth, N. J. Laurence Johnson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Johnson of Cincinnati, and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Pollak of Cincinnati, who devotes himself to swimming and says that he likes to ride best of all.

A SMALL FUND raised to help incite a desire to plant trees, flowers and vines in the school yards of rural districts, cities, and in the outlying portions of cities, is earnestly desired by a summer resident on the Shore. This lady, in motoring to her home at Pride's Crossing, has often noticed how desolate some school yards are, not a tree or vine on the place. Recently she noticed a yard devoid even of grass, and a group of children were playing in the hot sandy soil, while others were trying to cool off in the shade afforded by a fence. This lady says that five dollars would do wonders for such a yard, and offers to coöperate with others in doing something to establish a fund whereby prizes may be offered for the best kept yards. She realizes that it would mean a great deal to the children, not only in their physical comfort, but in the civic spirit aroused. The BREEZE will gladly get any interested reader in touch with the one who wishes to organize this work.

Children's Island Sanitarium a Most Deserving Charity

Visit to This Island Good for Nerves—
Makes One Waken to His Own Blessings

By LILLIAN McCANN

Swimming is Freely Indulged In

IN the long ago a summer hotel was built on an island in Salem harbor. Many Lowell people came to the island and it is said that Lowell factory girls had shares in this venture. However, it did not prosper, and the hotel was closed and the island became a lonely spot again. Finally a man of large heart and philanthropic inclination purchased the island and made it a permanent sanitarium for crippled and sickly children of the crowded districts of Boston. If this work is ever given up the island reverts to the estate of the donor, Frederick Rindge.

The first superintendent was Sister Paula (Episcopal sisterhood) and the first board was composed of J. O. Shaw, treasurer; Dr. H. C. Haven, secretary; Philip L. Saltonstall, president. Dr. Joel E. Goldthwaite has always shown the greatest of interest in the island. It was incorporated as the Children's Island Sanitarium, May 29, 1888.

The superintendent for the past sixteen years has been Miss Lucy W. Davis, who resigned this season. The vacancy was peculiarly difficult to fill, but the directors consider themselves fortunate in securing Miss Ruth Railey of Dennison House, Boston, to take up the duties. Miss Railey was district nurse and is a graduate of the Mass. General hospital and a specialist on children's dietetics. She has worked out standardized meals this year in keeping with the times.

At Play on the Beach

Nearly all of the children stay through the summer, although when some become quite well and strong they are sent home in order to make room for more needy ones. They are chiefly suffering with tubercular joints and kindred diseases and are sent out by the social service departments of Boston hospitals, ages running from three to fourteen usually.

All this is preliminary! What do you see over on this pretty island lying so peacefully near the Marblehead shores? At Tucker's wharf the island boats meets its passengers. William Klink is the boatman who has been making these trips for the past 28 years. He informs us that now he makes it in ten minutes, often, while in early times it frequently took him two hours with a sail boat. He is now the possessor of a new boat called, "Children's Island, Salem." This was purchased with the $2000 raised at the bridge tournament and sale held last September at the home of Mrs. Robert S. Bradley, Pride's Crossing. Saturday afternoons at 2.30 the boat makes a special trip for those who wish to visit the island. Anyone passing in his own boat is always welcome to stop and visit the sanitarium.

Upon landing the various buildings of the place are noted, among them the main building, long and low, and several detached small buildings. An isolation ward is, among the latter, this was the gift of Mr. and Mrs. Philip

A Group Enjoying Basket-Making

Two Happy Little Friends

L. Saltonstall. The Farwell room, a part of the main building is among recent additions, and was the gift of Reginald C. Foster of Marblehead Neck in memory of his fiancée, Miss Marian Farwell, whose death occurred in 1915. This room of 24 beds is for "frame" children, crippled ones, and others, a little older than the "baby" group.

The "baby room" is an interesting place to visit. With its two large rooms, one containing a piano, its play-room and educational facilities where the Montessori methods are being used, its comfortable sleeping benches for the afternoon nap,—everything is seen in fact, to make a baby happy and strong. On Monday when a visit was made to the island twelve babies (three of four years old) were lying on the benches sleeping. They play hard all the morning, are taken to the water for their dip, then eat dinner, and by that time are so sleepy they can hardly wait to get to the benches. Here they sleep until four or later, have a little romp, then their "nighties" are put on in which they eat their suppers and then they are tucked away in little beds for the night.

All of the children have a rest after dinner. As little clothing as possible is worn by them, the fresh air and sunbath treatment being a part of the routine. Bathing each day, unless the rain pours, is the rule. Attendants and children make a happy hour of this feature. Little crippled folk go uncomplainingly down to the rocky shore. If, for any reason, they cannot go into the water, pails of salty water are brought in and thrown over their bodies. The children are often very timid at first, but soon learn to enjoy it.

For older children there is handicraft work where we saw some working upon rag rugs, baskets, lettuce bags, doll hats of raffia, etc. The older girls also keep house for themselves in "Clover Breeze" cottage, a part of the main section. Here are 16 nicely made beds, dining-room and model kitchen, where they prepare most of their meals. Half of the girls play hostesses one week and do the work, while the others are the guests.

The boys are having fine times under Mr. Lamb, who takes them fishing on the wharf, teaches them about birds and marine life, gives them lessons in boat building and other wood work, and, in fact, keeps them busy and happy. On Monday the oldest boys were building a house on one side of the island.

Four times a week the children meet for singing in their Glee club work. On Sundays they have Sunday school at 9.30 and vespers at 3.30. The vested choir sits in a little green-curtained alcove in the big room (other days the handicraft room) where the services are held.

A visit to this island is good for the "blues." The little folk with all of their deformities and sufferings are taking life in such a happy, trustful spirit, that it makes one waken to his own blessings, and admire with pardonable solicitude his own perfect arms, legs and joints. And once the emotion is aroused you can't help it, you want to do something yourself to help all such little folk in the world. And here is this beautiful harbor where the unfortunates are so happy while regaining a bit of health is one of the most deserving charities of the North Shore.

The working force of fifteen people is assisted by the volunteer workers, girls who spend three or four weeks upon the island working with the children in various ways.

"Naval Battles" in Miniature and in Play

Yacht Races, Too, Offer Thrilling
Diversion for North Shore Children

By LILLIAN McCANN

NAVAL BATTLES! Yacht races, weekly, for boys and girls! Thrilling announcements are these, and dear to the hearts of many a little North Shore sailor is Sjordlund's Model Dock Yard in Manchester where he learns to build boats of surprising utility that sail the waters of Gravelly Pond in heated races for real cups, or enter into stormy battles on its placid waters.

A visit was made to the unique little dock yard this week. It is located close to the center of Manchester and you will know it by the fierce looking gun and cannon balls and a war game spread out by its doorway. That gun means something to the workers inside, as you will find out if you finish this story. "Old Ship models for marine dens," is one of the interesting signs by the door.

On entering the clean and cosy place with its open fireplace and benches for work, and the unfinished products standing around, the beautiful models and pictures displayed around the walls,—all this is enough to make any boy or girl want to get to work.

William Campbell, son of Dr. and Mrs. Edwin R. Campbell, of Manchester, was seen busily working on his submarine chaser. William is one of the most persevering workman and has turned out sail boats, motor launch, a torpedo boat destroyer, a battleship named "Texas," and last year his yacht, "Edwina," won the cup in the races. His boat was named for his sister, Edwina, who also was a worker last summer.

Edward C. Cabot, son of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Cabot of Smith's Point, Manchester, is making a submarine chaser and torpedo boat. This is his first season in the dock yard.

Henry B. Sawyer, Jr., of the Beverly Cove colony is one of the workmen who owns a sail boat and torpedo boat and now is building a dreadnought of considerable dimensions.

John Noble, Jr., of Pride's Crossing is a new workman this year and is in the midst of his torpedo boat building.

Robert Livermore, the eight-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Livermore of Old Neck, Manchester, is ambitiously planning to construct 100 lead soldiers. All of the children make enough lead men to command their boats, but Robert is going to have a small army of men. These toy lead soldiers are painted in appropriate colors. He has also made a battleship.

Gordon Abbott, who comes from "Glass Head" in West Manchester, is interested in the electrical department, which takes up the wiring of motor boats, the making of batteries, connecting bells, annunciators and motors, and running of wires for all kinds of electric machinery. This is fascinating work, is done with small voltage and is entirely safe.

Little Edward Hutchinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sydney E. Hutchinson of Beverly Farms, is a six-year-old who is an ambitious worker. This is his first summer in the dock yard and he is now building a battleship. "Ned," as he is generally called, can hardly wait till the time comes each week for his lessons, and at home he is building and painting in his own dock yard, where, at times, as much of the paint gets on him as on his boats. His sister, Natalie, who is eight years old, is delighted with her first summer in the dock yard and is working on a submarine. Her ideas run along the same line as her brother's, evidently. The announcement says: "For girls there will be fancy jig-saw work, such as making small jewelry boxes and corner shelves, and anything else especially desired." This seemingly did not appeal to Natalie.

Connected with the establishment is a model yacht club, conducted the same as any yacht club. All of the children belong and have their club colors (red and white), card membership, etc. A commodore, vice-commodore and fleet captain are the officers. A bulletin board with neat announcements keeps the young yachtsmen and yachswomen informed of their general affairs.

Another feature of the yard is the Saturday excursion to Gravelly Pond. Many times the parents drive over to the pond to watch the water sports. The boys take their completed boats and often a whole truck load of boats with the gun and cannon balls conspicuously placed is seen leaving the dock yard for an outing at the pond. This gun, which always guards the doorway, is of a most efficient nature; after all of the wooden balls have been fired at the assembled fleet out on the pond, boys get in row boats and go after them, bringing them back to the little gun to fire again.

In looking about the dock yard in its three comfortable rooms with every modern and sanitary convenience, the interesting collection of antique models, ship pictures, marine den decorations, old prints and among other things three models of Gloucester fishermen—are all very attractive to the visitor.

Sjorlund's Model Dock Yard was started in 1916 in a small way with the idea of creating an interesting and educational pastime for boys (and girls) during the summer. In France and England there are dock yards, but they specialize mostly in selling boats and models direct. It was with the idea in mind, that all boys are interested in their own productions, that this dock yard was started and consequently developed along these lines.

CHILDREN'S ISLAND SANITARIUM, one of the few local charities, will come in for a share of the North Shore's gracious patronage next month, when a cake and candy sale will be held in its aid, on Saturday, Sept. 1, at the house of Mrs. Francis B. Crowninshield, Peach's Point, Marblehead. Mrs. Roger W. Cutler of Pride's Crossing, is at the head of the committee of twelve working for the Sanitarium, the other members being Mrs. F. B. Crowninshield, Mrs. Henry B. Sawyer, Mrs. Harry C. Low, Miss Rosamond Bradley, Miss Edith Fitz, Mrs. W. E. Russell, Mrs. Alexander G. Grant, Mrs. George S. West, Miss F. M. Faulkner, Miss Edith Fabens and Miss Lucy W. Davis. The president of the Sanitarium is George S. West of Chestnut Hill; Alexander G. Grant is the secretary and Augustus Hemenway, Jr., is the treasurer.

To anyone who would most sanely interpret life for a little child, I would say: be not yourself overmuch concerned with your dessert of wholesome, uninspiring prunes; but hang a prism in the window of your soul, then look into the rainbow which it makes and tell what you see. Though beautiful it will be true,—The Atlantic Monthly.

Rev. Neilson Poe Carey, the rector, will officiate. Miss Olivia Ames, a sister of the bride, will be the only attendant, and Francis Brooks of Boston will be the best man. Mr. Parker, who has been at Plattsburg, has been commissioned as a second lieutenant. The ushers will be John S. Parker, Dr. Frederic Parker, Henry McB. Parker, C. P. Curtis, Jr., Edward Bangs, Oliver Ames, Jr., Richard Ames and W. Tudor Gardiner. All of Boston and the North Shore. The various Parker families have long been of the Nahant summer colony. Mr. Parker's mother, who was Harriet Amory Anderson, lives at "Spouting Horn," Nahant. He is a Harvard graduate of the class of '15. The decorations in the church today will be in white flowers. The ceremony will be followed by a small breakfast and reception at the beautiful home of the bride's parents on Hale street, Pride's Crossing.

A wedding of much interest took place in New York last Friday, Aug. 10, at 4 o'clock, when, in the presence of only the immediate family, Miss Vivian Wessell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Wessell of New York, became the bride of Alexander Lynde Cochrane, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Cochrane of Boston and Pride's Crossing. They left on a motor trip and will probably be in Pride's Crossing before long. The ceremony took place in the West End Collegiate Dutch Reformed church, and the officiating clergyman was Rev. Henry Evertson Cobb, D.D.

Mr. and Mrs. Sydney E. Hutchinson returned to their home at Beverly Farms Tuesday from over a week's motor trip to various points in Maine, going as far as Islesboro. Mrs. Hutchinson's sister, Mrs. J. Kearsley Mitchell (Frances B. Stotesbury), and family, summer at Dark Harbor.

John Hays Hammond, Jr., left last Saturday for a week's conference in Washington in regard to the hydroplane which the government has him experimenting with at his home at Fresh Water Cove, Gloucester. Last Friday in one of the trials at the Cove it rose 5600 feet. A detail of soldiers from the coast artillery, 26 men under an officer, is at the station helping Mr. Hammond in his experiments.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh C. Wallace of "Windcliffe," Manchester, are anticipating a visit from Miss Ruth Patterson of Washington, the fiancée of their son, Lieut. Melville W. F. Wallace, U. S. N., whose wedding will take place late in the autumn. Miss Patterson is the daughter of the late Raymond A. Patterson, a brilliant writer, and her mother also writes.

JOHN HAYS HAMMOND of Gloucester left Monday for New York to attend a meeting of the Militia of Mercy of which she is president, and also a meeting of the American Women's Hospitals of which she is chairman of the woman's auxiliary, and now has been made chairman of the national auxiliary board. After the conference in New York she will go on to Washington to complete the furnishings of their new home to which they will move about Oct. 1.

North Shore friends are interested in the honors that have come to James Amory Sullivan, brother of Mrs. Alexander Cochrane of Pride's Crossing. He is an artist of note, who was in Asolo, Italy, until two years ago. Upon his return he took up work at Plattsburg, and has now received a major's commission, being one of the Boston men so honored, and also one of the few artists to achieve military distinction in the country.

House guests at "Highfields," the summer home of Miss Eleanor H. Jones on Norman avenue, Magnolia, have been Mr. and Mrs. Albert M. Lythgal of New York, who have a country home at Woodstock, Ct. The Lythgals enjoyed Magnolia for a week's stay.

AT the "Rehn Studio," Magnolia: "Any fool can make a poem, but only God can make a tree," does not always hold true apparently," remarked a recent visitor pausing before the exquisite rendition of a great king of a tree by Emil Carlsen; and while this may seem high praise it has found echo from more than one enthusiast confronting the gray-green harmony of this landscape with its vistas of grass-grown field and cloud-filled sky—a great favorite this week at the studio-gallery. In fact, as last week the marines held first place in popular interest, so this week landscapes have supplanted them. One which has found particular favor, being a most unusual arrangement of thin willow sapling by Childe Hassam; in which he seems to have caught the very movement of the summer breeze itself as it weaves in and out through their silver leafage and flecks the foreground with sunlight. A fascinating note in this composition is the little nude figure pausing by the brookside. The coming autumn finds itself awaited in Bruce Crane's "Autumn Days," a dark mountain gem by Ralph Albert Blakelock, with its rushing mountain stream and crouching Indian; a greenery-russet bit from Long Island by W. Granville Smith; and F. K. M. Rehn's glowing "Sunset at Magnolia."

Along with all this color, the etchings by Childe Hassam, Ernest Haskell and Serome Meyers have not failed to hold their own in interest, as have also the serio-comic lithographs by George Bellows, especially his striking "Prize-Ring" series, and his "Sawdust Trail"—vital transcripts of metropolitan life today.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur M. Jones of Summer street, Magnolia, have had for their house guests for several days of the past week, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kimball of Waterbury, Ct.

THE NORTH SHORE SWIMMING POOL, of a Saturday morning, always appears the most popular for the children, who frolic in the waters to the delight of themselves and the genuine amusement of their galleries. To say that there is a "best" swimmer among them would be folly, for it appears that the laurels would have to be divided among several of the boy and girl frequenters of these inviting waters. John Raleigh of St. Louis, the oldest son of Mrs. E. H. Bentley, who are spending the summer at the Oceanside, is a splendid swimmer and his high-dives are thrillers. John is perfecting himself in the crawl stroke and is very swift. James Raleigh, John's brother, is perfectly at home in the water, and pays strict attention to the lessons given him each day by the instructor, Mr. Wallace. The Ellsworth children, Helene, Frederick and Phyllis, the daughters and son of Mr. and Mrs. John Chess Ellsworth of "Wayside," Manchester Cove, are found of the water, too, and were noted among the children at the Pool last Saturday. Other children were George and Jim Snowden and Gray and Almira Foster.

"Young Cottage" on Lexington avenue, Magnolia, which is being occupied this season by Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Smith of Germantown, Pa., as has been their custom for years, is most attractive this season, surrounded by its beds of mid-summer flowers and vines. Mr. and Mrs. Smith have been entertaining Mrs. Emily Benerman of Philadelphia as their guest for the past week.

Miss Janet C. Van Vliet of Plainfield, N. J., is a house guest at "Crowncliff," the Eugene Gray Foster shore home at Coolidge's Point, Manchester. Miss Van Vliet was noted at the Saturday evening hop at the Oceanside hotel, beautifully frocked in silver cloth with touches of pink and silver embroidery.

QUITE the most brilliant affair of the season was the dance at the Essex County club last evening, in aid of the Beverly Hospital, and held under the direction of the Beverly Hospital Junior Aid association. Dances and dinners have been tabooed as a part of the North Shore this season, everybody devoting his time and efforts to the more serious side of life. This was the first function of any importance along this line all summer. The hospital will benefit hundreds of dollars as a result. The occasion was livened somewhat last evening by the appearance of many of the young men just home from Plattsburg and from the Harvard training camp.

THE ESSEX COUNTY CHAPTER of the Red Cross closed its series of North Shore concerts last Saturday. The last one was held at "Netherfield," the Pride's Crossing home of Mr. and Mrs. Washington B. Thomas. It was considered a wonderful success in every way by the hundred and fifty who attended, and marked the largest attended musicale this season. The artists were Hans Ebéll and Miss Mary Fay, with Mrs. Dudley Fitts as accompanist. Mr. Ebéll, who is a young Russian pianist and composer gave his services entirely for the Red Cross as have all of the artists in this series. His selections were thoroughly appreciated and enjoyed and by request he played one of his own compositions, a paraphrase on the Merry Widow Waltz. Miss Fay is an amateur and sang a group of songs in a very pleasing manner. In the audience were seen several of the masculine music lovers of the Shore and some of those noted in the audience were Mrs. W. Harry Brown, Mrs. John W. Blodgett, Mrs. Robert S. Bradley, the Misses Loring, Mrs. Wm. H. Moore, Mrs. Alexander Cochrane, Mrs. W. Scott Fitz, Mrs. Reginald H. Fitz, and among Nahant people were Mrs. Thomas Motley and Mrs. Thomas Motley, Jr. A party of Andover folk were over. The ticket sellers who were also present have been Mrs. Henry C. Clark, Miss Harriet Dexter, Mrs. F. L. Higginson, Jr., Mrs. Neal Rantoul and Miss Louisa P. Loring. Mrs. Samuel Mixer was among the Swampscott folk who attended.

Music hath its charms, but the effect is doubly entrancing when heard in such beautiful surroundings as at "Netherfield." The great music room which easily seated the guests is a marvel of richness in its antique and exquisite furnishings. The English style of architecture in which the whole house is built is here shown in the handsomely carved oaken walls, on which hang several large Flemish tapestries. Rare old chests, tables, vases, and other bronze and marble ornaments are in the room, much of the furnishings showing the Spanish as well as the English design. The piano stood in front of the fireplace, the central feature at the end of the room. Back of the large and uniquely carved andirons were pots of rhododendrons with their bluish blooms showing above the logs ready for lighting. The carved and ornamental ceiling is in cream, as is also the window hangings. From the windows is a most charming view out over the garden, fountain, and across to Mystery island, which seems to lie quite close to the mainland when viewed from the high point on which the house is located.

MRS. JOHN MARKLE's home in West Manchester was opened last Friday afternoon for a musicale under the management of Miss Charlotte Head Allen. Mrs. Markle was in New York and was unavoidably detained over the week-end. She sent word to Mrs. William A. Tucker of Manchester to see that everything was made pleasant for the musicale. An unusual recital was given by Miss Elizabeth Gutman of Baltimore, a vivacious and pretty young girl of French and Dutch descent. She is spending a short time in East Gloucester before going on to Bar Harbor. The chief and most interesting selections were Russian and Yiddish folk songs, which the singer has obtained from a Russian political refugee, and are in her possession only. She wore an attractive rose chiffon dress with lavender trimmings and a lavender hat. Her accompanist, Mrs. Dudley Fitts, was in white lace over blue, with a dark hat. About fifty were present. To the list of patronesses published last week the names of Mrs. James McMillan and Mrs. Robert de Wolfe Sampson are additional. Mrs. Markle's beautiful music room and library adjoining made an interesting setting for the musicale. The water view from the library and veranda is exceptionally fine, the three islands off Smith's Point making a prominent and picturesque part of it. One-third of the proceeds of the musicale will be given to the fund for the French Wounded.

The Manchester Red Cross branch has been able to furnish the Boxford camp with some supplies, such as sweaters and the like.

John Hays Hammond of Gloucester is now spending a few weeks at Poland Springs. Among the recent guests at the Hammond home have been Major General and Mrs. Leonard Wood, Gen. Squiers, Commodore Todd, Marquis Cusani, formerly Italian Ambassador and now the recently appointed ambassador to Japan and Capt. Thomas P. Magruder, chief of the division of Naval Militia. Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Fessenden of Boston were luncheon guests last Sunday.

Miss Elizabeth C. Wood, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Wood of Brookline and Manchester, is following the advise of President Wilson in regard to farming, most assiduously. She has increased the acreage of her small country home at Canaan, N. H., so that now she owns over 400 acres, a generous portion of which is under cultivation. Miss Wood is so interested in farming and her pure-bred live stock, and is so thoroughly enjoying the free, open-air life at "Fernwood Farms," which she calls her place at Canaan, that she is willing to forsake the beauties of the North Shore, where her family spent the summers for years.

His personal experiences will be related. He has actually helped with his own hands in the work as well as directed much work, and has seen a thousand persons die in one day of typhus. "NETHERFIELD," the Pride's Crossing home of Mr. and Mrs. Washington B. Thomas, has one of the most attractively laid out little formal gardens on the Shore. It lies at the foot of the high land on which the house is situated and when viewed from that point is like a picture spread out below. An arbor vitae hedge surrounds the garden, which is centered with a sun-dial, around which the beds with their low box borders are arranged like a mosaic pattern. They are especially noticed in this geometrical order when viewed from the terrace above. Little juniper trees are set at regular intervals throughout and the planting seems to be mostly the old-time garden favorites, among which are heliotrope, viola, pansies, mignonette, lilies, etc. The heliotrope bed around the sun-dial is one of the pretty spots. Seats at the four corners are comfortably arranged and add to the picturesque formality of the place.

Just back of the garden towards the sea is a very large and showy fountain and lily pond. This is filled with blooming lilies, and the whole fountain against its background of shrubbery (planted close in a semi-circle back of the pool) presents a most attractive feature near the garden. One of the most impressive things about this little formal garden, as of nearly all extremely formal gardens, is that to pluck a flower would seem utterly sacrilegious,—each one fits into just its proper place and assures the onlooker that this is no cutting garden.

Miss Louisa P. Loring and Mrs. Ropes of the Salem committee, with the approval of the Boxford committee, were the prime movers in opening a "hostess" house at the Boxford camp, which is so remote from hotels. It is the first "hostess" house established by the Red Cross.

Mr. and Mrs. Eliot C. Bacon (Hope Norman) are receiving congratulations on the birth of a daughter at the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Norman, the grandparents, at Beverly Cove. Mrs. Bacon has been spending the summer at "Bee Rock" and has been among the workers in the Red Cross work carried on in Mrs. Bayard Warren's library.

Mrs. William T. Gardiner (Margaret Thomas) arrived at "Netherfield," Pride's Crossing, this week to spend the remainder of the season with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Washington B. Thomas.

The Winslow cottage on Hesperus avenue, Magnolia, has been taken for August and September by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph B. Thomas of New York, who spent part of July in Magnolia, enjoying a motor trip through the White Mountains before finally deciding on the North Shore for their summer home for the remainder of the season.

OF the several committees which act swiftly and well in the spirit of things at the North Shore Swimming Pool, probably none is more alluring than that of the bedecking of the clubhouse each day with glorious bloom. Early every morning a lady of the committee arrives at the Pool and with the artistic arranging of flowers converts the rest room into an indoor garden. On Saturday morning Mrs. Arthur M. Jones (nee Mary Lovejoy Wetherbee) had charge of the floral arrangements. Mrs. Jones converted the already lovely room, with its fineness of line and airiness of furnishing, into a place beautiful to behold. Huge vases of pink gladioli shading into American beauty tones, and dainty arrangement of pink and lavender sweet peas in bowls upon tables and mantel, were used most artistically. Upon Wednesday, the weekly bridge day, Mrs. George L. Hamilton had charge of the flower adornment. From her gardens were brought roses, white, pink, red and yellow and with such results that the fragrance and beauty were indescribable.

Guests at the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Costello C. Converse on Shore road, Magnolia, over the week-end were Mr. and Mrs. W. V. Kellen and Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Warner, the guests arriving from Cohasset where they have summer homes.

Betty Walker the young daughter of the J. Harrington Walkers of Detroit, whose shore estate is on Shore road, Magnolia, is a devotee of the saddle and daily enjoys her canter about the roads of Magnolia. Her mount "Domino" is a very beautiful animal and calls forth much admiration. Miss Gladys Wooster of Chicago, who is a house-guest at the Walker home, is also an ardent horse-woman and accompanies Miss Walker about her rides.

A guest for the past week at "Stonehurst," the Claude Kilpatrick summer home on Shore road, Magnolia, has been Mrs. J. M. Power of Boston, who was, before her marriage, Miss Marguerite Gummey,—very prominent in the social and athletic life at Magnolia several years ago. Mrs. Power was the guest of Mrs. Louis Hayes, nee Lois Kilpatrick, who is spending the summer with her parents.

Pretty Miss Katherine Sheriff, daughter of Mrs. M. M. Sheriff of Chicago, a summer resident of Magnolia, is one of the most attractive of the many girls who ride in Magnolia each day. Early each morning Miss Sheriff, accompanied by her friend, Miss Helen Farnum, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Farnum of Chicago and "Sun Dial Cottage," Magnolia, may be seen cantering across Crescent Beach much in advance of their riding master.

Judge and Mrs. William C. Loring are spending August at Bartlett Island, Me., their yearly custom.

Appeal Made For Relief of Suffering Armenians

Dr. Barton of American Committee Says 100
Cents of Every Dollar Given Goes For Relief

A COMMUNITY rally was held at the Beverly Farms Baptist church last Sunday afternoon in the interests of the American committee for Syrian and Armenian relief. There was a large attendance of summer as well as permanent residents of that section. Hon. Augustus Peabody Loring presided at the meeting, being introduced by Rev. Clarence Strong Pond, pastor of the church. Mr. Loring introduced Dr. James L. Barton, who represented the American committee, as a speaker of national reputation and an authority of affairs in the Near East.

Dr. Barton discussed the problem of financing the relief of millions of starving and homeless Armenians, Greeks and Syrians.

"There is no question as to the extent or the horror of the atrocities committed by the Turkish government upon its Armenian, Syrian and Greek subjects in 1915 and subsequently," he said. "I have seen hundreds of pages of reports from absolutely trustworthy eye witnesses, now on file in the State Department at Washington, giving details of atrocities that could not be believed except for the character of the witnesses themselves. No public report has been exaggerated, and much remains yet to be told. Lord Bryce has gathered together, under careful editorship, many of the official and thoroughly authenticated documents and published them in a volume entitled 'The Treatment of Armenians in the Ottoman Empire.' This volume has nearly 700 pages and can be secured from the American committee for Armenian and Syrian Relief, at 1 Madison avenue, New York. The dollar paid for the volume goes into the Relief Fund.

"The American committee is in close correspondence with the region where its distributors are at work in Asia Minor, Armenia, Mesopotamia, Syria, Bagdad, the Russian Caucasus, and Persia. The most moderate and conservative estimate of the number of destitute refugees, who have been cruelly driven from their homes and are now in dire distress, is placed at something more than 2,000,000. A large porportion of these—more than 100,000—are mere children, without known fathers. Many of these children are accompanied by mothers in the last stages of want. Even one dollar a month per capita for relief purposes would demand more than $2,000,000 a month. With the aid of the Red Cross, now coöperating with our committee, we are securing less than $500,000 a month to meet this terrible need. The least that can be demanded for the support of the children alone is three dollars each per month.

"The American committee for Armenian and Syrian Relief was organized nearly two years ago in the office of Cleveland H. Dodge, 90 John street, New York City. The membership was made up at the beginning almost wholly of those who have for various reasons deep, personal interest in Turkey. The committee as now constituted consists of some of the leading men of the country, including Cardinal Gibbons, Baltimore; Bishop Greer of New York, Hon. Charles E. Hughes and William Howard Taft. The committee is an active committee. Frequent meetings are held at which some times as many as twenty members of the committee are present. Men who have not been able to be present because of other engagements have sent letters of regret and have protested against their names being taken off of the committee. All the members of the committee have spoken for the work, written letters, and solicited, and can be relied upon for every assistance within their power.

"At the first meeting of the committee after its organization one of the members, Cleveland H. Dodge, said privately to the chairman and secretary that not one cent of the contributions received should be taxed for expenses. The treasurer then appointed, Charles R. Crane, provided for all the expenses of the treasurer's office from his own resources. From the organization of the committee until the present time every dollar received at the central office in New York has been devoted to the work in the field; and more than this, there have been added over $3,000 from interest paid by the bank upon funds held to meet drafts from the distributing centers. A special campaign was inaugurated, and is now going on, in New York City, the expense of which was entirely met by one of the members of the committee.

"The relation of the American committee for Armenian and Syrian Relief to the Red Cross was given full consideration after conference between the officers of the two organizations. The Red Cross, in order to show their confidence in the work this committee is doing and to give it their unqualified support have now appropriated $400,000 from the Red Cross treasury to the work of this committee, with the expectation that other sums will be appropriated from month to month.

"However great the need is for increased gifts to meet the terrible distress that now confronts every distributing center of this committee in the countries above named, there will be even a greater need when Turkey opens her door and allows commissions to enter the country for the purpose of restoring these deported refugees to their homes. That is a work which the committee has in mind and which must be taken up as soon as opportunity is given. The three races that are suffering most severely from this blow are the backbone of the Turkish Empire so far as industry, intelligence, enterprise and general ability are concerned. Without them the country must miserably go to ruin. The committee therefore now is collecting funds for keeping the refugees alive, but is looking forward to the great and final work of repatriation, which will mean the moving of more than 2,000,000 destitute and stricken people—some of them across a thousand miles of intervening territory—and their re-establishment in their homes upon a self-supporting basis."

A thrilling personal story of the suffering in Turkey was told by S. Ralph Harlow, chaplain of the American college at Smyrna, who told of the intense privations endured by the victims of the Turkish outrages. Among the sponsors for the meeting were Gordon Abbott, Albert J. Beveridge, Roland Boyden, Mrs. Robert S. Bradley, Rev. Neilson P. Carey, Mrs. Gertrude Caswell, Alexander Cochrane, Charles E. Cotting, Rev. William Dewart, Richard Dana, Amory Eliot, Samuel Eliot, Dr. Marshall Fabyan, Henry L. Higginson, Miss Elizabeth Houghton, Mrs. A. H. Little, Mrs. William E. Littleton, J. Alexander Lodge, the Misses Loring, Augustus P. Loring, Jr., Mrs. Robert Means, Mrs. Laurens Morgan, Mrs. Henry W. Peabody, Rev. Clarence Strong Pond, Oliver T. Roberts, John L. Saltonstall, Miss Isabel Semple, Philip Stockton, Miss Lucy Sturgis, Mrs. Washington B. Thomas, Rev. Albert G. Warner, Mrs. William M. Wood and Bayard Warren.

Henry D. Forbes of the National Shawmut Bank, Boston, is the treasurer of the Armenian and Syrian Relief Fund.

City of Peace, Home of Famous Artists

Salem Artist Colony Includes Many Notable Wielders of Brush

By KATHERINE GAUSS

SALEM, a place rather more noted for antiques and historic buildings, than for anything else, has another interest in her people, many of whom are of world-wide note, and it is well to pause a few minutes to tell the reader of those in the quaint city who have accomplished things of importance.

One should lay special stress on the number of famous artists who make their year round home in Salem, for there is Frank W. Benson, noted for his colorful portraits, perhaps the most talked of one, being that of Norman Prince, which was painted in less than a day, on the late aviator's last trip home. Mr. Benson also is an etcher and his duck etchings are wonderfully beautiful, and specimens have been placed in the Royal Academy of England.

Philip Little, whose studio is just a few rods from the historic House of Seven Gables, yet is seldom seen by the visitor, is a painter, whose sympathetic portrayal of Salem wharves and harbor has won in the world of art a most enviable place. To the last degree progressive, Mr. Little a few years ago took up etching and when this art become wearisome he turned to lithography and is excelling in this work, as he does in everything. Mr. Little is Massachusetts chairman of the artists' war league and his war posters have been of great service, in aiding recruiting. Intensely interested in the warships, and an ardent speaker against painting war craft the battleship grey, Mr. Little has tried out and had accepted by the government, certain color effects for rendering invisible vessels in the service of the country.

Isaac H. Caliga, a portrait painter known throughout the West, where he is a frequent exhibitor, has a quaint studio in Salem, formerly the old Hacker school, where boys of olden days attended under Master Haywood. Hung with huge tapestries and filled with pewter and odds and ends from all over the world, Mr. Caliga, paints year after year, portraits of Salem's fairest.

Will S. Taylor, is not, strictly speaking, a Salem artist, having come to Salem only for the summers. He is a well know New York man and his splendid life size canvases depicting the Indians of the North West, are being placed in the American Museum of Natural History in New York. These panels are the work of years, for the life depicted is that of the Indians who formerly lived in great numbers in Vancouver Island and Alaska. Again this summer Mr. Taylor is in Salem, and he presents a striking figure as he goes about the country, with his sketching parasol, his palette and his canvases.

Lewis F. Bridgeman the illustrator well known in the children's world of fairy tales, is a Salem man, and one intimately concerned with child life.

Sarah W. Symonds, whose work falls into the plastic arts is making a country-wide reputation, through her modellings of reproductions of old Salem doorways, Salem architecture and quaint old fences and gate posts. In her studio at the rear of the Essex Institute, in an old house which dates back to the 1600's the visitor can see this artist hard at her work six days out of the seven.

The late Ross Turner, was also a resident of Salem, and his splendid water colors, of brave galleons, or the delicate charm of his southern garden scenes are well remembered, for he was a genial soul and his studio, high on the third floor of his home was a centre for his friends to congregate.

George Elmer Browne is a Salem man, although his success has weaned him away from Salem for the majority of the year. He has in the summer time a large studio school at old Provincetown and in the winter lives in New York. His son, Harold, is displaying the talent of a true artist, and his foreign scenes painted while studying in France are excellent. It is one of the regretful things of the war, that this young fellow, in the full tide of manhood, has enlisted and joined the ambulance service, doing duty in the country in which he was for some years a resident.

Festus Rousseau, although not a native of Salem, has been in the city for the past few years, is painting, himself, teaching others and is preparing a stupendous piece of work, which will revolutionize the teaching of art in the schools, an instructive and interesting work which is consuming every bit of his spare time, and has claimed his attention for nigh onto four years.

In this old city, artists find many things which are unique and lovely, and as they settle down in the midst of us, they help to open the eyes of the townspeople and to make them see and understand the spirit and charm of the City of Peace which is year by year lazily watching the hustle and bustle of the world roundabout, but preserves for itself a quietness of other days.

GREENHOUSES are always inviting places, to wander into. At "Old Tree House," the West Manchester home of the Lester Lelands, the "glass-garden" is now showing an abundant blossoming of achimenes, beautiful flowers, a native of Mexico, and of delicate shades of purple and white with lavender stripes. Another interesting planting is the showy allamanda, which is producing a great number of large funnel-shaped flowers of a bright yellow color. Many exquisite begonias are blooming in their section, the "hanging" varieties being especially interesting and looking almost like the fuchsia blossom. Many of these are of orange and a light red color.

In the palm-room a very noticeable plant is a great ivy-geranium growing in tall pyramidal form. Croton plants with their pretty striped leaves also make a nice showing among the palms.

Outside the greenhouses are some fine tree heliotropes, and nearby is the cutting garden, the vegetable garden and the potato patch, the last a novelty for the place. A pretty little rock garden lies upon the hill between the greenhouse and the house. The chrysanthemums will be covered with their big fluffy blooms this fall, a whole section of the greenhouse being devoted to their growth. Products from the Leland greenhouse have captured many prizes and they seem now to be only waiting a chance to exhibit themselves and bring in a few more to show their thankfulness for the good care which they receive in their pretty home.

Our sentiments may be called organized traditions; and a large part of our actions gather all their justification, all their attraction and aroma, from the memory of the life lived, of the actions done, before we were born. —George Eliot.

OCEANSIDE HOTEL

MAGNOLIA

OCEANSIDE activities progress in the even tenor of their August ways, the endless circle of daily knitters resolving themselves into merry dancers of evenings, the dance nights, Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday of each week being the nights of much life and good times. When the evenings of the dance arrive all are glad to participate in the merriment, the stimulus to the days of rather strenuous tennis or golf or swimming. Dancing never seems a bore to the guests here, everyone appears pleased when the first strains of the evening's music are played.

The gathering at the hotel on Saturday evening was, without doubt the most lively and gayest of the season, with its scores of the hotel's clientele as well as the numbers of visitors from near and far who are present at the dance. The dining-room preceding the dance held many dinner parties, many happy groups of hosts, hostesses and guests, who were thoroughly happy until the music came from the ballroom to their listening ears, when toes beat time and humming was heard, and all were glad when the participating of the partners was realized.

Noted among the dancers was Mrs. H. C. de Rahm (nee Frances Appleton Dana), who is spending the summer with her father, Richard H. Dana, at Manchester. Mrs. de Rahm wore a flounced foulard frock of white silk with dark blue polka dots. Another guest of the evening was Mrs. Eugene Gray Foster, of Coolidge's Point, who wore a beautiful gown of cafe au lait charmeuse with corsage of orchids. The ballroom was very military in its appearance due to the many men in dress uniforms of the Army and Navy. Chester Lockwood was a week-end visitor with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lockwood, coming up from Bridgeport, where he is of the submarine chaser squad. The Brainard girls were very striking in frocks of blue. Adelaide wore king's blue panne velvet in panner over blue net and silver. Frances' frock was of silver cloth veiled with turquoise blue net and silver lace. Mrs. Emil Pollak of Cincinnati was noted in a beautiful imported gown of pearl grey georgette crepe with bead embroidery.

Mrs. J. M. Hood of Baltimore, a season guest, was very stunning in a gown of cloth of silver with silver thread embroidery and rose corsage. Girlish and pretty was the frock worn by Miss Isabella Wadsworth which was of a combining of shell pink and pale blue chiffon. An elaborate gown of orchid metal cloth with insets of gold lace and gold embroidered paillettes was worn by Miss Helen Coates.

Mrs. W. R. P. Emerson's gown was an exquisite combination of rich gold tones in brocade with gold lace and tulle. Mrs. J. N. Kirschner of Detroit, wore a pretty gown of royal blue net over a petticoat of silver cloth. Mrs. Charles V. Wheeler of Washington, was becomingly gowned in ashes of roses metal cloth over a flounced petticoat of gold lace and embroidery. Janet Bryan wore blue net and silver. Mrs. John Anderson of Detroit wore a beautiful gown of rose taffeta embroidered in gold with flounces of rich gold lace. Pretty Miss Merrill was very striking in a simple frock of black taffeta with silver lace, and corsage of orchids. White lace heavily embroidered in iridescent with panner and short bodice fashioned the Callot gown worn by Mrs. Maurice Joseph. Mrs. Edwin Tompkins of New York was noted in blue net over taffeta with embroidery of silver.

Motoring to Bar Harbor, Mr. and Mrs. Cortland F. Bishop of New York with maid and valet stopped for a week-end at the Oceanside, where they renewed many friendships among the hotel's clientele. The Bishops have a summer home at Lenox, which is a very beautiful one, "The Maples" being the scene of many social festivities. Mrs. Bishop, who was Amy Bend, is very prominent in social and charitable affairs both at Lenox and in New York. They have one daughter, Miss Beatrice.

Mrs. Charles Thorndike Parker, who is summering at Hamilton, entertained at a luncheon at the Oceanside on Monday in honor of her guest, Miss Garrettson of New York.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Dickie of Cleveland are at the Oceanside for a week's stay, joining the former's mother, Mrs. L. J. Dickie, who is spending the season here.

Registered from Gibson City, Ill., are Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Simms, Jr., who will make a few weeks' stay at the Oceanside en route for a visit at Bar Harbor.

For the balance of the season, Mrs. William Meyer of New York accompanied by her daughters, Harriet and Margaret, are pleasantly domiciled in Breakers cottage of the Oceanside circle until the last of the season.

Returning from a boys' camp in Maine, where he has been spending the greater part of the summer, Charles F. Kennard has come to Magnolia to visit his father, A. W. Kennard at the Oceanside hotel for a short stay.

Coming from Poland Springs where they have been making a stay, Mrs. Henry Roberts and Miss Mabel Stronach, both of Hartford, Ct., have taken apartments in Perkins cottage until the close of the season.

Having motored all the way from Cincinnati, Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Warrington are spending a few weeks at the Oceanside. Their first intention was to remain only a few days, but so alluring was Magnolia and its attractions, as well the splendid drives with which the spot abounds, they have prolonged their visit.

Miss Charlotte Baylies of Boston and Nahant has come to Magnolia to be the guest of Mrs. Fred Van Lenep, who is a season guest at the Oceanside.

A week-end visitor to Magnolia was Miss Hope Gray of Boston, who came to be the guest of her aunt, Miss Mary C. Gray of Mt. Vernon street, Boston, a season guest at the Oceanside.

Columbus, Ohio, visitors at the hotel include Mr. and Mrs. Foster Copeland, the Misses Copeland and Foster Copeland, Jr. The party is touring through New England and is making a week's stay at the hotel where they find many friends among the Oceanside clientele.

FOR his accustomed August visit, Dr. J. S. Ibbotson of Montreal arrived at the Oceanside on Thursday accompanied by J. F. Burnett. The gentlemen will remain several weeks. Mr. Burnett is an accomplished dancer and his coming to the hotel will be a pleasing addition to the dancing set. Dr. Ibbotson is receiving many expressions of sympathy because of the death of Mrs. Ibbotson which occurred during the past winter. Mrs. Ibbotson spent part of last summer at the hotel.

Mrs. Rena R. Merritt of Minneapolis, who is summing at the Oceanside entertained at luncheon on Wednesday, her sister, Mrs. L. A. Day and Miss Robinson, both of Minneapolis, who are touring in their motor car through New England and who will later spend several weeks at the hotel.

Dinner guests at the Oceanside on Wednesday evening included Mr. and Mrs. Porter Pollock of Youngstown, Ohio, who are occupying the Lee cottage on Shore road, Magnolia. At their table were noted Miss Hall, Miss Mary Pollock, Joseph G. Butler, 3d, and William B. Pollock, all of Youngstown.

John and Gerald Newhouse of West Orange, N. J., have joined their parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Newhouse, who are spending the summer at the Oceanside. The Newhouse boys will remain until the early September days.

Motorists over the week-end included Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Hay of Summit, N. J., and George H. D. Gibson of Charleston, Ind., a group who are touring New England, making stops in short stages as they go.

Charles DeLong of Philadelphia came up from Newport and spent the week-end at the Oceanside among his hosts of friends here. Mr. DeLong, a student at Harvard, is now in the U. S. Navy and is stationed at Newport.

Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Ely with daughter, Miss Esther and son, Frederick, prominent in the society circles of Pittsburgh, are guests at the Oceanside for a few weeks' stay, coming up from the Griswold, New London, where they have been spending a short time.

On Tuesday evening a theatre party was enjoyed by several of the Oceanside clientele, the party motoring up to Boston where they witnessed a performance of "Oh! Boy" at the Wilbur theatre. Included in the party were

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Cleaver, Miss Joan Cleaver of Dallas, Texas, and Miss Olive Cugle.

Chicago is further represented at the Oceanside by the recent arrival of Mrs. K. P. Ellery, who will make a lengthy stay, Mrs. Ellery is a prominent clubwoman of the Illinois metropolis and has a pretentious city home on Lake Shore Drive.

Lovely little Pomeranian puppies are now waiting for homes at Wenham Neck at the A. H. Pembroke place. A small 4-months-old sable is certainly a beauty and five little black ones, four only a month old and one a 4-month-old are just the kind to make pets that are adorable.

An exhibition of paintings which is bound to attract the attention of summer residents along the North Shore, will be held at the Anderson studio, 78 Rocky Neck ave., East Gloucester, from August 18 to September 4, inclusive. The artists who make Cape Ann their permanent home have held two previous exhibitions. As these have occurred in the early spring the opportunity to see the work has only been afforded to year-round residents. The previous exhibitions have been on a par with exhibitions held in the large cities. Indeed, not a few of the artists are yearly exhibitors at such exhibitions as the Chicago Art Institute, the Pennsylvania Academy, Coccoran Art Gallery, National Academy of Design and elsewhere. About fifteen artists will be represented and there will consequently be a diversity of subjects. The exhibition will be free and the hours are to be from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m.

OF the many fine swimming pools which brighten the lives of summer residents upon the North Shore, none is more unique than that upon the Sherburne M. Merrill summer estate at Cole's Island, West Gloucester. Daily the pool is enjoyed by these hospitable people who are most generous in the sharing of its pleasures with their friends. Because of the fact that, at the wish of the swimmer, fresh or salt water can be run into the pool, it is most desirable, especially for summer use. Among those who enjoyed the pool are Mr. and Mrs. Parker W. Whittemore, Mrs. Charles A. Sinclair, and Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Spaulding, and during the hot days of the past week it was a most popular place.

THE beautiful, refreshing atmosphere of Tuesday evening was used to best advantage by the dancing contingent at the Oceanside, Magnolia, who have been rather resting during the week for the Saturday evening events. With a clear, sparkling tone to the air, and the stirring music of the hotel orchestra, guests who would have otherwise stayed upon the veranda or taken a spin in their motor cars, were lured to the ballroom and the dancing was very spirited, considering that the men, so many of them, could not be present at the mid-week festivities. The waltz has come into favor at this hotel, markedly so, and when the soothing strains of the waltz come forth, many of the couples take heed and dance.

Mr. and Mrs. Archie M. Robinson of Louisville, Ky., were arrivals of the first of the week at the Oceanside for the remainder of the season. Mr. and Mrs. Robinson are the parents of Mrs. William M. Wood, Jr., of Pride's Crossing and Andover, Mass. As Miss Edith G. Robinson, Mrs. Wood was a belle and beauty in the city of Louisville.

Mrs. L. A. Merrit of Minneapolis, with daughter and governess, is an arrival of the first of the week to remain at the Oceanside until the close of the season.

George Rockwell of Waterbury, Ct., was a guest over the week-end of Arthur Kimball, who is an August visitor at the Oceanside. On Saturday evening Mr. Rockwell was of a dinner party which was given at the Oceanside in his honor.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Burr of Lincoln, Neb., and Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Meadows of Auburn, N. Y., make up a group of motorists who arrived on Friday to make a two weeks' visit at the Oceanside.

Mrs. I. G. Kumler with daughters, Phyllis and Katherine, have come to Magnolia from Dayton, Ohio, to remain for several weeks at the hotel. The group have been touring along the New England coast.

A. E. Humes and his mother, Mrs. A. R. Humes, of New York, are guests at the Oceanside for a short stay en route for Bar Harbor, where they have a summer home. The Humes have many friends among the Oceanside clientele and upon the North Shore.

RETURNING for her accustomed August visit at the Oceanside, Magnolia, Miss Georgiana Solari, who makes her winter home at the Grosvenor in New York, was among the Saturday arrivals at the hotel accompanied by her maid. Miss Solari has always been popular with the younger set, and has ever been a member of the dancing contingent. Her return is heralded with pleasure by her many friends here. Tomorrow Miss Solari will be one of the bridesmaids at the Hansen-Richard wedding in Union Chapel at Magnolia.

The Cape Ann Resorts

CAPE ANN.—The summer season on Cape Ann is now at its height. From all sections come the good reports of hotels filled with guests. The season is much later than usual, but for that reason people will remain later. Within the confines of this noted section of the North Shore we find many people of prominence in the spheres of art and science. Here artists, writers and musicians are finding material for their labors, as well as recreation. About 300 artists are at present located on Cape Ann, the majority being in East Gloucester, although Rockport and Annisquam are also favorite haunts for painters of high reputation. The annual Gloucester Day celebration which comes on August 15th was of less importance in demonstration this season, owing to the attention being directed in necessary channels of Red Cross and war benevolent work. However, a band concert was held at Stage Fort Park, under the direction of the Gloucester Day Committee and the many people present enjoyed the music. The large number of automobile tourists to these shores is noticeable daily and especially on week-ends. Many of these find their way to the Edward at Pigeon Cove, where fine dinners are served or verandas or in the roof garden. The orchestral music is appreciated.

BASS ROCKS.—There has been extensive playing on the golf links, with the various tournaments this week, finishing on Saturday. Socially, there has been little going on, the work for the Red Cross keeping the ladies busy and little thought has gone to outside things. Loyal indeed are these members of the Bass Rocks unit in service for their country.

Another of those pleasing band concerts by the Quimby band (formerly the Eighth Regiment band), of Lynn, is to be held at the Moorland this Friday evening. A dance will follow the concert to be held in the casino.

Mrs. H. W. Wellington, who last season had the small studio cottage of the Souther estate on Bass avenue, near the beach, is spending this season at Hotel Moorland.

Mrs. F. B. Longstreth of St. Louis, is at Bass Rocks this season, occupying a cottage on Atlantic road.

Dr. Hoppe and family are located in the large Day cottage on Page street.

Late Moorland arrivals include: Mr. and Mrs. Alfred E. Vose, Newtonville; John L. McFeely, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. William A. Giesling, Miss Josephine F. Giesling, Master John A. Giesling, Washington; Miss Isabel H. Neff, Cincinnati, O.; Ressle McKinney, Miss Julia McKinney, Albany, N. Y.; Mrs. Kingsland Smith, Yonkers; W. H. McMath, Rochester, N. Y.; Dr. and Mrs. M. M. Braff, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Norcross, Boston; Mrs. A. H. Robinson, Marguerite N. Robinson, Louisville, Ky.; Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Putnam, Ashland, Ky.; Mrs. Harold Maxwell and family, St. Louis, Mo.; R. Mrs. Joseph was accompanist for the singer. Miss Miller gave delightful interpretation to several operatic numbers while stirring character was given to patriotic numbers, the "Marseilles," "Battle Hymn of the Republic" and there were few dry eyes when the artist so feelingly sang "Keep the Hearth Fires Burning," "Deep River," by Lieurance was thoroughly appreciated. The musical was held for the benefit of the orphanages in France. The response was very generous, the gallery which was kindly offered by Mr. and Mrs. Atwood being filled to its utmost capacity.

ANNISQUAM.—An interesting and unique campaign is on at Annisquam, to raise enough money to supply 1000 members of the Signal Corps, Northeastern department, with comfort kits, the amount to be raised being $1000. The following Annisquam summer residents have been assisting in the cause. Mrs. William Jelly, chairman; Mrs. Alfred Mayer, Mrs. Alam Woods, Mrs. Hollis French, Mrs. Walter O. Adams, Miss Annie E. Fisher, Mrs. S. Henry Hooper, Mrs. William Pear, Mrs. Frederick L. Gay and Mrs. Henry A. Wise-Wood. The Signal Corps is composed entirely of New England boys and it seems appropriate for this section to supply the first contingent going abroad. The boys are in Boston awaiting orders to leave for the front soon and it has been learned that they are not supplied with either toilet or sewing necessities. Subscriptions are being deposited at the Gloucester Safe Deposit and Trust Company by the Signal Corps Comfort Kits committee and the bank will be glad to receive donations direct. A complete Red Cross emergency kit has been placed in the Annisquam Yacht clubhouse. It was secured by subscriptions from the members of the club.

The Candy of Excellence

FOR over forty years this candy has had the approval of a discriminating patronage. ♣ What they say about it today is still our real advertisement

THE AMERICAN WOMEN'S HOSPITALS of which Mrs. John Hays Hammond is now the president of the national auxiliary board was organized in June for war service, and as explained by Mrs. Hammond its object is to assuage pain, comfort the desolate and bring order out of chaos,—only old-fashioned work for women done under modern scientific conditions. Donations to the organization may be made direct (637 Madison ave., New York) or through the American Red Cross. It is composed of the women doctors of the country of which there are 8000, and 5000 have already been accepted as members. It is on the order of the Scottish Women's Hospitals which have done such wonderful work in Belgium. Many women doctors are giving of their own savings for the work. Mrs. Hammond reports excellent work of the Militia of Mercy of which she is president. New York and Brooklyn have 150 units of ten members each doing personal work in caring for the families of the naval militiamen. The society has ambulances in New York and Boston which have carried over 5000 crippled children to and from the hospitals for treatment. Two ambulances in Boston carry children to the Mass. General hospital. Each one carries 20 children and is supplied with a trained nurse. A third ambulance is much needed and Mrs. Hammond is anxiously working to gather funds for this much needed work among the victims of infantile paralysis. If the city could take over the two already provided, the society would furnish the third.

The Puritan Tea Room at Montserrat has had among its recent guests Mrs. Elias Ponvert and party from Magnolia; Mrs. J. A. Shatswell of Beverly, who gave a card party and tea for sixteen; and a Salem party of twelve, who were entertained at luncheon and cards.

PHILLIPS BEACH paused long enough from its seriousness of mind of these war days to enjoy a buffet supper and dance at the Neighborhood clubhouse on Saturday evening and the affair was very pretty, as a result. Nearly everybody was present to enjoy the good time, for this summer the frivolous trend of things has been completely submerged by the earnest and ceaseless work of the Red Cross and Navy League, not forgetting the Surgical Dressings meetings which are assembled at this very clubhouse once a week. The reading room was made ready for dancing and with the club orchestra seated in the orchestra gallery, the strains of the music did not go unheeded. Dancing was enjoyed until the midnight hour. Dainty refreshments were served from tables in the dining-room by the club steward. Roses and gladioli from the fine gardens of the club members made more delightful the lovely picture of the vari-hued gowns of the feminine. Noted among the dancers were Mr. and Mrs. Alexander McGregor, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Paine, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Gage, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Kimball, Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Forbes, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Chick, Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Crosby, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Terhune, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Johnson, Misses Claire McGregor, Barbara Beebe, Esther and Dorothy Paine, and Alexander McGregor, Maurice Curran, Herbert Johnson and Walter Peach.

About fifty women were in attendance at the Monday morning meeting of the Red Cross which met at the Neighborhood clubhouse. This unit, which is a branch of the Lynn chapter, is doing splendid work for the American Red Cross, financing itself as well as accomplishing a tremendous quantity of work which, as fast as completed, is sent to Lynn and thence to the Boston headquarters. The organizers of the Phillips Beach unit are Mrs. Frank P. Aborn of Ocean avenue, Mrs. W. F. Waters of Galloupe's Point and Miss Barbara Gale of Puritan road. Social engagement books are forgotten, acquiring dust in the lack of use, for the frivolous side of life has become shaded by the appalling awfulness of war. In the cool rest room at the Neighborhood club the ladies gather each Monday morning and work from 9 o'clock until one with never a lull in the endeavor until the luncheon hour.

Newcomers to the Phillips Beach shore from far-away St. Paul, are Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Hill, who have taken the Langmaid house on Phillips avenue. Mrs. Hill was before her marriage, Miss Barrows, of one of St. Paul's leading families, and is a leader in the society affairs of that city. Mr. Hill is a railroad man. With them for the summer are Mrs. Hill's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Morton Barrows. Mrs. Hill is very athletic and one of her first acts upon arrival here was that of joining the Tedesco club, where she now is prominent in golfing and tennis. However, her particular forte seems to be that of trap shooting; she holds an enviable record for marksmanship.

Miss Margaret Curran, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice J. Curran of Atlantic avenue, has returned to Phillips Beach after a visit to the Adirondacks where she was a member of a house party. Guests at the Curran shore home are Mrs. Arthur Shonnard of New York and Andover and Charles Lanigan of Lawrence, Harvard '07.

Nahun Chapin Palmer, who has been visiting his parents Mr. and Mrs. Percival B. Palmer at their summer home at Phillips Beach for the past few weeks, returned to Chicago on Saturday last to resume business. During his pleasant visit, Mr. Palmer renewed many friendships formed during his visits of previous summers.

Clavin S. Tilden has departed from his pretty villa on Ocean avenue and has gone to Newfields, Maine, to join his family, who preceded him by several weeks. Mr. Tilden made the trip by motor.

To be near her husband, Lieut. A. W. Huguley, who is a member of the training camp at Hingham, Mrs. Arthur W. Huguley has closed her house on Ocean avenue and with her son, Arthur W. Huguley, Jr., will spend the remainder of the summer at Cohasset.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter W. Johnson of Palmer avenue have closed their home for the remaining days of August and departed on Monday for a visit to Norway, Maine, where they will join their daughter, Ruth Alden Johnson, and son, Herbert A. Johnson, who left a day earlier.

BEACH BLUFF survived the torrid days of the past few weeks with splendid alacrity chiefly because of its splendid beach which invites you from each angle of the pretty Bluff, and because of the pleasing cheerfulness of its situation at the end of the sister colonies of Swampscott and Phillips Beach.

The Bluff is blessed with a charming circle of beautiful children who play in the sands of its bright beach and dip in the surf at will. There are the Burton children, Frances, seven, and Wilton, just three, the children of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Burton. Then there are the Cutler youngsters, the children of Mr. and Mrs. Harold G. Cutler, who are of the Elisha W. Cobb household. Burton is six and Donald is three and they enjoy the surf of fair days as much as anyone. The Garceau children are Ernest and Oliver, whose mother is Mrs. Edgar Garceau, with a pretty summer home on Beach Bluff avenue. These youngsters are good swimmers. Boys prevail here among the surf dwellers, although there are several little girls who can swim exceedingly well including Elizabeth Hyland Fitzpatrick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Fitzpatrick of Mostyn street, Miriam McGregor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander McGregor, and Margaret and Eleanor Fahey, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Fahey of Mostyn street.

Miss Caroline Heath of "Heathcroft," the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Heath, has been visiting at Cliff Haven, N. Y., and Lake George. The trip both ways was made by motor car. Mr. and Mrs. Heath have gone to Bar Harbor for a few weeks' stay.

Yearly subscription to North Shore Breeze, $2.00.

SALEM.—Dr. and Mrs. Edward L. Peirson and family of Barton square, have opened their summer cottage at Cotuit, Mass. Mrs. Peirson is slowly recovering from a severe illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin D. Shreve and family of Chestnut street are at Cotuit. They will return early in September to place their children in private schools.

Marblehead is a favorite summer resort with Salem people, and among those who have houses there this season are Mr. and Mrs. George Upton of Federal street at the Neck; Mr. and Mrs. Oscar J. Ives and family, Bertram Ropes and family of Cambridge street at Gilbert Heights; Walter C. Harris and Mrs. Harris, Arthur W. Benson, Walter Richardson, Mrs. Catherine H. Belknap of Warren street, Mr. and Mrs. William P. McMullan and Mr. and Mrs. Francis R. Seamans of Chestnut street at the Neck.

Mrs. Philip Little, wife of the famous artist, is recovering slowly from a recent operation in the Beverly hospital, where she is now convalescing.

New Ocean House, Swampscott

WITH the opening of the Annex Winter club at Swampscott an epoch will be reached in clubdom. On October first the club will begin life in the Annex of the New Ocean House under the hotel management, and judging from the large number of applications for membership which have already been made, the extreme popularity of this project is forecasted. Continuing to June first the club will be conducted on "tried and not found wanting" metropolitan ideas. The club will have all the conveniences of any city organization and can be reached from town in short order. Meals will be served a la carte and rooms can be had on the European plan. Weekly dances will be held to please those who wish to dance. Those joining the first year will be "charter members," a nominal charge being made. After the first year to become a member it will be necessary that the proposed persons be voted upon. With several grill rooms in the Annex the wants of the members can be easily satisfied.

Capt. H. B. Trix and Mrs. Trix are guests at the hotel for a short stay, Capt. Trix enjoying a respite from military duties at Watertown where he is a member of the U. S. Reserves.

President J. N. Beckley of the Toronto, Hamilton & Buffalo Railroad, and Mrs. Beckley, who make their home at Rochester, N. Y., are guests at this popular hotel for a few weeks' stay.

Making their annual visit to Swampscott are Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Warnick of Schenectady, N. Y., who are spending several weeks at the hotel. The Warnicks are touring in their motor car and expect to tour along the Maine coast when their visit is completed here.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Elkins of Philadelphia arrived at the New Ocean House the first of the week with a retinue of attendants to make several weeks' visit. Accompanying them are Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Jones of Memphis who will make a stay of similar length.

Mr. and Mrs. Harris Fahnestock and daughter, Miss Ruth, whose summer home is at Lenox, are guests at the New Ocean House for a week's stay.

Miss Mary Thompson Sawyer of Brookline was a week-end visitor with her brother, C. D. Sawyer and Mrs. Sawyer at the New Ocean House, where they are spending the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Aldred of New York with their little daughter, Jane, and nurse are registered at the New Ocean House for a stay of three weeks. Mr. Aldred, a prominent banker and man of affairs, has a beautiful country home at Glen Cove, L. I. Mr. Aldred is a brother of Mrs. J. P. Walworth and Miss Aldred of Lawrence, Mass., who are spending the summer at the hotel.

ONE of the most delightful features of the daily life at the New Ocean House is the beautiful flowers which array every available spot in the living rooms of the hotel. Gorgeous gladioli in the hues of pink, rose and daybreak yellow are used in endless profusion about the hotel. The beautiful dining-room which is done in cafe au lait is altogether brightened by the vases of these blossoms used to adorn the tables, and the picture is one to live in one's memory, when the vista of tables each with its one bouquet of flowers presents itself to the eye. In the lobby, too, in the ladies' rest rooms, in the library, everywhere can be found beautiful blossoms, all tending to freshen the spirits of the tired traveler or to make more inviting the surroundings for the season guest.

On Wednesday afternoon Mrs. E. R. Grabow was hostess at the second Children's Party at the New Ocean House, which was held in the ballroom. Girls and boys from the tenderest ages to those in their early and middle teens were among the group of happy youngsters who made merry through all of the afternoon. Games were played and dancing enjoyed. William Candy of St. Louis and dainty Miss Hill of Phillips Beach were given the prizes. Each little girl received beribboned shoe trees and the boys canes for favors. A number of the ladies who are guests at the hotel assisted Mrs. Grabow. Ices, cake and candy was served at the close of the dancing.

August 22d, in the afternoon the children at the hotel and many of the summer colony will participate in the annual Costume Party which always proves to be a very delightful as well as fantastic event. There will be Cinderellas, Bo-Peeps, Red Riding Hoods, Boy Blues, Jack Horners and the like and a beautiful prize will be given the best costumes adjudged by an impartial board of awards.

Mrs. W. A. Mason of Chicago, who is spending the season at the New Ocean House, entertained on Monday at a luncheon in honor of Mrs. John Robbins and Miss Robbins of Groton, Mass. Roses were used for table decorations.

W. N. Nolen, who conducts the "Widow Nolen" tutoring school at Cambridge, was a week-end visitor at the New Ocean House, renewing friendships among the clientele.

A group of prominent Chicagoans at the New Ocean House are Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Hamilton and children and Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Conklin, who will remain until September.

For a month's stay Mr. and Mrs. A. I. Culver, Miss Katherine Larkin Culver and Winthrop Larkin Culver of Montclair, N. J., are registered at the hotel.

SWAMPSCOTT claims to have within its borders of summer estates and homes more women active and willing to do material things for the soldiers of war than any other colony on the North Shore. In this colony which does not include many miles are many women who daily work for the betterment of the equipment of our men fighting for the colors. Mrs. Samuel J. Mixter, who two days of each week labors with this band of splendid women at her shore estate, "Strode," at Galloupe's Point, as a summer branch of the Navy League, has done marvelous work with the aid of these ladies and when a telephone message was received by Mrs. Mixter for equipment to fit out seven young men who had just came into one of our ports from Honolulu, with necessary woolen articles of clothing before joining their patrol boat unit, the wish was no sooner expressed than done, for in the reserve of this summer branch were garments in ample supply to thoroughly make comfortable these men. To be able to do this in such short time is honor indeed, showing the farsightedness of women whose keen preception made this possible. Mrs. Mixter was among several ladies who addressed a large gathering of people interested in the rationing of troops at a meeting of the Special Aid at Lowell several weeks ago.

Dr. John Mason Little, Jr., the son of John Mason Little whose summer home "Briar Gate" is at Galloupe's Point, is expected soon at the family country home from his labors with Dr. Grenfel on the Labrador coast. In addition to his acquirements as a mission worker, Dr. Little has received complete instruction in the treatment of the eyes and teeth. He is expecting to establish himself in Boston, and will probably make his home with his father and sisters, Miss Helen and Grace at Swampscott, until they return to their town home on Dartmouth street.

Mrs. Frank C. Spinney, whose home is at 270 Ocean street, near the Lynn Shore drive, has gone to Clifton Park, Lakewood, Ohio, for the balance of August, a guest of Mrs. George W. Cady.

Mrs. Arthur L. Norton has returned to her summer cottage on Phillips avenue after a pleasant stay at Pine Grove Springs, Spofford, N. H. Mrs. Norton was accompanied by her daughter, who will remain at Spofford until September 1st.

Mr. and Mrs. F. D. McCauley of "The Gables," Little's Point, Swampscott, are guests at Hill Top Inn, Newport, for a brief stay. Accompanying the McCauleys is Miss Mary Rogers of Milwaukee, a sister of Mrs. McCauley.

The bi-monthly formal ball will be given at the New Ocean House on Saturday evening, August 18th. These brilliant social events are becoming very popular with the upper North Shore contingent, and are always attended by large numbers. Many dinner parties have been planned for the good time.

Prominent in church affairs of Chicago is Rev. A. J. McCartney, who with his family is at the New Ocean House for a lengthy stay. Dr. McCartney is pastor of one of the Presbyterian church of that city and is an eloquent preacher as well as having written several noteworthy books.

"What does your son expect to be?"

"From the hours he keeps I should say he is naturally cut out to be a milkman."—Puppet.

Grace—I told him he mustn't see me any more.

Her Brother—Well, what did he do?

Grace—Turned out the lights!—Jack-o'-Lantern.

MARBLEHEAD NECK as a traveler once said, "is an emerald spot so nearly an island that man had to make a bridge across, and dotted with prettier summer homes than could be found in many a mile's journey." This is really true, for were it not for the causeway which has been made passable by man for automobiles and carriages, Marblehead Neck would be nearly an island. As for its summer homes, they are so pretty, and what makes them more desirable, they are so substantial at the same time. Beauty did not take wings when durability was proposed. Many come from all points to enjoy Marblehead Neck of summers, but it is almost wholly a summer colony of Boston people, who year after year have come to the Neck, and have beautified this spot with its wealth of natural resources until it is now a gem in the outlines of the North Shore.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Arthur Shuman of "Mollhurst" are enjoying a visit to Newport with a party of friends and are registered at "Hilltop Inn" for an indefinite stay. Before going to Newport the group spent several days at the "Mattheson" at Narragansett Pier. During their stay they are being much entertained, several luncheons and dinners having been given in their honor. The trip was made by motor.

Mrs. David Percival of "Graycourt," Marblehead Neck, entertained at a luncheon on Wednesday at the Corinthian Yacht club for a number of her friends. Covers were laid for seven at a table made very lovely by decorations of pink gladioli and green vines, with favors of flowers at each place. After the luncheon the ladies enjoyed a "chatting hour" during which they knitted for the Special Aid, later being treated to a motor ride.

Mrs. Guy Lowell (Henrietta Sargent) of Ocean avenue, Marblehead Neck, has been a visitor at Newport and during her stay was registered at the Hill Top Inn.

For the benefit of the Special Aid War Relief, Mrs. Henry P. Benson, wife of Mayor Henry P. Benson of Salem, opened her summer home at Marblehead Neck on Monday afternoon. A goodly number of the summer colony and their guests enjoyed a splendid program of national and interpretative dances and harp selections. Miss Emily Gilfillan of New York danced several of Louis H. Chalif's compositions with inimitable grace, Mrs. Sylvia Howell delighting her audience with several numbers on her harp. The money realized from the entertainment has been donated to the Special Aid War Relief Fund.

Charles S. Eaton of Harbor street, with his son, Charles F. Eaton, have closed "The Moorings" for a few weeks and have gone to Belgrade Lakes, Maine, for a fishing trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard E. Pope are entertaining as their house-guests, Mrs. William J. Leckie and Mrs. Paul Ponyer, both of New York, for a few weeks' stay.

Captain William F. Humphreys of Boston and Hillsboro, N. H., is visiting his daughter, Mrs. Parker H. Kemble at Marblehead Neck for a lengthy stay. Mrs. Kemble as Celia Humphreys was well known in Boston and since her marriage has lived the greater part of the time in New York. This summer she, with Mr. Kemble and Miss Frances Kemble, is making a visit to Marblehead Neck, having recently taken up her permanent residence in Boston.

Thursday was Children's Day at the Corinthian Yacht club, the annual event which is so popular with the younger set. The children of the members with their little friends enjoyed the day with unalloyed pleasure. A concert was given by an orchestra which made more lively the scene. Games were played, and later in the afternoon dainty refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Friedman of Marblehead Neck are entertaining Miss Mary Boyle O'Reilly, the famous daughter of a more famous father, the late John Boyle O'Reilly. This talented writer and lecturer is the center of a gay group wherever she goes, for her stories of Europe in wartimes are most thrilling.

Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel P. Simonds have taken the O'Connor bungalow at Marblehead Neck for the month of August.

William G. Barker's lawn at Marblehead Neck has been partly given over to the raising of war crops and a patch of potatoes and corn are the results of much industry. Mr. Barker is an old resident of the Neck, coming over each year from his beautiful home on Chestnut street, Salem.

The largest truck garden on Marblehead Neck is that of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick McQuesten, and it is a handsome sight to see the vegetables growing in their orderly rows, and each different patch bordered with a small flower border. There is a well on this farm and so the crops are able to be plentifully watered during these dry spells.

MARBLEHEAD is blessed with a very fine harbor, possessing much natural beauty. When the first morning lights fade the darkness of the harbor, the sight is one to remember, that of the pretty craft, cast at anchor, with their sails furled and their decks astir with morning preparation, but prettier still is the harbor at noon-day, when the sun is at the zenith. Then the sails of the yachts are unfurled, catching with their whiteness the sunshine, the sunlight making the water sparkle, more indeed than were it diamonds. 'Tis at noon-day that the day's work is well under way, and the seamen and visitors rest in the tranquil and beauty of this harbor, famous the country wide.

"Polly," the palatial launch owned by W. A. Rich, president of the Chase & Sanborn Company, and designed by John Alden, is at anchor in Marblehead harbor for a brief stay, making ready for a cruise which the owner and a party of friends are expecting to make to Bar Harbor.

On their beautiful yacht "Altair," Eben Phillips and family of Marblehead started on a cruise, Wednesday morning from Marblehead harbor. The itinerary includes Portland, Boothbay Harbor and Bar Harbor, the party expecting to return about the first of September. The boat has been re-painted and overhauled and is one of the prettiest craft in Marblehead Harbor, where it lies at anchor when the family are at their home.

Mr. and Mrs. Channing Williams of Marblehead are entertaining as their house guests Mr. and Mrs. John T. Alden and daughter, Miss Betty Alden of Minneapolis. On Monday a luncheon was given in honor of their guests at their home.

E. B. Carlton, who is spending the summer at the Rock-Mere, entertained the members of the Boston Wool association at a day's good time at the Tedesco club. The day was one of jollification, golfing taking up the attentions of the group, the day finishing with a dinner served in the clubhouse in the evening. Mr. Carlton proved himself to be a splendid host.

Russel A. Cowles and Mrs. Cowles (Louise M. Pfarrus), of New York and Greenwich, Ct., accompanied by their young son, Ernest F. Cowles, steamed into Marblehead harbor on Wednesday aboard their palatial steam launch "Marcia," and cast anchor for a brief stay. The Cowles with several guests aboard lunched at the Corinthian Yacht club. The party has been cruising along the New England coast as far north as Eastport, Me., and are returning to Greenwich in leisurely stages. The "Marcia" flies the New York club pennant.

On Wednesday afternoon in the Marblehead High school a very successful lecture on Food Conservation was given by a food expert from New York, who explained in a most convincing manner how easily food may be canned and preserved for later consumption. The lecture was given under the auspices of the Special Aid War Relief committee of Marblehead, who has for its chairman, Mrs. Parker Kemble. The high school auditorium was filled with women who came to learn all possible in this vast movement which appeals to all. Another lecture will be given in the near future.

Mrs. Chester L. Dane of Peach's Point, who has recently returned from Washington, D. C., entertained a luncheon party at the Salem club, Wednesday noon, her guests being delighted with the old house and garden in the rear.

Dr. Joel E. Goldthwait of Harbor View avenue, who has been in Europe since May studying orthopedic cases among the British wounded has returned to this country and is, at present in Washington, where he is reporting the results of his investigations.

Among the luncheon parties at the Brown Owl Tea room, Devereux, was one on Monday given by Mrs. James R. Simpson of Salem, for Miss Margaret Ballou of Marblehead Neck, who was celebrating her 19th birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert B. Northey, have returned to their home in Marblehead after several weeks at Rangeley Lakes.

Mrs. Hugo Munsterburg, Miss Margaret and Miss Ella Munsterburg, who have been spending several months at the New Fountain Inn, at Marblehead, left early in the week for the White Mountains where they will spend the remainder of the summer. Miss Margaret Munsterburg is a talented writer, and is now engaged in gathering material to write a biography of her famous father. Mrs. Munsterburg has been occupying her spare time, by painting in water colors and oils, scenes about Marblehead.

Dr. Harris P. Mosher, who lives with his wife in the "Moorings" at Marblehead, has volunteered for medical service in France and expects to leave at any call. Dr. Mosher is a specialist of considerable note, in the discovery and treatment of throat troubles.

Mary Antin, the writer of the "Promised Land" and a lecturer of considerable note, has leased a house in the town of Marblehead for the remainder of the summer, bringing with her, not only the handsome 12-year-old daughter, but her sisters, as well.

On Friday at the Tedesco club, Everitt B. Terhune entertained forty of his business associates and men friends. The gentlemen spent the morning in golfing and at noon a luncheon was served at which a good time was enjoyed, speeches and toasts being offered the host which provoked much amusement. In the afternoon the party enjoyed a motor trip down the North Shore.

Yearly subscription to North Shore Breeze, $2.00.

WENHAM has been fortunate in securing the little shop of the Folk Handicrafts of Dennison House, Boston. Visitors to the little house find everything beautiful in the way of embroideries and laces made from old designs and in racial stitches by women from Italy, Syria, Greece and Armenia. A line of artistic cement work is noticed. Fascinating smocks and beach capes, serviceable and lovely in color are seen. These are made by Russian women in Lynn. The work done by the women is excellent and only needs to be seen to be thoroughly appreciated. Many surprising features are about the little shop, so attractively situated in the former home of the "Tabby Cat and the Teakettle." The shop is doing well in a financial way, as many of the North Shore friends have long ago discovered the merits of Dennison House Folk Handicrafts.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank P. Mitchell of Washington, who bought "Hillcroft," the Thomas Cunningham place in Wenham, are planning many alterations to the place. In the process of building is a large service wing containing a kitchen, etc., and the garage is being altered. The work is being done by F. P. Trussell, a Hamilton contractor. The place has many fine maple trees, but among the alterations planned for the grounds is the addition of shrubbery and other ornamental features. The house is attractively situated on a small hill and is a large affair of pleasing design. Adjoining is the home of the Frank A. Magees, whose house is closed, as they are spending the summer as usual in Beverly Cove with Miss H. M. Magee. Opposite the Mitchell home is Mrs. Chas. D. Sias' place.

"Sunny Slope Farm," Wenham, the attractive home of Mrs. Charles D. Sias, is showing its Stars and Stripes suspended from the picturesque windmill on the place near the house. It makes a pretty and unusual sight and can be seen long distances from the farm.

Miss Mabel Welch, a sister of Mrs. A. W. Pollard of Eastern Point, Gloucester, is the manager of the exchange department in the Wenham tea house this season. Last year Miss Welch was with the Lowestoft Shop in Magnolia, now located in Manchester. Miss Welch has an attractive end of the tea house where much Italian pottery (Capri vases) filled with fresh flowers daily from Wenham gardens add much to the beauty of the display of useful and pretty things made by the Wenham women. Mrs. E. B. Cole of Wenham was the originator of this exchange which is working so advantageously for the women and adds to the interest of the tea house to so great an extent.

Among the guests at the Wenham tea house have been Mrs. John Clay, Mrs. Arthur G. Leonard, Mrs. Wm. Sheafe, Mrs. Stewart, the Misses Morrill and Mrs. T. Harrison Garrett of the Gloucester colony. Mrs. Howard Turner of Bass Rocks gave a dinner for six; Mrs. Julius Eisemann of Beverly Farms had a luncheon of six covers; Mrs. Alanson L. Daniels and her young houseguest, Miss Elizabeth Baker have been tea guests; Mrs. Richard Sears of Hamilton was a luncheon guest. A supper party was given by Miss Rosamond Johnson who has been on a recent trip with her mother, Mrs. W. H. Johnson. Many from the Oceanside and Magnolia are over daily, among whom have been Mrs. Matthew Semple and daughter, Miss Helen Semple, Mrs. Francis L. Potts, Mrs. Charles F. Berwind and Mrs. Edith M. Binney. Never did the tea house have so much to do as this year. Miss Helen Burnham of "Overlook," has worked long and patiently with the tea house movement in Wenham, and is beginning to see the results of this perseverance.

Miss Barbara Burgesse of Boston gave a luncheon Wednesday at the tea house for Mrs. Donald Des Grange (May Greenough), who formerly lived on Eastern Point, Gloucester. Mr. Des Grange is in France. Her sister, Miss Anna Greenough, has gone to France with her automobile and is offering her services to the Red Cross. She was accompanied by a friend. The Greenoughs are not occupying their Eastern Point cottage this year.

Rev. Frederick Morse Cutler was in town Wednesday. He has been making a brief visit about every ten days since he was called into service. He has now been stationed at Hull.

T. Clarence Hollander of Wenham, who is now sojourning at the Mystery Island home with Louis C. Benton as usual, has been spending several days at Marion. The flower borders around his Wenham home show what can be done with the simple old-fashion petunia, and are now a blaze of color from the thousands of petunia blossoms. The cottage on the estate is occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Benton Bradshaw, the former a nephew of Mr. Benton. Mr. Bradshaw's mother is with them and a sister from New York is expected.

HAMILTON.—The event for the benefit of the Comité Franco-Américain pour la Protection des Enfants de la Frontière, given by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lindon Smith, with original music by Edward Burlingame Hill, on the lawn of Mrs. George von L. Meyer's Hamilton estate, last Friday, August 10th, was a great success.

In spite of lowering clouds a fairly large and most expectant audience gathered on the lawn promptly at five o'clock to hear Mrs. Joseph Lindon Smith tell about the wonderful work done by the Franco-American Committee for the Frontier Children abroad, orphaned by the war. What Mrs. Smith said was both appealing and interesting and it was a most suitable fore-runner of the allegorical pantomime which followed depicting the grandson of an old musician forsaking all at the call of patriotic duty. The pantomime was given by Mr. Joseph Lindon Smith assisted by his daughter and two other young girls. The place selected as the setting of the little play was the extreme edge of a beautiful green lawn just where it merged into the woodlands. Two huge antique vases in the background stood high above the heads of the players, and with the sun which had appeared quite late in the afternoon slowly going down, the atmosphere created was both arresting and impressive.

Mr. Smith was very touching in his characterization of the old musician, and the simplicity and sincerity of the children's acting, brought tears to the eyes of many, suggesting as it did, all the real scenes being so tragically enacted, not only abroad, but so near to our own homes. The performance realized in donations and pledges, over seven hundred dollars for this noble work.

Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius C. Felton (Maria D. Agassiz) of Calumet, Mich., are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son on Aug. 10. Mrs. Felton is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rodolphe L. Agassiz of Boston and Hamilton. Mr. Felton has joined the Michigan battalion of engineers, and expects to leave for active service at an early date.

Mrs. Alvin F. Sortwell has spent the early part of the season with her mother, Mrs. Alonzo Wilder Pollard at Eastern Point, Gloucester. She has returned this week to her home in Hamilton, at the Vaughan cottage, with her two little daughters, Anne and Elise. Mr. Sortwell is with the Coast Patrol, U. S. Navy.

Mrs. Jonathan Brown, Jr., of "Red Top Farm," Hamilton, is planning a trip to Pittsburgh to visit Mrs. Church Nehard, who has been visiting at the Brown home.

EDITORIAL

HON. ROBERT S. RANTOUL, who is almost one of the "pioneer" summer residents at the Beverly Farms section of the North Shore, is referred to as follows by the Massachusetts Magazine in the course of a review of his privately printed "Personal Recollections:" "Mr. Rantoul has been the first citizen of Salem for a score of years; was chief executive officer of the Essex Institute in the most important period of its history—when it regenerated itself with a policy of thorough self-inspection and classification and made itself tenfold more useful to the world than ever it had been before; he has blessed the world with a large and worthy family; and he has enriched the local literature of his city as has no other man in his day."

Men who had a personal acquaintance with Abraham Lincoln are getting scarce. The statement was made in the Boston Transcript recently that A. J. Pintz of Lynn was probably (or might be) the only Massachusetts man now living who enjoyed that distinction.

That Mr. Rantoul is at least one other is pointed out by the Massachusetts Magazine. He met Mr. Lincoln a number of times, and relates the following anecdote of his first interview with the great slave emancipator:

"When Mr. Lincoln got my card, he gave it a quizzical look, repeated the name several times and then said to me, 'I wonder if you can be related to a lawyer of that name who came out West from New England to get the charter of the Illinois railroad through our legislature.' I said that was my father, upon which he told me with roars of laughter and much slapping of his lank ungainly thighs that he did his best to defeat the enactment of the charter. 'But your father beat me! He beat me!' said the president, making such a demonstration that the hundred or more guests in attendance suspended their conversation to see what was afoot."

A SMALL FUND RAISED to help incite a desire to plant trees, flowers and vines in the school yards of rural districts, cities, and in the outlying portions of cities, is earnestly desired by a summer resident on the Shore. This lady, in motoring to her home at Pride's Crossing, has often noticed how desolate some school yards are, not a tree or vine on the place. Recently she noticed a yard devoid even of grass, and a group of children were playing in the hot sandy soil, while others were trying to cool off in the shade afforded by a fence. This lady says that five dollars would do wonders for such a yard, and offers to coöperate with others in doing something to establish a fund whereby prizes may be offered for the best kept yards. She realizes that it would mean a great deal to the children, not only in their physical comfort, but in the civic spirit aroused. The BREEZE will gladly get any interested reader in touch with the one who wishes to organize this work.

RUSSIA IS COMING BACK and the revolution is proving a great aid in their work. It must be remembered that it took the American people seven long years to wrest the government here from the control of a monarchy and it was another year or more before a constitution was drafted that made our great nation, so we may well be patient with Russia.

THE ARMENIAN AND SYRIAN RELIEF FUND and the work of our American committee now has the right of way. Already America has given generously to the Belgian Relief Fund, has subscribed for Liberty bonds, and now that the Red Cross has received its first six months' subscriptions, the work in the near East should be given attention. Judging from the sponsors for and the attendants at the meeting held last Sunday at Beverly Farms, and the generous collection taken, the North Shore is awake to the needs. The meeting, presided over by Hon. Augustus Peabody Loring, was carefully planned and was a success as was to have been expected. The North Shore was fortunate in having the work so carefully presented. Dr. Barton, the national chairman, representing the movement presented the home work involved and S. Ralph Harlow brought notes from the field with telling effects. Rarely has the cause of any great movement been more carefully and skilfully presented. Among the outstanding facts presented that should be clear to every contributor are: the men whose names are connected with the movement are actively engaged in the work, not merely lending their names to a good cause; that the expenses of raising the funds are borne by one individual; that the Red Cross endorses the movement, and in fact the American committee is an agency through which the Red Cross is now working in the near East; and that the cost of distributing the fund is small because it is done through voluntary agencies, missionaries, college teachers, and American officials, so that every dollar goes to its destination. The Fund is one of the great movements now afoot and it should be liberally supported. Henry D. Forbes, National Shawmut Bank, Boston, is treasurer.

IT WAS THE ANNOUNCED OBJECT of the interrupted British offensive in Flanders to turn the German flank in an effort to destroy the submarine bases in Belgium. If destruction of the U-boat bases is accomplished it will probably be through such an attempt. The allies have hesitated long enough about paying the cost of a naval encounter with the fleets and forts guarding the bases to make it apparent that the attempt will probably never be made. The allies have no naval guns of sufficient power to get in range of the land batteries without risk of annihilation, so any attack that is successful must be made by land.

IT IS NOT NOW TOO EARLY to consider the effects of the drive made early in the spring by our national government to stimulate the production of food supplies. Already the results are apparent. In the one case, the potato, had there not been an increased acreage planted there would have been a shortage without question. But in the main the campaign, well conducted, is now showing wonderful results.

GREECE HAS AT LAST taken the final step and is at war with Germany. Despite the fact that Germany used every wile possible to hold the Greeks to neutrality the free people of that land have refused to be subsidized and influenced.

CENSORSHIP OF THE PRESS in time of war is unquestionably necessary; but unless that censorship is handled in a common-sense way it will better serve the ultimate aims of the nation to take the lid off entirely. No American paper has told of the location of Pershing's camp in France, for no correspondent has been permitted to send that information. Yet Germany knows where the camp is located, as General Pershing himself states. Our American boys are going into action in France—sometime. Shall we be told of new British victories and new British sacrifices when our own boys bear the brunt of some future battle? While France has worn herself out against the German line we have heard much of British achievements, but little about France—until recently. Probably it has been due to no desire on the part of England to rob France of the credit due her in the eyes of the world, that there has been such apparent unfair juggling of war news. It is only that the British censorship has compelled America to read and accept the news as it is prepared and disseminated for "home consumption." When our boys go into action in numbers let us hope to hear the truth about the result. Let us hope that unimportant successes will not be magnified into grand victories and that trifling reverses will not be painted as disastrous defeats. The simple truth is all that is need. And nobody should complain if it is delayed in the telling long enough to prevent its becoming of military value to the enemy; for news reaches Germany in 11 days by the slow method of messenger and much faster by other means. However, it should be published soon enough to prevent the formation of a dangerous public opinion based on falsified reports. For, in the end, any general opinion not based on true facts will be dangerous for the nation. Let us have censorship, but censorship based on good judgment.

WHILE THE PINE RUST has been menacing many an estate upon the North Shore every evidence of blight may not be due entirely or in any way to the dreaded disease which is harbored by the gooseberry and currant bushes. The season has been such that many pine trees otherwise favorably situated have suffered a great deal. Evidences of decadence and dying at the top may not necessarily mean the disease which has been prevalent has attacked them. Many such trees will "come back" again next year and but little anxiety should be felt concerning them. The currant and gooseberry bushes are coming in for careful scrutiny these days and the owners of estates will do well to have these plants carefully examined by experts or rooted up entirely. In fact, it would not be undesirable if for a year or two there were a definite plan to remove currant and gooseberry bushes along the entire Shore for a period of years until the quarantine thus established has proven effective. In the meantime it will be well for gardeners and the owners of estates to learn to recognize the malady that is injuring our pine trees and if necessary have all gooseberry and currant bushes removed. The nearness of the woodlands to the ocean in Manchester and Beverly Farms is one of the outstanding advantages they have over many another summer resorts and every effort should be made to conserve the resource enjoyed.

THE SUBSCRIBERS FOR LIBERTY BONDS should bear in mind the fact that two payments follow each other within two weeks in this month. One payment was due August 15 and the other will be due on August 30. The funds should be forwarded promptly as the Government should have the money in hand for work planned. Subscribers may anticipate their last payment and thus have it out of the way earlier. Every citizen who has made a pledge coming due the 30th of August, should care for it as soon as possible as a patriotic duty.

IN THESE HOURS OF STRESS AND SORROW there should not be tolerated any criticisms of the government which are aroused by partisan or political considerations. The American people are at war and to win the war it will be necessary for everyone to cooperate. The selective draft plan is based upon the principle that with the privileges of citizenship there also go the responsibilities which those privileges entail. The young men are depended upon to defend the nation by service in the army. The selective draft assumes that the government will select such men as it needs for service and that it will place the man so selected into the place of service for which he is best fitted. The ages range from twenty-one to the thirtieth year. It was supposed that exemptions would be made and that, generally speaking, married men with dependents would be exempt. It appears that the ideas which have been entertained by the public will have to be modified and that marriage does not constitute a reason for exemption. It does appear, however, unjust for men with children and a wife to be called to service when other able-bodied men just over the age limit are excused. The way in which the draft law is operating makes many wish that the bill providing for a selective draft up to forty had been passed. It would appear that the men over thirty-one and unmarried and who have no ties to bind them should be drafted into service before the men of lesser age and with dependents are called. However, the law has been passed and in the main meets the situation far better than any "volunteer" system could possibly.

THERE ARE TWO FACTORS in the case against Germany that Americans can never overlook. The first is that Germany was thoroughly prepared and that the Allies were unprepared and that Germany and Austria have never made public the correspondence between them during the days just preceeding the war. It is unbelievable that the Allies, unprepared, would have precipitated a struggle against the German empire thoroughly prepared; and while there is nothing to be lost, but everything to be gained, the German empire has refused to publish its correspondence. If the German government meant to keep peace why not publish the correspondence? There must be a reason for its being kept so secretly.

THE NEW ENGLAND MEN will go to Charlotte, N. C., for intensive training and those who have the determination of the camps have chosen well. The men are now being cared for as rapidly as possible and when the time comes will be transported to the South where, because of the climatic conditions, every reasonable progress will be made. New England can have no complaint to make over the choice of Charlotte, especially if the movement of troops is delayed until after the intensive heat of the summer months is passed.

RUSSIA SEEMS IRRITATED because of the fact now well known there that America is not at war with Austria. Most Americans recognize, however, that the situation is merely technical. America cannot but know that war with Germany eventually means war with Austria. When the Germans put Austrian troops against American troops and Austria thus acquiesces the die will be cast. Russia does not understand, but America is determined not to be the offender in the war. Austria must be the offender.

An appropriation has been made by the public safety committee for the purpose of purchasing rifles and uniforms for three more men for the local State Guard company. When the company was accepted by the State Guard board uniforms were furnished only 65 of the 69 men. The four additional uniforms for the other men were purchased by the safety committee. It is now proposed to recruit the local company up to 72 members in order to have eight full squads. In order to do this the extra equipment must be purchased by the town. In addition to this the committee has voted to buy extra rifles for those of the non-commissioned officers who were not previously equipped. The warrants of the non-commissioned officers have been received from Brigadier-General Butler Ames and were given out by Capt. Robertson on Monday evening.

Manchester FOOD CENTRE

NOTES

The Food Center has a number of books and several new bulletins on Meal Planning. These give good ideas for economical cooking and balanced meal planning. Any of the recipes may be copied and tried at home. There are many good suggestions as to corn-meal and entire wheat cookery.

It has been found by the experiments performed in drying that small carrots, beets, corn, beans, peas and greens dry very well, and when soaked up again taste just like the freshly cooked vegetable. Blueberries dried can be used for blueberry cakes and muffins and are very satisfactory. They are also very easy to dry.

The lecture next Monday evening will be on "The Fireless Cooker" and the "Iceless Ice Chest." It is possible to make both of these at home and both are very useful.

On Monday, the lecture will begin at 7.30. There will be no Wednesday lecture until further notice.

Instruction, demonstration and consultation free.

It gives us much pleasure to be able to announce that the Food Centre is to be kept open all winter. One of the features of its fall and winter work will be a series of lectures and instruction-giving talks on the healthful feeding and care of babies and school children.

Begin to save your pennies for the pilgrimage to "Somewhere in Essex County" on Labor Day, Sept. 3, when the first great battle of the series between Manchester and Marblehead will take place. The place for the combat has not yet been selected, but it may be in neutral territory. With Bill Sheehan hitting the way he has lately "Chick" Davies of the Marblehead nine will probably have a sore arm.

Another fast game is looked for tomorrow afternoon when the locals meet St. John's club of Cambridge in the deciding game of a series of three. Each team has won a game and by the same score of 6 to 2. An addition to Manchester's lineup will be Leland the crack outfielder, who was with Marblehead earlier in the season.

William, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Peters of Bennett st., met with a painful accident last evening. After an afternoon quest for blueberries he was returning home with some other boys and was carrying the fruits of his labor in a glass preserving jar. He tripped and fell, smashing the jar and cutting his face badly. He was taken to Dr. Glendenning's office where several stitches were necessary to draw together cuts upon the face, nose, forehead and on one eye.

Poles have been erected on two sides of the playground and it is expected that the lights will be in place tonight. Ten big lamps will be used in lighting the drill grounds of the local company of the State guard. An extra drill will be held this evening. Part of the company attended an extra drill on Wednesday evening. It is expected that with the aid of the lights the Monday night drill can be carried on long enough to get more good out of the time spent. At present darkness sets in about the time the company gets formed and most of the drilling is done in the dark.

IRISH CONCERT AND DANCE.

Of the many features offered on the program of the coming great Irish concert by far the most interesting will be the production of two Irish comedies entitled, "The Immigrant" and "For Old Time's Sake," by Shawn O'Nolan and his company of six people. We are assured that these comedies are his latest and greatest successes in which the inimitable Shawn is seen at his best. Among the troupe are coming talented Irish singers and champion exhibition step dancers. Heading the list of singers will appear the silver soprano, Miss Lucy Clasby, the Galway nightingale. Miss Clasby, who is a pupil at the Conservatory of Music, Boston, is winning her way to fame in rendering the melodies of Ireland. In the next issue of the BREEZE the entire concert program will be given. Those who are unable to secure tickets may get them at the box office on the evening of the concert, Tuesday, Aug. 28. adv.

What Fight Ye For?

Answer of a Catholic Priest, the Son of a Fenian, to the Treasonable Talk of "Prussian" Irishmen

From a Sermon at St. Mary's Cathedral, Fall River, to the Catholic Members of the 12th Company, Coast Artillery Corps, N. G. M., by

RT. REV. MGR. JAMES E. CASSIDY, V. G.

And if ye go to war in your land against the enemy that oppreseth you then ye shall blow an alarm with the trumpets; and ye shall be remembered before the Lord your God, and ye shall be saved from your enemies.—Numbers X., 9.

IN the dispensation of divine providence, the darkest days of human history have fallen upon the civilized world. Wars and rumors of war; nation rising against nation, kingdom against kingdom and the end is not yet. Pride and arrogance and insolence and lust of power and domination long hidden in the heart of nations has slipped its leash of timely waiting, and with arms and armament and ammunition, with sword and scimitar and sabre, with deathly fume and poison gas, upon the earth and under the waters and in the air, white and black and yellow and red, Christian and Pagan and Moslem vie with one another for mastery—in bloody deathly strife.

For well nigh three long years, across the wide expanse of ocean with fearful, fearing souls, we watched this consuming conflagration and played that its fires might die away ere the whole world become a holocaust. Injury and insult, yea and infamy, we suffered, our peaceful souls revolting from this sight of humanity slaughtering itself, hoping and trusting and praying that means compatible with honor might be found to avoid our adding our portion to the sea of human blood that was alike crimsoning a continent and bleeding white a world of people.

Our rights were transgressed, our commerce interrupted, our properties destroyed, our safety jeopardized, our citizens slain—and yet we kept the peace. We objected, we remonstrated, we protested, we threatened, but to no purpose.

Forced Into the Fight

Our patience and long-suffering was misinterpreted. Our horror of war and our love of peace were thought to be born of a lack of courage to fight. War was being made continually upon us; blow after blow was struck against our sovereign rights until the hour arrived when, all other means exhausted, we must either defend ourselves by force, or forever forfeit our right to take our place among the nations of the earth. Even then, some, whose motive I shall not judge, counselled submission and continued toleration of wrong. Thank God their counsels did not prevail. Dark though be the hour and sad though be our hearts as we face the bloody future how infinitely darker would be the days and how filled with shame and ignominy the future if we had been led by those who would have had peace at any price?

The words of our Lord in the Gospel: "What shall a man be profited, if he shall gain the world world, and lose his own soul?" (Matth. xvi, 26). I cannot refrain from applying them to our national situation last April. For if our President and our Congress had not then acted as they did, we would have been a soulless nation and shame and reproach and everlasting infamy would have been the profit of our peace. But the nation did not sell its soul for peace. We loved not war, but we loved dishonor less and when compelled to choose we unhesitatingly, though regretfully, chose war and in the chosen words of Holy Writ: "You go forth to war out of your land against the enemies that fight against you."

Clad in your nation's uniform, before the altar of the Eucharist Christ, answering the trumpet's sound, on the eve of going forth to war, you kneel for God and country.

"Render to Cæsar the things that are Cæsar's." And you are here members of the Twelfth Company of Artillery Corps to lay upon the altar of your God all that you have, even to life itself, for country's love and honor.

Right Against Might

When men ask you: "What fight ye for?" tell them, in tones that shall wake up the dead of '76: "I fight for liberty, for freedom's sake, for righteousness, for all my country's flag has ever represented. I fight for peace, that justice may prevail, that frightfulness and inhumanity may not possess the earth. Out of the mart and mill and meadow I have come, no warrior by profession, but peace-loving and peace-keeping citizen, roused by my country's call, to serve here with my all; to struggle, to suffer, to die if need be that her cause may live, that might shall not prevail, that right shall not forever perish from the earth."

And if anyone shall dare to ask you why you sacrifice for country's sake tell them, in voice that shall admit no question:

"I give to her, my country, because she hath given all to me. After God she has given me life; after God she has protected me; her children that have come and gone before me have withstood the summer's heat and winter's cold, have labored and struggled and suffered and bled and died that I might be a freeman. My forefathers she received with open arms; tenderly she nursed them; liberty, justice and equality she gave them; the shield of her protection she set up before them; with her life's blood did she guard them; the right to worship God untrammelled and unrestrained, she ensured to them; she gave them place, distinction, honor, all, reserving nothing, and now, when she's in need and calls to me with all I have I quickly answer: 'Here, sir.' That's a soldier's answer to a slacker's 'why?'"

And here, I would give answer to those who would seemingly discredit your sacrifice by telling you that this is an unpopular war.

What war was ever popular in the sense that they would have it? Was the War of Independence popular? War the war for the preservation of the Union popular? Was the Spanish War popular? Popularity is no measure of righteousness. Fighting with and killing each other is only popular with savages, and brave men do not with joy anticipate the slaughtering of their brethren. Someone has truly said that "War is Hell," and hell is hardly popular with anyone. We abhor war, but we thank God that we have not yet arrived at that decadent and degenerate condition wherein we would suffer anything rather than fight.

God forbid that we should ever consider peace more honorable or more desirable than righteousness; God forbid that we should purchase peace with dishonor. God make us ever abhor war, but God keep us from ever becoming too cowardly to fight.

The Time for Discussion Has Passed

Again, some would lessen your merits by maintaining that we should never have gone into this war. To these I have already given answer, but to these now I say in shorter words:

The time for discussion as to the propriety of our entering the war has passed. This is a representative government. We delegate others to represent us. We elect a President to lead us. Our President and our Congress, with much wider knowledge of events, and with as great abhorrence of war as we have, have decided that a state of war exists. Who are we that we should pit our individual judgment against the decision of those whom we have legally and voluntarily constituted our representatives? Democracy demands delegation of power and should we refuse to abide by the decision of those whom we have delegated to speak for us what confusion would come upon us! If Russia today is wrecked in ruins it is because this very exercise of individual judgement has made chaos of organized government and if we were to pay attention to every individual judgment, we, too, would shortly become another Russia.

Therefore, I say the time for individual judgment has passed. Whatsoever previous opinions we may have entertained, they should now be laid aside and we should all follow the flag in unquestioned and in unquestionable loyalty. You see, I dare to speak of matters rarely publicly discussed nor have I yet said all.

Warning to Irish-Americans

There are too many of ancestry like to mine, Irish-Americans, if you will, whose judgment is blinded by their hatred toward England. Let them beware lest their animosity toward England be interpreted as disloyalty to the United States.

Out of the loins of a Fenian arrested in arms against the English I came. I was nursed at the breasts of as true an Irishwoman as ever came out of Ireland. Indelibly written in my soul is the story of England's rule of blood and iron in Ireland. But what has that to do with the honor of my own country? Incidentally and accidentally, we may be fighting for England, just as England is now fighting for us, but essentially and fundamentally we are not fighting for England; we are fighting for ourselves. Had Germany by its own overt acts, repeated again and again, not made it impossible for us to keep peace with honor, had she respected our rights, had she not murdered our citizens, she might have beaten England to her knees and we would not have interfered. We did not go to war to save England, we went to war to save ourselves, to save our sovereign rights, to save all and everything that a nation in honor prizes.

You men of all births, for there are men of many bloods and births bearing a grievance against England, in your blind desire for retribution, you forget that in this war all must stand or fall together. If England stands, we stand; if England falls we fall; victory and honor or defeat and dishonor shall come upon all alike. And God forbid that there should be any so base and low and blinded as to wish to strike at the heart of England through the soul of their own country. God forbid that there should be any who would rejoice at the losses of any of the Allies when they know that such losses mean only greater losses and multiplied deaths among you. Let this insanity pass forever from these States.

(At this point in his discourse the preacher made an impassioned plea for personal purity, indorsing the statement of Major General Wood that "moral and physical contamination is one of the greatest menaces to military efficiency." He declared that failure in personal purity was treason to the cross of Christ and treason to the cross was equally treason to one's country.)

A Model and an Ideal

As you leave this holy place, some, perchance to ne'er return, two visions, two memories I would stamp indelibly upon your soldierly souls. The first is Christ upon the cross, His arms out-stretched toward you in infinite love, bruised bleeding, crucified, triumphing over sin and death to make you free. He is your God. Be you faithful to him unto death. The other is that most heroic figure of all these terrible times, Cardinal Mercier, wan of countenance and worn of body, yet with spirit unbroken and undimmed he stands amidst the ruins of his devastated and desolated country, his sons murdered, his daughters violated, his children carried into captivity, his homes laid waste, every lash that falls upon his conquered people cutting thrice deep into his very soul, yet undaunted, unterrified, unbroken, he faces his oppressors and says to them: "Draw your plans, set up your batteries, arrange your movements, propose as you will, but God will ultimately dispose. My conviction, both natural and supernatural, of our ultimate victory is more firmly rooted in my soul than ever. We plight our word that we should be neutral and to maintain our word of honor we have sacrificed our good, our homes, our sons, our husbands, and after three years of coercion we are still as proud of our fidelity as when we first declared: 'Thou shalt not pass.'"

And this heroic figure, the very personification of patriotism and love of country, I hold out to you as your model and your ideal. No enemy boast, no enemy bribe, no enemy threat, no enemy pressure, no suffering, no want, no pain, no loss, no fear has shaken him from his high resolve to render to Cæsar the things that are Cæsar's and unto God the things that God's. Far away across the wide Atlantic, he stretches out his arms to you for help against a common enemy.

In the name of Jesus Christ go forth to do and die. God give you loyalty, God give you fortitude, God give you unflinching and unfailing courage to fight our country's cause. And God give you virtue, God give you self-sacrifice and self-restraint to fight gloriously alike for Him. The prayers of your loved ones follow you; the blessing of your church accompanies you; the gratitude, sympathy, support and sacrifice of a united people support you. Let the motto of those who go and those who stay forever be: "Let us all hold together in God."

At the close of Father Cassidy's sermon the organist played the Star Spangled Banner while the congregation stood and a score of priests within the sanctuary rail stood with bowed heads facing the eucharistic body and blood of Christ on the altar. It was the first time in the history of the city that such a thing had happened.

PARK SQUARE THEATRE.

The opening of the season for the Park Square Theatre, Boston, is set for Monday evening, August 20, when the attraction will be a return engagement of Oliver Morosco's delightful musical comedy, "Canary Cottage." Local theatregoers will remember that when this attraction filled an engagement at this theatre last season it was allotted but a four weeks' stay, which time proved all too short for the desires of the many who wished to attend.

There are many song hits in the comedy which have been sung, whistled and played in nearly every home, they being some of the best sellers on the phonograph lists.

The same cast of funmakers will return in the comedy, they being headed by Trixie Friganze, Charles Ruggles and Herbert Corthell, and the famous California chorus of beauties will be seen.

There is so much room for improvement in some people that they will probably never be able to use it all up.—N. Y. Times.

MANCHESTER

Miss Maud Denton, who was teacher of the sixth grade at the George A. Priest school, has resigned her position and will teach the coming year in Danvers, her home town.

Members of Col. H. P. Woodbury camp, S. of V., will act as escort to Allen post, G. A. R., in the big parade at the national encampment of the G. A. R. in Boston next Tuesday morning. Those who are able to go are requested to notify Commander Charles E. Bell by Monday noon. The camp delegation will leave on the 7.28 a. m. train on Tuesday.

The school board has decided on the opening date of the schools. The high school will open as usual on the Tuesday after Labor Day, September 4. The George A. Priest school and the Price school will be opened a week later on Monday, September 10. This plan is tried because the hot weather which usually comes about the first week in September. The Priest school and the Price school will close a week earlier than the high school next June, making the school year for the grades 38 weeks.

Charles A. Lodge, Jr., is among the young men selected for the second New England training camp of the Officers Reserve corps at Plattsburg, N. Y., which opens Monday, Aug. 27. Those appointed to the camp are candidates for commissions in the new National army and will be drilled by regular army officers. Mr. Lodge received his notice to report at the training camp last week and is the first local man from Manchester to be selected. He returned from Alberta, Canada, recently, where he was employed by the Dominion government, to go into service in this country. Mr. Lodge is a graduate of the agricultural college at Amherst and while there received four years military training in the college cadets.

Work on the resurfacing of Beach st. was extended this week as far as the junction of Summer st. ext. While the work was of a temporary nature and not intended to stand long strain of traffic the road shows a great improvement. The heavy showers the latter part of last week softened up the part of the road which had been broken up preparatory to resurfacing. Several automobiles which disregarded the signs at ends of the piece of construction had narrow escapes from miring. Two machines which attempted to cross the treacherous ground sank to the hubs and required the services of a heavy truck to pull them out.

WHISPERINGS of THE BREEZES

Do you
Know why
The European War
Is so much like this sheet
Of paper, upon which we print
This little paragraph? Well, its so teara-ble. (Not original.)

x-x-x
The doctors are finding a lot of physical defects in a lot of young Americans. If we had instituted military training in some form before the war, perhaps things would have been different. If America had been prepared even in this degree, there might not have been any war.

x-x-x
What has become of the visions and dreams you had earlier in life?

x-x-x
Speaking of fisherman's luck!
Thomas Baker and family, accompanied by that redoubtable seafarer, Commodore Edwin P. Stanley of the Manchester Launch club, decided a short time ago to have a picnic on one of the islands in Manchester outer harbor. The piece de resistance of the intended meal was going to be fish and the aforementioned fishes were to be caught as a preliminary pleasure.
Everything went along swimmingly—even the fish, a goodly quantity of the latter being caught. When enough of the finny tribe had been hauled from the depths to satisfy even the sizeable appetites of the hungry fishermen an adjournment was taken to the island and a roaring fire built. The fish were duly cleaned and hungry picnickers were already imagining the appetizing odors soon to arise from the sputtering pan—when Tom discovered that he had left the frying pan at home. The feelings of Robinson Crusoe the morning after the shipwreck were nothing compared to those of the hungry picnickers.

x-x-x
The need of seats on the common is more apparent each summer about the time Manchester begins holding its band concerts. A great deal of the enjoyment of a program of music depends upon one's physical comfort and it is not very comfortable to stand for more than an hour in one spot. There are plenty of benches stored in Town hall and a good many people would be willing to go to the little trouble of removing them to the common if they were available, also of returning them after the concert.
At present the benches are doing no one good and scores of people have to stand to hear the concerts. The few seats on the common, the steps of Town hall and the Congl. church are picked by early comers and the rest of the people take what is left—the privilege of standing up.

HOMER IN NINTH

WON FAST GAME FOR MANCHESTER FROM UNITED SHOE OF BEVERLY.

Yes, they actually happen once in a while! Remember those thrilling stories you used to read as a youngster, about the unfortunate hero, who almost loses the game for the home team by his errors, comes to bat in the ninth inning with two out, gets two strikes against himself and, then drives the ball out of the field for a home run. Never saw a game like that did you—only read about them. Well, then you didn't see Manchester put it over the United Shoe of Beverly last Saturday, by a 1 to 0 score, by this very storybook method. No plot-hunting author of juvenile fiction ever imagined a more exciting finish to a baseball game than old "Bill" Sheehan dished out for the benefit of the Manchester and visiting fans last Saturday.

The history of "Bill's" homer is the entire tale of Saturday's contest. And the history of that ninth inning wallop starts way back in the second inning when the Shoe almost scored because of an error by Sheehan. "Sandy" Herron, the first man up lined a fast one straight at Sheehan's feet—or, more properly, right between them, for the ball stopped out in right field. Then to help things out Finn drove one to center field that Murray tried hard to catch, but dropped after a long run. Herron and Finn each grabbed an extra base by hitting the high places. Old "Doc" MacMahon saved the day by fielding Fish's bunt and striking out Jewett.

In the first of the ninth Sheehan almost spilled the beans again by tossing Ryan's grounder to Devlin instead of snapping it. A single by Herron and a "fielder's choice" landed Ryan at third and only snappy fielding by Ford prevented a run. But "Bill" Sheehan can make all the errors he wants to, hereafter, if he will only come through with a drive like Saturday's.

When the local nine came to bat in the last half of the ninth there was a lingering hope that something might happen to prevent the game going to extra innings—and it did happen. Starting off with the top of the batting order gave Manchester a little confidence of shortening the game, but that hope was jolted when Gourley fanned and Ford popped out to Herron.

"Here is where I win your old ball game for you," said "Bill," as he picked out his bat. It sounded good, but didn't cheer anybody when he missed one strike and had another colled. Then it happened. Jewett thought he could afford to take a chance and put a fast one in the groove. Sheehan was past second base before the ball stopped on the other side of the brook in center field. If a youngster playing in the far outfield hadn't shown Klatt where the ball was, it might not have been found yet. Klatt made a good try to get Sheehan at the plate, but he was half way home from third when the ball arrived in the diamond. Just another game Sheehan has broken up with a healthy wallop at the right moment!

While Sheehan's drive entitled him to the spotlight, there were a number of other bits of snappy work. Gourley made a couple of pretty catches out in left field and made a pretty hook slide into second base as a windup of his two-bagger in the third. Ford furnished the infield sensations by covering a lot of ground at short and made five fast plays of hit balls. Holt made a great catch in the third when he pulled down a foul fly back of third base while running with his back toward the plate. MacMahon pitched a steady game and was cool in the pinches, twice pulling himself out of a whole with a man on third. Meehan, as usual, got one of Manchester's three hits.

Walter Smith, one of the Manchester boys in Co. H, 8th Mass. Inf., has won his chevrons since the National guard was mustered into Federal service. Last week he received his corporal's warrant at Lynnfield. Harry Baker, who was appointed corporal while in service on the Mexican border last year, has been made mess sergeant of the company.

Manuel Miguel left Monday morning in answer to a summons to report for duty at the Watertown arsenal. He enlisted in the ordnance department of the regular army as a saddler, receiving the grade of sergeant. Mr. Miguel had a hard time getting into the service because he was married and on account of his age, which is 43, but was finally accepted after persistent efforts to enlist. Word was received that Mr. Miguel sailed for France yesterday.

SALEM CHAMBER OF COMMERCE
WARNS AGAINST ADVERTISING SOLICITORS.

"The Firemen's Standard, published at 138 Pearl st., Boston, it should be understood, is a strictly private enterprise," is the statement made by the Advertising and Charities Endorsement committee of the Salem Chamber of Commerce. The same committee makes the further statement: "Special editions of the magazine are published from time to time containing material relative to the fire department of some city or town, a different city being selected for each issue. Advertisements for these special editions are solicited in the cities the fire department of which are to be featured in forthcoming issue.

"The solicitor frequently gives an impression that the magazine is either published by the local firemen, or published in the interests of the local firemen of that particular city. Sometimes the impression is also given that the local firemen are to benefit financially from the advertisements. Neither of these impressions are correct, however, the magazine is a private enterprise in which the men in the Fire Dept. are not financially interested, and from which they receive no financial benefit. TWO LETTERS WHICH EXPLAIN THEMSELVES

WHY NOT DISCHARGE THE COOK?

I have read with much interest Mr. Hoover's address about economy in the home, and economy in food. He omits to mention one great difficulty—an American housekeeper may choose to practise economy, but is at the mercy of the cook. Lately I heard of a cook who, coming to a new situation, found half of a cold chicken, perfectly good and fresh, in the refrigerator, threw it instantly into a garbage pail. In most American families a cook wastes enough to support a whole family.

Now I do not wish to discourage the practice of economy, but I think its difficulties ought to be recognized in order to be met. Myself, for instance, I am fond of corn meal in all its shapes, but no Irish girl will ever touch it, however nicely it is prepared.

If one result of this war will produce more economy in the American household, especially in the kitchen, it will be a thing to be grateful for.

—L. F. C.

DOMINATE YOUR OWN KITCHEN.

Let L. F. C. fortify herself with a little extra courage when she next visits her kitchen, and her anti-waste, anti-cornbread cook, and remind her that we are living under a pledge to the President of the United States to help win the war by denying what has seemed essential to our welfare and are sending this material to our boys and our men who have gone to France to fight for us. Also, let her remark to this war-at-home cook that we do not ask the kitchen to do anything different from the dining-room. Any of the food committees can supply a printed card that should be hung in every kitchen; and then let the cook suggest that she will live elsewhere and let her be greeted by this same card in the next kitchen.

It is surely "up to us" not only to sign the pledge, but live up to it, and if the cooks don't like it—thanks to Miss Farmer's Cooking School, many of our young people could doubtless serve us as good if not better food than the food the cook has thought best to give us.

Housekeepers all, show your courage, your determination to dominate your own kitchen, and let us help in our way to win the war.

FOR CLERK OF COURTS

HON. ARCHIE N. FROST OF LAWRENCE SEEKS OFFICE HELD FOR SO MANY YEARS BY LATE E. B. GEORGE.

Hon. Archie N. Frost of Lawrence, who has been acting as Clerk of Courts in Salem since the death of E. B. George last May, is seeking nomination to that office at the September primaries.

HON. ARCHIE N. FROST

Hon. Archie N. Frost is a native of Lawrence, where he was born in 1872. Graduating from the public schools there, he completed his education at Brown university. He was admitted to the Essex bar in 1898 and engaged in practice in Lawrence. Several years ago he was a candidate for district attorney of Essex county and came within two or three votes of the nomination. * For six years he was a special assistant to the United States attorney general in the settlement of government land suits.

He has always been active in Lawrence politics and served his district in the state senate for several terms. He was chairman of the memorable Republican county convention at Danvers in 1905, which took 31 ballots before naming a candidate for county commissioner, and his able handling of that convention was the subject of much favorable comment.

Mr. Frost was a member of the Republican national convention which nominated Charles E. Hughes for president. He has been a leader in the fight for the Merrimack river improvement and organized the legislative fight for that project.

He was appointed last May as clerk of courts for Essex county to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Clerk Edward B. George, the appointment

PAYING AMERICAN SOLDIERS

ARRANGEMENTS HAVE BEEN MADE FOR TAKING CARE OF THIS DETAIL IN FRANCE.

Several inquiries having been made at the offices of the Salem Chamber of Commerce as to the method for paying American soldiers in France, President Leland H. Cole of the Salem Chamber of Commerce communicated with the War Department and has been authorized to give publicly the following:

Arrangements have been made for paying the American soldiers in France in a way which will be convenient and advantageous to them and deny the Germans any opportunity to sink or capture any gold or United States money.

Each disbursing officer with the United States soldiers in France will simply draw on Uncle Sam. A big credit has been provided for this purpose—just what the sum is the War Department prefers should not be stated. It is more than ample for needs.

Each soldier will have this choice of being paid in French currency or in a check on the Treasurer of the United States. If he is sending his pay home, he will prefer the check as safer to mail. Periodically, probably once a month, announcement will be made of the exchange rate at which soldiers will be paid. This rate will be fixed with the aid of the Treasury Department and will apply until the date when the next announcement of exchange is due.

EAT A BANANA AND SAVE BREAD.

The best way to save flour is to stop the eating of bread. But such advice is worthless unless we know what to eat instead of bread. During these summer months our gardens and the cheap vegetables that flood the markets furnish the answer. But all the year around the banana, a tropical fruit, which is easily and cheaply grown, can be depended upon very largely to furnish starch and sugar and a good supply of mineral salts at a price which under ordinary conditions is no greater than wheat flour.

being until the next election, and his work in the position has been eminently satisfactory.

Mr. Frost is a 32d degree Mason, Knight Templar and Shriner, an officer of the Knights of Pythias in Wm. B. Gale lodge of Lawrence, and a member of the Odd Fellows and the Elks.

TAKING CARE OF SURPLUS VEGETABLES.

The amount of surplus garden products being raised in the gardens of the various communities of the country has led the various committees on food production and conservation to think of several different plans for using this material. Four plans are now either in operation or being considered quite seriously by as many different towns in this locality. The various plans are:

The Quincy plan: This city has set aside a public market place in which all those having vegetables for sale can bring them on Wednesdays and Saturdays. The market is open during the day on Wednesday, and the day and evening on Saturday. The committee has provided tables which they rent to those who care to use them to display their goods on, and also they set aside a place for wagons to back in their loads and sell direct from them. This market is governed by rules, so that it will be orderly and meet the requirements of the people who wish to visit them and purchase the products offered. This plan seems to have been worked out in good shape for a large community like the City of Quincy.

The Weymouth plan: This town has adopted the plan of having a central depot to which all surplus products of the gardens of the town can be brought. It is not the plan of this committee to sell in a retail way, but to put the vegetables before the dealers in the community and the surrounding towns.

The Walpole plan: Walpole has adopted an exchange system by the use of information cards which it has printed and will distribute among the townspeople. The card asks information as to the surplus products which the various gardeners will have for sale, and also asks for information from any who wish to purchase the different vegetables to store for winter use. After these statistics have been collected, they will be tabulated and posted on the bulletin boards which have been arranged for in the various shops of the town. Also, those that have vegetables for sale will be notified of those who wish to purchase through a postal card system.

The Bellingham plan: Bellingham has divided itself into neighborhood sections. Each neighborhood has had a leader appointed who keeps posted on the amount of surplus products in his territory, and also of any who are short of certain vegetables that they wish to have. These neighborhood leaders then inform those who wish to purchase or sell of the names of those who wish to exchange.

SWEET POTATOES TO MAKE A LARGE YIELD.

At a luncheon of the Real Estate Board at the Hotel Mason, Jacksonville, Fla., announcement was recently made that over 500,000 bushels of sweet potatoes will be raised on the 2600 acres of land in Duval County this year. The estimate is exclusive of the home gardens of the city of Jacksonville, its suburbs and the gardens over the county. No patch of less than an acre in extent was counted.

A reference to the report of the Commissioner of Agriculture for 1916 shows there were 1100 acres in sweet potatoes last year. The crop last year totaled 155,000 bushels and was valued at $150,000. It is estimated that this year's crop will be worth $300,000.

A careful computation of the sweet potato acreage in six counties indicates that the entire State of Florida will produce over 10,000,000 bushels this fall.

Gentleness and cheerfulness, these come before all morality, they are the perfect duties.—Robert Louis Stevenson.

OPEN SEASON IS HERE ON SHORE BIRDS.

The Commissioners on Fisheries and Game call the attention of hunters to the dates of the open season on shore birds in Massachusetts according to the Federal regulations on migratory birds.

Black breasted and golden plover, winter and summer yellow legs, August 16 to November 30, both dates inclusive.

Rails (except coots and gallinules), September 1 to November 30, both dates inclusive.

Jacksnipe, coots (blue peters) and gallinules, September 16 to December 31, both dates inclusive.

Only the above-named birds may be taken.

Contrary to the general impression that has been current lately, there will be no open season on any other shore birds.

ECONOMY AND RETRENCHMENT.

"Hotel proprietors and managers are working night and day on various schemes of economy and retrenchment and they are also considering the enormous waste which has been going on in hotels," says the Boston Courier, organ of New England hotelmen.

"In the old days when the 'American Plan' was in operation in nearly all the hotels of the country there was a great deal of this waste. The cleverest hotel men in the country have a tough problem before them in order to beat out the dwellers in hotels many of whom are bent on getting a great deal more than they pay for.

"These guests waste envelopes, writing paper, ink, pens and anything else that is furnished them free of charge. The latest inventions do not stop them from wasting water to such an extent that this feature of hotel life is becoming a very serious problem.

"The high cost of writing materials and also nearly everything used to run a first class house should be the stepping stone for owners as well as managers in building their plans to stop the enormous waste in their houses.

"Despite the coal shortage, which is known to every one throughout the land guests waste hot water and steam. Another point is the manner in which electric lights are used despite notices posted in guest rooms asking that they be turned out when not in actual use. Guests go out in the evening and leave every light burning, although they do not intend to return for hours.

"While all this turmoil is going on over the cutting down on the use of flour to make white bread, the Food Commission as well as the Public Safety Committee should make an effort to have hotel guests do their part in cutting down the great waste for which they are responsible and which amounts to thousands of dollars each year.

"Let us hope that something will be done in this direction which will bring relief to the hotel men whose expenses are ever increasing."

GERMAN "KULTUR"

ONE GERMAN DEMONSTRATES ITS EFFECTS—ON HIMSELF.

Somebody has mailed us the following item clipped from a western newspaper:

"A. S. Bryan, of the Indian River Provision company's store, on Monday received a letter from his mother, who lives in Missouri, in which she told of the narrow escape of a family of her acquaintance living at Harrison, on the Missouri-Kansas line, from death through a dose of German 'Kultur.' A tramp called at the door and asked the housewife for dinner. As that meal was about ready she told him to take a seat and she went outside to call her husband to dinner. A small daughter, playing about the door saw the tramp step to the table and sprinkle something over the dish of beans. She ran and told her father, who slipped his gun on and sitting to the table passed the beans to his guest, who refused, and upon being pressed insisted that he never ate beans. The farmer covered him with the gun and commanded him to eat beans. He ate and in five minutes was dead.

"That is the general tone of German 'kultur,' and there is too much of it sprinkled through our land already."

Two Italians contribute vocal and instrumental music. Castellani and Zardo—in what is termed "A Melodic Diversion." They also sing operatic numbers and their native folk songs. ### Horse Show for Red Cross Benefit a Brilliant Success

About $4,000 Netted for This War Relief at Rockmarge Driving Park, Pride's Crossing

WITH a flourish and smack of y<sup>e</sup> old coach days the exhibition of show-ring horses at Rockmarge Driving Park, Pride's Crossing, for the benefit of the American Red Cross came to a close last Saturday afternoon with Judge William H. Moore driving his famous greys to a handsome old coach that had crossed the ocean twelve times. In the coach stood the bugler dressed in his quaint garb. Long continued applause greeted the coach as it gracefully wielded its way around and around the fine track, the bugler blowing his loudest and the greys keeping such perfect step. The wheelers were Toronto and General, and the leaders, Lady Grey and Lord Grey. These were the winners of the Alfred Vanderbilt Memorial cup at Madison Square Garden last year and of the road four at the International in London. The coach accompanying Mr. Moore was drawn by four green greys never shown before, that were driven by George Chipchase, Mr. Moore's trainer.

The affair opened at 3.30 with a fine showing of the stallions, Rock Pride, Seaton Saxon and Bantam Bracelet. Band selections were played between the classes and the entries were called by the bugler. Class 2 showed Judge Moore driving Bountiful and Micah, both champions at noted shows. Mr. Chipchase drove Ruxton and Robinhood. Class 3, two-year-olds, were all bred by Judge Moore at his place, the Seaton Hackney Farm, at Morristown, N. J. The park teams were driven by Judge Moore and the trainer.

The ponies were exceedingly interesting. All have been bred at the Moore place and are always driven by Moore grandchildren or their friends. Bantam Bracelet was in charge of Edward Small Moore, Jr., of Lake Forest, Ill., and a little friend, Clarence Moore, the seven-year-old son of Mrs. Aksel Wichfeld of "Swiftmoor," Pride's Crossing, drove Bantam Princess. Quite the pluckiest little driver of all, however, was Fanny Moore, a grandchild, the daughter of the Paul Moores of Beverly Farms. The little girl is only seven years old, but manages her lines and whip in a manner that would do credit to a much older person. Seldom were the lines touched by the groom and then only to give a slight help around a difficult turn. The little girl was dressed in white muslin with a delicate pink sash and her white hat had trimmings of blue ribbon.

In the tandems Judge Moore drove Lord Seaton and Mathias-pick-em-up. The three-year-olds, seen in the ring for the first time at this show, were Medea, driven by Judge Moore, King Mahlo, and Mona driven by the trainer. The band played during the showing of these novices and they created much favorable comment from their action.

The five champions were shown as follows: Micah by Judge Moore, Raeburn by Edward S. Moore, Bountiful by George Chipchase, Whitewall Ariel by a groom, and Lord Seaton by John Davenport of Syossett, L. I., who came on for the show. In the single horses, Judge Moore drove Micah and Edward Moore, Moncrieff.

The ladies who drove were Mrs. Paul Moore and Miss Eleonora Sears. Mrs. Moore drove Melancthon and Molina to a handsome little basket phaeton. She was attractively dressed in a light summer gown of lavender and white striped material with which she wore a large deep purple hat with a wreath of pansies for its trimmings. Just the opposite from her airy garb was that of Miss Sears, who wore the regulation black tailored driving suit of severe lines with which she wore a brown straw with a band of black. Miss Sears phaeton was a George IV and she drove Whitewall Ariel and Raeburn.

Three tents were erected on the park at different points and the 1500 chairs under these and along the hillside were mostly taken, although many preferred standing or walking about the beautiful park.

Khaki and brilliant uniforms and some of the soft grays of the French officers made a charming picture among the pretty afternoon gowns of the ladies. Over 800 tickets were sold and the gate proceeds alone amounted to $1200. Wm. Seabury of Boston was the announcer and Horace Clark, the bugler.

Among those present (of course everybody on the Shore was there) were Mrs. Edward S. Moore just on from the West; Mrs. John H. Wright, who looked charming in a dress and hat of a begonia shade; Mrs. Sydney E. Hutchinson in a soft tan with a black hat and her little daughters in dainty white; Miss Katharine Tweed, chairman of the committee of arrangement, who wore a white wool tailored suit; and her assistants, Mrs. Bayard Tuckerman, Jr., Miss Louisa P. Loring, Miss Alice Thorndike, Miss Eleonora Sears, Miss Mary Curtis, George S. Mandell and Bayard Warren. Others noted were Mrs. Monroe Douglas Robinson, Mrs. Reginald Boardman, Mrs. Charles W. Amory and her house-guest, Miss Edith Perrin, a very attractive young girl from Washington; Mrs. Q. A. Shaw, Jr., Miss Eleanor Cabot, Mrs. S. V. R. Crosby, the Spauldings, who came down from Sugar Hill, N. H.; Mr. and Mrs. John R. McGinley and their daughter, Miss Lois McGinley, the Walter J. Mitchells, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel A. Culbertson, the Dr. Edwin Campbells, the Wm. A. Tuckers and Miss Marion Tucker; the James B. Wallers and their daughter, Mrs. John Borden, who is just on from Chicago, and also other house-guests. "Everybody" was there and all had a glorious time, and were seemingly loath to leave the grounds even after the band had played "Star Spangled Banner" at the close of the last and dramatic showing of the road teams. A special train brought many from Boston. The annual horse show (omitted last year on account of the death of Mr. Moore's brother) has always been a private social event of the season, and the public never before has had an opportunity of seeing the blue-blooded stock known on both sides of the Atlantic. Mr. Moore is deeply interested in the Red Cross and this year decided to give it as a benefit.

New Horticultural Hall To Be Dedicated

Ceremony of Acceptance of Completed Building in Manchester Next Thursday

AFTER seasons of planning and waiting for the way to open, which would make it possible for the society to have a permanent and suitable home, and after months of suspense after the funds were pledged to make such a home possible, the North Shore Horticultural society will have its dream realized on Thursday of next week. At 4 o'clock that afternoon the building will be formerly dedicated. National and state officials will lend their presence to the occasion. Lieut.-Governor Calvin Coolidge is to be one of the speakers. Mr. Timothée Adamowski and Mr. Wallace Goodrich, both of West Manchester, will assist in the program, the former with the violin and Mr. Goodrich at the pianoforte.

The new home is located on Summer st. extension,

Manchester, opposite the railroad station and is receiving the finishing touches of its construction, which has been under way since winter. The new building, which will be known as "Horticultural hall," was made possible through the generous subscriptions to the building fund by North Shore residents, chiefly among the summer folk.

Designed primarily as a place for lectures, exhibitions, and the other activities of the society, the building is planned also to provide a center for social activities of the North Shore. It will be available for the various functions of the summer season and in the winter will be scene of the social gatherings of the year round residents. The building has a main hall off the street entrance larger than any hall in this section of the North Shore. Below it will be another hall of similar size which will be available for banquets, etc. Both halls are 40 x 60 feet. A kitchen adjoins the lower hall and there is a stage in the main hall. The main hall has a gallery with considerable capacity. Conveniently located cloak rooms are situated in the wings. The building has a wide entrance with six steps leading up to the door. A commodious vestibule opens into the main hall by three doors and also connects with the gallery and lower hall by stairs.

The exterior of the building is still a bit unfinished in appearance owing to the condition of the grounds, although the building itself is ready. It is of the slap-dash finish so much used in this section. When the combined skill and knowledge of the gardeners of the North Shore are applied to the task of beautifying the grounds for next summer, it is needless to say that the building will have a setting worthy of its splendid architectural appearance. The building committee, which has worked so energetically to bring about the new home, is composed of the following: Alfred E. Parsons, chairman; F. J. Merrill, Eric Wetterlow, William Till, secy.; Axel Magnuson, Frank A. Foster, Herbert Shaw, Geo. S. Sinnicks, H. W. Purington, treas.; R. C. Allen, consulting engineer, and F. P. Knight, president of the society.

The architects who designed the structure were Kilham and Hopkins of Boston and the general contractors were Roberts & Hoare of Manchester.

From the Old Powder House

(Manchester, July 4th, 1917)

OAKS and pines and sweetbrier bushes,

A quiet brook, a white church tower,
The softest of midsummer hushes

At the noon hour,—

Here on the hill above the town
The powder house of other days
Still stands and silently looks down

On other ways:—

The ways of Peace—the pine tree sings—
The powder and the guns are gone,
This relic of unhappy things
Is left alone.

The tales of war across the seas—

Faint, ghostly screams
From that calm blue between the trees—
They are but dreams!

* * * * *

Then sudden on the silence peals a bell,
Only the church bell in the old white spire,
Yet now it seems a tocsin rung to tell

The world's on fire!

Insistently it rings my dream away,

Rings long and far,—

It calls again to liberty today,

Again to war!

Oh singing pines that sang to us of Peace!
Oh ringing bells that call us out to War!
Shall the old, ancient struggle never cease?

How long? How far?

Yet through the disillusion and dismay

One thing is clear,—

That the old call is calling me today,—

Oh bells, I hear!

THE MANCHESTER RED CROSS society sent the following supplies to Mr. Grandin at the Red Cross Supply Dept., 142 Berkeley street, Boston: 7 dozen surgical shirts, 27 sets pajamas, 24 nightingales, 18 fracture pillows, 180 slings, 84 T-bandages, 36 handkerchiefs, one convalescent robe, 3 water bottle covers and 70 wash cloths. The supplies were sent Tuesday, Mrs. F. Meredith Whitehouse sending them in her automobile. August 15 the society sent 50 T-bandages to the camp at Boxford through Miss Louisa P. Loring. Nine equipments are still held in Manchester, showing the great amount of work that the society is doing.

Mrs. William H. Hubbard of Lake Forest, Ill., who is spending the summer with her daughter, Mrs. Robert W. Means, at Beverly Farms, is on a visit to York Harbor, Me.

The little daughter that was born on July 28 to Mr. and Mrs. Frederic Sprague Goodwin (Juliet B. Higginson) has been named Alida Borland Goodwin. They are occupying the quaint house in Hamilton known as "Old Brown House," which is next to the Hamilton church.

Mr. and Mrs. Meredith Whitehouse of Manchester were called to New York Tuesday by the sudden death of a cousin of Mrs. Whitehouse.

Mrs. Henry P. King of "Sunset Rock," Pride's Crossing, will spend the latter part of the month with the Wm. S. Spaulding family at Sugar Hill, N. H., where they have been spending the most of the summer.

Dr. and Mrs. Freeman H. Hibben of "Island View," Magnolia, have been entertaining as their guest, Dr. Hackerman of Indianapolis, a prominent member of the medical fraternity there.

One of the surprises and delights at the musicale given by Miss Virginia Wainwright at "Att-Lea" the summer home of Mrs. S. Fisher Corlies and her daughter, Miss Margaret Corlies on Shore road, Magnolia, on Thursday afternoon of last week, was the appearance of Miss Helen McDonald of Gloucester, a protégée of Miss Corlies, a young girl who possesses a rich contralto voice of much promise. Miss McDonald entertained with several selections which were well received. Miss Corlies has arranged for a series of lessons for her protégée beginning the first of September with Mrs. Hall McAllister, who says that Miss McDonald has a quality of voice which shows splendid possibilities.

The Red Cross concerts given on the Shore this summer, one at Mrs. Bayard Warren's, one at Mrs. Oliver Ames', and the last at Mrs. W. B. Thomas' have netted nearly $1800. The committee in charge has been made up of Miss Louisa P. Loring, Mrs. Henry C. Clark, Miss Harriet Dexter, Mrs. F. L. Higginson, Jr., and Mrs. Neal Rantoul.

COL. AND MRS. CHARLES ARTHUR CARLISLE and their daughters, the Misses Anne and Kathryn, and son, Woodson, returned to their home in West Manchester this week from a trip to Indiana to attend the wedding of their oldest son, Charles Arthur, Jr. The wedding took place at Mellott, the home of the bride, Aug. 14. Mrs. Carlisle was Miss Marjorie Moore. The young people are now in the West Manchester home of the Carlises where they will be entertained until Mr. Carlisle reports for duty at the Savage Arms munition plant in Utica, N. Y., where he has been all of the summer. While in Indiana, Mrs. Carlisle (Anne Studebaker) attended to some of the duties connected with her position on both the country and state boards of National Defense. Owing to this important work Mrs. Carlisle is planning to return to her home in South Bend, Ind., by the middle of September. They have the attractive Howard cottage so charmingly situated on Highland avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. John N. Stevens (Leila Safford) of University lane, Manchester Cove, are receiving congratulations upon the birth of a daughter, Tuesday, Aug. 21.

Congratulations are being showered upon Mr. and Mrs. Gurnee Munn (Marie Louise Wanamaker) of Philadelphia on the birth of a son, the first, on Tuesday of this week. Mr. Munn is connected with the War department and is kept close to Washington this summer.

Mrs. Norman S. Mackie, who is with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John R. McGinley of Smith's Point, Manchester, will return at the end of the week from a short visit with Mr. Mackie at their home in Philadelphia.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur M. Jones of Summer street, Magnolia, have been entertaining as their house guests, Dr. and Mrs. Phillip E. Osgood of Philadelphia.

Mrs. H. M. Hanna, Jr., has been a recent guest in Beverly Farms at the home of her sister, Mrs. Paul Moore of Preston place, where she spent ten days before returning to her home at Willoughby, Ohio.

Mrs. F. L. Higginson is a member of the committee appointed by Sec. McAdoo to aid in a national campaign for the next Liberty loan issue. Mrs. Barrett Wendell of Boston is state chairman.

Mrs. John L. Saltonstall of Beverly Cove is making a good recovery from an operation for appendicitis she underwent about three weeks ago.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Palmer Gavit of Smith's Point, Manchester, have with them the latter's brother, Bryant Turner, of Colorado Springs, and his fiancée, Miss Beatrice Wetmore. Their wedding will soon take place at Warren, Penn., the summer home of Miss Wetmore, who is the daughter of the Edward D. Wetmores. They are being much entertained while visiting at the beautiful home of the Gavits.

THE SECOND AUGUST WEDDING on the North Shore took place last Friday, Aug. 17, in St. John's Episcopal church, when Miss Elise Ames, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Ames of Pride's Crossing became the bride of William Amory Parker, son of Mrs. Francis Stanley Parker of Nahant. The marriage was performed at 12.30 by the rector, Rev. Neilson Poe Carey. The bride was gowned in white satin with a court train. Silver embroidery was on the bodice and the tulle veil was fastened across the forehead with a band of silver embroidery. She carried orange blossoms. The bride's sister, Miss Olivia Ames, was the only attendant. Her dress was of white chiffon and her hat was white. She carried white flowers. Francis Brooks was the best man. The ushers included the bride's brothers, Oliver Ames, Jr., and Richard Ames; the bridegroom's only brother, John S. Parker; and his cousins Dr. Frederic Parker, Charles P. Curtis, Jr., Edward Bangs, W. Tudor Gardiner and Henry McBurney Parker. Miss Ames made a beautiful and dignified bride beside her husband, who has been commissioned a second lieutenant at Plattsburg. She was given in marriage by her father. Wallace Goodrich assisted by Mr. Meyers, the church organist, played the wedding march. The church was beautiful in its artistically arranged garden vases of rare speciosum lilies. The chancel contained four great vases of white ones, while in the rear of the church and along the side walls were set at intervals vases of white lilies and also pale pink ones, the clusters rising above the blue of the delphinium blossoms. The flowers were nearly all sent to Beverly hospital after the wedding. The sun which had been obscured by heavy rain clouds all morning came out and lent its charm to the happy event. A breakfast and small reception followed at the Ames' home, a pleasing feature of which was the announcement of the engagement of the bride's friend, Miss Rosamond Batchelder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Batchelder of Brookline, to John King Hodges, son of Mrs. Amory G. Hodges of New York.

Among the relative and friends at the church were the parents of the young couple and Mr. and Mrs. John Ames, Mr. and Mrs. F. L. BEVERLY has few places more attractive in general appearance than "Evergreen," where Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Prince Beal (Ida De Ford) of Boston, spend not only their summers but the greater part of the year. At the present time their garden shows up to most unusual advantage. The garden is laid out in a luxuriant and extensive plot in the rear of the house. Nothing formal is noted about the garden, only long and closely planted rows and beds separated by grass walks. Many old-fashioned flowers are seen, but just now, in the height of their season, is the phlox. The attractive perennial is in long rows and seems to predominate in about half the garden. Lavender, red, pink and white are the varieties shown. Great care seems to be taken in the color scheme and planting, making it one of the most attractive features of the place.

"SUNSET HILL," the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Harry Brown at Beverly Cove has a swimming pool about completed that makes an interesting and attractive feature on the place which has been much improved since purchased a few years ago. The pool is in a handsome structure housing the heating plant for the entire place including the garage and cottage on the estate.

The building is constructed of terra cotta blocks covered with stucco on the outside and having a plaster finish on the inside, and stands on a high cement foundation. The roof is made of Spanish tile inlaid with glass tile for lighting. Tile bricks are used for the walls and floor of the pool. The windows have the attractive White-nash with the circle-top transoms over them. The doors are of the French type. Four shower baths, a steam room, a hot air room, and five dressing rooms complete the inside comforts. Marble slab couches are in the bath rooms and all is arranged for the salt bath and those of the Turkish nature.

The main building is 58x36 and the two end wings are 15x30 each. Benjamin C. Clark, the contractor, and H. M. Hanson, the architect, are both of Gloucester. The foundation and basin for the pool was constructed by Simpson Bros. of Boston.

Mrs. H. B. Shaw (Alice Sohier) and little son, Herbert Bramwell, Jr., who spent last summer with her parents, Col. and Mrs. Wm. D. Sohier of Beverly Cove, are this season at North East Harbor at the summer home of Miss Elizabeth Sohier. Mr. Shaw is in service.

"The Birches," the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Ratchesky at Beverly Cove, is showing a beautiful display of bloom in the pretty little garden by the house. An unusual quantity of petunias is blooming in the beds nearest the house.

THE LARGE SIGN of the Page & Shaw Tea Rooms at Pride's Crossing, which caused some unfavorable comment, by North Shore residents, has been replaced by a handsome and appropriate sign of the Golden Lion, the trade mark of the company. The friendly spirit displayed by Mr. Dunham in accepting the criticisms of his neighbors in such a generous manner is greatly appreciated, and his sign is now a very attractive feature of the Shore drive.

The Puritan Tea Room at Montserrat had a very pretty luncheon Wednesday of fourteen covers given by Mrs. Charles A. Slee and Mrs. Greene of Marblehead. The decorations were the famous double pink poppies which the tea house garden has supplied all summer. Cards followed the luncheon.

It may interest many of our readers, residents of the North Shore, who are accustomed to patronize the many shops at Magnolia for their shopping wants during the summer, that it was Ernest and Edward Manahan of Boston—of the "House of Manahan"—who were the pioneers in this movement to make Magnolia a community shopping center. It was the courageous Frances Stearns who built the Tea Shop, now the North Shore Grill, and the "House of Manahan," who opened the first Apparel Shop in this same building in 1903. Miss Stearns did not live to see her work completed, having passed away some ten years ago. The "House of Manahan" is again at Magnolia, in The Colonial, exhibiting the season's most charming frocks, coats, blouses and sweaters. At the present time Manahan is having its 50th fall exhibit of smart tailored frocks, coats, wraps, blouses and tailor suits.

VISITORS to the Rehn Studio this week are enjoying the figure paintings which form an agreeable change from the landscapes and marines which heretofore have held the center of the stage. Prominent among these are two of the favorites of several weeks ago—shown again, by request—the virile, powerful “Moonlight Ride” of George Bellows, and Robert Reid’s prize winner at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition, “The Gold-fish Bowl.” Here this week also, are Robert Henri’s striking “Chinese Girl” and his quieter, but even more vital “Patience Serious.”

Newcomers, are two charming paintings from the brush of the “American Watteau,” Frederick Ballard-William: the one, a dainty little bit, called “The Brooch,” and the other a delightful old-world combination of figures in a forest, recalling the outings of the French court in the days of the Louis’. A jump from the old world to the new, is afforded in the North American Indian seated by his fire with his pipe and his pottery, as glimpsed somewhere in the great South West by the famous Indian painter, Irving Couse. Still another newcomer, and a great favorite is “The Japanese Screen,” by Edward A. Bell, the lithe droop of the figure in the chair, silhouetting itself so exquisitely against the gold background of the screen, and the perfection of workmanship in this little canvas must be seen and studied to be fully appreciated and will be found worth while. On exhibition as well, are “The White Kimono” and “The Greek Dance,” by Childe Hassam, “Mother and Child,” by Gerome Meyers, and “Artists Judging Pictures,” by George Bellows.

The annual golf match between teams representing the Essex County club and Myopia Hunt club, scheduled for August 25th, is postponed. The annual invitation four-ball tournament, postponed from August 2d, 3d and 4th, will take place September 13th, 14th and 15th, at the Essex County club.

Dr. James Henry Lancashire of “Graftonwood,” Manchester, has extended invitations to participate in the 8th annual Lancashire Handicap golf tournament on Tuesday morning, Aug. 28, at the Essex County club, and afterward to take luncheon with him at two o’clock, at “Graftonwood,” his North Shore estate. In the event of rain the luncheon will be given, but the tournament will be postponed until the next day.

Rev. and Mrs. Basil Hall of New York are at Manchester for a visit with the latter’s father, Dr. George H. Washburn, Masconomo street.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Carr Powell of Cincinnati, who, with their infant daughter, are now at their cottage, “Blue Spruces,” on Good Harbor road, Bass Rocks, have been entertaining the former’s brother, Frank E. Powell. Frank Powell is now living at St. George’s Hill, Weybridge, England, and is in this country for a short time on business.

Mrs. Gerald Morgan of New York, who before her marriage on June 3d of last year was Miss Mary Newbold, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Newbold of Hyde Park-on-the-Hudson, and who has been visiting with her parents at her grandfather’s, T. Jefferson Coolidge, at Coolidge’s Point, has returned to New York. Lieut. Morgan has been training at Plattsburg, receiving his commission and has been ordered abroad. He will sail for France in the very near future. Mrs. Morgan has returned to New York to be with her husband during the remaining days. Mr. and Mrs. Newbold are making their accustomed August visit at the Coolidge summer home.

Mrs. Evans Sewall, who spoke at the Pride’s Crossing home of Mrs. R. S. Bradley one Sunday afternoon a few weeks ago, wishes her thanks conveyed to all who responded so generously at this time of many demands. Aside from the $1200 received have been added gifts of rubber sheeting, eight hand woven blankets and some sheets, each carefully wrapped in cheese cloth tied with red ribbon and a card in each package to cheer the patients. In the last letter from the hospital at Avignon the chief surgeon writes as follows:

“I hope you will not mind my spending a little more money than usual, but I ordered a small glass of white wine and a cake for each man to drink to the United States on the Fourth of July.”

Rev. Maxwell Savage of Second Congregational society of Lynn, will preach Sunday, Aug. 26, at the First Unitarian church, Masconomo street, Manchester-by-the-Sea. Service at 11 o’clock. All are welcome.

Dr. Samuel McComb, canon of the Baltimore Cathedral, will take the services at the Emmanuel church in Manchester on the next three Sundays—Aug. 26, Sept. 2 and 9.

Rev. J. H. C. Cooper of St. John’s church, Gloucester, will take the service at Union chapel, Magnolia, Sunday. Services at 10.45, all seats free. The Holy Communion will be celebrated following the morning service.

Mr. and Mrs. Lowell M. Chapin of Manchester Cove returned Wednesday from a short visit to Watch Hill, Long Island.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Vaughan (Ellen G. Loring) of Beverly Farms are receiving congratulations upon the birth of a son last Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Swift of Beverly Cove have the latter’s sister, Mrs. Hildebrand of Little Rock, Ark., with them for her annual visit. Expected guests next week are Mr. and Mrs. Gustavus Swift of Chicago and Watch Hill.

Mrs. W. B. P. Weeks of Beverly Cove left Tuesday for a short visit in Marion. Her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Weeks, have been recent guests from their home on the South Shore.

Paul Moore of Beverly Farms left early in the week on a business trip to his home at Convent, N. J.

Mrs. Ezra C. Fitch returned this week to her home on Norton’s Neck, West Manchester, from a two weeks’ trip to Montreal and Quebec. Her son, Ezra C. Fitch, Jr., of West Manchester, has enlisted in the Royal Highlanders and was stationed at Montreal.

Mrs. Reginald De Koven of “White Lodge,” Manchester, left early in the week for Chicago to attend a wedding in Lake Forest.

Two of the most attractive little girls seen around Beverly Cove roads are Ruth and Lucile Swift, aged eight and four. They are the daughters of the George H. Swifts. With their baby sister, Eleanor, and the nurse and governess, they are often seen on the roads or on the lawn of the beautiful place in which they are living this season—the Pickman Gray House.

A guest at the Porter Pollock summer home in the Lee cottage on Shore road, Magnolia, the first days of the week was Miss Letitia Adams of Philadelphia, a girl friend of their daughter, Miss Mary Wick Pollock.

SALEM BOSTON CAMBRIDGE BROCKTON

ON SUNDAY, September 9th, a meeting is to be held at Mrs. W. D. Denègre's, West Manchester, at three o'clock, at which Mr. Hoover's program of food conservation will be fully explained. The meeting has been called at Mr. Hoover's request by a committee of ladies who are interested in war work, and Dr. Wilbur, who is director of the Conservation Department of the Food Administration at Washington, under Mr. Hoover, is coming on to make an address. This will be the first opportunity the North Shore has had to learn at first hand exactly what Mr. Hoover wants done and why he wants it. The subject is one of great importance; our supply of food may be the means of winning the war. Everybody is urged to go and those who have large households are asked to bring their cooks. Mrs. Denègre has given the use of her coach house, which will hold a large number of people. There is to be no charge for admission, and no collection will be taken up. The purpose of the meeting is solely to inform the people of the North Shore how they can best promote the success of the food conservation campaign. There should be a large attendance. Our people are patriotic and anxious to learn how they can help the country. This is their chance to get the necessary information.

Rev. Neilson Poe Carey has had his choir boys of St. John's church, Beverly Farms, at the Wm. Lawrence camp at West Gloucester, this week, in charge of Robert Smith and Mr. Meyers.

Caldwell Walker, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Harrington Walker of "Rockledge" on Shore road, Magnolia, who has been in France an active member of the U. S. Ambulance corps, is a visitor at the summer home of his parents, having just returned from the front. Mr. Walker is very interesting in his descriptions of the awfulness of the situation in France, and his stories are most graphic. Guests at the Walker home during last week were Boris Kuecher and Alfred Grimmer, both of New York.

Wu Tang Ti, a Pekingese with five champions in his pedigree, is the pet attraction at "Att-Lea," the summer home of Mrs. S. Fisher Corlies on Shore road, Magnolia. Wu Tang Ti is Miss Margaret's particular possession and is such an intelligent little fellow with many little accomplishments which make him a treasure in the household. He has won many medals, being a top-notcher in his type of dog, and at Mrs. Larz Anderson's dog show last May, created a sensation.

KERNWOOD COUNTRY CLUB at Salem was the scene of great festivities Tuesday afternoon, when the members had the honor of entertaining Ambassador Boris Bakhmetieff and members of the Russian mission.

The tables for luncheon were set out on the grassy terrace, decorated with flowers and flags, but owing to a sudden down-pour of rain, all was removed to the large dining room, while the orchestra played Russian airs on the piazza.

More than 150 members of the club and their families were present to make the guests comfortable and when they arrived at 3 o'clock, they were at once escorted to the dining room where an excellent luncheon was served.

A short period of speechmaking, with A. C. Ratchesky as chairman, delighted the club members. Ambassador Bakhmetieff in a few well chosen words extended greeting to the United States friends from their Russian friends and spoke also of the gratitude of the Russian for the words of sympathy and courage which came to them in their far off country during the months of the Revolution.

Mayor James M. Curley of Boston spoke a word of greeting and Louis Marshall of New York brought to the Russian mission words of cheer and promises of help from the great body of Jewish people in this country.

Among the members of the mission present at this gathering were Joseph Conry, Russian consul at Boston; Gen. Roop, who has won a place in the history of his country by his leadership in some of the campaigns on the eastern front; M. Sookine, minister of foreign affairs, Prof. Borodin of the department of agriculture, Baron Gunsberg, one of the ablest Russian publicists, Rev. Fr. Greverieff, Editor Bagocius, and about 25 other members of the army corps and attaches.

Noted among the club members on hand to receive the guests were Mrs. Bertha B. Frank, D. A. Ellis of Boston, M. Goulston, the Boston lawyer; J. Abrams of Boston, Mrs. Ferdinand Straus, Miss F. F. Friedman, Carl Dreyfus, M. M. Morse, H. Liebman, Lee Friedman, Dr. Milton Roseneau, Joseph H. Liebman, B. M. Wolf, Jr., Julius Eisman, Henry J. Adams, Adolph Erlich, Abraham Koshland and Mrs. Koshland.

Dedicatory exercises will be held at the new Horticultural hall, opposite the railroad station, in Manchester next Thursday afternoon, August 30, at 4 o'clock. Invitations will be issued to members of the North Shore Horticultural society and their friends and owing to the limited seating capacity of the hall attendance will be confined to those receiving invitations. State and National officials will be among the speakers, one of the addresses to be by Lieut.-Gov. Calvin Coolidge. Further particulars on Page 10.

SATURDAY, a day of glorious sunshine, marked one of the prettiest weddings which has ever taken place in Magnolia, when Miss Elvine Richard, the daughter of Mrs. Alice Moore Richard of New York and Magnolia, became the bride of Lieut. Curt Eric Hansen, Harvard '12, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl E. Hansen of New York.

MRS. CURT ERIC HANSEN, WHO WAS MISS ELVINE RICHARD, OF NEW YORK.

The ceremony took place in the Union Chapel amid a profusion of flowers, which displayed the best effort of both New York and Boston florists. Miss Richard was a beautiful bride, her tall, stately beauty made more lovely by her wedding robe of white satin embroidered in pearls, with cloth of silver train, and pointe de Venice veil, caught with orange blossoms and bandeau of satin and pearls. She carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and orchids. Her attendants were her sister, Mrs. H. Laurence Dowd of New York, as matron of honor, and Miss Margaret Miller of Richmond, Va., as maid of honor, who wore pastel blue chiffon with leghorn hats, banded in pale blue and wreaths of flowers, and carrying arm bouquets of Killarney roses. Miss Georgiana Solari of New York and Miss Eleanor Dietor of Baltimore, were the maids of honor, frocked in mauve chiffon with leghorn hats, banded with mauve and flower wreaths. The bouquets were Killarney roses.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, Edwin A. Richard of New York. The groom's attendant was his brother, Frederick Hansen, Harvard '14. Auguste Richard, a brother of the bride, who just finished at Plattsburg, acted as usher. The church was filled with invited guests, representative of North Shore's summer colony, all fashionably dressed. A military touch was added to the wedding because of the uniform worn by the groom, showing his military service.

The officiating clergyman was Rev. John McGaw Foster of the Church of the Messiah (Episcopal), Boston. Ernest Mitchell of Trinity church, Boston, played the wedding marches.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the east parlor of the Oceanside Annex, which was made very attractive by summer blossoms, vines and palms, the hotel orchestra furnishing music for the guests, who enjoyed refreshments and dancing.

The bride and groom were assisted in receiving by Mrs. Richard, who wore cafe au lait charmeuse and corn colored straw hat with turquoise blue ostrich; and Mr. and Mrs. Carl E. Hansen, the groom's parents. Mrs. Hansen wore a gown of pearl grey chiffon and satin with embroidery, and grey straw hat with flowers.

The groom, of the Officers' Reserve corps, finished at Plattsburg several days before the wedding and is soon to be commissioned to France for duty, his bride having prepared to accompany him by completing a course of Special Aid in a New York hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Hansen departed by motor for a trip through Maine, which will have Bar Harbor as its object point. Their send-off was accompanied by the proverbial old shoes and tinware, and showers of confetti. Mrs. Hansen's going away dress was of midnight blue charmeuse and faille with white satin touches, and with large hat of blue, embroidered in rose.

A WEDDING of interest on Wednesday was that of Miss Hetty Hemenway, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Hemenway of Boston, Marblehead and Readville, and Auguste Richard of New York, the son of Mrs. Alice Moore Richard, who summers at the Oceanside, Magnolia.

The ceremony took place at Readville where the Hemenways have a country home, and was a quiet affair, only the members of the both families and intimate friends being present.

The bride is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Hemenway, who have a town house on Clarendon street, Boston, and spend part of the summer at Peach's Point, Marblehead. Bishop William Lawrence an uncle of the bride performed the ceremony. Mr. Richard has just finished at Plattsburg. The bride has been very active in the Food Conservation movement, and with her mother, who was Miss Harriet Lawrence, has been doing much in food canning at the Clarendon street house.

Mrs. H. Laurence Dowd, a sister of Mr. Richard, who came up from New York to be matron of honor at her sister's wedding in Magnolia on Saturday last, when she became the bride of Lieut. C. E. Hansen, was a guest at the Richard-Hemenway wedding, as was the groom's mother, Mrs. Alice Moore Richard. Among other guests were Mrs. Walter Kibbe and Mrs. M. Moore Cross, both of New York, sisters of Mrs. Alice Moore Richard, who are spending a week at the Oceanside.

Christmas dolls for the kiddies! Have you thought about them yet? Others have and are daily visiting the Gertrude Shop, the "Little Shop Around the Corner" on School street, Manchester. Dolls of the imported order are scarcely to be purchased now. Many are bringing their expensive foreign dolls and having them measured for new outfits to be ready by Xmas. Exquisite doll clothes, complete in every wardrobe detail are made to order. Pajamas, rompers, bathrobes, nightgowns, coats and hats are among the outfits. Some beautiful dolls are seen in the shop, a few imported and others of American make.

Y<sup>e</sup> Rogers Manse in Ipswich is catering more than even to special dinner parties. Its lobster and chicken dinners are well known and many tourist and week-end parties find this a charming place to stay while upon the North Shore. adv.

WITH increasing numbers the Monday, Wednesday and Friday morning meetings of the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital Branch at Magnolia gather in the Oceanside Annex, and the work that these women have accomplished is marvelous. No branch of the War Relief is more accurate with than bandages and dressings than the Peter Bent Brigham hospital, which always sends a trained worker to instruct the ladies when a Branch is formed. Every minute detail is considered, and nothing too trivial to receive due care and consideration. Many of these bandages and dressings have been commended by the doctors on the fields of war. Several tables have been added to the already large collection and the work progresses with encouraging alacrity. Miss Eleanor H. Jones is the chairman of the Magnolia branch, and has fostered the good work exceedingly. Already many boxes have been packed and sent to the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital at Boston, which is headquarters for the work accomplished, where it is sterilized and then dispatched to France. The Wednesday morning meeting was in charge of Mrs. Samuel S. Stevens, who is also the treasurer of the branch. Noted among the co-workers were Mrs. William H. Coolidge, Mrs. George E. Carter, Mrs. J. L. B. Buck, Mrs. E. H. Binney, Mrs. George Stevens, Mrs. E. R. Catherwood, Mrs. Charles Platt, Mrs. C. C. Converse, Mrs. J. D. Cox, Mrs. Edith M. Binney, Mrs. F. R. Culbert, Miss Helen L. Coates, Miss Williams, Miss Faulkner, Mrs. E. B. Richardson, Mrs. P. E. Dutcher, the Misses Abbie and Helen Covel, Mrs. Lee McMillan. Because the branch is self-sustaining, to urge the members to be liberal is necessary, and up-to-date the showing of contributions has been very generous.

On Saturday evening Mrs. B. Stroh of Detroit, the mother of Mrs. Hiram H. Walker, and who is spending August with her daughter and son-in-law at their home on Fuller street, Magnolia, entertained at a dinner party at the North Shore Grill. Another dinner given at the Grill on Saturday night was one of fifteen covers, the host and hostess being Mr. and Mrs. Edward Douglas Stair of Detroit, who are spending the summer at Grape Vine Cove, East Gloucester.

A visitor with Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Livingston at Brinley cottage on Hesperus avenue, Magnolia, during the past week has been Miss Ruth King of New York. Miss King is deeply interested in War Relief Work in New York. Her sister is Mrs. S. Griswold Flagg, 3d, of Philadelphia, a prominent society woman in the Quaker City.

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Small, nee Mary Margaret Walker of Detroit, with their small daughter, are expected guests at "Rockledge," the shore home of Mrs. Small's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Harrington Walker at Magnolia, and are due to arrive about the first of September. Before her marriage Mrs. Small spent her summers in Magnolia and was a popular member of the younger set. Caldwell Walker has returned from a motor trip to Detroit, bringing back with him his sister-in-law, Mrs. Harrington E. Walker, who will make a few weeks' visit.

Y<sup>e</sup> Olde Burnham House in Ipswich was surely alive Sunday afternoon. Every table in the tea room and on both piazzas was taken. Among the patrons of the place is Mrs. Mahlon R. Bryan and family of the Oceanside. Mrs. Charles Callery was a tea guest this week. John Callery is a frequent guest. Mary Young Craig, her son, and Miss Sandmeyer, were dinner guests. Clement Studebaker, who is with his parents for a short stay at Rye Beach was also seen at the tea house. Mr. Searle had a party of four on Sunday for dinner, Mrs. Hill of Rye Beach gave a dinner Sunday. Now that the cool days come the tea house with its wonderful fire places grows more fascinating than ever.

"BROOKBY FARM" at Wenham Neck, the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Cole, was chosen early in the season for the Community Cannery of Hamilton and Wenham. It is located in the attractive stucco garage. The food conservation committee of the vicinity, with Dr. John C. Phillips, Jr., as chairman, has a woman's department of which Mrs. Cole is chairman. This woman's department has, as one of its features, the cannery, of which the committee in charge is composed of Mrs. John C. Phillips, Jr., honorary chairman; Mrs. John A. Tuckerman, chairman; Mrs. H. H. Whitman, secretary; Mrs. Frederic Winthrop, treasurer; other members being Mmes. Jacob D. Barnes, Edward B. Cole, Alanson L. Daniels, George H. Perkins, Barnard Leveque, George von L. Meyer, Henry P. McKean and Frank P. Trussell. The supervisor is Miss Adeline Wilkins, a former school teacher of Wenham. Girls from the village assist to supplement the work of the volunteer workers who give a certain amount of time weekly.

The work is all fundamentally educational. The object is threefold: first, to get in touch with housewives and to teach the principles of scientific canning and preserving of the garden surplus for winter use; second, to allow people to bring their own produce and do their own work, only charging for fuel; third, to actually can for people at a nominal price, usually so much a dozen, the people sending their own produce.

It is proving of great assistance to the busy housewife who is confronted with vegetables and fruits ripening at inconvenient times, and who can thereby save them for winter use by having them put up at the cannery. Of peas, such a risky product, not a jar has been lost this season, something unusual at the various canneries.

A carload of cans has been a generous gift to the place from Mrs. John Phillips. The value of the gift is appreciated in this day of high cost of cans. Next Monday will be a rushing day. The largest day's work yet has turned out 184 cans, but that may be exceeded Monday as the entire work of the day will be given to the Beverly hospital. All the products sent in or purchased for canning may be sent to the volunteer workers who will no doubt turn out many cans that day.

The place is delightfully cool and airy and immaculately clean. The attendants wear sung litte head coverings and it is the rule that no one can enter without a hat or head covering of some kind.

The array of vegetables and jellies in boxes, waiting to be carried to homes in the vicinity, shows the enormous amount of work done. On the shelves are particularly fine cans of carrots, beans, peas, beets, etc. Even meat and fish are shown canned at some of the demonstrations.

Instruction is given every Tuesday afternoon at the Cannery. Many a housewife who wants to can a little herself, whose cook perhaps objects to her presence in the kitchen, can here can and preserve to her heart's content. Another point is that garden produce may be accepted in place of cash payment for fuel and labor.

The food conservation committees of Hamilton-Wenham and of Manchester may consider themselves fortunate in having two such model canneries upon the Shore as this one and the Food Centre in Manchester.

THE COMMUNITY CANNERY of Hamilton-Wenham held a most successful "Beverly Hospital Day" on Monday. Among the workers who gave their time and energy—some of them for the whole day—were: Mmes. John Tuckerman, Frederick Winthrop, Edward Pickman, George Mandell, A. F. Sortwell, J. C. Phillips, Jr., F. P. Trussell, J. D. Barnes, Robert Walsh, Robert Robertson, J. D. Corcoran, Aylward, Frank Cole, and the Misses Helen Burnham, Frances Trussell, J. L. Cole and Horace Kilham.

Vegetables and fruit were donated most generously by Mmes. E. B. Cole, Charles Rice, Phillip Dexter, John L. Saltonstall, John C. Phillips, Sr., J. C. Phillips, Jr., Alanson L. Daniels, C. F. Ayer, George Mandell, Dudley Pickman, W. G. Sharp, Weiler, J. D. Barnes, Alexander Cochran and the Misses Appleton.

The hospital received as a gift 342 quarts of vegetables, 123 pints of jelly and 14 jars of jam. Mrs. E. B. Cole and her assistant, Mrs. Bernard Leveque deserve great credit for engineering the occasion so successfully.

HORSE SHOW for the benefit of the Red Cross and Welcome House in Boston will be held at "Green Meadows" on the Topsfield road, Hamilton, the estate of Mr. and Mrs. George Burroughs, on Sept. 15 (Saturday), at 2.30 p. m. There will be lady riders and lady judges. Only four classes will be shown consisting of teams of two hunters ridden almost entirely by ladies; open jumping, light and heavy weight hunters; ladies' and men's saddle horses; and children's ponies. Tea and music will be a feature. Trains will run from Boston, Salem and Beverly to make connections with the show. Itineys will meet trains and carry passengers for 10c to the grounds. The committee in charge is composed of Mrs. Frederick Ayer, Jr., Mrs. C. R. P. Rodgers, Mrs. George Burroughs, Mrs. Frederick J. Alley, Mrs. John S. Lawrence, Mrs. Albert C. Burrage, Jr., Mrs. Neil W. Rice and the Misses Mary Curtis, Alice Thorndike, Julia Appleton, Anna Agassiz and Julia Meyer.

The tea committee includes Mmes. Herbert W. Mason, A. N. Rantoul, Charles F. Ayer and Howard Doughty.

HAMILTON roads are ideal places for riding. Often as early as six in the morning riders are seen out on their handsome mounts. Among some are Miss Anna Agassiz, Mr. and Mrs. Neil W. Rice (Emma Mandell), the Misses Julia and Sibyl Appleton, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. S. Mandell, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Burrage, Jr., Miss Eleanor Seavey, the Mandell boys, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Moulton, I. R. Thomas and his daughter, Miss Elizabeth Thomas, Benjamin Mosely of Newburyport and Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Folsom. Mrs. F. H. Prince, Jr., is a rider who will no doubt be among the riders in the autumn festivities.

Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel S. Simpkins, Sr., of "Birdwood," Hamilton, entertained at dinner Sunday at the Myopia club in honor of Col. and Mrs. Thorndike Howe. Capt. John Simpkins and Second Lieutenant Willard motored over from Boxford and were also at the dinner. Mrs. Joseph Woods and daughter, Mrs. Norman Sturgis, and son, Joseph Woods, Jr., were also recent guests at the Simpkins home.

Mrs. Francis P. Sears (Marie Merrill) is spending a few weeks in Duluth, Minn., the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Merrill. The Sears family are occupying the Whitman-Hood cottage on Brown's Hill, the most sightly point in the country, and overlooking the Myopia Hunt golf grounds.

Samuel P. Mandell, 2d, of "Four Corners," who became interested in flying last summer, is now at the Ground school in Boston perfecting the art.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Perkins of "Green Court," Miles River road, have with them as usual their daughter, Mrs. Albert H. Carroll, and her young son, Hamilton Carroll. A guest of last week-end was Hermann Lagercrantz of Sweden, who is the head of the commission of his country conferring on the food question.

Some of the young golfers on the Myopia grounds these days are Jonathan Brown, Jr., and his brother Philip; Norman and George Vaughan; Robert and Frederic Winthrop; Tudor Simpkins and Jack Proctor. Jimmy Mandell is one of the young riders of Hamilton, taking rather to riding than to golf.

Mr. and Mrs. Rodolphe L. Agassiz left Hamilton some time ago for Calumet, Mich., where a little son was born, Aug. 10, in the family of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius C. Felton (Maria D. Agassiz). Mr. Agassiz has returned and Miss Anna Agassiz has now joined her mother in Calumet.

What can be the mission of the life-sized stuffed "dummy" propped up so conspicuously in a chair on the banks of the pretty little ponds at "Antique House," the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gerard Bement, is a mystery to the BREEZE writer, who walked around the seemingly deserted place Monday. Can he be to scare away birds, or for a garden ornament of the "unique," or to protect the fish (if the little ponds have them), or any other sane reason? The Bements have one of the most charming places in Hamilton, the old remodeled house with its artistic finish and surroundings making an unusual picture of harmony. But the "dummy" on the banks of the pond must be doing some part in the affairs of the place.

Travelers over Hamilton's roads these hot days are appreciative of the fountain in front of the town hall. Put there several years ago by Houston A. Thomas of Hamilton with the water from the well at Daley's market bubbling in it for both man and beast it is serving its purpose admirably, and induced a traveler to write this line of appreciation to Mr. Thomas.

Mrs. John G. Walker of "Ashleigh" has returned from a short visit in Wilton, N. H., where her daughter, Miss S. C. Walker, has taken a cottage for two months. Miss Walker usually spends the summers in Hamilton with her mother.

THE MYOPIA HUNT CLUB is preparing for its usual hunting season, opening Sept. 1, when there will be the drags and fox hunts each week. The usual Labor Day festivities have been abandoned this year. Practice polo is indulged in on Saturdays. Frederick Henry Prince and his son, Frederick Prince, Jr., and a guest, Mr. Rumsey, of New York, have been among the participants.

Mrs. Albert C. Burrage, Jr., left Monday for a week's visit in West Virginia. Upon her return she will go to Jackson, N. H., for a few weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Seavey of "Foxcroft" have with them for a short visit the latter's brother, C. M. Foster, of Toledo. S. Z. Foster, Mrs. Seavey's father, is spending the summer with them.

Alvin F. Sortwell of the coast patrol, U. S. Navy, was at his home for a short visit last week.

Mrs. John A. Tuckerman has returned from a two week's sojourn at Dark Harbor, Me.

Dr. and Mrs. John L. Thomas of "Ashleigh Cottage" have with them the former's sister, Miss C. L. Thomas of Columbus, O., who visits them each summer. Miss Bur-nap of Baltimore has been a recent house-guest. Mrs. Thomas is spending her days in the vegetable gardens and in canning, much extra garden produce having been raised on her place this year.

Mrs. G. E. Miles, who is spending the summer with her daughter, Mrs. John B. Moulton, is now at the Ocean-side, Magnolia, for her annual stay of a week or two.

Newcomers to Hamilton are Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Folsom of Boston, who are in the Safford house on Main street. Others are Mr. and Mrs. Wm. G. Mitchell of Lynn, who have the old remodeled house on Bridge street, known as the Geo. W. Fitz place, and formerly the Brown house.

George von L. Meyer, Jr., will leave for Plattsburg, Aug. 27. Among others in active service from Hamilton is R. C. Robbins, Ensign. Mrs. Robbins is now in Maine and will return to the Hamilton home Oct. 25. Capt. Geo. C. Donaldson will represent the local residents at the Ayer camp where he will be in charge of the 306th company.

Though the world's standard of judgment may be based on rank and worldly possessions, the judgment of God is based on character.

AJAX is the handsome German police dog that keeps his eye on all of the happenings at "Swiftmoor," the Pride's Crossing home of Mr. and Mrs. Aksel Wichfeld. The partner of his joys and sorrows is Alma, another fine specimen of dogdom. These dogs belonged to Vernon Castle, who, before his departure for the front, sold them to Mr. Wichfeld. Many other dogs, including some fine Eskimo dogs are seen on the place. But Ajax is ever on the alert to give a cordial welcome to anyone who wants to wander down to the beautiful rose garden, one of the finest on the Shore, to enter which, through the long arched entrances, is ever a treat. The whole place is so beautiful with the great white house crowning the terraced slope and lawns and gardens running down to the sea, that it is no wonder Ajax takes such good care of it.

IPSWICH is planning a Red Cross benefit for the last Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of September. It will be one of the late season's social functions and more details will be given later. The various churches are arranging for tables and other bazaar features.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard T. Crane, Jr., of "Castle Hill" are on their annual fortnight visit at Jefferson, N. H. They are accompanied by their two children, Cornelius and Florence.

Rev. and Mrs. Roland Cotton Smith, who have been in their Washington home all summer in order to be near their son who was stationed nearby, are in New York and are planning to open their Ipswich home, "Cottonfield," for the remainder of the season. They spent all of last season in Ipswich after an absence of several years.

Richard Campbell is home from Plattsburg for a short visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jere Campbell, and at the home of his grandmother, Mrs. Charles A. Campbell of "Fairview."

The Surgical Dressings society is having an attendance of about 25 in the Friday afternoon meetings in the Warren street school. These are in charge of Mrs. Francis R. Appleton and Mrs. Eugene Crockett. Much work has been turned out by this little group of energetic women who have been devoting the summer to the good work. The various members of the summer colony and local residents are among the workers. The output is sent to the Peter Bent Brigham hospital in Boston.

Miss Louise Homer is a guest of the Misses Woods in Ipswich. Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Woods and their daughters have recently been on a motor trip to Prout's Neck, Me. They are dividing their time between Y<sup>e</sup> Rogers Manse and their newly purchased home on Essex road, which is being made ready for occupancy.

Y<sup>e</sup> Rogers Manse is becoming a popular place for auto parties to stop over on their way to and from the mountain regions. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Pratt McKean of Philadelphia were recent over-night guests on their way to Poland Springs. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Sutton of Baltimore have also been registered. Mr. Sutton is the grandson of Gen. Sutton, who was a former owner of the beautiful Searle estate. H. P. Benson of Salem was over with a party of ten. Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Vaughan of Peabody and Philadelphia were guests on their return to the latter place from the White Mountains.

Ipswich was visited by the Rye Beach and Little Boar's Head Garden club last week. The seventeen members and invited guests made up a party of 32 who visited the famous Barnard gardens and afterwards were entertained at tea at the South Green Tea House by two of the members. In the party was Mrs. Willard Emery of Topsfield, an honorary member of the club. Officers are Mrs. Edgar R. Champlin, pres.; Mrs. Geo. L. Allen, treas.; Miss Edith Scott, rec'd. secretary, and Mrs. George M. Studebaker, corr. secretary. Another group entertained at the tea house was made up of Mrs. Henry L. Dawes, Mrs. Robert Kimball, Mrs. Richard Grant of Dayton, O., who is spending the summer in Ipswich, and Mrs. F. H. Richardson, who was hostess.

The Ipswich Surgical Dressings class, which meets Friday afternoons in the Warren street school (given up to Red Cross work this summer) under the management of Mrs. F. R. Appleton and Mrs. E. A. Crockett is supported by a small fee from each worker who attends. So far only gauze compresses in different sizes have been made and sent to the Peter Bent Brigham hospital.

THE beautiful Benjamin Stickney Cable Memorial hospital in Ipswich is now open and fulfilling its mission. Last week six patients were registered. The nursing staff consists of five graduate nurses under Mrs. Helen S. Chapman, superintendent. The hospital garage, containing two rooms and a bath for men employees, will be finished by October. The ambulance arrived the past week. It is very unusual for a small hospital to have an ambulance, usually the town ambulance serving a hospital in emergencies. But through the generosity of the donors of the hospital, Mr. and Mrs. Crane, Jr., of Ipswich and Chicago, this fine ambulance is included in the equipment of the place. It is mounted on a Ford chassis and is like the ones used by the Mass. General hospital in Boston. The eight acres surrounding the hospital will be plowed up this fall and seeded and laid out in beautiful grounds by Arthur A. Shurtleff of Ipswich, Argilla road, who is giving his services as a landscape gardener. The hospital workers met last Thursday, a week ago, when 15 were present. Sewing for the hospital rooms will be carried on at a monthly meeting until the linens are completed. The ladies sewed during the past year under the chairmanship of Mrs. George E. Barnard, who has now resigned on account of planning to be away from Ipswich most of the winter. The superintendent will be in charge of the sewing, hereafter.

The hospital welcomes gifts of papers, magazines, books, flowers, vegetables, articles of clothing, etc.

Not far from the new hospital, and on the Essex road entering the town, is the Giles Firmin Garden (the subject of an illustrated article in last year's BREEZE). The tablet placed at the entrance last season by Francis R. Appleton of "Appleton Farms" pays tribute to the first physician of Ipswich, and reads: "The Giles Firmin Garden, maintained by voluntary contributions for the use and benefit of the public. Dr. Firmin was the first Ipswich physician. He returned to England in 1644 and became a prominent Puritan preacher. His house lot included this spot. For the proprietors, T. F. Waters."

It seems rather a coincidence that the first hospital and the park marking the site of the first physician's house should be so near together.

Francis R. Appleton, Jr., is among others returning from Plattsburg, and is with his parents, the Francis R. Appletons.

WENHAM TEA HOUSE notes.—Last Saturday, the day of the Rockmarge horse show, 151 guests were at the tea house. Mrs. Charles D. Sias of "Sunny Slope Farm" entertained her week-end guests, Miss Endicott, Mr. and Mrs. Moir and Miss Edith Moir of Chestnut-Hill.

Miss Rosamond P. Johnson of Hamilton entertained six guests among whom were Richard Gorham and Benjamin Currier. Other guests were Mrs. A. H. Morse, six guests; Dr. Arthur Broughton of Jamaica Plain, a party of eight from Bass Rocks; Mr. and Mrs. John Clay of Eastern Point, a party consisting of Mrs. S. P. Pollard and her granddaughter, Miss Barbara Gale of Swampscott, Mr. Andrews and Miss Welch.

Among some of the frequent and recently heavy purchasers at the quaint little Wenham shop of the Dennison House Folk Handicrafts have been Mrs. Carl Brandt, Mrs. Edward M. Pickman, Mrs. Paul Moore and Mrs. H. M. Hanna. The little shop is offering many attractions made by women who are thus helped by Dennison House.

No man has failed until he has lost his cheerfulness, his optimistic outlook upon life.—Author Unknown.

OCEANSIDE HOTEL MAGNOLIA

AS THE SUMMER ADVANCES into what promises to be the longest season which has ever been known in Magnolia, the popularity of the Oceanside hotel dances increase with amazing brightness. No doubt the added numbers to the dancing contingent on Saturday evening were due to the many young men who are enjoying furlough after training at Plattsburg, and these clean-cut young Americans with their bronzed faces and uniforms of olive-drab were inspiring to the large groups which looked-on as the dancers glided through the numbers of the dancing program. The girls, with the incentive of having brothers and beaux newly arrived from camp, and the desire to appear at their best, donned their loveliest frocks, gay in hues like the butterflies wings so gauzy and shimmering.

In a frock of sunset pink chiffons was pretty Jean Middleton. Miss Eleanor Wheeler of Washington wore a lovely frock of turquoise blue taffeta with white lace flounces. Mrs. F. D. Stranahan of Toledo wore a striking gown of black satin combined with white in surplice model. Mrs. Charles D. Callery of Pittsburgh and Pasadena was very stunning in a beautiful gown of rose taffeta threaded in lace pattern in gold. Black taffeta heavily embroidered in thread silver and touches of silver lace fashioned the exquisite gown worn by Miss Christine Miller of Pittsburgh. Mrs. Lily Middleton of New York, who chaperones her pretty debutante daughters at all the dances, was noted in black taffeta with paillettes of silver embroidery. Helen Middleton wore a gown of moonlight glow metal cloth. Mrs. G. P. Oliver of New York wore mauve taffeta and net with gold embroidery. Miss Jennie Adsit, who was hostess to a party of guests at dinner preceding the dance, wore heavy black taffeta with embroidery of silver and lace.

Miss Helen Miller, one of Plymouth's foremost women, is spending August at the Oceanside. On Saturday evening Miss Miller was noted in black taffeta with panels of silver and touches of black tulle. Mrs. H. Laurence Dowd of New York, who came up for her sister's wedding, Miss Elvina Richard, was noted at the dance wearing a Callot gown of Belgian blue metal cloth with embroidery of silver.

Miss Margaret Miller of Richmond, Va., the maid of honor at the Hansen-Richard wedding on Saturday afternoon was among the dancers at the Saturday evening hop wearing a lovely frock of shell pink faille, jouave model, showing touches of white lace and pearls.

Cyril Harcourt of New York is a visitor at the Oceanside for a lengthy stay, having come up from New York to be a guest at the Hansen-Richard wedding. So many friends has Mr. Harcourt found among the Magnolia colony that he is prolonging his stay. Prominent in social life of New York, Mr. Harcourt is also a playwright and author, "A Pair of Silk Stockings" and "A Place in the Sun" are from his pen.

EVERYONE is sorry for the departure of Miss Christine Miller, who returned to Pittsburgh, her home, on Tuesday evening, after a pleasant summer at the Oceanside Magnolia. Miss Miller, a concert prima donna, with a rich contralto voice is well-known to music lovers in the United States and Canada. Her voice is heard in many favorite ballads on the Edison. After a short stay in Pittsburgh, Miss Miller will begin her concert tour in Toronto on Sept. 3d.

Capt. John D. Harrison, who is stationed at Fort Myers, Va., is a guest of his aunt, Mrs. F. L. Potts at the Oceanside hotel during his furlough of several weeks. Mrs. Potts entertained at bridge on Monday evening in the lobby of the hotel.

Madame Simone Guérin of Chicago with her little daughter have been recent guests at the Oceanside hotel for a week's stay. Madame Guérin is the wife of a French officer who has been at the scene of many of the greatest battles of the past six months on the battle front. Because of the unsafety which attends all women in the warring countries, Madame Guérin came with her little daughter and attendants to the United States for protection. From Magnolia Madame Guérin will visit at Newport, where she has many friends.

Mrs. H. W. Tillinghast, who spends the summer at the Oceanside, and who has many friends among the hotel and cottage colony, is entertaining Mrs. H. D. Noble, Jr., of Albany, N. Y., for a few weeks' visit. While here Mrs. Noble will be much entertained.

Following their custom of last year, Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Martin of Plainfield, N. J., and their daughter, Miss Elsie, arrived at the Oceanside on Sunday to spend a fortnight.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dow of Brookline motored down to Magnolia on Saturday afternoon, to take dinner, later joining in the dancing. Mrs. Dow was robed in blue panne velvet with rhinestones and lace.

For their usual fortnightly stay in August, Hon. and Mrs. John R. K. Scott of Philadelphia, accompanied by their son, Hardy, are registered at the Oceanside hotel. Included in their party are Frank A. Harrigan and Mrs. Mary M. Savidge, also of Philadelphia. Prominent in the legal and political life of Philadelphia, Mr. Scott has the distinction of being the brightest light in criminal law in the whole state of Pennsylvania.

The St. Louis contingent at the Oceanside is again charmingly increased by the arrival of Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Walker, Jr., and D. D. Walker, 3d, who are motoring through New England and who will make a short stay at the hotel.

Distinguished visitors at the Oceanside for the first days of the week were Mrs. Henry A. Alexander of Newport and Mrs. Douglas with maids and chauffeurs. The ladies are prominent in society circles in Newport where Mrs. Alexander is spending the summer having closed her house "The Horvestead," at Southamton, L. I., for Newport's busiest months. Mrs. Alexander renewed her many friendships on the North Shore during her stay, including that of Mrs. Newbold Leroy Edgar of New York, who is summering at Bass Rocks.

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM F. MORSE of Brookline are prominent among the Boston guests who are spending the summer at the Oceanside, Magnolia, where they are delightfully located in Highland cottage, one of the hotel group. Mrs. Morse, who is noted for her entertaining, and who has done much War Relief Work, is laboring indefatigably in the Branch, for the fashioning of clothing for the destitute children of French soldiers, which she has established at Magnolia. The Branch meets in the Oceanside Annex every Tuesday and Thursday mornings, and the unit is steadily becoming larger, due to the pleasing personality of its chairman, Mrs. Morse. Already much has been accomplished by the Branch, the little garments being sent to the Boston Branch of the French Wounded Relief Fund, just as soon as completed, which expedites the work. Many of the little garments which were fashioned a few weeks ago, have already reached the shores of France and are doing service for these little children, innocent sufferers, who love "ze wonderful Americains" as they say. Mrs. Morse has plans for a novel entertainment to take place in her Brookline home in the fall, to obtain funds for carrying on the stupendous work.

Mrs. Charles Platt, one of Philadelphia's most prominent women in philanthropy, who is spending the summer at the Oceanside as the guest of Mrs. Emma R. Catherwood also of Philadelphia, is anticipating the arrival of her son, Henry Platt, who has been a member of the training camp at Niagara, and who will come to Magnolia during his furlough.

Coming down from Boston for the week-end, Richard Warner was the guest of his aunt, Mrs. A. W. Hobart at the Oceanside hotel.

Although not yet eight years old, Master Joseph Clendenin, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Clendenin of Ardsley-on-the-Hudson, N. Y., who are spending August at the Oceanside is an accomplished dancer, although not having, as yet, had much instruction in the art of Terpsichore. On Saturday evening with assurance and not a small amount of grace, Master Joseph lead his several partners through the intricacies of the dance much to the admiration of his observers.

THE YOUNGER SET is regretting the departure of Edward Hussey, who returned to his home in St. Louis on Sunday after a very pleasant summer at the Oceanside, where he was extremely popular with his group of young people. Edward is a student at Andover and will pursue his studies there during the coming winter. While at the Oceanside he was ever a member of all the young people's good times, and was always a popular partner at the dances. His mother, Mrs. D. B. Hussey, and sister, Helen, will remain at Magnolia until September.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar M. Johnson of Cincinnati, who are spending the summer at the Oceanside with their sons, and the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Pollok, took a motor trip to Williamstown, Mass., last week, to arrange for the entrance of their son, Edgar, to the freshman class at Williams college.

A birthday luncheon was given at Baldpate Inn, Georgetown, on Thursday of last week by Robert C. Flack of Troy, New York, who with his father Clarence N. Flack is a guest at the Oceanside. It was the occasion of the birthday of Miss Florence S. Clarke of Woonsocket, R. I., who is a guest of the Flack's at the Oceanside, and the young people had a splendid luncheon and a good time, making the trip by motor. The party included Florence Clark, Jean Middleton, Ethel Morse, Miss O'Sullivan, Edward Hussey, Herrick Brown and Robert C. Flack, all Oceanside guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Parker have come down from their home in Boston to be guests at the Oceanside for the week. They are occupying apartments in Sea Vista, one of the hotel cottage group.

Mrs. Walter Kibbe and Mrs. M. Moore Cross of New York, sisters of Mrs. Alice Moore Richard are making a week's stay at the Oceanside. They came on for the Hansen-Richard wedding last Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Reynolds and Mr. Van Wie of Toledo, who are house-guests at "The Rocks" the summer place occupied by Mr. and Mrs. John North Willys, at West Manchester, took luncheon at the Oceanside on Friday of last week, coming over to renew acquaintance with many of their friends from Ohio who are summing here.

A CHILDREN'S PARTY will be given in the ballroom at the Oceanside on Thursday afternoon, August 30th, by Miss Evangeline Beane, and will take the form of a costume affair. The participants are requested to come in costume representative of some book, and the fun will be in the guessing. Many of the young ladies at the hotel and young men also, will be present, dressed as the title of some book may suggest. The scope of titles is so large, and the incentive of being distinctive is so great that the party ought to prove a very pleasant one. The children of the summer colony have been invited.

On a leisurely motor tour through the New England vacation land, Mrs. F. S. Crowthers, Miss Dorothy Crowthers and A. J. H. Brooks of New York, are spending a few days at the Oceanside, arriving on Wednesday. Their itinerary includes Bretton Woods and Poland Springs.

Miss Genevieve Clendenin has joined her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Clendenin, at the Oceanside after a pleasant stay at Newport where she was much entertained. The Clendenins' town home is at Ardsley-on-the-Hudson, N. Y. Miss Clendenin with her sister, Florence, are pleasing newcomers to the dancing set.

For a stay of several weeks in Sea Vista, one of the cottages of the Oceanside group, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Parker of Boston are pleasantly located, and are finding many of their friends in the hotel's clientele.

Mrs. B. F. Clyde of Philadelphia has been making a short visit with her sister, Mrs. E. R. Catherwood at the Oceanside. Another visitor has been Nelson Catherwood, Mrs. Catherwood's son, who spent the first days of the week at the hotel.

Bartlett Guild, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Guild of Boston, who are summering at the Oceanside, was a week-end visitor at the hotel and was a member of the dancing set at the weekly hop.

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Davis of New York and Master David Anderson of Youngstown, Ohio, are occupying apartments in East Flume cottage for the remaining summer days.

Motorists over the week-end included Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Wheelock and Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Haskell of Worcester and Miss Ida M. Peacock of Winchester, the party enjoying the weekly festivities at the hotel and the beautiful drives which surround Magnolia.

Motorists through Magnolia who enjoyed the hospitality of the Oceanside for several of the first days of the week were Mr. and Mrs. Jerome V. Bonaparte of Washington and Newport. Mrs. Bonaparte, who is prominent in the social life at Washington and Newport, was before her recent marriage, Mrs. Blanche Pierce Strebeigh. "Pinecroft Cottage," the Bonaparte summer home at Newport, is the scene of many brilliant social functions during the summer season.

The Tuesday evening dancing, while not in the large numbers of Saturday, was very pleasing. The young people joined in the rhythm of the dance with a great amount of vim, and one need not be reminded that Plattsburg was represented. There were many young officers in uniform, dancing with girls in flimsy gowns of chiffon and tulle, and the sight was a very pretty one. Miss Evangeline Beane, who had charge of the dancing wore an exquisite Lucille frock of rainbow chiffon over day-break yellow taffeta, the bodice being completely composed of iridescent sequins. Pretty Suzanne Anderson wore a girlish taffeta frock of sea-foam green, flounced and bouffant.

Clarence N. Flack of Troy, N. Y., who is spending August at the Oceanside, is entertaining A. P. Mills of Albany for the remaining days of the month.

The atmosphere at the Oceanside hotel is charged with matrimonial proclivities judging from the way the kiddies go about, planning their coming weddings, or better still enacting them. The Hansen-Richard wedding of the past week was witnessed by all the children at the hotel, and the impression on their young minds was indeed remarkable. Almost before the wedding party had gone away, a little boy and girl carrying flowers and clasp arms, with vines about their head, said that they were "getting married." On Monday, a pretty sight was the "getting married" of little Phyllis Hull and Master Clendenin. On the lawn at the rear of Wilkins cottage the children were found kneeling upon a rug, the girl in a long, white dress and wreathed with flowers, the boy, solemn, but willingly becoming the benedict. The "ceremony" was performed by Ethel Hull, who almost immediately announced her engagement "to the boy she likes best." These youngsters were not the least frivolous over the events, indeed rather serious, which is charming to note.

Nearly one hundred of the Oceanside guests were in attendance at the horse show given on the estate of Judge William H. Moore at Pride's Crossong on Saturday afternoon, last. Many of the clientele formed motor parties and enjoyed a very pleasant trip, withal.

At the Oceanside for the remainder of the season are Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Voorhees with their daughter, Miss Janet Voorhees, arriving from their town home at Nyack, N. Y., on Wednesday.

Remember there are two shows every evening at the Larcom theatre, Beverly,—6.30 and 8.30, the last feature never starts until 9.30. Cool as ocean breezes. adv.

THE AFTERNOON CONCERTS on the broad veranda of the Oceanside hotel give much pleasure and furnish a charming source of amusement for the guests, who daily, if the weather be fine, gather, each taking his or her favorite seat and surrounded by friends the concert hour is one of keen enjoyment. Since knitting has become so universally popular, the ladies and little girls, too, almost without exception occupy their fingers with the needles and yarn, and often a great deal of knitting is accomplished in one afternoon. The concerts are always very good, the program, almost always being composed of the semi-classical music and the latest operatic hits. When the day is dull, and the vapor of the sea is felt, the concert is given in the parlor of the hotel, and then, as on other occasions, they are well attended.

Week-end guests at the Oceanside were Mr. and Mrs. John Hammer of New York with their daughter, Miss Hammer. They are touring New England in their motor car, and upon returning from a visit through Maine will make a more lengthy stay at the hotel where they have many friends.

New Yorkers who are guests at the Oceanside for a few weeks' stay are Mr. and Mrs. H. K. Evans, who are renewing their friendships formed several years ago when they last visited Magnolia.

James T. Rogers and L. M. Lindsay, both prominent men of affairs in Montreal are guests at the Oceanside for a stay of several weeks.

For their usual two weeks' stay in August, Frank Thomas and sister, Miss S. L. Thomas were arrivals of the first of the week, and are pleasantly located in Perkins cottage.

Mrs. E. M. Binney had for her guest on Monday, Lieut. John D. Hanson of Fort Myer, Va.

EASTERN POINT.—The East Gloucester colony is teeming with life these days, boating, bathing, fishing and golf being indulged in daily by throngs from the cottages and hotels. The latter are now doing a big business and accommodations are being furnished in private homes for the overflow, in many instances. The regular weekly dances at the Hawthorne Inn casino, draw out hundreds of dancers.

Now that the splendid tableaux production of the "Arabian Nights" of last Friday night, at the Hawthorne Inn casino, is a past event, long to be remembered by those who witnessed it, the next affair which is on the lips of both young and old is the annual bal masque, which takes place this Saturday evening, in the casino. Prizes will be offered for the most original costume, most attractive man's, woman's and child's costume. The grand march will be from the Inn to the casino, at 8 o'clock. Mrs. Alice Fischer Harcourt is the prime mover. The house orchestra will furnish the music for the occasion.

An attractive affair, on last Saturday afternoon, on the lawn and in the orchard of Grove cottage, Hawthorne Inn, was the lawn sale held by Mrs. Edward Flash of Staten Island, New York. It was called Bayberry Corners and the booths of fancy articles and refreshments were all very attractive, presided over by guests at the Inn. The sale was held for the benefit of the Red Cross and over $500 was realized for this worthy cause. Mrs. Flash is to be congratulated upon her success and all friends who assisted are thanked by her.

An artistic as well as interesting event, was the Arabian Nights, Greek frieze and tableaux, dramatic and musical held in the Hawthorne Inn casino, for the benefit of our soldiers and sailors. About 800 people were present, taxing the seating capacity of the big casino. The tableaux were beautifully arranged, the poses and color effects being very artistic. Louis Kronberg, the Boston artist, was director, assisted by A. H. Atkins, the Boston sculptor. Miss Lucy Conant painted the scenery, used and Miss Theresa Bernstein was designer of the costumes, all most creditably done. Miss Adeline Piper was assistant director; Daniel O. Brewster, stage manager; Langdon Gillet, assistant manager; Miss Jean Oliver, publicity; Mrs. W. K. Harcourt, business manager; and Miss Nina Stockton, secretary.

Three attractive posters were auctioned by Lois De Foe, dramatic critic of the New York World, and these were sold to John Greenough, Percy Atherton and Mrs. Joseph A. Flannery, bringing in an additional amount of $33 towards the receipts of the evening.

Stirring patriotic numbers on the program were the tableaux "France" and "America." Harrison Bennett sang "The Marseillaise" in the former and Mrs. Alice Fisher Harcourt recited the "Battle Hymn of the Republic." The story of "Arabian Nights" was charmingly read by Mrs. Lelia Ellis to three children, all sitting on an old-fashioned garnet-covered sofa, at one side of the stage, and at intervals, the various characters in the story were shown from a square opening curtained in the center of the stage. Not only did guests of the hotels participate in this important affair of the mid-summer season, but people from cottages all along the Shore took part, many being professionals, while others were very talented. The various characters and those taking part were: Sinbad, the Sailor, William E. Atwood; Karl Nordell, Sinbad, the Landsman; George L. Noyes, J. H. Emerton, all painters, Mrs. Allen Taft and Mrs. Grace Stewart; The Snake Episode, Scott O'Connor, Dr. W. T. Bailey, Walter Johnson; The Three Calendars, W. E. Nolro, Wayne, Ind.; Paul Diserens, Cincinnati, O.; Dr. and Mrs. F. L. Maguire, Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Shepard, Plainfield, N. J.

Dr. and Mrs. Stewart Reed of Hartford, Conn., are guests at Hotel Beachcroft.

An exhibition of paintings by the artists of Cape Ann, is being held at the Galleries-on-the-Wharf, the galleries of Col. Wesson, at the end of Rocky Neck avenue, until September 4, daily from 10 to 5 o'clock, and Sundays, 2 till 5 o'clock. Local subjects of coast and harbor are on exhibition, besides portraits and still life. Guy C. Wiggins, the New York artist, whose studio adjoins the Anderson studio and the other in which the Gloucester artists are exhibiting, has opened his room with a showing of some of his interesting work. The public is cordially invited to attend this exhibition.

Mrs. John Clay of "Finisterre," Eastern Point, entertained over the past week-end Mrs. Charles Robinson and Mrs. Wilson of Chicago, and Miss Welch of Wenham.

An "ad" party, under the management of a committee comprising Norman Lavers, Mrs. George S. Stone and Mrs. Oscar A. Mechlin, was held recently at the Harbor View.

Merrill Hall has among its latest guests Mrs. Henry Lalzell Wilson and Miss Marion Wilson of Pittsburgh. The house is filled with guests, who are enjoying the comforts of this pleasant resort.

Another large gathering of North Shore society folk took up the entire seating capacity at the Gallery-on-the-Moors, on the Atwood estate, Eastern Point, Monday afternoon, when Miss Christine Miller, contralto, of Pittsburgh and New York, gave her second concert at the art gallery. The affair was held for the benefit of the Gloucester Branch of the American Fund for the French Wounded. The singer was in fine voice. There was richness of quality and wonderful depth of feeling in what she sang. Every number was thoroughly appreciated and the artist graciously responded to encores. Although Miss Miller repeated some songs of her former program at the Gallery last week, she also gave some new selections which thrilled her audience. The opening number was "The Years at the Spring," Brownings' poem from "Pippa Passes," set to music by Mrs. H. H. A. Beach, one of our most noted American woman composers. Another selection of interest was "My Love's But a Lassie," arranged by Madame Hopekirk, the brilliant and noted pianist, now a summer guest at Rockport. Then, a song of particular interest was "The Sailor's Wife," written by Harry Burley, the colored composer, whose song, "Deep River," is such a favorite. The former song was dedicated to Miss Miller and it has not yet appeared in print. It could not have been sung for the first time in a more appropriate place than Gloucester, the renowned fishing port. Miss Miller certainly did the song justice and the sentiment was deeply realized by the audience. It is a beautiful selection and the composer will win added laurels in his career as a song-writer. Other pieces sung by Miss Miller were "Flow Gently Sweet Afton," "Autumn Days," "Irish Melody," words by Tom Moore; "Jean D'Arc," "The Marseillaise," "Battle Hymn of the Republic," "The Christmas Time" (old English), "Deep River," "Waters of Minnetonka," a lovely Indian song by Lieurance; and the final number, "When the Boys Come Home," a text by John Hay. Mrs. Josephs was the accompanist. In the audience was Louis Elson, the lecturer and writer of music and one of the New England Conservatory of Music faculty. The fact that Miss Miller gave her services entirely, for this benefit is greatly appreciated all around. She remained in Magnolia three days later than she expected, that she might be of assistance. At the opening of the musical, Mrs. Hind, who is stopping in Rockport with her husband, the latter being an English officer, disabled by the war and who is in this country lecturing in aid of the Disabled Officers' Fund, gave a splendid paper on the "French Firing Line," it being a real description written by her husband. It was thoroughly appreciated. The committee in charge of the musical comprised Miss Mary Murray Kay, chairman; Mrs. D. Randall MacIver and Mrs. Isaac Patch, the latter being the sister of Inspector-General A. Piatt Andrew of the American Ambulance corps in France.

An exhibition of paintings and sculpture will be held at the Gallery-on-the-Moors, East Gloucester, August 23 to September 15, inclusive. Opening day will be on Thursday and the public is invited. The exhibition will be from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m., on week days and 2 to 5 p. m., on Sundays. The day of September 1 will be reserved for a musicale and the exhibition will be closed on that date.

A great treat is in store for patrons on Saturday afternoon, Sept. 1, at the Gallery-on-the-Moors, when a lecture and musicale will be held for Russian relief benefit. Thomas Whittemore, one of the excavators for the Egyptian exploration fund, who has not been able to go on with his work for two years and who is now in Russian relief work, will relate his personal experiences. Mr. Whittemore has been head, heart and hand in the work in Russia and it will be a great opportunity to hear him. The distinguished musicians who gave 20 minutes of music at Fenway Court in Boston, last winter, will give 20 minutes of music at the Gallery-on-the-Moors on Sept. 1. Marian Leach and Howard Goding will preside at two pianos.

Dr. David Randall MacIver of the Eastern Point summer colony is now located in Saloniki. He is Director of Labor and Staff Captain, and is doing active and valuable service in the cause of the Allies in the great European conflict. Dr. MacIver is an Englishman by birth and he is a noted archaeologist, being formerly employed in the interests of the English government in excavations in Egyptian and other territory of ancient ruin. Mrs. MacIver is with her mother, Mrs. W. H. Davidge of New York and Eastern Point.

A great musical treat is in store for all those who go to hear Arthur Alexander, the gifted and prominent tenor, who will appear at the Hawthorne Inn casino, on Friday evening of next week, August 31, at 8 o'clock. The musical is to be held for a most worthy cause, that of a fund for the Army Y. M. C. A., and the proceeds from this musicale will be turned over to Secretary Milo S. Brown of the Gloucester Y. M. C. A. Mr. Alexander is an artist with extraordinary gifts. He appears in self-accompanied song recitals and the press speaks very highly of his art and accomplishments. He has been abroad for 15 years and for the past two years has been in this country. After wonderful successes in Paris and London, it has been said that Mr. Alexander follows in the path of George Henschel and Max Heinrich, in his art. Tickets are being sold at Barker's drug store in Gloucester. Miss Emily Valentine of East Gloucester is chairman of the committee.

BASS ROCKS.—With the attractions on the golf course, the annual ball at the Thorwald on Tuesday evening, which is always a big event and the "Merry Whirl," of song and dance at the Moorland on two nights, Thursday evening and this Saturday evening, people will be somewhat engaged socially at Bass Rocks this week.

An event scheduled for Sept. 2, which is sure to draw a crowd; first, because of its merits and secondly because of the fact that the entire gross receipts will be given unreservedly to the local Red Cross fund, is the appearance of four of the greatest golfers in the country, who will compete. The stars are Jerome D. Travers, Francis Ouimet, Jesse P. Guilford and Oswald Kirkly. The standing of these men in the golfing world is too well known to need any comment and it is safe to say that following this important announcement there will be a big gallery. Everyone will have an opportunity of donating any amount whatever for the benefit of the Red Cross.

The hotels are now crowded with guests and present bookings mean a good September.

Late guests at the Thorwald are: Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Strout, Mr. and Mrs. I. W. McCrasky, New York; Rezo H. Clerik, Montreal; Miss Elizabeth W. Green and maid, Bryn Mawr; Mrs. Henry J. Stewart and child, Cobalt, Ont.; Mrs. Irving H. Smith and son, Winton, Kansas City, Mo.; George E. Fleischmann, Washington, D. C.; Miss Shirley, New York; S. S. Davis, Edwin W. Davis, Rock Island, Ill.; J. H. Copeland, Newport; Mrs. J. W. Hicks, Miss F. Hicks, Miss L. L. Owen, Columbus, O.; O. C. Pinckney, U. S. N.; Mrs. R. H. Taber, Wallingford, Ct.; Mr. and Mrs. C. C. The news of the death of Major Henry Souther, one of the pioneer summer resident families of Bass Rocks, which occurred at Fortress Monroe, Virginia, last week, on Wednesday, following a serious operation, has saddened the Bass Rocks colony. Major Souther was ill but a week and his wife was at his bedside when he passed away. His daughter, Catherine (Souther) Buttrick left here to be by the side of her father, but she unfortunately arrived too late. Mr. Souther was sent to Fortress Monroe as engineer in charge of the aviation field and he had been doing a great deal of important work for some weeks. Major Souther, up to a few months ago, was in the Bureau of Standards in Washington and he was selected as a civilian on the Aviation Board, owing to his marked knowledge as an engineer. He was regarded as an expert on aviation and his death is regarded as a serious blow to the army. Major Souther's parents came to Bass Rocks, when the former was a young man, and the property in this section, almost a wilderness, was acquired by Henry Souther, Sr. The development and value of this beautiful section of the North Shore is realized when one gazes upon the lovely estates and the wonderful golf links. Upon the death of Mr. Souther, Sr., the property holdings were taken over by the Souther estate of which the deceased and Arthur L. Spring of Boston, were trustees, until recently the new corporation was formed. The Southers occupied the large house now a part of the estate, but formerly the summer home of the late Judge Sherman. The deceased married Elizabeth Sherman, a daughter of Judge Sherman. He leaves besides his wife, two daughters, Mrs. Catherine Buttrick and Miss Polly Souther, who have the sympathy, expressed from their wide circle of friends, in their time of sorrow.

"The Merry Whirl of 1917," was given for the first time at the Moorland casino, on Thursday evening, under the management of Miss Lila A. Stewart, for the benefit of the surgical dressings committee of the Red Cross, Bass Rocks unit, of the Gloucester branch. One hundred people, including little tots, representing fairies, flowers and bees to the adults, who executed many special dances attractively, including the polo dance and fancy fox trot, Hawaiian and Egyptian dances and other attractions made up a most pleasing program. A fuller description will be given in next week's BREEZE. The performance will be repeated this Saturday evening, at 8

THE COLLEGE WOMAN'S CLUB of Gloucester extends a cordial invitation to any of the summer colony to attend its August meeting the 24th of this month. Any woman who has been, or is now in college, or just entering, is invited to bring a picnic lunch to the home of Miss Nancy Flagg, Wellesley, '93, at the Barnacle, Annisquam, at 6.30, Friday the 24th. After supper Miss Helen Gray Cone, professor of English of Hunter college, New York, and author of "A Chant of Love for England," "Soldiers of the Light" and other poems, has kindly consented to read from her own work. Realizing that some of the resorts of Gloucester are at a distance from Annisquam, the College club will be pleased to receive any friend, a guest may bring with her.

ANNISQUAM.—An annual event at the Annisquam

Yacht club, which as usual drew out a large number of people from the summer colony, was the pop concert, held recently, at the clubhouse. The program was enjoyable in every way. Selections were rendered by the Mandolin club, comprising Wesley Pear, violin; Francis Hartley, flute; Donald Jelly, Jack Gordon, Francis Hill, mandolins; Charles Norton, banjo; and John Norton, saxophone. The musicians rendered "Huckleberry Finn," "Bring Me a Girl," "Oh! Johnny, Oh!" "Somewhere on Broadway," "I've Got the Sweetest Girl In Maryland," "We'll All be Americans Now." A trio, Wesley Pear, violin; Donald Jelly, banjo mandolin and Jack Gordon, piano, rendered "America Here's My Boy" and "Hawaiian Butterfly." An amusing substitute movie picture play, "The Vanderhoef Tangle" or "Ferdie, the Fickle," by the Goronzolo Film company, was presented by Virginia Rice, Caroline Bailey, Gertrude Wiggins, Fred Hawkins, Wesley Pear, Donald Simson and Francis Hill. The presentation of "The Multi-Sillyphone" was by Katherine Gordon, Dorothy Simson, Virginia Gordon, Edith Stevens, Marjory Mace, Georgia Hawkins, Sally Damon, Dorothy Norton and Margaret Nash. At an intermission ice cream, cake and soft drinks were served and candy, cigars and cigarettes were sold by several young ladies. General dancing was in order following the entertainment.

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin W. Gause of Summerhaven cottage, Nashua avenue, Annisquam, are entertaining Emerson Hayward of Newton.

The Millard I. Morses of Newton, who have been occupying "Bayside" cottage, for a month, have returned home.

Miss Helen Goodwin, a well known Annisquam summer resident of several years standing, died at Pine Dell Sanatorium, Annisquam, on Tuesday morning of last week, after a long illness. The funeral took place from St. John's Episcopal church, Gloucester, on Thursday afternoon and the burial was in beautiful Mt. Adnah cemetery at Annisquam. Miss Goodwin leaves two nieces, Miss Henrietta Goodwin and Mrs. Hollis French of Boston.

The College Woman's club of Gloucester holds its August meeting at the home of Miss Nancy Flagg, Wellesley '03, at the Barnacle, Annisquam, this Friday evening at 6.30 o'clock, when any of the summer colony is cordially invited. After supper, Miss Helen Gray Cone, professor of English of Hunter college, New York, and author of "A Chant of Love for England," "Soldiers of Light" and other poems, has consented to read from her own work, for the guests. A most enjoyable meeting is anticipated.

A large card party was given at the Barnacle, Annisquam, on Thursday of last week, those entertaining being the Misses Helen and Lucy Charles and Mrs. J. G. Farland of Richmond, Va. The guests were Mrs. W. A. Rice of New Haven, Ct.; Mrs. Samuel Gordon, Mrs. Warren Bailey of St. Louis; Miss Morrison and Miss Ferguson, Mrs. Edward Hartzhorn, Mrs. Moir of Scotland; Mrs. George C. Andrew, Mrs. Albert Amee, of North Cambridge; Mrs. George Harper of Cincinnati and Mrs. George Wood of Winchester. The prizes were given to Mrs. Hartzhorn, Mrs. Rice and Mrs. Bailey.

ROCKPORT.—Every available cottage in Rockport is reported now taken and every hotel is doing a fine business.

Charles Hind, wife and maid, of England, are occupying Moss Rock cottage, the Dr. Charles B. Hall property. Mr. Hind is an officer of the English army, who has done much service in France and having been disabled for further service on the battlefield, is in this country, to do mission work in behalf of the wounded English soldiers. Mr. Hind is a very interesting writer as well as lecturer and his charming wife gave a splendid example of his essays at the Gallery-on-the-Moors, East Gloucester, at the Christine Miller musicale, which was held for the benefit of the French wounded.

Mrs. George F. Babbitt of "Pine Ledge," Land's End, was the prime mover of an informal musicale held at the Rockport Country clubhouse Wednesday afternoon of last week.

PIGEON COVE.—The Edward has a large number of guests. Among the late arrivals are Mrs. Ordway of Washington, widow of the late General Ordway, Miss V. B. Padelford and maid, who are at this resort for the remainder of the season.

Mrs. W. T. Barnes and Mrs. Addison C. Harris of Indianapolis, Ind., are at the Edward, for an indefinite stay. Other late arrivals at the Edward, Pigeon Cove, are Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Walcott, Hartford, Ct.; Mr. and Mrs. James Wilson, New York; Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Sloper, Miss Mabel Sloper and chauffeur, Pittsfield; Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Kellogg and chauffeur, Waterburg, Ct.

A pleasant dinner party at the Edward, on Sunday was that given by Mr. and Mrs. Zenas W. Carter, of Cleveland, O., to Lieut. Milton E. Carter and guests. The party included Lieut. and Mrs. Carter of Chicago, Mary A. Walker of Glasgow, Scotland; Claude Ringenberg of Boston, Mr. and Mrs. Z. W. Carter, the host and hostess.

Frederick Paulding gave dramatic readings at the Rockport Lodge Vacation House Wednesday afternoon and those present received a great literary treat. Mr. Paulding was with Joseph Jefferson, the noted actor, in a role in "The Rivals." Mr. Paulding has dramatic classes at the Waldorf-Astoria, New York City, in the winter season.

Mrs. E. W. Clark of Kansas City, daughter, Mrs. R. W. Fernald of Lexington, and the daughter of the latter, and nurse, are occupying the Edward cottage, which has a wonderful view of the coast and ocean.

Henry Busse, Philadelphia; Mr. and Mrs. William Gebhardt Bann of Glenside, Pa.; E. Arnold of Boston; Miss Harriet Newbury, Taunton; Miss Edith Andrew and Miss Johnstone, Boston.

Red Cross Day at the Lantern Shop of Arts and Crafts, Pigeon Cove, will take place next Tuesday, the 28th, and much interest is being taken. A generous commission on the sales will be given by Mrs. E. R. Mosely to the Pigeon Cove committee of the Gloucester Branch of the American Red Cross. Tables will be especially arranged for this sale. Baskets of many kinds will be in one annex. The Christmas showing of jewelry at popular prices will attract many and the children's department of toys, books, dolls and many things of a novel character will be featured. A large sub-committee will assist. If stormy, the Red Cross Day will continue on Wednesday, the 29th.

Salem, the Center of the North Shore District, Always An Interesting Place to Visit

PHILIP LITTLE, NOTED PORTRAIT PAINTER, SALEM

SALEM.—PHILIP LITTLE, who has been experimenting with plans for the painting of submarine chasers with an idea of making them as little noticeable as possible, has presented a set of paintings and charts to the United States Navy department, and they will be tried out on some of the boats now being constructed. Mr. Little has painted a motor boat in his possession with a most interesting combination of colors, which renders it at a little distance practically invisible.

The old Nichols house on Federal street, Salem, which has been purchased by the Essex Institute, is now opened to visitors, it is understood, and those who secure cards at the Essex Institute, are allowed to visit this house, which is the most perfect specimen of an oldtime house, and is replete with interest, owing to the fact that the best work done by Samuel McIntyre, the architect, is to be seen both on the interior and the exterior.

Visitors from all over the country have been stopping at the Ropes Memorial house in Salem, not only to see the house with its famous collection of china, but to get a peek at the garden in the rear of the house which is a lovely old-fashioned spot, filled with the flowers which thrived in the garden of other days. The gardener is a wizard in this line of work, and from the beginning of the season until snow flies, the garden is a mass of blooms.

Frank W. Benson, the well known artist, and family of Salem have gone to Jackson's Hole, Wyoming, for the remainder of the summer, where they are located on a ranch about 50 miles from the railroad. This is the first summer in years, that Mr. Benson has taken a complete change, resting from his arduous labors at his studios in Boston or Maine.

Mrs. Arthur W. West of Chestnut street has returned from Cotuit, Mass., where she has been visiting friends, Charles Sanders of Chestnut street, who is well known as an enthusiastic horseman, is ill at his home, having been confined to the house since July 1.

Mrs. Emma S. Almy, member of the firm of Almy, Bigelow & Washburn, is at her summer home, Deer Isle, Me., for the remainder of the season.

KERNWOOD COUNTRY CLUB at Salem is one of the busiest places along the shore, for each day sees the golf course and the tennis courts filled with players, and at luncheon and dinner the dining rooms are the scene of many jolly parties. Wednesday is the ladies' day at the club. In the morning a golf tournament is usually held and in the afternoon the Red Cross surgical dressings classes and knitting classes meet at the clubhouse with Mrs. A. Koshland as chairman. Saturday night is a gala occasion for the young people and the dancing floor is filled with handsomely gowned women.

Dr. Milton J. Roseneau of the Harvard university faculty, and family, are summering at Kernwood cottage, which is on the club grounds.

Mrs. Bertha B. Frank of Brookline is also summering at Kernwood cottage, with her son and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. Roseneau.

Waste is the crime of today and it is especially the great crime of this awful war: waste in human life, in hope, in love, and in the common savings of us all.—The Atlantic Monthly.

"Is it true," asked the student in the psychology class, "that married men live longer than single men?"

"It seems longer," answered the professor a bit wearily.

New Ocean House, Swampscott

THE NEW OCEAN HOUSE at Swampscott looks its very best at this season of the year, and it is one of the most popular hotels on the New England coast. Facing the water, the house is set back from the road, well balanced by a trim lawn and borders along the walks of begonias and geraniums. Across the road is a putting green, dotted here and there with huge and gayly colored parasols, under which the guests make themselves comfortable when watching the putting matches or the swimmers.

Everybody is knitting about the hotel, and the piazza is lined with ladies in their smart summer costumes, with bright colored bags over their arms, relieving the somberness of the gray and khaki sweater wool.

A children's costume party was given at the New Ocean House, Swampscott, Wednesday afternoon. The hostess was Mrs. E. R. Grabow, who was assisted by the guests of the hotel. The prize winners for the most original costumes were Mildred Hill, who wore a Russian huzzar suit; Hetta Ratchesky, who was dressed as a Japanese girl; Virginia Baker of Detroit as a Red Cross nurse; and Marjorie McKey of Newton as a fairy girl. Among the boys were Richard Ward of Phillips Beach as a naval officer; Robert Murphy of Beach Bluff, a cowboy; and Robert Bennett of Orange, N. J., a policeman. The party was a very enjoyable affair with about fifty young people present.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter K. Chase of Farmington, Conn., are spending ten days at the New Ocean House, and are visiting the spots of interest along the Shore and their many friends who have summer homes here.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas R. Proctor of Utica, N. Y., prominent society people of that city are spending ten days at the New Ocean House. Mr. Proctor is extremely interested in the beautifying of Utica and has given twelve parks to his home town, which are the beauty spots of the place.

Mrs. C. M. Sager of Chicago, Ill., who has many friends among the North Shore colony, spent the past week-end at the New Ocean House.

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. D. Percival and Mr. and Mrs. Victor von Schlegel of New York are spending the week at the New Ocean House. This party is made up of enthusiastic golfers who have been playing on the Maine and New Hampshire courses. They have been enthusiastic players at the Tedesco Country club this past week, which is in fine condition at the present time.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Whiting, Miss Ruth and Fairfield Whiting are making an indefinite stay at the New Ocean House.

THE FOURTH FORMAL BALL of the year at the New Ocean House was a brilliant affair with 400 or more guests present, not only from the hotel, but from the summer cottagers. The Meyer Davis orchestra of Philadelphia provided excellent music and the large attendance of young people thoroughly enjoyed the snappy dance steps. Owing to the return of the boys who have been in training at Plattsburg, the sight of so many spick and span uniforms was to be expected and these somber khaki uniforms made a decided contrast against the dainty gowns of the young women.

Last Saturday a putting tournament was held on the 18-hole putting course of the hotel and 25 entries turned in good scores, the prize winner being Dr. J. W. Barber of Waterbury, Conn., whose score was 53 for the 18 holes. A handsome cup was given to the winner by E. R. Grabow. Tomorrow another of these tournaments will be held with a prize cup as one of the attractions.

Speaking of golf reminds one that the New Ocean House management, always on the look out for means to make the guests of the hotel happy, has decided to lay out a nine hole course in the rear of the great house. Work on this course is about to start, and it will be a decided addition to the hotel equipment.

H. A. Evans and family of Baltimore spent the week-end at the New Ocean House. Mr. Evans is a well known shipbuilder of this southern city and the firm with which he is connected is decidedly busy at this time.

Mr. and Mrs. George Doubleday of New York spent the week-end at the New Ocean House, coming on by motor. Mr. Doubleday is of the firm of Doubleday & Page, publishers.

George S. Baker, a banker, of Detroit, Mich., and Mrs. Baker, are spending the month of August in this delightful spot.

Mr. and Mrs. William Reynolds Brown of the Park Avenue hotel, New York, are spending the month of August at the New Ocean House, and are being made welcome by the North Shore people, among whom they have many friends.

Miss Faith Fahnestock of Lenox has joined her family, Mr. and Mrs. Harris Fahnestock of New York, who are spending the month of August in the New Ocean House. The Fahnestocks have a beautiful summer place, "Eastover," in Lenox.

Y<sup>e</sup> Rogers Manse in Ipswich is one of the typical old New England Inns. Have you tried its famous lobster and chicken dinners? A la carte service. Special dinners. Afternoon tea. Unique casino. Located near the center of town.

SWAMPSCOTT is an individual in many ways as a summer colony, where yearly it receives many visitors from the four points of the compass, not forgetting the numbers of Bostonians who have made this spot, so accessible to town for the financial, professional and business men, a much admired summer home colony for generations. In the olden days when train travel was depended upon for the heads of families to get to and from town, the number of regular summer residents were not as many, but in these days of speedy motor travel the numbers have increased amazingly. However, the summer colony has not lost any of its earmarks of beauty. Its estates, and there are a great many that are not seen to, any great extent from the road of travel, Puritan road, but if one is fortunate enough to be able to ride in a motor boat, or even a sail boat, along Lincoln House Point, then through the bend which forms the harbor upon which the New Ocean House is situated, on through the waters past Galloupe's Point, Tedesco Point and Little's Point, the trip is very fine, the splendid homes dotting the shore adding materially to the outline of rocks and trees. Galloupe's Point is, perhaps, the oldest summer settlement having been the home of the Galloupe family for several generations, of which Mrs. S. J. Mixer is a member. The types of houses at Galloupe's Point are noteworthy in that they are of very substantial build, yet the architecture shows little of recent design. "Stroke," the Dr. S. J. Mixer home, has for its site the boulders which brink the shore, and is commodious and very comfortable. The Robert E. Gale summer home, "Grey Stone Hall," at Tedesco Point, was recently built and is very beautiful.

Captain William H. Claffin, Jr., the only son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Claffin, whose summer home, "The Monastery," is at Little's Point, is visiting his parents. He returned last week from Plattsburg where he received his commission. Captain Claffin will remain with his parents until the last of August. He has been on a few days' motor trip to Poland Springs and Mt. Washington this week.

Eugene H. Clapp, one of the most ardent devotees of golf in the whole Swampscott section, is again a member of his mother's household, "Tedesco Lodge," at Galloupe's Point, after a trip through Maine. A house-guest at "Tedesco Lodge" is Frank T. Williams of Short Hills, New Jersey.

Coming down for the trap shooting contest at the Tedesco club, J. Herbert Hunter and A. E. Lang of Lawrence were guests at the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ward of Tupelo road.

After a pleasant cruise in their house boat, putting in at Marblehead harbor, Mr. and Mrs. Clifton P. Burrows of Portland, Maine, are spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Hodges, Jr., at their summer home on Phillips avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. George F. Schrafft of Puritan lane, have been entertaining as their house guest, C. W. Thomas of Jefferson City, Mo. Mr. Thomas motored from the middle-west in his car and visited several golf links en route at Cleveland, Buffalo and Albany. During his visit Mr. Thomas, who is a former Boston man, was much entertained, a dinner being given at the Schrafft summer home on Friday in his honor.

The Lincoln house at Swampscott is ideally situated for a summer hotel, set well back from the main road, on a point of land, looking out toward Nahant. The season at this hotel is unusually quiet, but the month of August has been rather busier, bringing many people from Boston and the vicinity to its hospitable doors. C. F.

Nesbit and family of Washington, D. C., are among the summer's guests at this hotel. Mr. Nesbit is connected with the District of Columbia Insurance Co.

Yearly subscription to North Shore Breeze, $2.00.

PHILLIPS BEACH is closing the third week of August with several very patriotic events having been accomplished exceedingly well. When the residents at this colony determine to achieve a purpose they work long and without fatigue to make it a success. As were it one person, the entire colony assisted in making the bridge party which was given in the Neighborhood club Wednesday under the direction of the Swampscott Branch of the Red Cross a tremendous glory in the accomplishing of its purpose—that of raising money, and at the same time giving those who donated their money something in return. And that it was "something in return" must not be forgotten. The largest number of people who ever gathered at the Neighborhood club for any event were there to play bridge. There were two periods of playing. From 2.30 in the afternoon until five was arranged for those who desired to come at that time rather than in the evening from 8 o'clock until 10. The affair was in charge of Mrs. Fred Johnson, Mrs. Frank P. Aborn, Mrs. E. F. Farnham, Mrs. Hall and Mrs. Henry Sprague. A novel feature, which appealed to many, was the arrangement of tables. By procuring a table at the sum of $4, a host or hostess invited his or her guests, enabling people who were friends to play together. Among those who held tables were Mrs. F. H. Gage, Mrs. W. A. Jeffries, Mrs. W. W. Johnson, Mrs. H. E. Gale, Mrs. J. A. Curtin, Mrs. A. L. Norton, Mrs. P. B. Palmer, Mrs. C. B. Price, Mrs. G. E. Smith, Mrs. E. H. Clapp, Mrs. E. B. Terhune, Mrs. A. E. Viles and Mrs. W. F. Watters.

C. H. Cross of Boston and Phillips Beach entertained the Thursday club, a social unit of gentlemen, at the Tedesco club on Thursday at luncheon, which was followed by an afternoon on the golf course, a sumptuous dinner being served in the evening. The gentlemen played golf at the Myopia Hunt club in the morning motoring over to the Tedesco club in time for luncheon. The members of the club are W. F. Watters, Eugene H. Clapp, C. J. Rueter, G. C. Dutton, J. W. Dunlop, C. M. Hart, J. M. Henderson, L. A. Duncan and G. B. Hall.

Mrs. L. A. Wyman of Ocean avenue has posted an unique request at the Neighborhood club for odds and ends of yarn of any and every color which she will knit into afghans for the soldiers in France, who will find much warmth in these articles made from bits which might otherwise not be used. Mrs. Wyman has received many responses from her notice.

Three of Phillips Beach boys, ardent boy scouts, who have gone up into New Hampshire for a camping expedition, are Edgar Carter, the son of Selectman Carter, Robert Smith and Herbert Johnson. The boys have taken along with them all equipment necessary for camping, and will be their own cooks while away. They are members of the Swampscott High School battalion.

Leroy Porter Leas of Philadelphia has joined his wife, who was formerly Miss Doris Thompson, at "The Arches," the A. W. Preston summer home on Atlantic avenue, where she has been spending the summer as a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Preston.

In the trap-shooting contest of the past week at the Tedesco club, which was in charge of E. W. Ong, G. L. Osborne of the B. A. A., the state champion, broke the record by 95 out of 100. The high handicap was won by J. H. Edwards and Richard Ward was the winner of the high gun. During his stay Mr. Osborne was the guest of E. W. Ong.

The Phillips Beach Neighborhood club held a Red Cross bridge Wednesday afternoon at the clubhouse. North Shore society was well represented at the affair.

BEACH BLUFF in the strictest sense of the word has for its map representation always been considered a part of Swampscott and Phillips Beach. Nevertheless there is a difference, however slight, in the atmosphere which pervades the homes of Beach Bluff. The distinction is indescribable, but it is, for all of that, there. Perhaps it is in the architecture of its pretty villas, perhaps in its broad sweeps of green lawns. There is one thing about it, all roads in Beach Bluff find their winding way to the white strip of beach which is topped by the Preston Hotel. If one is in quest of the seashore when at Beach Bluff, no matter what road one may find himself on, invariably the sea is sighted after a short travel.

Mr. and Mrs. William A. Paine of "The Farm," Beach Bluff, have been entertaining as their house guest Paul E. Stevenson of Lake Sunapee, N. H. Mr. Stevenson is a devotee of golf and during his stay was seen nearly every day upon the golf course at the club.

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Collins have been entertaining at their Beach Bluff avenue summer home, the former's brother, J. M. Collins of Philadelphia. Another guest who remained for several weeks, returning to her home on Saturday, was Miss Edith Atwater of Germantown, Pa.

A week-end guest at the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Elisha W. Cobb of "Wavecrest," at Beach Bluff, was Col. Zenas White, the proprietor of Toy Town Tavern at Winchendon. During his stay Col. White was much entertained, including a dinner which was given in his honor Saturday evening. Col. White is very much devoted to golf and has won many trophies testifying to this skill at the Winchendon Country club.

"Cragwold" on Sea View avenue is closed temporarily because Mr. and Mrs. William Walter Taff and family are enjoying a motor trip through New Hampshire. In the group are Miss Marie Taff, Imdela and William, Jr., as well as Mrs. F. P. Reardon of St. Louis. The party has been stopping at Pine Grove Springs Spofford, N. H., and is now at Mount Washington, Bretton Woods. They are expected home the first of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry G. Buckminster of Atlantic avenue, have just returned from a motor trip through Maine which had for its itinerary Boothbay Harbor and Moosehead Lake. On their return they brought with them as their guests, Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Wagg of Hallowell, Maine, who will be their guests for the remainder of the summer.

Captain Frank M. Sawtelle, a former secretary and treasurer of the Tedesco club, who recently received a commission at Plattsburg where he has been training, has been a guest at the Tedesco club during the past week. Capt. Sawtelle will be stationed at Ayer in the September training camp.

Wednesday evening's dinner dance at the Tedesco club was one of the season's smartest events, throngs of guests finding the hospitality of the Tedesco club unlimited in the way of geniality and good time. As has been the custom during the season, the Salem Cadet band which furnished music was seated upon the west veranda, the tables being placed in the dining-room and reading room. A gorgeous array of summer blossoms was used for table and interior decoration. One of the most beautiful tables was that presided over by Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hyde of Beach Bluff. American beauties in profusion were used as a centerpiece, with corsages and boutannières of old-fashioned flowers at each place. The guests included Mr. and Mrs. Eastman Guild, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Richards, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Chick, J. G. Whiting, E. T. Brown, Mrs. A. W. Pope and Capt. Frank M. Sawtelle. Other hosts of the evening were F. L. Ripley, J. C. Dutton, A. W. Currier, F. P. Cox, F. M. Farquhar, E. W. Cobb, A. E. Little, H. B. Sprague and E. L. Davis.

Governor W. R. Allen of Anaconda, Montana, has been a guest at the home of O. D. Clark on Phillips avenue. Governor Allen has been making his first visit to the east for a number of years and renewed many former friendships while in Boston and on the North Shore.

HIGH up on the bluffs overlooking the broad beach and the ocean, the Hotel Preston, at Beach Bluff, provides an ideal place for summer residents of the North Shore, who come to the beach to escape the heat of the city. There are many festivities to interest the guests, dancing being popular again this season and tomorrow evening the annual August ball will be held and a large crowd of summer people is expected, for the Plattsburg boys are home all along the Shore and give added life to all parties.

Mrs. Charles G. Dawes and her two attractive young daughters are spending the month of August at the Hotel Preston. They are residents of Evanston, Ill., and are frequent visitors in the summer time to the seashore.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Connors of New York City are month of August guests at the Hotel Preston.

Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Hilton of Central Falls, R. I., are making their headquarters during August at the Preston, and are enjoying the advantages of the salt water.

Others who help make life attractive at the Preston include: Miss Elizabeth F. Risser of Rome, Italy, who is spending the summer here; Harold Kondolf, who boasts of a 2d lieutenancy from Plattsburg, having joined his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. N. Kondolf of New York; J. A. Mitchell of New York, editor of Life, and Mrs. Mitchell; Mrs. R. Cadwell and Miss Florence Cadwell of Hartford, Conn.; Miss Elizabeth R. Herr, Miss Elizabeth Herr and Miss Annie C. Shelley of York, Pa.; Mrs. Percy C. Maderia and maid of Philadelphia, Pa.; Miss Mary Rutledge of Brookline; Mrs. H. E. Harrison of Hartford, Conn.; Dr. John M. Peters, Dr. E. B. Smith, Edward B. Peters and Norman Becker of Providence, R. I.; Mr. and Mrs. F. M. DeRussett and two children of Brookline, who are making themselves very popular at the hotel, the young people making the most of the great beach at the foot of the bluff.

MARBLEHEAD is the home of one of the finest "high school boy farms" in the state, which is known as the "Sorosis Farms" and financed by A. E. Little of Lynn, who is the manufacturer of the "Sorosis" shoe. A model in every way and conducted under strict military rules, forty English High School boys of Lynn are making a success of this project. Capt. Harry Dame, a coach of the Lynn high school boys, is in charge as superintendent. The farm is on the site of the old Wyman Farm at the junction of Lafayette and Humphrey streets, and what was, in the spring, a place of neglect is now a prosperous farm in state of luxuriant and advanced cultivation. J. S. Cobb of New York a graduate of Mass. Agricultural college has charge of the farming. The boys live in tents which are pitched in true military fashion upon the hill, and eat their meals in a low shed which has been built adjoining the farmhouse. Each boy has a locker and takes care of his own dishes, washing them and drying them after use. All kinds of vegetables have been grown with a marked degree of success, and a booth has been erected near the junction of the two streets, in charge of a girl, where fresh vegetables can be had at a small cost. Corn, which is now ready, is sold each day in large quantities. A number of sheep and lambs have been added to the farm, and with the proposed addition of more stock in the fall, the flock will be fairly large-sized. No better illustration of what can be done upon a scientific basis could be had than this farm which is manned by young men all eager to do their part and do it well, and the fine, broad, far-seeing mind of a man like Mr. Little is much to be admired and commended. From a broken down unsightly corner, with a farmhouse badly in need of repair has sprung, as a phoenix from its ashes, a monument of industry with a pay-roll of nearly $1,000 per month. The pay-roll does not merely represent dollars, but knowledge to these young minds who can in later years put this experience to good use and bless the bigness of Mr. Little.

Mrs. Eastham Guild of Devereux Beach, Marblehead, was hostess on Thursday at a pretty luncheon at the Tedesco club followed by a bridge party and knitting hour. The table was artistically decorated with roses. Hand-painted place cards were at each place. Covers were laid for eight. The guests included, Mrs. Jack Hyde, Mrs. H. L. Taylor, Mrs. Jeremiah Williams and Mrs. C. M. Boyden.

SATURDAY afternoon, August 18, in the Leyden Congregational church, Brookline, Miss Caro Kingman, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Rufus Anderson Kingman, was married to Captain John Holmes Macleod, Jr., U. S. R., of Boston, formerly of Cleveland, Ohio, son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Macleod. The bridegroom is a Harvard man, class of '14, and in his college days was prominent in rowing. He recently was commissioned as captain at Fort Benjamin Harrison, Indiana. Capt. Macleod was for many summers a resident of Beach Bluff and is well known among the horsemen of this section, for he was an enthusiastic rider.

Rev. Harris G. Hale, minister of Leyden church, performed the ceremony, and was assisted by Rev. A. E. George of Wellesley. The bride's father gave her in marriage. Miss May Bacon of Brookline, was maid of honor and a little flower girl attended—a young cousin, Maureen Macoun of Ottawa, Canada.

Andrew Hamilton Lane of Boston and Marblehead Neck, a step-brother of the bridegroom, served as best man and the ushers included Arthur M. Boal, who is from Wheeling, W. Va.; Arthur Harris of Washington and Winchester; W. Arthur Perrins, Jr., of Jamaica Plain, all classmates of the bridegroom at Harvard, together with Captain Howard Cahill, Harvard, 1910, of Cambridge; Lieutenant J. F. Harbison of Dayton, O.; Lieutenant L. W. Bayles, Columbus, O.; Lieutenant Harold Mog of Cleveland, O.; Lieutenant W. O. R. Johnson and Lieutenant Campbell S. Johnson, both of Cincinnati, O., with Cadet John Macoun of Ottawa, of the Royal Military College in Ontario.

Following the church ceremony a reception took place at the home of the bride's parents, at 45 Windsor road, Brookline. Guests were present from Boston, Brookline, and hereabout as well as from Cleveland, Montreal, California and London, Eng. The bridegroom, Captain Macleod, has just been assigned to duty at Fort Sherman, Chillicothe, O., and after a brief wedding journey he will go there to assume his military responsibilities. Miss Kingman, the bride, is well known in Brookline, where she has been exceedingly popular.

The young couple are spending their honeymoon touring the New England states and spent part of the past week at the Oceanside, Marblehead Neck, with Capt. Macleod's stepbrother, Manager Lane.

THE interest in model yacht racing at Marblehead has increased so rapidly that a club of enthusiasts was formed recently for the purpose of running prize races on Red's Pond, Marblehead. The officers are Parker Kemble, Jack Hill and Norman Skeene, members of the younger set of yachtsmen.

Every Saturday during the summer, races have been held at the local pond with great success, and beginning last Sunday a series of races will be run by this new club for a cup which has been offered by Parker Kemble. Eleven entries were made last Sunday morning and an enthusiastic group of yachtsmen were present as this new sport is proving of great interest, especially as there is so little of note happening in Marblehead this season.

A handsome cup has been offered by Henry A. Morss, and tomorrow—Saturday—and the following Saturday, races will be run for it, while on the second Saturday in September a prize will be offered by the father of Paul Bates in the form of another cup.

ALL THE COMFORTS OF HOME! Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ratcliffe of Houston, Texas, attracted a good deal of attention at Marblehead Neck one day this week, when they appeared in the midst of this fashionable colony, in a Maxwell car, fitted with all the comforts of home, and, stopping by the roadside, calmly enjoyed the beauties of the evening sunset at the Neck, then retired to their automobile, where they spent the night.

Mr. Ratcliffe, who is a real estate man of Houston, constructed this unique automobile, which is a house on wheels, and with it, accompanied by his wife, he has been for four months travelling about in the United States, en route for Maine, returning to their home town when cold weather sets in. They are very much interested in New England, and the trip through the historic sections of each state are being made very leisurely, so not to miss any of the spots replete with interest.

The automobile was visited by a number of the curious who found a generous space in the inside, after looking through carefully screened windows, fitted with khaki curtains that roll up and down as desired. The entire car was lighted with electric bulbs, making it light enough to read, while an electric fan in one corner, provided coolness for the hot nights. At each corner of the car, set into the wall, were tanks of water, with a glass attached to each. Along the sides of the walls were wooden pockets for the toilet articles, and the small things which are needed for comfortable traveling. The small ice chest rested on the floor underneath a couch which occupies one side of the automobile, furnished with a mattress and covers. At night another section lets down, the mattress is spread across and makes a fine double bed.

A complete kitchen was carried and the young couple cook their meals themselves and have all the dishes and cutlery necessary for setting the table, which is let down from the wall in wet weather and in pleasant weather they eat out in the open.

A thoroughly novel and comfortable way of travel, and with the high rate of train fares, costly hotels and high food prices this young couple have found an economical way of spending a summer, and certainly not missing a thing worth while.

The morning after their arrival, bright and early, they left for the North Shore, intending to spend the next night at Gloucester, thence working across country en route for Portland.

THE ROCK-MERE HOTEL, Marblehead, is filled with guests and the season is most successful, for visitors are never lacking at this attractive hotel, situated at the head of the famous harbor.

No matter how hot the day, it is always cool at the Rock-Mere, and the evenings in this week, have been decidedly cool, so that a heavy sweater, and even a coat is more comfortable when promenading the long piazzas. The older guests prefer the cosy lounging rooms, for here there is plenty of light to see how the knitting is progressing, and the orchestra led by Frank Tower with Robert Cuscadeon as soloist plays during the evening.

Wednesday evening, Miss Helen True, a young musician, who has an attractive studio in Marblehead, gave a delightful concert at the Rock-Mere, one in a series. The concert was composed of children's songs and piano selections, and was most enjoyable.

Tomorrow evening Treadwell's orchestra will play for the dancing and the usual large crowd has been anxiously awaiting the affair, for the week-end gaieties are much enhanced by the influx of guests for the three days.

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Wardwell and family are at the Rock-Mere for the season. Mr. Wardwell is connected with the Watertown National bank.

Mrs. D. Morrice and maid, Miss Tyson and Mrs. Dorwin of Montreal are at the Rock-Mere for the summer, having come from Canada in their motor.

Judge C. L. Long of Springfield is a season guest at the Rock-Mere.

Mr. and Mrs. William Sutton of North Andover are spending the month at the Rock-Mere. Mr. Sutton is connected with the Sutton's Mills.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Starr have arrived at the Rock-Mere with their three daughters by automobile for the month of August. Mr. Starr is one of the leading dry goods men in New York City.

Rev. F. W. Snead of the Presbyterian church, Pittsburgh, Pa., and Mrs. Snead are spending the summer at the Rock-Mere, as are also Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Prince, their two children and maid of Sherborn, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Alley of Boston; Mr. and Mrs. A. M. McLain and two sons, Mrs. E. A. McLain and son, and the Misses Gibson, of Toledo, Ohio; and Mrs. E. E. Nelson of Lenox and her son, Eugene Nelson, and wife and daughter of Winchester.

Other season guests at the Rock-Mere are: Mrs. Frank Van Vleck and son, Frank Van Vleck, Jr., of Washington, D. C.; William Ware and Miss Alice Ware of Boston; Miss H. C. Edwins, Mrs. J. A. Nealy of Providence, R. I.; Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Page and son of Southbridge; Dr. and Mrs. J. C. Johnstone of New York; Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Rockwell, Brookline; Mr. and Mrs. Francis Swan of Beacon street, Boston; Mr. and Mrs. George Wells of Quincy, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Allen and daughter of Newton; Mrs. G. W. Stearns and daughter with maid of Newton; Mr. and Mrs. John Slater of New York; Mr. and Mrs. Peter E. Strauss of Boston.

Mrs. C. H. Watson and Miss Margaret Watson of Brookline are at the Rock-Mere for the summer. Mr. Watson is connected with the Estabrook banking firm.

Capt. and Mrs. Q. T. Morrissy of the British Recruiting mission, located in Boston, are at the Rock-Mere for the month.

Mrs. W. E. Sanford of Hamilton, Ont., is spending the season at the Rock-Mere, having been one of the first guests to arrive.

MARBLEHEAD NECK would be a dull place, indeed, this season without its yacht clubs. On Monday of this week the Corinthian Yacht club was the scene of the gayest dancing party of the season, for a large attendance of members and friends did honor to the returned Plattsburgers. Nearly all the young men on the dancing floor were in the army or navy uniform, a most unusual sight at this well known club. There was a large attendance of dinner guests, many special parties being noted. Among them were noted Nathaniel Heath with a party of twelve; Charles S. Vaughn with a party of ten; Elisha W. Cobb with seven guests; while S. L. Ripley, C. O. Whitten, Dr. J. E. Goldthwaite, C. M. Barker, W. H. Bane, H. C. Stone, O. T. Clark, C. B. Burroughs, K. D. Billings, C. S. Booth, H. A. Knowles, S. W. Weed and G. H. Webb, were among those who also entertained.

Kenneth S. Billings, who makes his home with Mr. and Mrs. James B. Fallon at Marblehead Neck, has been entertaining for the past fortnight his cousins, Mrs. Edward Berry and Mrs. Edith Beman of Hallowell, Maine.

Mr. and Mrs. Hendricks A. Hallett of Boston are spending their third summer at the Oceanside Hotel, Marblehead Neck. Mr. Hallett is the noted landscape artist and this is the 32d year that he has spent in the environs of Marblehead Neck.

Mrs. N. Ross Currier, Miss Dorothy Currier and Ross Currier, who have a beautiful home in Newburyport are spending the season at Marblehead Neck, at the Oceanside. Mrs. Currier is well known in the society of the North Shore as she is one of the most gracious of hostesses. Miss Dorothy is a Dana hall girl and is exceedingly popular among the younger set. This delightful family will make their winter home this season at the Hotel Somerset, Boston, having closed their home in Newburyport for a time.

Mrs. Henry S. Houston of Holyoke, Mass., and "Fernleigh," Pinehurst, N. C., is at the Oceanside for the season. She is one of the most popular cottagers at Pinehurst and her entertainments are quite the affairs of the winter season.

Prof. Frederick U. Willson of Princeton, N. J., and a professor at Princeton university, with his two daughters arrived this week at the Oceanside, Marblehead Neck. They toured up the coast leisurely in their motor, for this eighth season on the North Shore.

Culture is not measured by the greatness of the field which is covered by our knowledge, but by the nicety with which we can perceive relations in that field, whether great or small.—Robert Louis Stevenson.

"Dear Editor:

"In many of the articles issued by our esteemed opponents, the anti-suffragists, the arguments are rarely illustrative of the difference of principles, but descend to the nature of personal attacks on suffragists who enjoy the confidence of the highest authorities in our national government. In many instances these women have ignored the petty attacks made upon them. THE GRAND ARMY OF THE REPUBLIC is a voluntary organization that has earned the respect and gratitude of this great nation because of the service which the members rendered to this government in the trying days of the Civil War. This week the veterans gathered from the ends of the country to meet in their encampment in Boston as guests of the Massachusetts department. This is the third time within the generation that the veterans have marched the historic streets of Boston and it is quite likely that this will be the last one. In the midst of this world war the value of the service rendered by the Civil War to the cause of democracy now stands out as it never has stood before. The Battle of Gettysburg now stands forth as one of the greatest victories ever won by the arms of man and at that bloody angle the destinies of nations hung in the balance. The success of the northern troops assured the integrity of the Union and the freedom of the slaves. It for all time settled the problem that this continent could not be divided by an imaginary line with two nations, one slave, the other free. The republican principle of freedom was forever established. The last fifty years of peace have made it possible for this nation, by virtue of the success of the northern army, to grow, developing its resources until the nation has taken its place in the world. Then when the cause of democracy was threatened by Germany, America was ready and was rich and powerful enough to combat at arms with all the Allied nations for the principles of democracy so loyally sustained by Lincoln and his men.

IT IS NOW THE APPARENT PURPOSE of our government to help meet the submarine peril. While the U-boat during the last month has been unable to repeat its original record the menace still abides and must be met by the Allies. Germany, however, cannot hope to starve England out and September 1, the date upon which it was believed the event could be brought about, is nearly with us and England has not capitulated, but America has been drawn into the contest. That the U-boat still is doing its terrible work is evident from news advices reaching us early in the week when a life boat was used as a ruse and a ship bearing nearly six hundred souls barely escaped being sunk by the crafty crew, but the sharp fire of an American gunner sent the submarine below water or destroyed it. The mesh plan does not prove thoroughly effective. The swift moving patrol boats are of value it is evident, but the fast moving destroyers appear to be the great asset of defense. The government, naturally will develop this branch of the service. Already the orders have gone forth and the constructors are to confer upon plans. The submarine cannot be eliminated by some dramatic and unexpected invention. The boats will have to be destroyed, one by one, and the field of operation properly patrolled. It is an important part of the task and the government is awake to the gravity of the situation. It is folly to entertain any view of the submarine question that minimizes the peril of these undersea craft.

THERE IS A SUBTLE IRONY in the fate of the ex-Czar when one thinks of his forced flight to Siberia and to the town, Tobolsk, where Rasputin, his evil genius, was born.

A GREAT MONTHLY issued to the mechanical trade has tried to stir its readers up by a "cock and a bull" story about our bureaucratic leaders who force munition factories to keep hired men playing checkers until details of construction are settled. It is not good for the men to have them idle nor does it make for efficient production, but it may be good business despite the apparent loss. It will be wiser to struggle through a problem and settle it for good and all than to waste material and labor and human energy upon an improperly planned part. The facts may all be true, but there is doubtless another side to the story and no employer is foolishly permitting hired labor to waste its days in idle play. There are facts back of the idle workmen story.

THE NORTH SHORE is essentially a place for all the year residence. Visitors who come in, stay a month and go away, have not learned the pleasures of the autumn months here. It is readily understood how persons living by the sea would seek the mountain air as a "change," but there are no mountain days that can compare with the Indian Summer on the Shore. The summer, despite the lateness of the spring, has been a pleasant one, and now that the month of August is nearly ended, September, the best month of all the year, will be with us to be enjoyed.

THE STATE OF MARYLAND has approached the war situation without gloves and has already promulgated an edict which requires every man between the ages of eighteen and fifty who is unemployed to register and compulsory occupation when provided will be required of every able bodied man. The work of the war must go on and idle men must work and do their part. Maryland is determined that every man shall do his duty in this crisis and if he have not the grit and stamina to do his duty of his own free will and accord he will be obliged to do it by the force of law.

PRESIDENT WILSON HAS APPRECIATED the shortcomings of the draft law and has endeavored to solve the problems presented. It is now known that he favors the drafting of aliens, with all due regard to our previous treaties with the government to which the aliens are subject and that he also favors the use of leniency in the case of married men drafted for service. These two problems are inevitable and present a great task for the leader of the nation, but he can be trusted to make the decision with equity and justice for all.

NO MORE STRIKING ILLUSTRATION of the terror caused by battle has been given than that of the young man who won a medal for conspicuous military bravery and was seen to go to his knees in fright before the charge, begging to be excused from obeying the orders.

CORPORAL TANNER PLAYED THE PACIFISTS without mercy. The men who refuse military duty and who are not supporting the government in the war have no doubt as to the public feeling concerning them.

AMERICA'S BOND with her Allies—the Liberty Bond.

THE ESTABLISHMENT OF A PRACTICAL dictatorship over the food supply for the period of the war has been inevitable and everyone will welcome the effort. All that can be asked is that the greatest good for the greatest number be conserved. There is no question but what many will find their liberties and privileges curtailed by the new regulations, but the Americans know that the measure is prompted by a free people exercising its rights to self-government for the good of all. Mr. Hoover will be free from political considerations and ought to be successful. He comes to his high office with the respect and admiration of the entire country. There can be no criticism of the spirit of the man nor of the methods by which the changes have been made. The efforts now being made are honorable and will be endorsed by every American. Mr. Hoover has a tremendous task upon his hands and he should have the loyal support of every American citizen. The war must be won and to win it there must be a careful husbanding of all our resources. For this reason Mr. Hoover has been called to service and will and should be given a free hand to work out the plans of conservation that will assure food for the Allies, for the armies at the front and for ourselves.

THERE ARE NEWS DESPATCHES that come from abroad which interest Americans and may mean more than appears. These concern the activities of the two great fleets, the British and the German. The people of both empires are demanding action and an aggressive policy. It is certain that Germany is now allowing its fleet to lie idle with no purpose in view. The Germans have a plan and what is that plan? Of course an escape to the high seas would be their great aim and to avoid, if possible an immediate encounter. Once on the open ocean before they could be challenged to a contest the fleet could do incalculable damage. It is not to be supposed that a barbarous attack such as was made upon Scarborough would be beneath the enemy. British naval authorities, however, are agreed that the fleet must be bottled up and America has two lines of defence. The first is the British navy and the second is our own navy. With the efficient record of the last three years Great Britain may be depended upon to clear the sea of the German peril before it menaces the American coast and now we have our own fleet with Mayo, the alert, in command. The Atlantic seaboard need entertain no great alarm.

THE NEWS FROM THE FRONT does not in any way indicate a speedy victory, but when one looks back to a year or two years ago the progress made is satisfying. For six months Germany was battering away at Verdun without avail and France was obliged to wait and receive the attacks upon the defensive. The English troops were also on the defensive and now both at Verdun and on the Somme the Allies have taken the offensive and with some success.

THE SPIRIT OF HELPFULNESS has been evident on every hand this year. Everyone is endeavoring to do his share in hours of work and in the days for recreation. Golf matches and tournaments, and private horse shows are expressing the spirit of the times and freely giving of their proceeds to the Red Cross organization.

WHEN THE INCREASED PRICES for eggs and milk trouble you at the beginning of the month remember that the producers are having heavier bills, proportionately speaking for grain for the cows and hens. The purchaser has not yet paid the proportionate advance the retailer is entitled to.

America's Cause for War

"The military masters of Germany denied us the right to be neutral. They filled our communities with vicious spies and conspirators. They sought to corrupt our citizens. * * * * They sought by violence to destroy our industries and arrest our commerce. They tried to incite Mexico to take up arms against us and to draw Japan into hostile alliance with her. They impudently denied us the use of the high seas and repeatedly executed their threat that they would send to their death any of our people who ventured to approach the coasts of Europe. * * *

"This flag under which we serve would have been dishonored had we withheld our hand."—
Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States.

THE SENATE HAS PASSED A BILL providing for National Prohibition, but with a rider which provides that the states shall ratify the amendment proposed sometime within six year. It is commonly reported that the liquor interests succeeded in adding the rider with the evident purpose of limiting the contest to a six year period hoping of course that the states will not be able within that time to rally to the support of the movement. The result then would be a six years' truce as far as debate is concerned in the national branches, but with a six years' active fight on the field, the plan being to prevent the necessary number of states to ratify the amendment within the time limit. The House has adroitly laid the matter aside and it will be taken up in order in the House, it having been agreed that the present sessions should be given up to war matters. What the house will do remains to be seen. A new bill may originate in the House and be sent to the upper branch. It is certain, however, that from a standpoint of technicality and effectualness the proposed rider will be severely attacked. The action of the house will be awaited with interest now. It is to be noted, however, that the attitude of the Senate marks a decided change in the attitude of that body within the last decade.

GERARD CASHES IN! We do not blame ex-Ambassador Gerard for writing his book—we would have done the same if we had had the opportunity, but—Why should our government wait to make public an important message from the Kaiser to the President until Gerard sprung it in his special newspaper articles? Hundreds of thousands of Americans are preparing to fight, some are even now fighting, and they are entitled to know everything bearing on the war. If Gerard's exposure is harmless to public interests, why should it have been otherwise if made through the State Department?

THE PRICE OF COAL does not look attractive at the present rate and in this weather, but the average citizen would like to know, and ought to know, what the coal he purchases is really worth. He is told that the seller at the mines is not making the great profit and he knows that the merchant with whom he trades is not obtaining more than a fair business profit on the coal sold, but he would like to know where the profit goes.

THE WHEATLESS WEEKS AND BEEFLESS DAYS are still on paper and he who wills may purchase. Imagine the opportunity the German press has of representing our food conditions judging by the various propagandas afoot. All is not so bad as it would appear.

MANCHESTER

Harold M. Bater of the Regent garage has been quite ill the past week with an attack of appendicitis. He will probably be operated upon.

The last concert of the season was held on the Common last evening and was by far the best this summer. A large crowd enjoyed the program.

Miss Olive Janice of Roxbury has been engaged by the School board to succeed Miss Josephine Ray, who resigned as teacher at the Priest school.

Considering the short time the local militia company has been organized and the fact that many of the men had had no military experience remarkable progress has been made since July in whipping the company into shape. The appearance of the company impressed Mrs. J. Warren Merrill as the men marched by the residence of one of the members of the local Red Cross branch where the executive committee of the branch was in session the other evening. Mr. and Mrs. Merrill have taken a keen interest in the company since its formation and Mr. Merrill helped in the drilling of the men in the home guard before the enrolment in the state guard. After witnessing the march of the company the other night Mrs. Merrill presented the company, through its officers, with two handsome bugles and cords.

Manchester men who are included in the quota completed yesterday in the 23d exemption district which includes Essex, Hamilton, Beverly and Manchester were as follows: John E. Peterson, Lewis W. Hutchinson, John H. Johnson, C. Herbert Rayner, Chester A. Andrews, James Burnham, George Putnam, George S. Rust, Charles A. Lodge, Jr., Robert C. Campbell, John J. Gilmore, Frederick M. Burnham, Louis J. Fritz, William Green, Alfred C. Kitfield. Among those who passed the physical examination was Town Accountant Austin C. Jones, but the quota was obtained from those who did not claim exemption in the first 725, or among the first 300 drawn whose exemptions were denied. Mr. Jones was among the second group drawn, and will not come under this draft unless a large number of these selected are later rejected. Several of the above have enrolled for other service which may exempt them from the draft army.

NOTES

The Food Centre is always open for consultation, instruction and advice. Telephone inquiries are gladly answered.

This week the Centre has canned and dried in large quantities corn, shell beans and lima beans, peaches and tomatoes have been done for exhibit. Larger quantities will be done later.

Dried products now on hand include raspberries, blueberries, peaches, beans, peas, corn, beets, greens of various kinds, carrots and tomatoes. These are on exhibit.

The lecture last Monday was on the Fireless Cooker and the Iceless ice-chest. A nicely browned roast chicken showed one of the possibilities of the fireless cooker.

Next Monday at 7.30 p. m., there will be a lecture on "Some Aspects of our Present Food Question in the U. S." This lecture will be the last lecture given this summer, but as the Food Centre will be open all winter there will be an opportunity for a series of lectures and classes later.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Hutchinson have been spending a few days at Salisbury Beach, returning yesterday.

Tomorrow's ball game will be played in Beverly when Manchester will again meet the United Shoe. It will be the fourth game between the teams this season and the second in Beverly. Manchester has won two of the games and the other was a tie.

Mrs. Geo. A. Houghton, whose husband was formerly employed at the R. C. Winthrop estate, is in town for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Shaw, Summer st. The sympathy of friends is extended to Mrs. Houghton in the death of her son, G. Archie, Jr., last week at Arlington. The young man was 26 years of age.

MANCHESTER

Walter Sargent has a position with the D. A. Upsons of West Manchester.

Edward W. Baker, who has been with the Bullock bakery, is now employed by the J. B. Blood Co. of Lynn at their Summer st. store.

Miss Helen C. Stetson of the Story High school faculty has resigned her position and will teach this year in Portland, Me. Her successor has not been chosen.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Trafton are spending a few days with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Trafton of School st. en route from Old Orchard, Me., where they have been spending the summer, to New York.

Mr. and Mrs. I. E. Irish of North Brookfield spent the week-end in town. "Ned" could not resist the temptation to handle the money so he helped sell tags at the ball game Saturday, and was just as successful as he was when he used to make the fans cash up as treasurer of the baseball association.

Among the men examined in Beverly by the exemption board the last day were Edward C. Chamberlain and George H. Burchstead, both of whom passed, but claimed exemption because of dependents. Chamberlain is a corporal in the local militia company. Hugh Campbell and William E. Slade were rejected because of failure to pass the physical examination. Joseph M. Bratcki and Joseph Urobel, aliens, were held for later examination.

A big oil truck belonging to the Standard Oil Co. overturned on Summer st. near the entrance to the McMillan estate Tuesday evening. The driver put on the brakes suddenly to avoid colliding with a team and caused the heavy truck to skid to the side of the road. The road was wet and slippery making the truck hard to handle. When the machine crashed through the fence at the side of the road it overturned and throw the driver clear of the load, entirely uninjured. The truck which weighed about two and a half tons was carrying a load of oil in big cans about equal to its own weight. It was going from Boston to Gloucester. Another truck came out from Boston to finish the haul.

MANCHESTER'S TAX RATE.

The assessors have announced that the Manchester tax rate on each $1,000.00 during 1917 will be $13.50. This is an increase of $2.30 over last year's $11.20 tax rate and according to the assessors is due to the increases in the state and county taxes and the town grant which alone is greater than last year, also to the changes in law by which the Town lost practically half of its valuation. The state tax amounts to $42,013.30 as compared with $31,898.53 last year. The county tax amounts to $29,779.64 as compared with $27,568.40 last year.

Valuation, April 1, 1917: personal, $1,611,208.00; real estate, $9,520,270.00; total valuation, $11,131,478.00; exemptions, $30,645.00; total property assessed, $11,100,833.00.

Valuation, April 1, 1916: personal, $12,279,424.00; real estate, $9,233,110.00; total valuation, $21,512,534.00; exemptions, $29,395.00; total assessed, $21,483,139.00.

UNEARNED INTEREST ON LIBERTY BONDS PAYABLE BY PURCHASER ON AUG. 30TH.

A large majority of the purchasers of Liberty Bands are buying a bond for the first time and consequently find the matter of adjustment of interest a little confusing. On Dec. 15, 1917, each bondholder will collect a coupon, which is attached to the bond, for the full six months interest from June 15th to December 15th, 1917. It is evident that the bondholder who has purchased a bond in installments is not entitled to all this interest; he therefore pays the government the amount of interest to which he is not entitled.

For example: a purchaser of a $500 3½% Bond is entitled to the interest on the installments as paid, which amounts to $6.24, but on Dec. 15, 1917, he will collect a coupon of $8.75. The difference, $2.51, is the unearned interest and must be returned to the government.

The purchaser has lost nothing, but has simply made an adjustment. The amounts due on the various denominations will be found in the advertisement of the Manchester Trust Company.

LAWN PARTY AT SACRED HEART CHURCH.

The annual lawn party of the Sacred Heart parish, held on the lawn in the rear of the rectory was attended by a considerable number of Manchester people on Wednesday evening. A misty rain during the evening did not dampen the spirits of those who turned out for the gay event and merriment lasted until almost midnight. Booths were arranged around the grounds and in one corner a temporary stage was erected. The usual features which liven a fair were in evidence, including the fortune wheels and horse races. All of the booths did a lively business, most of them being pretty well sold out before closing time.

An orchestra furnished music for dancing during the evening and their was a brief program of entertainment, the feature being James Donnelly of Lowell, who sang some of Harry Lauder's hits in Scotch costume. After the entertainment the stage was lowered to form the platform for the dancing.

The first booth at the entrance sold sandwiches, cakes and coffee and was in charge of Mrs. John J. Connors, who was assisted by Mrs. George F. Evans, Mrs. Herman Sanford, Mrs. Charles W. Fritz and Miss Margaret Gillis.

Ice cream cones and soft drinks were sold between this booth, which was called the "Town" booth, and the booth in charge of the Ladies auxiliary of Div. 20, A. O. H. The latter booth was in charge of Mrs. John Coughlin, assisted by Mrs. John Silva, Miss Margaret O'Neill, Mrs. Patrick Cleary. At this table, home-made candies, cakes, fruit, sandwiches and tea were offered. The "West Manchester" table was in charge of Mrs.

Charles F. Francis, assisted by Mrs. Edward Neary, Mrs. Dominick Flatley, Mrs. C. Herbert Rayner and Miss Mary White. The "Cove" table was in charge of Mrs. Emily Keating, assisted by Mrs. Harry Slade and Miss Gertrude Manion. A fancy work table was in charge of Mrs. John J. Ferguson, Miss Agnes Gillis and Theresa O'Neill. Miss Lucy Carroll had charge of the "Smith's Point" table and was assisted by Mrs. John Wynne, Misses Mary Langdon and Mary White.

THIRTEEN YEARS AGO

Allen Post of Manchester leaving for the station to attend the National G. A. R. Encampment in Boston in 1904.

THIRTEEN YEARS of time have made a heavy inroad upon the membership and vitality of Allen post, 67, G. A. R. For years we have read of the fast fading "thin line of blue," but never until the last few years has its real significance become apparent. When the members of Allen post of Manchester, one of the finest of the department of Massachusetts, marched off one fine morning in the summer of 1904 to attend the last national encampment of the G. A. R. in Boston they were erect and firm of step and there were 25 men or more in line. True, some were a little bent with approaching age, but not a man would hear to the suggestion of riding. In true military formation, headed by a band, they marched to the railroad station and made the trip to Boston as gaily and easily as they had years before.

Last Tuesday Allen post again left Manchester to take part in the last national encampment of the G. A. R. in Boston. This time no one was eager to march and of the 25, who stepped off so well 13 years ago, just eight of the 18 members left were able to make the trip to the city and then only by motor, which they did not leave until after the parade was over. Not even Dennis O'Sullivan, veteran color-bearer of the post, felt able to negotiate the line of march. Manchester's only representation in the marching ranks on Tuesday was the squad of Sons of Veterans from Col. H. P. Woodbury camp, headed by Commander Charles E. Bell, which acted as escort to the two automobile loads of veterans.

Those of the Grand Army who went to Boston from Manchester were Commander Enoch Crombie, Jr. Vice Commander Alfred S. Jewett, Adj. James H. Rivers, Officer-of-the-Day Charles Stone, Officer-of-the-Guard Dennis O'Sullivan, Surgeon Chas. Goldsmith and Comrades E. P. Hooper and H. T. Bingham. Part of the members of the post were carried to Boston, through the parade and return in an automobile kindly furnished by W. H. Coolidge. Ten members of Post 188 of Beverly Farms went in company with the Manchester post.

One member of the local post did not ride with the Manchester delegation, but marched in a place of honor in the line. Senior Vice Commander of the Department of Massachusetts Edwin P. Stanley headed the second division of the Mass. department.

The escort from Col. H. P. Woodbury camp, S. of V., was composed of the following in addition to Commander Bell: John C. Mackin, George MacFarland, Curtis B. Stanley, Fred K. Swett, Lyman W. Floyd and Edward L. Wheaton. After the parade the men had dinner at the Quincy House.

COPLEY THEATRE.

The Henry Jewett Players are now on their twelfth and last week of the play of the present war, "The Man Who Stayed at Home" at the cool Copley, where they are still playing to crowded houses.

Dealing as it does with conditions in England at the outbreak of the war, it depicts vividly the general unpreparedness of the country and the resulting hysteria. Treating with the vital problems of enlistments and espionage, it brings home to us in America conditions of importance which must be solved.

The play itself is a stirring combination of comedy and melodrama, carefully balancing its rapid-fire thrills with volleys of laughter, which sends one away refreshed and entertained.

AN OLD TIME CATTLE SHOW.

On Tuesday, August 28, afternoon and evening, there will be held on Salem Common one of the most interesting and unique exhibitions ever witnessed in Massachusetts. It will be a reproduction of the old time cattle show and agricultural fair, presented by the playground children of Salem.

There will be all the features so well remembered in the days of our grandfathers and grandmothers: exhibits of vegetables, fruits, flowers, canning, breadmaking and needlework (chiefly Red Cross). Also the popular midway, baby show, side shows, freak tent, dancing and stellar attractions by professionals.

The live stock exhibit will be replaced by a pet show and the entries to this department have already assumed alarming proportions. There one will see tame foxes, birds, snakes, ponies, dogs and the many pets so dear to children. There will be the usual picturesque parade down Essex st. from the corner of North to the Common where the military companies of the different grounds will stand guard at all entrances. Entrance to the Common will be governed by an unique admission button, which is now on sale for 10 cents.

During the summer of 1917 a war program has been carried out on the playgrounds, entirely different from the usual summer recreation. Instructors and children have worked for the United States Food Administration under the suggestions of Mr. Hoover, first on the card distribution, then on the gardening, canning, first aid military drill and Red Cross sewing.

A boys' regiment was formed, "The Salem Volunteers," and as fast as the companies were uniformed they were allowed to pitch tents for the night at "Camp Dalton," an island in the harbor. A company of fifty girls has also been uniformed, and they will go to camp next week. The girls' uniform is patterned after that of the women of Russia, who fighting in the trenches for their country.

So, all ye, who were young once, and all ye who are still young, harness ye the old mare, starch the best sunbonnet and start out for Salem common with all the children on Aug. 28, bright and early. There will be no need to cook up a lunch for the hungry family, for there you will find all the old-fashioned goodies at the same price that grandfather used to pay on the day when we all went over Peabody. If rainy the fair will be held the next fair day.

Story High school will open as usual on the Tuesday following Labor Day,—Sept. 4. The date of opening of the George A. There is usually a hot spell about the time of opening and closing of the schools and it was thought the little folk would be better off out of doors than in the school room when it is too hot to accomplish anything. The grammar school and primary school will open on Monday, Sept. 10, and will close a week earlier than usual next June.

WHISPERINGS of THE BREEZES

A lot
Of people
Who didn't raise
Their boys to be soldiers
Are furnishing the nation with some. In less than two weeks 200,- 000 young Americans will be on the road to learning something about war.

We would like to know what has become of the old man who predicted that the war would last less than two months.

One thing is certain—judging from the result of the draft: Americans are not a physically perfect race.
Perhaps the next generation will show up better, if the military training schedule is adopted in our school system.

*The luck that I believe in
Is that which comes with work,
And no one ever finds it
Who's content to wish and shirk
The men the world calls "lucky"
Will tell you, every one,
That success comes not by wishing,
But by hard work bravely done.*

The North Shore isn't the only place where people have to pay about three or four times as much for things as they did three or four years ago. From a Canadian paper we copy the following:

"A few years ago we could buy three pounds of bacon in Canada for what one pound costs today. In England a few years ago one could buy two pounds for what one costs today.
If it is the war that makes the difference, why does the war have more effect on the price of bacon here than in England? One can go to England, buy Canadian bacon there, bring it profit after it and purchaser have en-

IRISH CONCERT AND DANCE.

All roads will lead to the Town hall in Manchester next Tuesday evening.
All arrangements are complete for the annual Grand Irish concert and dance which will take place at that time. Division 20, A. O. H., is determined to make the affair one long to be remembered, and their efforts are sure to be crowned with success for they have secured some of the finest Irish talent in the state for the concert program. First in importance comes Shawn O'Nolan, the great Wicklow piper and prince of Irish comedians, as leading character in two of his greatest comedies, "The Immigrant" and "For Old Time's Sake." He will be seen at his best in these, when under his direction his company of six people will prove the famous Shawn a master of comedy production. Among them are champion step dancers, fiddlers and flute players.

Others to take part in the concert are Mrs. Daniel O'Brien, piano soloist; Mrs. Lucy Clasby of Boston, the Galway nightingale; James Donnelly,
Lowell's greatest baritone; Daniel E.
O'Brien, speaker; Shamus McLaughlin, Springfield, and a host of local talent. The concert will begin at 8.15
p. m. sharp and will be over in sufficient time to accommodate those desiring to leave town by train shortly after 10 o'clock. Bus service to Magnolia and Gloucester will be at regular intervals during the evening.

Dancing—old-time and modern—till midnight. Efforts will be made in this respect to suit the tastes of all present. Long's full orchestra.

There will be a special meeting of Div. 20, A. O. H., in Carpenters hall on Sunday afternoon, Aug. 26, at 2 o'clock. All members are urged to be present as important business is to be considered.

The first "hike" of the local State Guard company was held on Sunday morning when about 50 of the men marched to Gravelly Pond, where they fell out for a short rest. The march was made in good time and most of the hikers were in good condition when they got back. If the weather is suitable another "hike" will be made to the same place next Sunday morning and a short drill will be held at the pond. At Monday evening's regular drill of the company a visit was made by Major R. S. Lovering of Manchester, who commands the third battalion of the 15th Regt., which includes the Rockport and the two Gloucester companies as well as the local company.

FLOWER SHOW

TO BE HELD IN NEW HORTICULTURAL HALL, MANCHESTER, SEPT. 7 AND 8. AN EVENT OF THE SEASON.

So much has been said about the food gardens of the North Shore this season that it would almost appear that no flowers had been grown in the section, which is famous the country over as a center of flower and plant culture. While the famous North Shore estates have been given over in part this year to the cultivation of food products in order that the supply necessary to carry on the war may be increased, the cultivation of beautiful flowers has in no measure been neglected.

In demonstration of this fact the North Shore Horticultural society is to hold its annual exhibition and flower show in the new Horticultural hall, opposite the railroad station in Manchester, on Friday and Saturday, Sept. 7 and 8. The show, which was omitted last year because of the activities in connection with the securing of funds for the new building to house the show, will be one of the best ever attempted. It will be the first important event held in the new building, which is being rushed to completion in time for the exhibition.

The exhibition will be open to the public each afternoon and evening of the two days and will undoubtedly draw large crowds. In the days of the former flower shows, when they were held beneath the big tent, great crowds gathered to see the products of the famous gardens of the Shore. Often times the weather made the tent an undesirable place to hold a show and it was largely due to this that the movement for the new building was started. The society now has a new and permanent home and in these splendid quarters the coming show will be held. As it will probably be the first opportunity to inspect the new quarters of the society, a great many will attend the exhibit in addition to those lovers of flowers who would have sought out the exhibit anyway.

At the afternoon shows an admission of 50 cents will be charged to all adults. The evening admission fee will be 25 cents. Children between the ages of 12 and 16 will be charged 10 cents and any child under 12 years of age, accompanied by an adult, will be admitted free. All exhibitors whose entries are in place by noon on Friday, Sept. 7, will receive a ticket entitling them to admission to all shows. There will be music at both evening sessions.

SIX RUNS OFF FITZ

MANCHESTER BOYS GET SEVEN HITS AND SIX RUNS IN GAME WITH ST. JOHN'S.

The third game this season between Manchester and St. John's Catholic club of Cambridge was a good practice game for the local nine in preparation for the Marblehead series. The game was fast, but very one-sided, Manchester winning 6 to 0. The result was never in doubt after the first inning. A base on balls, a stolen base and a sacrifice hit let a visitor get to third in the first, but nobody else got as far as that during the remainder of the game.

Gourley beat a bunt to first and Ford duplicated the stunt in the first inning. Sheehan also bunted and Fitzgerald threw wild to first. Gourley scored on the error and everybody advanced a base. Ford scored when Devlin fled out to centerfield. Meehan was hit in the ribs and took first base. He stole second and Sheehan scored by stealing on the next pitched ball. Leland sacrificed and Holt walked. Meehan stole home when Holt went down to second. Murray fanned retiring Manchester with four runs to the good.

Leland, the most recent addition to the lineup, was handy with the bat, getting a sacrifice that advanced Meehan to a position to score in the first and getting as far as third in the fourth after a smash straight at Fitzgerald's head and a steal to second. Ford was in his usual form, covering all kinds of territory between second and third bases and stopping St. John's only chance to score by rapid fielding of McCarthy's drive in the first.

In the eighth Manchester made two more runs without much effort when Ford and Sheehan singled. Ford stole third and a sacrifice fly by Meehan brought him home. Sheehan stole third. Leland fanned, but McCarthy dropped the ball on third strike and made a bad throw to first, Leland getting an extra base and Sheehan stealing home.

The game was one of the fastest, in point of time occupied, that has been played in Manchester this season. Aside from the first and eighth innings it was a case of "one-two-three" for both sides in nearly every inning. Grover was in something like his old time form and kept the hits well scattered, no two coming in the same inning. The decisive win from St. John's was Grover's "come-back" from the first defeat at the hands of the same team early in the season.

George Brown of Waltham spent the week-end with his uncle, Henry W. Brown.

Mr. and Mrs. Axel Nelson, after two weeks' vacation spent here, have returned to their home in Salem.

Mrs. Robert McGaughey returned Tuesday from Pembroke, Ontario, where she has been visiting relatives and friends.

The last two moving picture performances of the season will be given at the Men's club tonight and next Friday. These shows have been excellent this summer.

Cups are on exhibition at the Men's club representing the prizes for the bowling, pool and tennis tournaments. The pool tournament has narrowed down to a competition between Monaghan, Wheaton and A. Seaburg. A cup is to reward the lady who makes the highest score in bowling on or before September 8th.

The lawn party given for the benefit of St. Joseph's Chapel at the home of Mrs. John Chane last Thursday evening was a decided social and financial success, which was due to the hearty coöperation and hard work, not only of the village people, but also the summer guests. The weather was favorable; the lawn was illuminated by electric lights; the tables laden with things useful and ornamental were generously patronized; games of various kinds amused and pleased the children, and dancing in the big barn that was furnished through the generosity of James Doyle was enjoyed by many. The music was furnished by the Imperial orchestra.

The Men's club vaudeville on Monday and Tuesday evenings was pronounced a great success by all who attended. The farce, "Double Crossed by Cupid," was excellently done. Leslie Walters, Jr., dressed in colonial costume, sang "For Me and My Gal" in a manner that delighted the audience, and his father drew telling crayon sketches, ending with one of President Wilson. Handy and MacDuff as colored comedians received great applause. The solo numbers by George Chamman, James O'Neil, Edward Lobdell and Carl Brown were all good. The last named, concluding the program with a new war song entitled, "Over There," which was illustrated with a pretty tableau representing Columbia watching over soldiers and sailors through her Red Cross nurses.

WOMEN ARE EAGER TO SERVE.

Mrs. Frank A. Vanderlip, wife of the president of the National City Bank in New York, has been extremely active in war relief work, both as a worker herself and as a director of the thousand and one new occupations that are open to women at this time.

Writing in the September issue of Harper's Bazar, now ready, Mrs. Vanderlip makes this statement: "Women are eager to serve. They have always served at home. Now our government needs their work outside their homes. They will be ready for every sacrifice. I believe that the idea of democracy with its promise of opportunity for every child, is a clear and definite belief in the minds of women, and that we are ready to give to our utmost to create a world democracy."

Among the great things done by women thus far, Mrs. Vanderlip mentions the development of the Red Cross, the Increase and Conservation of the Food Supply, the taking of the Military Census of Resources, and helping to raise our recent Liberty Loan.

Miss Helen Mitchell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Mitchell, formerly of Pride's Crossing and now of Brookline, has been the guest of Miss Gertrude Sullivan of 81 Odell ave., the past week.

The next dance booked at Neighborhood hall is for Wednesday evening, Sept. 5, and will be conducted by the St. Columbia club, a party of young ladies employed by summer residents. It is for a charitable church purpose.

Of much interest to the Beverly Farms resident is the fact that the tax rate in Beverly this year will be $18.80 per $1000. Although this is an increase of $3.20 over last year it still leaves the city with one of the lowest rates in the state. The city has lost some 15 millions in valuation due to the new system of state taxation, but it is said that it will work out all right later on.

Preston post. 188, G. A. R. and Andrew Standley camp, S. of V., were represented by a goodly number of their members in the parade at Boston on Tuesday. A number of members of Preston W. R. C. have also been serving at Boston during the week on various committees.

Perhaps some to not think that Alderman Thomas D. Connolly, chairman of the exemption board in this district is a busy man these days. Besides attending to as much of his personal business as he is able to do in the early morning he reports for duty every morning at 8.30 o'clock at Beverly City hall, where the exemption board is still at work daily, examining and passing on the claims of draftsmen. Each day from 25 to 50 men have been put through and the work keeps the members of the board all hours of the night.

DRILLING OF CONSCRIPTS

STATE GUARD OFFICERS ASKED TO UNDERTAKE TASK OF PRELIMINARY INSTRUCTION.

The ambitious men among those of Massachusetts who are accepted for the new drafted army of the United States are given opportunity to prepare themselves for possible appointments as non-commissioned officers in that army through the offer of the Massachusetts State Guard.

The latter organization, through Brigadier General Butler Ames, its commander, has offered the services of its entire staff of commissioned officers, the majority of whom have seen Federal or National Guard service, together with its equipment and the use of its armories and drill halls, to the men of the draft army for the purpose of giving the latter instruction in the rudiments of military drill and regulation.

By means of this, the drafted men who take advantage of the offer will be able to present themselves at the various concentration camps of the state, equipped to give in turn such instruction to others, and being so equipped it is almost assured that they will be immediately named as provisional non-commissioned officers with opportunity of retaining such ratings and possibly of being ad-

Captain Alexander Robertson of the Manchester company has been asked to make arrangements whereby the drafted men from Manchester can be drilled to some extent before leaving for Ayer.

Already instructions to this effect have been issued to the officers of each of the 135 companies in the State Guard, and as the latter are located in more than 100 towns and cities of the Commonwealth, drafted and accepted men in any part of the state will find one or more of these officers, together with State Guard equipment and drill halls, so conveniently located that they can easily take advantage of the patriotic offer.

NOW STATE MILITIA

MANCHESTER COMPANY WILL BE KNOWN AS CO. I, 15TH REGT. OF MASS. STATE GUARD.

Manchester's volunteer company, organized under the State Guard Act and accepted in July became a part of the new state militia, which replaces the National guard, at 2 o'clock on Monday afternoon when Governor McCall issued an executive order of its acceptance into the state service. The guard as now organized is composed of between 8000 and 9000 soldiers, a majority of whom are former guardsmen and many of whom are veterans. Manchester's company is composed largely of men who have had little, if any, military service, but compares very favorably with many of the other companies whose men have seen service in the guard. With the formal acceptance of the state guard by the governor it becomes the militia power of the state with powers that are to some extent greater than those of the old national guard. The Manchester company, the 125th to be accepted, will be known as Co. I, 15th Regt., M. S. G.

The state guard was established by special legislation adopted by the 1917 Legislature when the national guard was ordered made ready for entrance to the federal service, after the declaration of a state of war. The law calls the guard into service for the time the former national guard units will be absent in the federal service, and until such time as they resume their guard status.

Brig.-Gen. Butler Ames, who will head the new state force, expressed his gratification when he learned that Gov. McCall had accepted the guard. Gen. Ames said: "The state guard is vested with greater powers under the new law than the national guard had, and has a combination of police-military duty which its members are well qualified to perform. The men have been inspected and passed upon as qualified to perform duty in the state guard, and the organization is complete in detail.

"Some of the companies are not yet fully equipped, owing to the failure of some contractors to deliver the equipment called for, but the guard is fully officered, well trained and will continue to improve as a military and police force for the state."

The new military force will operate under direction of the Governor and the adjutant-general, as the militia did, and the militia laws will be applicable in many ways to the guard, with extended authority of the 1917 law by which it was created.

LUFKIN FILES PAPERS FOR CONGRESSMAN.

W. W. Lufkin of Essex, for fifteen years secretary and assistant to Congressman A. P. Gardner, filed with the Secretary of State on Tuesday his nomination papers as a candidate to succeed Congressman Gardner, who is now a colonel in the United States army. Mr. Lufkin's papers contained 5270 names and were circulated and certified in every one of the 23 cities and towns in the 6th district. His endorsement, therefore, is general rather than confined to any particular locality.

When it is considered that the average republican vote in a primary in the 6th District is approximately 10,000, Mr. Lufkin's endorsement of 5000 would seem to indicate that he will be a winner over candidates Adams and Saltonstall by a large margin. The City of Gloucester gave Mr. Lufkin the largest endorsement with a total of 904 names, while Haverhill was second with 742 names.

In the Town of Manchester, 194 republicans endorsed Mr. Lufkin's candidacy by signing his papers. This would indicate that a large majority of the republicans were favorable to his candidacy.—(Contributed.)

NAVY LEAGUE UNDER BAN.

All connection between the Navy and the Navy League were severed last Friday by order of Sec. Daniels, as a result of the recent action of the league headquarters in charging that investigation of the recent fatal explosion at Mare Island Navy Yard was being blocked by influence of labor interests.

The Secretary gave notice that no representative of the league would be admitted to any naval station or ship and that nothing would be accepted from the league, as at present officered and managed.

Thousands of women throughout the country are knitting sweaters, wristlets and other articles for sailors under the auspices of the league. This notice means that these will not be accepted unless tendered through some other agency.

"Mrs. Flubdub wants to borrow some sugar, some eggs and some flour. Evidently going to make some sponge cake."

"Sponge cake is right. But why does she sponge entirely on us?"

Irate Parent—I warned you boys, and now I'm going to switch you for making such a racket.

Bobby—Well, switch Johnny; we're playing train and he's the locomotive.

GREAT DEMAND

FOR ASSISTANTS IN THE BUSINESS WORLD TWELVE MONTHS HENCE.

The great demand for assistants in the business world which will confront the country twelve months from now is being strongly emphasised by the Salem Commercial School and is leading many young people to enter that institution for an intensive course of business training. The man or woman who secures a business education will have untold opportunities unfolded to him not only within the next few months, but after the war.

Thousands of firms throughout the country are losing young men in the various departments of their business. The hampering of business is serious and there is but one way to alleviate conditions; train a standing business army ready to pick up affairs where the fighting men drop them.

This is an opportunity for young women to take the place of the men who take up arms. It is an opportunity, also, for young men who may be so unfortunate as to be physically unfit for fighting. There are many places where they will be of untold value.

The number of stenographers and typists, both men and women, now available is far below the demand. Railroads, banking houses, factories, and all sorts of businesses are feeling the effect of the draft and the enlistments.

The pressing need for men and women at the present time in the government service can best be understood from the official statement that for every man serving at the front ten are needed in various capacities at home.

The government Civil Service examinations have been modified, and any person over eighteen years old, who can take stenography accurately and who can type at a moderate speed, will have no difficulty in passing.

The Salem Commercial School is making a speciality of training for this work. Already many of its graduates have been accepted by the government at salaries of $1200 or more. Most of the women are appointed for service at Boston only. Men who qualify and are willing to go wherever sent are appointed immediately. The examinations are given weekly at Salem.

President George P. Lord of the Salem Commercial School, who is a member of the Salem Public Safety Committee, will be glad to supply further information to anyone interested.

PLANT DISEASES

EXPERT OF MASS. PUBLIC SAFETY COMMITTEE TELLS OF TOMATO AND POTATO ILLS.

"Green tomatoes have been injured very severely by the dry and very hot weather of the past few weeks," says F. A. McLaughlin, plant disease specialist of the Mass. Public Safety committee. "The fruit has been scalded where not protected by shade of the foliage, especially where the plants lie under direct rays of the sun. The injury is described as looking like a blister on the side of the fruit exposed to the sun. The surface of the blister is not raised but is sunken and the whole lesion is whiter than the normal green of the fruit. Some have expressed the injury as looking to them like a 'frost bite.'

"The foliage for the most part is still healthy and fruit remaining may ripen in the usual manner. The injured fruit need not be thrown away but may be used for making green pickles or preserving, provided the injured portion is discarded and the fruit used at once. Decay often follows sun scald, hence prompt use of injured materials will be a great saving.

"We have seen many tomatoes which are showing hard brown or black areas at the blossom end. This injury is known under the name of "blossom end rot" and though the cause is much disputed it is usually attributed to dry weather since it is more prevalent at such seasons. The growers of greenhouse tomatoes say that they can largely control and prevent it by giving the plants sufficient water.

The affected fruits need not be discarded, but may be used for pickles, remembering of course to discard the diseased portion. Often tomatoes so affected will ripen on the vine, but usually bacteria get into the injured portions and complete decay results, hence it is not safe to leave the fruit on vines very long after injury is noted.

"We are often called to examine potato patches for late blight. In most instances the alarm was caused by some of the lower leaves turning brown, or even the top ones, and the whole plant looking sickly. This disorder is very common in dry seasons and is called "tip burn" because the tips of leaves are the first to turn brown.

"The cause of such burning is the failure of the roots to provide the quantity of moisture needed by the leaves. The season has been such as to cause a great amount of this tip burn just now. Perhaps the injury would not have been so bad if moisture had been less plentiful during the early part of the season or if there had been more rain distributed as plants needed it. As it was, roots grew near the surface of the soil since moisture was plentiful when the seed was planted. Now all the moisture lies deep and the roots have not grown long enough to reach it.

"Great improvement may be expected from the benefit of the recent rains. Another dry spell will produce the same effects, hence it may be a good policy to water gardens where a hose is available. If necessary, carry out wash water and use it."

OUR YOUNG MEN.

A physician, after examining for over an hour the young men called before him, said to one of the board: "Isn't it a pity to see the physical condition of our young men."

"Every other physician has had the same experience. Flat feet, bad teeth, faulty eyesight, underweight, and so on. The percentage of rejections is so high as to raise the serious question as to whether or not we are going to seed. If this war had not come, would we have had any young men physically fit in a few years more?"

OIL COOK STOVES AND OVENS

One young man who claimed exemption on the ground that he had catarrh was told by the physician that in two months service he would be entirely cured. From the training camp comes the report that uniforms which fitted perfectly a few weeks ago are now four inches too small across the chest.

Is there not in this an unanswerable argument in favor of universal military training? Many a man of 40 and over wishes today that he had had the advantage of such a training when he was a young man; and the result of a few weeks training at Plattsburg and other camps has made men only eager for more.

Military training does not mean militarism. It means a sound body and the nation which adopts it in time of peace is not only assured of protection in case of attack but of a sturdy physical manhood which makes for better business men, better professional men and better laboring men as well as a better heritage for posterity.—Boston Commercial.

In London people are fined for wasting labor and money in overdecorating buildings. The "simple life" is being taken with a seriousness beyond the hopes of its advocates.

Any successful strike by the coal miners from now on can be engineered only through the instrumentality of a pick.

PRISON CAMP

ESSEX COUNTY COMMISSIONERS PLAN TO USE PRISONERS IN RECLAMATION WORK.

The Commissioners of Essex County are trying an experiment at Hathorne that may mean a radical departure in the care of prisoners in the county penal institutions of the Commonwealth. Taking advantage of the law recently passed, they have taken a portion of the big farm of the Agricultural High School and have there a colony of forty men, trustworthy inmates of the jails, and have started a reclamation scheme, which promises excellent results.

Several acres of land have been broken up and planted and now while the crops are maturing, the men are building roads and improving the grounds of the camp.

Meanwhile, simple but well built structures have been put up and comfortably finished to house the men. There is a well-equipped kitchen, store house and refrigerator, to hold supplies, and adjoining a dining room, with white covered tables where the men enjoy the nourishing meals that are provided, that keep the men in good condition for their active outdoor life. Surmounting this building is the national flag.

Nearby is the spring, from which water is pumped with the reservoir on the hill, so that there is an abundance of fine water for domestic purposes and baths and closets.

The sleeping quarters are in a long well-screened and well-ventilated building, neatly furnished with clean, comfortable-looking cots, and adjoining the wash room and toilets. Another building provides a reading and loafing room, and just back of that is the building for the officers in charge of the men. The plant is pleasantly located on the side of a hill in a pretty clump of woods, which screens it from the highway and is a breezy and sunny location. The men seem to take kindly to the opportunity to change from the monotony of institutional life to the more attractive surroundings and the opportunity for healthful occupation in the open country and absolutely no difficulty is experienced in their control.

WILL INSTALL NO MORE TELEPHONES.

The New England Telegraph & Telephone Company has decided to install no more private and commercial telephones until further notice, probably until the ending of the war diverts into the old mercantile channels the raw material that is now being used for war machinery. The telephone directory, whose growth from a mere pamphlet to a mighty volume has been witnessed by many now living, enters now a period of stagnation. It will grow no more until conditions are normal again.

The company gives as its reasons the difficulty of obtaining raw materials and their high prices, the shortage of labor and the large military demand.

EGGS MAY GO TO $1

Unless there is a sharp decrease in the price of corn and other poultry food this fall, consumers will be forced to pay $1 a dozen for fresh eggs during the coming winter, declares Secretary Wilfred Wheeler of the State Board of Agriculture.

Already poultry dealers throughout the country are killing off their hens owing to the high price of foodstuffs for poultry, and unless this wholesale killing of poultry is stopped soon the supply of eggs will be lower this winter than ever before and prices will soar. According to Secretary Wheeler the only hope lies in the possible drop of corn prices when the harvest is finished in the fall.

The department of agriculture recommends that we become a nation of "Jack Spratts." But has the department ever seen a real "Jack Spratt" in action?

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE.

What gives promise of being the most spectacular novelty of the year in vaudeville, if not on the legitimate stage, is Katharine Dan's Fantasia Luminare which comes to B. F. Keith's Theatre, Boston, during the week of Aug. 26. Miss Dan calls her attraction an overture of flowers and forest, and this in a measure describes it, for the audience sees wonderful, mystifying transformations consisting of, not only beautiful gardens with living figures, but striking woodland scenes, all of which are set to appropriate music. This is unquestionably the greatest achievement in stage lighting ever accomplished and is certain to prove a sensation when shown in Boston. Haruko Onuki, the famous Japanese prima

BOSTON THEATRE.

Evelyn Nesbit and her five-year-old

The picture which is acclaimed by critics and film experts as one of the finest of the season, shows the marvelous and unexpected ability of Miss Nesbit as a picture player. Without previous experience, she wins all the honors in the production.

OUR Table Linen department is always one of great interest to housekeepers and prospective housekeepers on account of the many beautiful and varied styles of designs shown. We display at our New York Store over five hundred patterns, a great many of which are own exclusive styles and ideas.

Guirlande-de-Fruits Design

Prices on these and all our Linen goods are much below the prevailing market prices, as many of these goods were purchased over a year ago.

Here and There Among the North Shore Estates

Glimpses at Some of the Most Attractive Summer Homes From a Reporter's Notebook

AT DAWSON HALL, Beverly Cove, the home of Mrs. Robert D. Evans and the Misses Hunt on Burgess Point, the very atmosphere of the place seems to breathe of flowers and their mysteries. Mrs. Evans does not need to go beyond her verandas to enjoy flowers, for the long front and side porch present an unusual abundance of potted plants in luxuriant bloom. Perhaps in no other Shore home is found a veranda so filled with plants, until it resembles a beautiful conservatory. Here are seen Japanese lilies, the rare pink and white speciosum lilies, geraniums, wistaria, and among other attractive flowers, the campanula pyramidalis, the chimney bell-flower that bears its pretty blossoms on stalks four to five feet high. French hydrangeas are also seen that vie with the many different tinted ones in tubs along the driveways in front of the house.

"LONE TREE FARM," occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Rand Thomas and their daughter, Miss Elizabeth Thomas, for the past two seasons, while the owners, Mr. and Mrs. Reginald C. Robbins go to Maine, is a place that is showing up well in Hamilton with its three extra vegetable gardens. It is an attractive place, with the house set back some distance from the highway and surrounded with fine old trees. A little enclosed garden patch in the rear and lying next to the house in which it occupies the space between the veranda on the main part of the house and a wing is an interesting and charming little resort for a garden lover. A tall birdbath centers the garden plot. Narrow gravel walks brick-edged run through the little place among the beds of old-fashioned flowers and sweet-smelling shrubbery. An abundance of white candytuft is used for borders. Red begonias surround the birthbath. The whole seems like a little room to step into and is almost, in a way, a part of the house.

"SKERRYVORE", the Longworth cottage, is one of the charmingly secluded looking cottages in the Pride's Crossing section. A water view has been made by cutting out trees in front of the house, thus affording a delightful view over Salem way. The stone house set off with brown shingles and much ivy is surrounded by many fine trees, mostly oak and cedar. Wm. H. Wellington and son-in-law and daughter, Prof. and Mrs. S. Burt Wolbach occupy it.

"FOUR CORNERS," the Hamilton home of the George Snell Mandells, is usually thought of as the home of horses and hounds. A walk over the attractive grounds shows many points of value to a country home in which the interests of the hunt have always been uppermost. A little path leads up from the main driveway by the house to a terraced hill on the top of which is a surprising spot of beauty. This hill top contains a swimming pool, the long and deep basin of which is painted blue thus giving a deep and attractive coloring to the

"Such a tide as moving seems asleep, Too full for sound and foam . . . . "

water. The path leading up to the pool is of gravel and changes to a brick walk with steps on the terraces. Rose bushes are around the lawn space surrounding the pool. The bathhouse at one end is very unique. Made of stucco and covered with a bark roof and having a small projecting wall at each end out towards the pool it houses four dressing rooms, two on each end, and has an open central portion with seats from which the activities of the pool may be viewed.

The view from the little hilltop is exceedingly beautiful and extensive, taking in miles of the justly famous regions of Hamilton. It surely is an ideal and unique place in which to go bathing and to enjoy fine scenery at the same time.

"PLYNMAN FARM," the summer home of the William

H. Coolidges at Magnolia has a delightful rustic entrance on the Raymond street side of the estate which is one of the most beautiful imaginable. The main entrance is on Summer street, a broad driveway, with sweeping green lawn on both sides, which leads to the palatial home on the crest of the hill. Quite opposite in its idea of beauty is the entrance which leads to the beach bungalow of the estate. Stone flags guide the visitor up over the wooded side of the hill which has a clearing near the arched gate twined with green vines. Gay summer blossoms are set in conventional flower beds in this grassy green opening. Some of the flowers grow to stately height, and with their vivid coloring against the trees, the effect is entrancing. The lower growing flowers are a maze of bloom, and the coloring of the heliotrope is blended in loveliness with the taller flowers, until the gorgeousness of the picture is complete. 'Tis here, perhaps, that the English style of country estate is most strikingly illustrated. The whole North Shore with its winding roads and cultivated wildness of nature has the appearance of England, so much so that one could almost imagine that bits of bonny England had been transferred to the northern shore of Massachusetts.

"GREEN COURT," the handsome home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Perkins on Miles River road, is now one of the show places of Hamilton. The house has many attractive features, added since purchased by the Perkinses, the chief of which is the large oak-paneled library, a long room occupying one wing of the house. The low grounds near the house, used for the gardens, are showing some fine vegetable gardens that make an interesting sight to look down upon from the roadway. Mrs. Perkins is much interested in Red Cross work and evidently responded to the garden movement on her country place also.

"LOOKOUT HILL," the Gloucester home of the John Hays Hammonds, is ever having some little touch given to the beautiful grounds to make them more pleasing and artistic looking in their seemingly wild state. A walk through these grounds laid out with such skill on the rocky hill by Mrs. Hammond and Arthur A. Shurtleff of Ipswich is, indeed, a treat. So many shady paths running here and there out from the stately house, past fountains and pools, and all with some interesting objective point.

One leading to the out-door sleeping pavilion, where the family retire nightly up high on the rocks overlooking the water, is particularly interesting. The three lily pools which it passes have been somewhat changed this year. They are in cascade form on the hillside and the water trickling down from one cool depth to another has always been very realistic, but this year added vines and shrubbery hanging over the pools give a more charming and natural look than ever. In this pretty nook is the statue of Pan by Gail Hamilton Sherman. The large pools with the lesser pools further down the hillside make about six distinct falls, with a pretty little water wheel at the foot.

Following another path the great flag staff is passed and the end is found to lead into the little wharf, by which stands a most unusual bath house and summer house combined. It is three stories high, made of rough boulders, and has a rounding, pointed roof. The lower stories can be used for small boats and dressing rooms, while the upper open section is fitted up with hammocks and the comforts of an out-door den. Quite near is the shed or station where John Hays Hammond, Jr., is experimenting for the government on a huge hydroplane with a detail of soldiers from the coast artillery, 26 men under an officer, to aid him.

A VERY ATTRACTIVE little garden plot is enclosed with California privet at the Beverly Cove home of Mrs. N. W. Rice and Miss Annie Rice. A bird bath centers it and a perennial border in the four sides next to the green hedge. Beds filled with annuals mostly and interspersed with narrow grass paths make up the chief portion of the plot. Just now bright red salvia is making a good showing, also some very pretty poppies. The Rice home is one of the attractively situated places at the Cove and stands on Burgess Point, from which a good water view is obtained. One other house is located on this Point, that of Col. and Mrs. William D. Sohler.

Remember there are two shows every evening at the Larcum theatre. Beverly,—6.30 and 8.30, the last feature never starts until 9.30. Cool as ocean breezes. adv.

Green Meadows Horse Show, Saturday, Sept. 15

Benefit of Red Cross and Welcome House—
The Event of Early Autumn on North Shore

MUCH interest is being shown in the revival of the Green Meadows Horse Show this year, which is held on the Hamilton estate of George Burroughs, Esq. The grounds are located on the far side of Vineyard Hill in a rolling bit of country well suited to the sporting instincts of both horses and riders, the lay of the ground making the jumps seem far more like cross-country riding than in the average show ring.

Heretofore the Green Meadows Show has been given for the benefit of Welcome House, a very well-known and much esteemed old Boston charity. This year Welcome House is generously dividing her much needed proceeds with a charity even nearer to the hearts of all. The Hamilton-Wenham Branch of the Red Cross will be the beneficiary.

Women judges will be a feature this year. Practically all the riding and jumping will be done by women, although the sterner sex will not be debarred. The show will begin at 2.30 p. m. and as the 1.15 train from Boston will stop at both Beverly and Salem it is hoped many interested in hunting and jumping will be present. Jitneys will meet the trains and take the passengers to and from the grounds.

The show is as usual confined to hacks and hunters. Whenever it appears advisable the classes will be divided either by weight, carrying capacity or by height.

The classes are:

1. Children's ponies under 15 hands, to be ridden by children under 15 years of age.
2. Open jumping, light and heavy weight, to be judged separately, cups to winners in both classes.
3. Hacks.

4. Team of two hunters to be shown over jumps together.

The Horse Show committee is made up of Mrs. George Burroughs, Mrs. Frederick J. Alley, Mrs. John S. Lawrence, Miss Mary Curtis, Miss Alice Thorndike, Miss Julia Appleton, Mrs. Frederick Ayer, Jr., Miss Anna Agassiz, Miss Julia Meyer, Mrs. C. R. P. Rogers, Mrs. Albert C. Burrage, Jr., and Mrs. Neil W. Rice.

The Tea committee will be composed of Mrs. Herbert H. Mason, Mrs. Augustus N. Rantoul, Mrs. Charles F. Ayer, Mrs. Howard Doughty, Mrs. John Tuckerman and others.

The Economy League will conclude its work for the summer in Manchester and Magnolia, by the first of September. Collections will still continue every Tuesday in Beverly Farms and Pride's, probably through the winter months. If anyone has an accumulation of waste material, the Economy League will be glad to receive it any Tuesday, at Mr. Linehan's shed near Pride's station.

Y<sup>e</sup> Rogers Manse in Ipswich is catering more than ever to special dinner parties. Its lobster and chicken dinners are well known and many tourist and week-end parties find this a charming place to stay while upon the North Shore. adv.

The Puritan Tea Room at Montserrat has had among its guests Mrs. Harry W. Moulton of Swampscott with a party of seven and Mrs. H. W. Munn of Boston and Swampscott, who is a frequent entertainer at this charming little tea room. This tea room is open every Sunday and is also open the year round.

WAR and preparations for war have caused an abandonment of the Labor Day horse show and gymkhana of the Myopia Hunt club, Hamilton, for nearly a quarter of a century the big sporting fixture for the colonists of the North Shore. So many of the young men who usually rode in the various classes are now in the army or navy or the training camps, that the show has been given up. The annual golf tourney between the Myopia Hunt club of Hamilton and the Essex County club at Manchester, scheduled for last Saturday, was also given up, largely for the same reason.

Mrs. Walter J. Mitchell of Manchester has spent the week in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Harrison K. Caner, Jr., (Uytendale Baird), who have been with the former's parents at their home on Dana's Beach, Manchester, will return to Philadelphia, Sept. 9.

KATHLEEN BURKE with her thrilling and soul-stirring message in regard to woman's work in this great war brought a large gathering of women to the workroom of the French Wounded Fund at the coach-house of Mrs. Edward S. Grew, "All Oaks," West Manchester, Thursday morning. Miss Burke, the author of "The White Road to Verdun," is the delegate to America of the Scottish Women's Hospitals for Foreign Service, with headquarters in New York, at 20 Nassau st., where checks for the cause may be sent. The Honorable Miss Burke is now in Magnolia at "Att-Lea House," the guest of Mrs. S. Fisher Corlies and Miss Margaret Corlies. Last night she spoke at the Oceanside and this Friday afternoon will speak at the Red Cross workroom at the home of Mrs. Bayard Warren. Early in July Miss Burke spoke at "Castle Hill," Ipswich.

Miss Burke touched many hearts yesterday when she pleaded for women to be mothers to the broken and wounded men brought in from the battlefields. She brought out that they are not men at the time, but must be nursed back to health, strength and manhood by women. In touching upon her work in the Serbian camps she showed the spirit with which the Scottish women had gone into the devastated regions and established hospitals. She spoke of the thoughtfulness and appreciation of men on the firing line and said that men knew the value of women's work on the line as well as off. That the energy of American women is needed to see the war through was explained. Every bandage made may be the means of saving a life, she said. Also that the men appreciate the fact that the women all over the land are sewing and working for them is a stimulus. It may not all be as well organized as it might be, she explained, yet women's work is not to be laughed at, for if organization had won the war Germany would have won it long ago.

Miss Burke has a rapid and somewhat dramatic delivery and carries her hearers to the very heart of things. She wears the trim little cap and garb of the Scottish hospitals and is adorned with many honor medals among which she wears the little Red Cross pin.

Among those present were Mmes. George H. Lyman, Walter Hunnewell, Jr., E. L. Kent, Edward J. Holmes, E. P. Motley, H. S. Grew, E. S. Grew, W. D. Denègre, E. K. Arnold, H. Warren, F. I. Emery, Lester Leland, R. P. Snelling, J. Curtis, M. G. Haughton, F. M. Boynton, H. H. Hoane, R. J. Monks, T. Adamowski, R. De Koven, G. L. Cabot, E. C. Fitch, W. B. P. Weeks, W. B. Thomas, M. B. Lothrop, John Noble, R. W. Cutler, W. H. Moore, W. W. Caswell, C. R. Sanger, S. E. Hutchinson, H. K. Caner, H. K. Caner, Jr., C. C. Auchincloss, Walter Bigelow, Robert Livermore, Harry Livermore, F. M. Whitehouse, Charles Hanks, Samuel Culbertson, Geo. Warren, Gerald Hoyt, Guy Norman, Russell Codman, Jesse Koshland, F. W. Fabyan, H. P. King, S. P. Blake, B. Wells, W. Yates, C. E. Cotting, John Thorndike, W. Goodrich, E. Underhill, H. A. Murray, Mrs. Bemis, Mrs. Hyde and the Misses Margaret Rantoul, Eleanor Noble, G. R. White, Alice Thorndike, H. Cadwaleder, Lois, Marie and Rosamond Arnold, Eleanor Sohler, Annie Rice, H. C. Rantoul, Jr., E. Rantoul, Mabel Rantoul, E. W. Perkins, S. C. Beecher, the Misses Edwards, F. C. Sturgis, M. Greeley, Elaine Denègre, and Miss Boardman. Others came in just for the talk and were not registered as workers for the day. Jimmy Grew, the young son of the Henry S. Grews, was among the busiest workers present.

One thousand comfort bags are being made to send out as soon as possible in addition to the other great supplies turned out. They will contain socks, handkerchiefs, writing block, envelopes, pencil, soap, a game, pipe, mirror, vaseline and American flag.

DR. JAMES HENRY LANCASHIRE gave his eighth annual golf tournament at the Essex County club, followed by a luncheon at "Graftonwood," on August 28th. Eighty invitations were sent out. Two men tied for the best gross score: George E. Warren, 92, and E. E. Williams, 92. Mr. Williams had the best net, as his gross of 92 with a handicap of 15, gave him a net of 77. The certificate for the best gross prize, therefore, was awarded to George E. Warren, and for the best net to E. E. Williams. Rather an interesting feature of the event was the fact that Dr. Lancashire also made a gross of 92, with a handicap of 18, making him 74. Each certificate being valued by Dr. Lancashire at $50, Mr. Warren and Mr. Williams, each having won a certificate, will therefore be credited with $50 apiece by the Manchester Chapter of the Red Cross. Dr. Lancashire also contributed to the Manchester Red Cross the expense of the invitations of last year, which was $50,—this amount being saved by having the invitations typewritten. When the announcement was made to the guests of the amount to be given to the Red Cross, E. Palmer Gavit promptly produced a brand new $50 bill, and said he would like to contribute that to the same cause, and before leaving, Walter J. Mitchell added $50 more, so as a result of the tournament, the Red Cross Chapter in Manchester receives $250.

At the luncheon at "Graftonwood," covers were laid for 45. The table decorations were unique in character, being composed of a company of mounted soldiers in the uniform of the allied nations, led by General Joffre, and with red, white and blue showing, together with the flags of the allies, conspicuously on the tables. The mounted soldiers were made by wounded soldiers in French hospitals.

Dr. Lancashire had as house guests, J. Hurd Hutchins, Edward Porter May and Harry L. Ayer, of Boston, and E. E. Moberly of New York.

A list of guests follows: Gen. Adelbert Ames, Francis I. Amory, Edmund K. Arnold, Edwin L. Arnold, Harry L. Ayer, George E. Barnard, Sen. Alfred J. Beveridge, Reginald Boardman, Frederick Bradbury, Harrison K. Caner, Samuel Carr, Gen. Edgar R. Champlin, Edwin B. Cole, Costello C. Converse, Richard H. Dana, Arthur Dudley Dowd, Thomas B. Gannett, E. Palmer Gavit, William J. Gray, John G. Groves, W. H. Holbrook, D. Herbert Hostetter, Charles E. Hubbard, J. Hurd Hutchins, Sidney E. Hutchinson, William V. Kellen, Edward Porter May, Philip H. McMillan, Walter J. Mitchell, E. E. Moberly, L. W. Morgan, F. T. Pfaelzer, C. M. Russell, John E. Searle, W. P. Snelling, E. D. Stair, A. F. Southerland, Horace H. Stevens, James B. Waller, F. H. Warner, George E. Warren, E. Laurence White, George R. White, Gordon White, E. E. Williams, George F. Willett.

Rev. Laurence Maynard of the First Religious Society (Unitarian), Newburyport, will preach at the Union Chapel, Magnolia, Sunday morning, at 10.45. Seats free; all are welcome.

Dr. Paul Revere Frothingham of Arlington st. church, Boston, will preach Sunday, Sept. 2, at the First Unitarian church, Masconomo st., Manchester-by-the-Sea. Service at 11 o'clock; all are welcome.

Dr. Samuel McComb will speak in the Town hall, Manchester, next Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock, on "America in the World Crisis." All are cordially invited and it is hoped that a large attendance will be present to hear the distinguished divine upon such a burning subject. Dr. McComb is in an exceptional position to form a wise judgment on this great subject.

IT is earnestly desired by the Comforts committee of the United States Navy League, 509 5th avenue, New York, that the following extract from their recent letter to Miss McGinley, chairman of the North Shore Unit at Magnolia, be made public:

"Concerning the controversy between Secretary Daniels and Colonel Thompson, President of the Navy League,—undoubtedly, this affair has been greatly exaggerated by the press in general and it is within our knowledge that there is every effort being made in Washington for an amicable adjustment between all parties concerned.

"We are continuing our work as heretofore, and we would, therefore, request that you please continue to send your completed garments to us as usual, and your garments will be distributed to the boat assigned or where most needed as the case may be.

"Of course, you readily understand, that all garments made from wool purchased here must be returned—as it is really our property—and not to any other individual or organization, and we will send them as directed to Mrs. Frazer for distribution, or through whatever channel as pointed out to us by those in authority.

"We have this week delivered through private individuals 2,170 garments to ships within our immediate vicinity.

"Signed, Caroline L. Morgan, Secretary."

The Magnolia branch of the Comforts committee of the Navy League have had turned in at their headquarters at the Grande Maison de Blanc, Magnolia, the following articles: 100 sleeveless jackets, 82 mufflers, 73 pairs of wristlets, 36 helmets and 26 pairs of socks.

Miss Marion Tucker, who is in charge of the distribution of free wool, has given out $170.00 worth of wool to people who wish to knit for the sailors, but who cannot afford to purchase the yarn.

Contributions to this fund are urgently solicited, as at the present time we have exhausted the entire fund that we had on hand for this purpose and as we are most anxious to continue the work on the North Shore during the fall months.

Any amount donated to this worthy cause will be gratefully received. Please make checks payable to:

Henry Pratt McKean, Jr., of Beverly Farms, is of the North Shore young men attending the officers' training camp at Plattsburg.

Miss Louie R. Stanwood's beautiful poem, "From the Old Powder House," which appeared in last week's BREEZE incited a desire to visit the place this week. The best approach is by the paths leading off from Pine street, although a shorter way is to climb the hill almost directly back of the Catholic church. The view is wonderfully interesting with the town spread out below and in the background over "Eaglehead" way that entrancing "calm blue between the trees." The Phillip Dexter place can be seen far over the tree tops and rising very abruptly over, to the left of the front view is the cottage occupied by Dr. and Mrs. Z. B. Adams (the James T. Fields cottage), and other equally distinct nestling among the trees. The old brick house is itself interesting with its closed in doorway and two small holes showing the thickness of the walls. One cannot help but wonder why a summer home has not been built up among the "oaks and pines and sweetbriar bushes" where in "the softest of mid-summer hushes" is to be found such peace and beauty.

THE birthday anniversary of Oliver Wendell Holmes was Wednesday, Aug. 29. He was born in Cambridge, in 1809. His elder son, Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, for many years an Associate Justice of the Supreme Judicial Court, and Mrs. Holmes (Fannie Dixwell) make their home at Beverly Farms in the place so rich with memories of the beloved poet. John T. Morse, Jr., of Pride's Crossing, in his "Life and Letters of Oliver Wendell Holmes" tells of the birthday celebrations in Beverly Farms in the long ago. The children, his neighbors, the summer residents, letters and telegrams, presents both elaborate and small, all made the day a gala one. "Poems were addressed to him, and let not the dread reporter be forgotten! for he invariably lent the sanction of his benign presence to the occasion, so that the cup of glory was filled quite to overflowing! The celebration became rather exhausting for the Doctor during the last few years, but his courteous soul would not permit him to say 'not at home' to any one who showed him the kindness of calling."

In the Beverly Farms library is a desk with the following inscription on it:

"This desk belonged to Oliver Wendell Holmes, poet, writer, teacher of medicine, good citizen and genial friend. He lived for many years at Beverly Farms. He was born 1809, died 1804. Presented to the Beverly Farms Library by his son, Oliver Wendell Holmes, Chief Justice of Massachusetts."

A picture showing three views of his birthplace in Cambridge hangs over the desk.

In the BREEZE of June 25 a long article was given in which all that Holmes ever wrote in regard to the North Shore had been gathered from books and magazines and thus compiled.

Her nephew, Morton Prince, Jr., son of Dr. Morton Prince of Boston, has been with her the past week. Gordon Prince is now in service in France.

Mlle. Germaine Cossini of Paris, has been at the home of Mrs. J. Henry Lancashire in Manchester for the past two weeks where the last two of her French lectures have been given. These have been very enjoyable affairs. The first two were given at the home of Mrs. M. G. Haughton, Pride's Crossing.

Richard H. Dana, who came to his Manchester home in July, is busily engaged as chairman of the National Civil Service Reform League. With Mr. Dana this summer are his son's family, the Allston Danas, of White Plains, N. Y., and his daughter, Mrs. Henry C. de Rahm, and children, of Coldspring-on-Hudson, N. Y. Edmund T. Dana of New York is coming on, next week for a visit with his father. A son just departing from a short stay was H. W. L. Dana, Ph.D., Columbia university. Dr. Dana had with him Capt. Baldensperger of France, who has fought two years in the war and is now lecturing at Columbia. Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Dana, Jr., who have spent the summer on their farm at Washington, Conn., will come with their children late in September for their annual visit.

Mrs. Henry W. Peabody of Montserrat was among the women of the country taking the stand that, though standing with Mr. Hoover on the food question and signing all cards, they sign such cards with a proviso remonstrating against the inconsistency of using millions of bushels of grain for liquor in the face of the present situation. The Northfield mission school of which Mrs. Peabody is chairman and other women's conferences protested the question from the economic side, and not the moral issue.

COOLEDGE POINT's unit of the New England Branch of the American Fund for the French Wounded is enjoying the support of the ladies of that section of the North Shore in a marked degree. Mrs. Reginald Foster has opened her summer home at the Point for the work and the ladies meet during the mornings of each week most convenient for them. Their effort is not confined wholly to these mornings, many of them taking home bits of work which they accomplish in odd moments. When the work is completed it is sent to the headquarters of the New England Committee, on Boylston street, Boston, which has for its chairman Miss Edith Bangs, who occupied the Gordon Abbott cottage at West Manchester, during the summer of 1916 and who has done remarkable work for the New England Branch, bringing it into prominence among the several branches of the country. Of the ladies who lend their financial and material efforts to the Coolidge Point unit are Mrs. R. T. Paine, 2nd., Miss Ruth Foster, Miss Ruth Paine, Mrs. F. L. Higginson, Jr., Miss C. F. Anderson, Mrs. George F. Willett, Miss Martha Willett, Miss Lillian F. Clark, Mrs. T. Jefferson Coolidge, Jr., Mrs. S. H. Fessenden, Mrs. W. A. M. Burden, Mrs. John T. Clark, Mrs. Ernest W. Longfellow and Mrs. James B. Waller.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry McRee (Gladys Scudder), who have been touring through Maine and the middle west, which trip had for its object point St. Louis, where Mr. McRee was called for business, returned to Magnolia on Tuesday to spend the remainder of the summer with Mrs. William H. Scudder, the mother of Mrs. McRee. Mrs. Gustavo di Rosa (Maude Couples Scudder) departed on Monday for Narragansett Pier where she joined her sister, Mrs. John H. Overall (Martha Scudder) and Mr. Overall of St. Louis, who are spending August at this resort.

A recent arrival at "Stonehurst," the Claude Kilpatrick summer home on Shore road, Magnolia, has been Mrs. Thomas M. Hall of New York, who has come to visit her friend Mrs. Louis Kilpatrick Hayes. Mrs. Hall has many friends in Magnolia where she has visited for several seasons, having been a guest at the Oceanside hotel during her former visits.

Sargent), have returned to their summer home at Coolidge's Point, Magnolia. At Plymouth, N. H., Mr. and Mrs. Higginson visited their young son Francis L. Higginson, 2d., known to his friends as "Pen," who is spending the summer there in camp with his tutor.

Mrs. Wm. A. Read (Edith Fabyan), who has been with her parents, the Frances Wright Fabyans of West Manchester, has returned to New York.

"CROW ISLAND" at Kettle Cave, Manchester, is being well guarded this summer while the Misses Amy and Clara Curtis are absent in Pau, France, engaged in hospital work. Last summer when the Misses Curtis made a short stay in their summer home, Frick, the handsome Scotch Collie was only a small dog, while now in his year and a half he is as large as Nigger, the fine old watch dog of about sixteen years. These two friends and their keeper are taking good care of the pretty little flower garden and thrifty vegetable garden on the bank of the "island" home. One of the most attractive features of the place is the little bridge out over the rocks, which are exceedingly interesting around this point.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Wick and three children of Youngtown, O., left this week after a month's visit with Mr. Wick's mother, Mrs. Myron C. Wick of Manchester Cove. Another son, Paul Wick, and family have been occupying a cottage this summer, close to the Wick home. Myron C. Wick, Jr., is in France in the American Ambulance Field service.

Mrs. Albert W. Gilbert of Hartford, Conn., was a guest for a short stay this week at the home of her sister, Mrs. George H. Stevens, of Ocean street, Manchester.

Mrs. Richard Dana Skinner returned this week from a short visit in Washington, the winter home, to her cottage in Manchester Cove. Mr. Skinner is on Maj. Murphy's staff in France doing reconstruction work in French villages.

A guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. Meredyth Whitehouse of "Crowhurst," Manchester, is Edward Robinson, head of the Metropolitan Museum in New York, a former summer resident of Manchester.

Miss Frances Dewart, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Wm. H. Dewart of Manchester, will return today from a girls' camp in Maine.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry V. Cunningham of University Lane, Manchester, will have with them over Labor Day, Judge and Mrs. John B. Madigan of Houlton, Me. A daughter, Miss Alice Madigan, will also be a guest. Mr. Madigan is judge of the supreme court and a brother of Mrs. Cunningham. A party of young folk will also be at the Cunningham's.

Miss Harriot S. Curtis of Manchester has gone to Moon Island, Lake Asquam, N. H., for a short visit.

Codman, Jr., left Wednesday for the camp at Ayer where he is 2nd. Lieutenant. The other son, Charles R. Codman, 2nd., is now in the school of aviation in Essington, Penn.

DANA'S BEACH in Manchester, is the playground of some interesting little children these late summer days. Little Dorothy Fairfield and Tom Dana, are the children in the Allston Dana family, aged respectively seven, six and five years. With them is Shaw Dana, the three-year old son of Edmund Dana, named for Bernard Shaw, the socialist writer. Little Shaw is cared for in the summer time, by Mrs. Allston Dana and in the winter he lives with his aunt, Mrs. R. H. Hutchinson (Delia Dana), who has an experimental children's boarding school of very modern ideas at Stony Ford, N. Y.

Other children from the Dana home are Henry L. and David, aged eleven and six, the children of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. de Rahm (Frances A. Dana). Henry is named for his great grandfather, Henry Wadsworth Longfellow. Later on these little cousins will be joined by R. H. Dana, 3d., and Mary P., the five and three-year-old children in the R. H. Dana, Jr., family. All of these little Dana grandchildren make their winter home in New York and its vicinity.

Not far from the Beach is the home of two interesting little babies—twins, Henrietta Dana and Eleanor Carol, three-year-old twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Dana Skinner. Mr. Skinner is the grandson of the R. H. Dana, who wrote "Two Years Before the Mast."

Among other children coming to the Beach are May, Charles H. and baby Margaret Stockton, the little ones in the Philip Stockton family of "Highcliffe."

Not far from Dana's Beach is White Beach where the little ones in the family of Rev. and Mrs. Wm. H. Dewart and others of Manchester Cove are having good times on the sands.

On the Dana grounds is a "rainy day" house, formerly the playhouse of the six Dana children on rainy days. It is now used as a den or study, rather than a playhouse for the little grandchildren.

Miss Winifred A. Cunningham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry V. Cunningham of University lane, Manchester, entertained at three tables of bridge on Monday in honor of her house-guest, Miss Mary Spence of Rockland, Me.

Mrs. Sidney Morison of Baltimore, is a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert I. Croll and Miss Pauline Croll of "Sunnybank," Smith's Point, Manchester.

ENSIGN WILLIAM JOHN CANER, who is in the Naval Reserve at Newport, had a two days' leave of absence this week which he spent at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harrison K. Caner of Manchester. Gerald Caner, who attended the summer camp at Princeton, will enter Harvard this year. Another son, G. Colket Caner, is abroad in Harjes Ambulance Red Cross work.

Mrs. Richard J. Monks and her mother, Mrs. Wm. W. Page, who have been at the Brownland cottages, Manchester, are leaving tomorrow to spend the remainder of the season at their house in Manchester Cove, vacated today by Mrs. J. L. Chalifoux of Lowell.

Mrs. Alexander Wadsworth and Miss Katherine Horsford are the concluding their season at the Brownland cottage, Manchester, this week. The Cottages are expecting their usual week-end and holiday guests. Much entertaining has been on the program this season in Wm. W. Casewell family and the Wm. H. Beers cottage. The Misses Fabyan entertained at dinner Tuesday for their nephew, Dr. Marshal Fabyan and family.

Mrs. Robert B. Stone of Old Neck road, Manchester, has had her sister, Miss A. L. Balch, of Jamaica Plain, with her for some time, and another sister, Miss Marion C. Balch, will spend the week-end with her. Mrs. Stone has spent the summer in gardening and canning and has quite a larder to her credit.

HAMILTON has become noted in the last two years for its old houses that have been remodeled. Mrs. John B. Moulton is the designer and decorator of these rehabilitated houses which are truly gems of artistic arrangements in combining modern conveniences and yet keeping the old-time house in all its beauty of form and quaint architectural design. The "Antique House" occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Gerard Bement; the Vaughan cottage in which the Alvin F. Sortwells live; the attractive house occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Albert C. Burrage, Jr., the home of the William G. Mitchells; "Old Brown House," on Main street and Farms, leased by Miss Mary Curtis for a number of years to be used in the hunting season and occupied this summer by Mr. and Mrs. Fred-eric S. Goodwin (Juliet B. Higginson); all of these are quaint and interesting places and are marvels of artistic workmanship.

Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel S. Simpkins, Sr., are occupying one of the quaintest places in Hamilton, which was just completed in its remodelling in the spring. Mrs. Moulton is to be congratulated on the skill and harmonious appointments with which she has brought the old house, built about two hundred years ago, back to modern life without changing its ancient appearance. A small entrance hall with its great front door in the top of which are bulls-eye glass admits to the old place.

Upon entering, the low-beamed ceiling and walls all finished in rough plaster and natural wood, the floors fastened with wooden pegs, and the quaint old furnishings make a most pleasing and unusual sight.

Old brick fireplaces with little closets built in the sides are a feature. The dining-room with its smokey ceiling was the original kitchen. Some of the overhead beams are worm-eaten. All of the old beams have been used, those of special interest being in the hallways both upstairs and down. The big key in the front door and the ancient wooden latches, some of which have the "latchstring" hanging out, are all of interest. A new music room has been added in the rear of the house, all in keeping with the place, however.

Tin sconces with candle burners, all reproductions of old ones, hold the electric lights. The furnishings selected by Mrs. Moulton, show old canopied beds, old linen chests, corner cupboards, old rugs, tables and a most unique sideboard.

Sleeping porches have been added and the veranda opening off the music room downstairs leads out to the pretty little grove back of the house. This is inhabited to such an extent with birds that Mrs. Simpkins has named the place "Birdwood." A birdbath also draws the songsters near the house. The grounds are an attractive setting for the old house which has been painted white and shows up so well on the Main street. It is the property of George C. Vaughan.

"ASHLEIGH" is the attractive place belonging to Mrs. John G. Walker of Boston. The large brown shingled house stands close to the roadway on Main street. Back of the house is a pretty little garden spot with trees and vines and flowers screening a most ornamental tea house. The garden has had some exceptionally fine roses in their time and is now showing mostly phlox and late flowers. Miss S. C. Walker, who usually spends the summers in Hamilton with her mother, is this season in Wilton, N. H., where she has taken a cottage. A son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. John J. Thomas and four children occupy the "Ashleigh cottage" on the hillside. Mrs. Thomas' great-great-grandfather, Col. Pickering of Salem, suggested the naming of Hamilton for his friend, Alexander Hamilton. It was formerly a part of Ipswich and known as Ipswich-Hamlet. The Walker place is surrounded with many apple trees besides other fine trees and is among the places which greatly added to its vegetable supply this season.

Mrs. John B. Moulton has her usual supply of five dogs around this summer. Among them are five or more White doodles, ten white West Highland terriers, and Tello, the handsome black Russian corded poodle.

SALEM.—

Frank Fabens of good old Salem stock has joined the Naval Reserves and after a period of training at Bumpkin Island has been transferred to the Eastern Yacht club where he has charge of the detail left there.

Capt. James C. Trumbull, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Trumbull of Salem, and brother of the famous "Wallie" Trumbull of Harvard football fame, who recently received his commission at Plattsburg, has been ordered to report at Plattsburg as an instructor. Walter H. Trumbull, Jr., is now in England engaged in Y. M. C. A. work.

WHEN Mrs. Harriet Curtis of Manchester bought the fine old house on Elm street, Salem, she had every intention of having it towed on a scow to Manchester and set up on her property, but when summer came, she found that it would not be entirely safe, and so carpenters have been at work the past week, taking the old place to pieces.

Not only are the old timbers being saved, down to the very last pieces, but the bricks and even the mortar is being preserved, the old fireplaces and mantels have been carefully removed, the fine old panelling and the handsome staircase taken carefully apart. The ell of the building is not to be rebuilt, but the boards have been saved to be used in replacing old timbers in the main portion of the house.

Before the house was removed from its original location, photographs were taken, for the house is historic in that it is over 200 years old and wonderfully well preserved, with wall panellings, carved staircase and other beauties not to be found many places of today, and these photographs will be decidedly useful in the reconstruction of the house when the owner orders its erection at Manchester.

SUMMER is still beautiful at Magnolia, although the last of the August days have passed so gently and pleasantly, one hardly realizing that the season is waning fast and that the sunshiny summer days of 1917 are soon to be a thing of memory, sweet to many and charming to all. Although the season has not been, judging by comparison, as gay as former seasons, yet it has had many compensations. Guests have gotten closer to one another, in the common cause of war, than would have otherwise been the rule had the season been normal. All of the ladies at the Oceanside have worked as one for the national cause, some making bandages, all knitting and all contributing to the financial needs of the various units of war relief. Of the several affairs which have been given at the Oceanside for the Red Cross, all have met with the substantial support of the hotel's clientele, and never have any efforts gone unnoticed by the guests. The pursuit of pleasure, the piece de resistance of the summer vacationist, has been abandoned in every instance, and the joy of the summer has been doing for others, mostly and enjoying a small amount of good time, lastly.

Mrs. D. B. Hussey with her little daughter, Miss Helen Hussey, departed on Monday for the family home in St. Louis after the usual summer stay of July and August at the Oceanside. Mr. Hussey, who made several visits here during the summer, returned to St. Louis several weeks ago, as did their son, Edward Hussey, a popular member of the younger set at the hotel. Edward, who is a student at Phillips Academy, will return to Andover at the opening of the school term. The Husseys are popular among the Oceanside clientele, and their going is regretted by their hosts of friends here.

Mrs. Howard M. Hanna (Jean Claire Hanna) of Cleveland, arrived at the Oceanside on Monday for a stay of indefinite length. Mrs. Hanna, a sister of Mrs. S. Prentiss Baldwin, who has been a guest at the Oceanside with Mr. Baldwin during the summer, has been cruising on the family yacht "Widgeon" and has been visiting at Bar Harbor.

Luncheon guests at the Oceanside on Wednesday were Mrs. George Swift of Boston and Mrs. James Hildebrand of Little Rock, Arkansas.

Interesting guests at the Oceanside, who are terminating a week's visit at the hotel among their friends, are Mr. and Mrs. Howard Osgood Day of Newport, R. I. The Days are newly-weds, the bride having been formerly Miss Jane S. Ward, the daughter of Mrs. Beverly Ward of New York. Mr. Day is a member of the Naval Reserves.

Miss Martha A. Shannon of Boston has been a guest of Miss Florence St. John Baldwin, also of Boston, who is summering, as usual, at the Oceanside.

TO know where to begin in making note of the beautiful gowns worn by the smart matrons, and the fluffy frocks of the girls is bewildering. Never has the fashion of clothes been more lovely. The combining of rich materials has become such an art, so intricate, that a mere mortal is as nothing when gowns are spoken of. One of the most beautiful gowns worn on Saturday evenings at the Oceanside dance was that of Mrs. J. Harrington Walker, which was fashioned of metal cloth of the hue of ashes of roses. Rich bead embroidery was used on the bodice and completed with a corsage of orchids. Miss Marion Tucker of Manchester, who was a dinner guest of Mr. and Mrs. Newhouse, was very attractive in a frock of shell pink georgette crepe and tulle with bead embroidery and shadowy gold thread touffes. Mrs. George E. Carter, who enjoyed looking on at the dance, wore an exquisite gown of mallard blue charmeuse and net with bendings of rich silver lace. Mrs. W. J. Morse's gown was of white metal cloth with embroidery of silver overskirt and bodice with white lace for garniture. Mrs. Edward Heaton Brainard wore an elaborate gown of king blue taffeta with touches of silver and black net. Mrs. Howard Osgood Day of Newport, R. I., a bride, who before her recent marriage was Miss Jane S. Ward of New York, wore a dainty gown of black net and satin, weighted with narrow bands of black sequins, and a fetching scarf of cerise tulle. A beautiful frock of cerise panne velvet and net was worn by Miss Elsie Martin. Mrs. J. L. Blair Buck, who was noted dancing with her husband, Lieut. J. L. Blair Buck, wore a gown of black net and satin with paillettes of sequins. Miss Eleanor Jones of the cottage colony wore a gown of black lace and net over taffeta. Miss Georgiana Solari was noted in a lovely frock of peach charmeuse, flounced, with gold embroidery. A sash of pink pastel shades completed the creation. Miss Genevieve Clendenin, who has just joined her parents at the Oceanside after a pleasant visit with Mr. and Mrs. Lyman B. Kendall at "Lonogee" their summer home at Bar Harbor, was very lovely frocked in white georgette crepe. Miss Florence Clendenin wore a frock of gold net with touches of golden brown net. Miss Helen Middleton wore a Callot frock of black and gold brocate.

For their accustomed two weeks' stay at the Oceanside, Mr. and Mrs. George Johnston and sons, George and Forman Johnston, of Detroit are registered at the hotel. Yearly they visit Magnolia and find their stay most pleasant.

Mrs. F. B. Twining and Miss N. B. Twining, sister and niece of Mrs. C. F. McMurray, whose home is in Troy, N. Y., have come to the Oceanside for a week's stay. They have been much entertained during their visit, and have found many friends in the hotel's guest list, as well as upon the North Shore.

Luncheon guests on Friday last with Mrs. T. G. Avery of Buffalo, who is summering at the Oceanside, were Mrs. J. M. Mitchell, Margaret and Ruth Mitchell, the daughter and grandchildren of Mrs. Avery, who are occupying a cottage at Smith's Point, Manchester, for the season. The Mitchells were guests at the Oceanside last season.

SATURDAY evening the dancing was the chief and most alluring attraction at the Oceanside, Magnolia, where guests in large numbers and members of the cottage colony, too, swayed through the spirited rhythm of the hop program with a will, and enjoyed to the utmost the swift passing hours. Because of the many military men in smart uniforms being present at the dance, the good time was even more in evidence. Knowing full well that the days of their respite from duty were short, and that the Saturday evening dance would be the last for many days to come, the ballroom was filled with merry couples. So accustomed have we become to the uniformed men, and so splendid do they look in their dress uniforms, that we wonder if we shall be glad when the uniforms are cast aside for civilian clothes later. Wouldn't it be just wonderful if the men could wear these clothes, which signify their ability in military affairs, without the lurking horrors of war which are so dimly shadowed behind their smart figures!

A distinguished guest at the Oceanside for the past week has been Major C. S. Hanson of Montreal, an officer in the Canadian Army, who has been through most of the fiercest battles of the present war, and who has recently returned to Canada on a military commission. With Major Hanson is his bride of several weeks—a Canadian girl. They will make an indefinite stay at the Oceanside, planning to return to Montreal after departing from Magnolia.

Through the generosity of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Pollak of Cincinnati, who are spending the summer at the Oceanside, the members of the hotel's newsstand and telephone service force, enjoyed a pleasant afternoon in the Pollak limousine one day the first of the week. The trip, which extended over the fine roads of the North Shore, was especially arranged for by Miss Cahill, one of the hotel's telephone operators who received a severe flesh wound during the mid-summer, and which has kept her indoors since. The group of happy people are sincerely grateful to Mr. and Mrs. Pollak for their extreme kindness.

Mrs. F. H. Olmstead of New York recently joined her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Culbert at the Oceanside hotel, where they are spending the summer. Mrs. Olmstead was accompanied by her little daughter and maid. Before her marriage, Mrs. Olmstead, as Julia Culbert, spent her summers at the Oceanside where she was exceedingly popular and sought after. She has found many of her former friends among the hotel's clientele.

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Davis of New York, who are summering at the Oceanside, are entertaining their daughter, Miss Amo P. Sessions, also of New York, who arrived with her maid early in the week to spend the remainder of the summer.

The Cape Ann Resorts

EASTERN POINT.—Although the national fall holiday is near at hand, according to hotel proprietors, the numbers of people to leave are small compared to other seasons and the September business appears unusually bright. The applications for autumn accommodations are pouring in. The late summer may have changed plans of people who preferred visiting the mountains in mid-summer. At any rate, every hotel in East Gloucester will have a wonderfully good autumn if the weather holds pleasant, which it usually does and no spot can be fairer than this section of the country in September and October. We try hard by writing of the moors in their garb of brilliant colors, the inviting wooded sections and the surf displays along the rugged coasts after the fall easterlies, besides the most wonderful sunsets to be seen to convince tourists, although there are the great multitudes which are not yet acquainted with the autumn charms of Cape Ann. There are those people who have for years spent the autumn here and cottagers remain very late many of them till snowfall. The number of artists in East Gloucester last year was great, but in this colony alone, there are this year, approximately 250 painters, professionals and students. This haunt, which for years and years has been a favorite ground for noted artists, affords material quaint and unusual for canvases in the big exhibitions and galleries of the country. The same objects may often appear, but there is varied light and atmosphere, brilliant, alluring, sombre and mystifying. When an artist of note like Frank Duveneck of the Munich school, prominent on both sides of the water, comes to East Gloucester for over forty years, being here again this season, why should other painters tire of the place and not find valuable material to be appreciated.

An event of unusual interest at present is the big exhibition of paintings and sculpture at the Gallery-on-the-Moors, on the Atwood estate, Ledge road, where artists, familiarly known in these parts and painters unheard of, are showing a most interesting gallery. The exhibition continues through September 15th, the first of the month excepted. There are 81 pictures, or rather "subjects," as the majority of painters prefer the term. In most instances the painter strikes out boldly in his technique, disregarding any particular school. Here we see independence in use of pigment and drawing and often a new way in telling a story. The exhibition is regarded the most interesting, however, that the gallery, in the second year of its age, has given to the public. The most important person is Cecilia Beaux, who shows a delightful figure—an ambulance corps driver, done in olive green, brown and delicate touches of red. Landscapes and water front views of Gloucester predominate. The hanging which is very creditable was done by Daniel T. Brewster of Boston, the director of the gallery. The artists exhibiting and their subjects include the following: Susan H. Bradley, The Grand Canon; Anna Fisher, Rocky Neck; Samuel Halput; Gloucester Harbor; George L. Noyes, Early Spring; Gertrude B. Bourne, Cape Ann Garden; E. Parker Nordell, Two Children; M. T. MacIntosh, Rocky Neck; Louise Upton Brumback, Afternoon In the Harbor; Gertrude B. Bourne, The Deep Pool; Walter L. Palmer, Pines At Sunset; Helen A. Reed, Summer; E. Sparkaw-Jones, Balloons; Hayley Lever, Gloucester Spires; M. Bradish Titcomb, In Stage Fort Park; Tracy Hoppin, Summer Morning; Fern I. Coppedge, Winter Afternoon, (Dean Prize, Fine Arts Institute, Kansas City, Mo.); Lucy Conant, Sea Pools (decorative panels); Carl J. Nordell, A Summer Girl; Martha Walter, Beach, Bass Rocks; Hayley Lever, St. Ives Boats and Harbor; Ruth A. Anderson, Harbor Terrace; George H. Macrum, Pigeon Hill; Charles Hopkinson, Winter; Jane Peterson, Gloucester; A. Sheldon Pennoyer, The Golden Hill; Louis Kronberg, Girl Sewing; A. S. Pennoyer, The Turn of the Road; Arthur C. Goodwin, Down Beacon Street; Frederick M. Grant, Saturday Afternoon; Cecilia Beaux, Portrait, Leslie Buswell; Mary Nicholena MacCord, Through the Trees; Florence Francis Snell, On the Moor; Henry B. Snell, Pigeon Cove; Agnes M. Richmond, Stringing Beads; Denys Wortman, Harbor View; John Sloan, Reddy In the Cellar; Elizabeth C. Clever etchings are shown by Frederick G. Hall, including A Cave, Cliff Scene and La Pennionnaire; William Auerbach Levy, Faithful, L'homme Triste and Boats at Low Tide; John Sloan, Girls Running, Ping Pong Photos and Rag Pickers.

The sculpture, a notable part of the exhibition is by Charles Grafly, Anna Vaughn Hyatt, Albert H. Atkins, Anna Coleman Ladd, Hazel Brill Jackson, Helen Sahler and Louise Allen. The list of sculpture includes: Charles Grafly, two sketches, The Struggle; A. V. Hyatt, Butting Goats, Bull and Blankets; A. H. Atkins, Milwaukee Art Institute, Glory, Fantasie de Nuit; La Mystérieuse, Milwaukee Art Institute, Portrait Relief, Sporting Satyr; Anna Coleman Ladd, The Dancing Girl, Temptation, Revalles as Cheopatre, The Ballet, Russe, Portrait, Music; Hazel Brill Jackson, The War Baby; Louise Allen, The Peacock, Portrait Mask, Maternity; Tom, Tom the Piper's Son; The Source, Helen Sahler, Donald.

Mrs. F. W. Crocker, of Brookline, who has spent so many seasons at the Hawthorne Inn, is much interested in girls' vacation house work. It was Mrs. Crocker who was responsible for the fine hour of dramatic readings given by Frederick Paulding, the prominent actor, at the Rockport Lodge Vacation house, Wednesday afternoon of last week.

The C. R. Hinchmans of Philadelphia are occupying the attractive Gate Lodge at Eastern Point.

Fern I. Coppedge, the artist, of Philadelphia, is making a stay at Rocky Neck, where she is finding material for fall and winter exhibitions of her work.

An event of interest this Friday evening, is the song recital to be given by Arthur Alexander of New York, at the Hawthorne Inn casino, for the benefit of the Army Y. M. C. A. With such a fine artist as Mr. Alexander offering his talent in service for his country, the response should be generous, in aiding the fund.

Late arrivals at Merrill Hall include: Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Shepard, Miss N. J. McKnight, Washington, D. C.; Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Boute, Miss C. Wezell, Charlotte F. Donovan, Felecie Waldo Howell, New York City; Mark Leslie Hersey, U. S. Navy; Jessie D. Coe, Mrs. John C. C. Hall, Mrs. Irving G. Hall, Nutley, N. J.; Mrs. M. E. Hall, Lowell; E. L. Neilson and wife, Chicago, Ill.; C. C. Stone, Clinton; A. S. Bachelor, Olivet, Mich.

Miss Caroline Sinkler of Philadelphia is now occupying her Eastern Point summer home. Miss Sinkler did not arrive in East Gloucester as early as in former seasons.

The patronesses for the benefit lecture and concert for the Russian Refugees Fund, to be held at the Gallery-on-the-Moors on Saturday afternoon of this week at 3:30 o'clock are Mrs. Bryce J. Allen, Mrs. William E. Atwood, Mrs. W. Harry Brown, Mrs. Alexander Cochrane, Mrs. Ralph Adams Cram, Mrs. Richard T. Crane, Jr., Mrs. Frank P. Frazier, Mrs. Augustus P. Gardner, Mrs. John L. Gardner, Mrs. John Greenough, Miss Charlotte H. Guild, Mrs. John C. Howe, Mrs. William Hooper, Mrs. Charles Hopkinson, the Misses Loring, Mrs. George H. Lyman, Mrs. John C. Phillips, Miss Caroline Sinkler, Miss Margaret Whitney, Mrs. George W. Woodbury, Miss Sarah Yerxa. The junior patronesses are Miss Katherine Tiffany Abbot, Miss Pauline Fenno and Miss Katharine Lane.

The annual bal masque at the Hawthorne Inn casino last Saturday night was a gay and attractive scene, hundreds being in attendance. The pageant of knights and ladies, toreadors, sailors, fairies, cowboys, Charlie Chaplins and scores of other characters made an interesting picture. This annual event is always of keen enjoyment and this season, the committee is congratulated upon the success of its efforts. Mrs. W. K. Harcourt was chairman, assisted by Misses Arington Butt, Nina Stockton, Louise Stovall, Charlotte Dennison, Mabel Vickery, Lillias MacLane, Virginia Smith and Margaret Montgomery.

"The Arcade," the store building built for G. O. Stacy, completed this season, in the Willows, near Hawthorne Inn casino, is an innovation in that locality. There are two large stores, one being occupied by R. C. Thomas of Boston, whose big establishment is at 372 Boylston street, and the other store by Laura Agnes Walker, as a gift shop. The store of R. C. Thomas is especially attractive, facing the field and the view along Eastern Point road towards Hawthorne lane and the Delphine. The store interior is white finish, the beautiful array of gowns and coats in which Miss Thomas specializes setting off to great advantage. There are a great many visitors daily at the establishment. There is a pleasant fitting room and a porch at the rear, overlooking picturesque scenery, comfortable porch furniture and boxes with blossomed plants lending a cozy and altogether inviting appearance. Miss Thomas has been in business for many years on Boylston street, Boston, and the attention and courtesy she has given to her wealthy customers have rewarded a continued and increasing patronage. Her adventure in a summer business, on the North Shore, this her second year on Eastern Point road, has been successful and the people of the colony are becoming acquainted gradually with the attractiveness and value of the R. C. Thomas establishment.

An indoor golf tournament was held in the sun parlor of the Rockaway, recently, for the benefit of the French soldiers. Mrs. J. D. Fulton was chairman of the committee. The collection among the Rockaway guests taken for the finding of Christmas bags and soldiers' kits, amounted to $26.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur A. Hersey of New York are registered at the Harbor View for a number of weeks.

BASS ROCKS.—The principal social event at the Bass Rocks colony the past week was the presentation of "The Merry Whirl of 1917," at the Moorland casino, for the benefit of the Surgical Dressings Committee of the American Red Cross, Bass Rocks unit of the Gloucester branch. The performances held on Thursday and Saturday evenings were very largely attended and it seemed that all the cottage colony as well as guests at the hotels were keenly interested in the benefit. The stage was transformed into a veritable grove and the green made a splendid setting for the people in their bright costumes. The opening scene with the little ones "In the Garden," representing fairies, flowers and bees made a very pretty picture, applauded to the echo. Mrs. Dudley Sutphen, Mrs. John L. Newell and Mrs. Stuart Walker were the chaperones in this ballet. The fairies were Rosemary Hoppe, Martha Meade, Phyllis Murphy, Edith Mitton, Beatrice Gilbert, Virginia Booth, Ruth Dupre and Barbara Dupre. ANNISQUAM.—Everything that can accommodate tourists in this attractive North Shore resort has been taken. Annisquam has had a good season, with prospects of a successful autumn.

A pleasant affair at the Barnacle Tea House, Annisquam, on Friday evening, last, was the gathering of college graduates, entertained by the Woman's club of Gloucester. About 50 were present at the gathering. The colleges represented being Hunter, Simmons, Indiana university, Radcliffe, Smith, Vassar, Wellesley, Tufts, Ohio, Wesleyan and University of Chicago. Cornell was represented by Professor McMahon, head of the Mathematics department. Miss Helen Gray Cone, a graduate of Hunter college of New York and of the faculty in English there, gave the company a splendid treat in the reading of her own poems. Her selections were "The Common Street," "Poverty Row," "The House of Hate," "The Trumpeter," "A Reprisal," "The Snake In Mail," "To Belgium," "To France," "Crowned With Thorns" and "A Chant of Love for England." "When the Roses Go Down to the Sea," contained local color, its inspiration coming from the charming Gloucester custom of the children strewing flowers on the harbor waters, to go out with the tide, in commemoration of the fishermen lost at sea.

Three little patriotic girls of the Annisquam summer colony showed what they could do in their way for the Annisquam Relief Fund for French Wounded, on Wednesday afternoon of last week. Mr. and Mrs. George G. Bass of Watertown, who are at the Headlands, Rockport, gave a children's party, recently, in honor of their little daughter, Miriam E. Bass, on the occasion of her sixth birthday. Games were arranged on the lawn and victrola music was enjoyed. A surprise was in store for the children, for when the garage doors were thrown open, the faces beamed with delight. The place was prettily decorated with Japanese lanterns and American flags. A long table was tastefully decorated with small lanterns, candles and fancy napkins and a collation of sandwiches, cake, ice cream, nuts and assorted candy was served. The handsome birthday cake, with its colored frostings and six lighted candles was cut by the little hostess. As the little guests departed, each was presented with a small lantern filled with candies. Among the guests were Florence and Roxanna Childs, cousins of the young hostess, spending a week at the Headlands, with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Childs, of Woodstock, Conn.

This sale is to continue for three days, Saturday, Sept. 1; Monday, the third, and Tuesday, the fourth.

"DOGDOM" in a recent issue, had the following interesting reference to the Hudson Kennels, at Magnolia: "Leaving Boston, it was to pay a visit to those wonderful Hudson Kennels at Magnolia, Mass., and just a nice ride from that interesting and hospitable city.

"Magnolia, thirty miles out of Boston on the old Gloucester Road, is a beautiful locality and classed as the swellest summer resort in the state.

"At the Hudson I was greeted by the proprietors and worthy public handlers, Robert McGaughey and Charles Davis. The successes of these most practical men are known to all acquainted with the performances of dogs at shows, and owners can rest assured their dogs are well cared for in these kennels built at the enormous cost of $97,000 by L. J. Knowles for his Selwonk team of terriers that he gave up on the eve of his marriage. Mr. Knowles leased the property to the energetic partners named above, and never was a place better kept. "Bob" McGaughey was born in Belfast, Ireland, and came to Canada with his people when ten years old. Charlie saw the light in Philadelphia, his father being from Llanelly, South Wales, and his mother from Droitwich, England. Both are alive and at Magnolia. After meeting Mrs. and Miss McGaughey, we all sat down to a splendid lunch, Jack Spedding from the Leeds Kennels (Delmont's) being my fellow guest.

"There is accommodation for just two hundred and fifty dogs at the Hudson Kennels. Some idea of the variety taken to shows may be gathered from the fact that on the previous day twenty-seven of their charges had been at the Lowell, Mass., show, and captured all sorts and sizes of prizes. Among these first class exhibits were Great Danes, English setters, Irish setters, pointers, spaniels, smooth and wirehaired foxterriers, Boston terriers, Welsh terriers, toy black and tans, West Highlanders, poodles, bullterriers, bulldogs, beagles, Irish water spaniels and Russian wolfhounds. Each of these dogs was in first class form, which says much for the unfailing, all-round knowledge and care of Messrs. McGaughey and Davis. McGaughey saw much of his earlier experiences in the kennels of John G. Kent, of Toronto, Canada's foremost dog owner. Davis started in the Spotswood Kennels of Boston terriers, and, in turn, had much to do with dogs in the kennels owned by Alf. Delmont, Ben Lewis, Thomas W. Lawson, Frank Addyman. McGaughey and Davis took over the Hudson Kennels on January 1, this year. Their career has been a most striking one.

"Going out to look over these very costly quarters for dogs, and of which I was glad to see leading owners taking advantage, it was to observe stone buildings fitted up on the inside with yellow pine. You could dine off the floors. The great exercising yards are well grassed. (I forgot to say that the Hudson Kennels are only a hundred yards or so off the main road and are surrounded by meadows and woodland.) There are seven acres in all and there can be no fear about the dogs getting away since all is well fenced. It is an ideal place.

"It was a very great pleasure to look over the numerous charges in these kennels. There is, however, no space at this time to go into detail in reference to the excellencies of all those dogs, ready, at a moment's notice, for the trials, and, let us hope, the deserved triumphs of the show ring. For there is much method in these kennels. Everything is in apple pie order. My visit was unannounced and I found the partners and understrappers attending to their everyday duties in the usual way. Cedar bedding is used exclusively. The crates in which the dogs go to shows are very compact, easy to clean out and shelter the dogs from all drafts and interference. Big dogs and little dogs receive every care. I didn't notice a puppy suffering from worms about the establishment. The visit was one of much pleasure, and it is not too much to write that if "Bob" McGaughey and "Charlie" Davis cannot win with a dog—then there's no win in him. That's all!"

SWAMPSCOTT.—The Lincoln house will close next week, after rather a quite season.

The home of Mrs. Henry Bond of Swampscott is surrounded by a healthy garden space given over to the growing of potatoes, set off by borders of crimson geraniums, which add quite a lively color scheme to the brown of the plants.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Simon Vorenburg on Puritan road, Swampscott is most attractive this season with its arrangement of flowers. Huge hydrangea plants bloom on the lawn, and a large green and white striped umbrella with garden seats adds an attractive bit of color at the side of the house. The porch of the house is hung with swinging baskets filled with trailing green plants.

Lieutenant and Mrs. Frank Berkley Smith of Worcester, well known society people of that city, are at the New Ocean house.

Yearly subscription to North Shore Breeze, $2.00.

New Ocean House, Swampscott

AS the fine midsummer days continue, the New Ocean House at Swampscott is filled with guests who are taking advantage of the opportunity to be right on the seashore, and thus reap the benefits of the cool easterly breezes. The house and the annex are booked solid for over the holiday, and up until the date of closing, September 17, a large number of guests will be entertained. The new club will open its doors Oct. 1 and a long list of members is already shown with the names of prominent members of the North Shore colony included.

Last Saturday between 60 and 70 officers from the various stations about Swampscott were present at the ball and guests of the hotel and from the nearby cottages, swelled the number of dancers to nearly 400 people. Commandant Rush of the Charlestown Navy yard, Mrs. Rush and Miss Rush, were guests at the dance, of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas R. Proctor of Utica, N. Y., who are spending the month at the hotel.

In the putting contest last Saturday afternoon, a large entry was made and the cup, presented by E. R. Grabow, was won by H. F. Livermore of Newton with a score of 51. Other contestants were W. Candy, Brookline; E. W. Diehl, Brookline, C. H. Converse, Boston; J. E. Stuart, St. Paul; L. L. Barber, Toledo; P. P. Bennett, Orange; C. C. Williams, Orange.

The guests of the New Ocean House have been very active this season in Red Cross work, and under the direction of Mrs. Clifford D. Sawyer of Boston, a season's guest at the hotel, the ladies have met on Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday mornings since July 6 to make surgical supplies for the Red Cross. Several thousand sponges and compresses have been made, and quantities of bandages of every sort have been rolled, while almost every feminine member of the New Ocean house has been knitting for the Red Cross. Tuesday of this week the last class of the season was held and the last of the supplies made ready to send to Boston. These classes will be continued in the fall at the Hotel Tuileries, Boston, under the supervision of Mrs. Sawyer.

The activities for the coming week-end at the New Ocean House are many; on Saturday morning there will be a putting contest, and in the evening a formal ball will be held. Monday evening a concert and hop will be held for hotel guests and their friends, and the largest crowd of the season is expected.

Mr and Mrs. H. M. Williams, Miss Janet B. Williams and Donald R. Williams of Orange, N. J., who were popular guests at the New Ocean House last season, have returned for the month of September. Mr. Williams is president of the Union News Company.

Lieutenant D. R. Sigourney and Mrs. Sigourney of Boston, who were married July 21, are spending their honeymoon at the New Ocean House. Lieut. Sigourney is a member of the Field Artillery.

Mrs. J. Seale Hulbert, Miss Shirley Hulbert of Springfield, Mass., and Miss Julia S. Hulbert and Stephen Hulbert of Morriston, N. J., are spending the remainder of the month at the New Ocean House.

PHILLIPS BEACH.—Mr. and Mrs. Everett B. Terhune of Ocean avenue, Phillips Beach, are among the most active of the colony at this pretty section of Swampscott, and their interest in the Phillips Beach Neighborhood association has been one of the reasons that it has been so successful. Their home is a bower of flowers at this season and it is surrounded on four sides with well kept lawns and borders of brightly colored flowers.

The Phillips Beach Neighborhood association clubhouse is one of the most attractive places along the shore and is a centre for entertainments both during the summer and winter months. Mrs. May Alden Ward is giving a course of current events lectures and the patronesses are Mrs. George C. Brooks, Mrs. William A. Paine, Mrs. M. F. Watters, Mrs. Eugene H. Clapp and Mrs. Charles N. Brush.

Mr. and Mrs. William A. Paine of Beach Bluff and Boston, announce the engagement of their second daughter, Esther Humphrey Paine, to a member of the U. S. engineers' corps in France, Capt. Morris Felton LaCroix of Mr. and Mrs. Edw. W. LaCroix of Lynn. Miss Paine is a graduate of Smith College, 1915. Capt. LaCroix, a graduate of Harvard, 1910, received his commission in June, after training at Fort Niagara and Washington. He spent five years as an engineer for an iron company in Michigan. For three years he was a member of battery A here.

Mrs. Francis B. Crowinshield of Peach's Point, is holding a sale at her home Saturday from 10 to 5, when articles made by the crippled children at Children's Island, Salem harbor, will be sold for the benefit of the organization which makes it possible for these little sufferers to spend a summer in the fresh air.

The Hotel Rock-Mere at Marblehead is having a most successful season, each day bringing in guests, many of whom have enjoyed before the advantages of this well known hostelry. The Saturday night dances always bring in cottagers from all along the shore and these dances will be continued for some time to come, as the hotel does not close until October.

Mrs. W. W. Wilder of Savannah, Ga., who has been at the Rock-Mere all summer left this week for her southern home.

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Williams of Plainfield, N. J., have arrived for the remainder of the season, at the Rock-Mere.

Mr. and Mrs. John F. Trumbull of Chicago, Ill., are interesting season's guests at the Hotel Rock-Mere. Mr. Trumbull is personally acquainted with President Wilson, and has personally known every president since the time of President Buchanan.

The garden of the New Fountain Inn is a delight these days, and Prof. Unverhau takes especial pride in it. The hollyhocks are in full bloom at the foot of the terrace, and make a lovely picture from the verandas, which run across the front of the hotel.

The tea garden on the lawn of the Oceanside is one of the most popular places on the Neck, and every afternoon sees a gay group of people in this airy place where the view of Salem harbor and the bay is unsurpassed.

THE CORINTHIAN YACHT CLUB is perhaps the liveliest place along the Marblehead shore, for every afternoon and evening finds a crowd in possession of the attractive clubhouse. Sunday night was notable for the number of supper parties, and among those who entertained were Howard Whitcomb, N. P. Clown, Walter A. Carl, J. B. Fallon, F. A. Seamans, Vaughan Jealous, J. S. At the Friday night dance the younger set was out in full force and one of the happiest parties of the season took place, for now that the boys are home from the various training camps, of even for a brief visit, they add much to the life of these parties. These Tuesday afternoon parties for the youngest members of the summer colony have been most popular this year, and will be a continued feature another season. Mr. and Mrs. J. S. ## KILOWATT HOURS

YOU WONDER WHAT THEY ARE AND HOW THEY ARE MEASURED, BUT YOU PAY JUST THE SAME.

"Kilowatt Hours" are what the average consumer of electric energy pays for when the bill is rendered each month, yet there are thousands of householders paying electric bills who have no idea of what this simple unit of electrical measurement means, says the Boston Commercial.

The reason for this is because the average man has no conception of how it is possible to measure a power which is invisible, which has no finite dimensions, and which no physicist has ever defined in an acceptable way. It is easy for him to imagine what a cubic foot of gas is because of the fact that it must be stored in containers just like potatoes or coal and is piped from place to place like water.

The kilowatt hour is just as definite a quantity to the electrician as the gallon of gasoline is to the motorist, with the distinction that electricity cannot be adulterated or stored and that the tendency in prices of electric service has been revision downward instead of upward. It must be produced as it is used and the unit of measurement, the kilowatt hour, represents a definite amount of work that one watt of electrical energy will do in one hour.

Kilo, derived from the Greek, means one thousand. Therefore the kilowatt hour is the amount of work one watt will do working for one thousand hours.

Measured with the average watt-hour meter used by all central stations it is as definite a quantity of energy as a gallon of gasoline with the difference that the average house electric meter measures electricity with a precision which varies rarely more than two or three percent. The error is also usually in the customer's favor, although the accuracy of the meter is periodically checked by a meter tester and kept within as small a fraction of error as is humanly possible.

The watt-hour meter installed in electrically lighted homes is really nothing more than a tiny electric motor built like a watch with jewelled bearings and just as carefully protected against dust with a dust-proof iron cover. Only a small part of the current used passes through the usual house meter, but this is sufficient to rotate a copper or aluminum disk which is pivoted in a magnetic field. The disk is geared through a train of tiny gear wheels to the pointers on the calibrated dial. Starting at the left the four dials indicate respectively, tens of thousands, thousands, hundreds, and tens of kilowatts.

In making a reading it is only necessary to read each dial in the order named carefully noting the direction of rotation on each dial and putting down only the figure last indicated. This should be done once each month, the reading noted and the reading the subsequent month subtracted from it. For example, suppose the reading on January 1 were 5064 and on February 1 the reading was 5086. Subtracting the first reading from the second leaves 22, the number of kilowatts used during the month intervening.

At the rate of 10 cents per kilowatt the bill for the month would then be $2.20. Where the bill appears to be excessive it is a good plan to make readings every week or ten days and see how they compare. In this way it is possible to check a leak which otherwise might go unnoticed.

Whenever a bill appears to be excessive it is well to check up every other possibility before blaming the meter, for most electric light meters are more accurately tested than the grocer's scales which weigh out your groceries.

"What does this mean: 'England never will and never shall lie at the at the proud foot of a conqueror'?" Answer: '(1) This is impossible, because it implies that a conqueror has only one foot. (2) It is absurd, because pride is located in the heart of man."

MANCHESTER BUILT BOATS

SARI, DEFENDER OF LIPTON CUP ON LAKES BEATEN BY THE SPEEDY PAM.

Pam, an R boat that was built at Manchester last year by Walter B. Calderwood from designs of John G. Alden of Boston and owned by Commodore Harry A. Parsons of the Cleveland Yacht club, won the Lipton Cup in a series of races against the fastest boats of that type on the Lakes. It is the first time that any Cleveland yacht has ever won this cup. It will be defended by the Cleveland Yacht club next season. The cup has not been in competition for some years and was turned over to the R class of boats this season. The cup was defended by the Lincoln Park Yacht club of Chicago and Samuel Dauchy of Chicago built a new boat, Sari, at Manchester this spring from Mr. Alden's designs to meet the Cleveland challengers. She was very fast during her trials and Designer Alden was rather inclined to pin his faith upon her as the winner of the cup, although he admitted that Pam was about as fast an R boat creation as he had ever put out. The courses were 12 miles and the races were handled by the Columbia Yacht club of Chicago. Robert Powers, one of the best amateur skippers on the Lakes, sailed Pam. It is the intention of Commodore Parsons to send Pam to Marblehead to meet the local R boats next season if the war ends and racing is resumed here.

Marconi rigs are not quite so successful as was expected in the racing both at Marblehead and on Long Island Sound. Saturday at Marblehead, Jack Tar, the R boat owned by Henry A. Morss of the Corinthian Yacht club met defeat by four other boats of the same type, all carrying the old-style rig, and in a fairly good breeze. On Long Island Sound, over a 22-mile course, Commodore James B. Ford of the Larchmont club saw his 58-foot, Larchmont one-designed craft, Varuna, defeated by three others of the same type. These boats were designed by William Gardner of New York, who designed the Makaboro II, built at Manchester last year for the Buzzards Bay races.

Saturday's race at Marblehead was one of the first that Rogue, the latest R boat out, has lost. The Rogue is another of this season's Manchester-built boats. She was beaten by the Lake champion Banshee, now called Timandra.

$1 AND $2 BILL SHORTAGE.

A shortage of $1 and $2 bills acute in many sections, exists throughout the country. Banks looking to the treasury for relief, are unable to have their full demands satisfied because of the low reserves of these denominations in the vaults. Prosperity of the country, it was said, is the primary cause of the condition, with the crop movements and other factors. The bureau of engraving and printing, working at top speed at Washington, on Liberty Bonds, has been unable to meet the demand.

"What I want," said the puffing and angry man who had been accused, "is justice." "That's just what you don't want," replied his friend who knew.

LEADERS OF COMMUNITY WORK during war times are urging all communities to maintain the interests of the people in wholesome diversions and in patriotic endeavors. There is no better agency for the expression of genuine patriotism than in the historical pageant which brings many people into the out-of-doors, which the present generation is beginning to appreciate more and more. The pageant affords an opportunity for wholesome recreation and instruction. There is no better medium outside of the drama to impress a lesson upon the minds of many. The towns and cities along our Shore are uniting in the production of a pageant to be given in September with a striking title and with a great lesson. The pageant is to be given in the aid of Red Cross work. It is called "The Triumph of Peace Over War." The pageant is effective. It presents in three scenes the Spirit of Peace in the national life of America when Penn called it to his aid, when the United States returned the indemnity to China and in another great event of the nation's history. The three last scenes have been written especially for the Red Cross benefit by a North Shore resident and bring the pageant through the modern struggle between peace and war. The last scene is a prophecy which will look ahead to the new days that are coming when the spirit of peace will have triumphed over war. The pageant should have the support of every North Shore resident and the day should be reserved. The City of Beverly has generously given the use of the athletic field in Beverly and the interest taken in it by the young people foretells success.

THE COAL SITUATION has been having the attention of the President of the United States and that of the local state committees of safety. The winter will be upon us soon and with the change of temperature the people will begin to think of coal, but that may be too late. The emergency that exists can be met only by the hearty and sympathetic coöperation of everyone, dealers, retailers and consumers working together. Consumers who can care for their coal should consult their regular dealers and so far as the supply will allow should make plans for deliveries early in the fall. Consumers not prepared to purchase coal now should coöperate with the dealers and this can be done by placing orders for future deliveries. The state chairman of the Massachusetts committee some months ago publicly advised everyone to make plans for their winter coal supply. Even the most thoughtless must be convinced that a bad situation exists when a great city, like Boston finds it difficult to obtain definite bids. Now is the time to prepare for the winter and it will be a good way for all Americans to show their patriotism.

IT WAS NOT LONG AGO when the residents for the summer along this Shore began to go back to the cities on the days following Labor Day. The shore resorts farther east and the inland villages still see an exodus in September, but not so on the North Shore. More and more the winter months are presenting their charms and the nearness of the city and the perfection of the automobile has made the North Shore a good place for all the year residence.

MASSACHUSETTS ARTILLERYMEN may well be proud of the rating which they have attained in the National Guard announcements. Of all the artillery sections throughout the whole United States, in the National Guard; that is, outside of the regular army the Artillery of the Massachusetts batteries leads. The high position which it has attained by its excellent record and efficiency has been one of the determining factors in the immediate withdrawal of these units from America for training in the field training camps somewhere in France. Otherwise the preliminary training required of the units would have been given in the Southern fields rather than in the training camps of France. Massachusetts has always had an enviable artillery record dating back to the famous light and heavy artillery of the Civil War days. That Massachusetts has been able to maintain this record and its artillery take first rank is just cause for pride. The men may be trusted to honor the state and national flag. Massachusetts expects them to acquit themselves with honor on the field of honor whether their service will end with the training camp and peace be declared or whether they actually see service in the field of battle.

THERE IS TO BE AN INTERESTING CONTEST for the republican nomination to Congress in this district at the primaries in September. John L. Saltonstall, who is well known along the Shore and has years of success in public service will be loyally supported. He was born in Beverly, educated in Cambridge and associated with the varied interests of the district. He was representative to the General Court and acquitted himself well. In the more recent years he has served as the efficient chairman of the board of trustees of the Beverly hospital and later as the commander-in-chief of the Red Cross forces in the North Eastern division. By temperament and experience he is well fitted for the position for service which he seeks to obtain from this district. His ambitions will be supported loyally by his many friends throughout the district.

THERE IS TO BE A CONTESTED VOTE at the primaries this year for the republican nomination for governor and it is not altogether a bad thing. The contest for the governorship will liven up the primaries. The primaries this year will be important, but there will be little interest to bring the people out. Both Cushing and McCall are able men, worthy of the support of the Republican voters of the state and if elected either would be a worthy representative of the people. But this is war year and even if were not the administration has not been such as to warrant a rebuke from the voters. Mr. McCall brought to his high position the training and experience of years and is doing good work. Why disturb him?

THE UNITED STATES has confidence in its "dollar diplomacy" in winning the war, but its men are also afield it must now be remembered.

THE ITALIAN FORCES were long on preparation, but short on the drive when it came. They have known what they were about.

PRESIDENT ELIOT has never been an advocate of Germany's cause in the present war, but he now favors a plan for the settlement of the war which while outwardly recognizing that there is a "stale mate" virtually means victory for the offending party. Germany will have won the war if a "stalemate" is agreed to and a treaty of peace formulated on that basis. The allies will still be forced to bargain for terms upon the will and pleasure of the military autocracy of the German empire. This will mean the enthrone of militarism, not its defeat. It would appear that success alone for the allies can bring peace. Peace that will mean as much for Germany as for the allies will only be assured when the German military policy has had a crippling blow. This does not mean that Germany as a nation must be crippled before peace is declared, but it must mean a defeat of its arms, serious enough to mean that the menace has been removed from the earth for this generation at least. America does not believe in war and to defend its devotions to peace it has been forced to make war and the day has come. America wants peace and a speedy peace, but not a peace through German success.

MANY PERSONS HAVE ENDEAVORED to define the attitude of the American nation to Germany in the present crisis, but all of them have been intended for Americans to read. One strong statement of our national position has been made, however, by an American professor, Douglass W. Johnson of Columbia university in a letter to his friend, a German professor. The letter has been published in London and Toronto and has been freely circulated. Professor Johnson attacks his task with firmness, justice and skill. In the third part of his letter Professor Johnson endeavors to state the American opinion plainly and without reserve. The assertions which he makes repay attention. The fact that the letter is being used so widely in England is indicative of its worth and influence. It is to be hoped that his frank statement sent into Germany itself may serve to inform some of the teachers of that land that America does not go into this war with a gospel of hate against Germany and that our motives are not conquest or revenge, but the activities of a great nation on police duty to check the hand of a government that has and is doing wrong.

ALL CONTRIBUTORS TO WAR RELIEF FUNDS must ever bear in mind that one gift will not end one's responsibility to the causes enlisting our sympathies and interest. There must be a constant supply of money to meet the constant demands which are being made. That appeals are not being vigorously made now for the major needs does not mean that the money has been sufficient to meet all demands. It means that the immediate organized work to raise funds has ceased for the time being. At a six-months' interval it will be necessary again to raise another contribution for each of the causes even as the government must necessarily and possibly within a year, no one knows when, float another Liberty bond issue. The men at the front are to give their time, and lives if need be, in the great cause. Those who remain at home, cannot and will not complain. The burden is with us. The work of raising the money must go on and our minds must be prepared for another request for money. Let us be ready when the call comes, either for a national bond or subscription or generous contributions to the great war relief funds.

DESPITE THE WAR NEWS the newspapers find many readers for their sporting columns. It is well in these days of stress and war for the people to be interested in wholesome out-of-door sports.

Object of War—To Deliver Free Peoples from Menace of Irresponsible Government

"The object of this war is to deliver the free peoples of the world from the menace and the actual power of a vast military establishment controlled by an irresponsible government, which, having secretly planned to dominate the world, proceeded to carry the plan out without regard either to the sacred obligations of treaty or the long established practices and long cherished principles of international action and honor; which chose its own time for the war; delivered its blow fiercely and suddenly; stopped at no barrier, either of law or of mercy; swept a whole continent within the tide of blood—not the blood of soldiers only, but the blood of innocent women and children also and of the helpless poor—and now stands balked but not defeated, the enemy of four-fifths of the world.

"This power is not the German people. It is the ruthless master of the German people. It is no business of ours how that great people came under its control or submitted with temporary zest to the domination of its purpose; but it is our business to see to it that the history of the rest of the world is no longer left to its handling.—President Wilson, in his answer to Pope's Peace Proposals.

ROBERT STUART MACARTHUR now filling an engagement in Boston has had an unusual opportunity to learn the characteristics and fancies of the Russian people because of his service in the country in his efforts to establish a school of religious instruction for men of his faith. He feels that despite the Czar and the spirit of depression that has been prevailing concerning the future offensive powers of the Russian people that Russia will be loyal. He has strong faith in their power to recover and to stand firm on the democratic foundation they have sought to establish by the overthrow of the Russian hierarchy. Russia has friends and those who have studied the people have great faith in them. The Russian Commission is now visiting America and they will carry back to Russia a true interpretation of America's attitude toward the war and America's failure to declare war on Austria, Russia's particular enemy. Russia has had suspicions of us because of our careful abstinence from declaring war against their great enemy the Austria-Hungary government. With this suspicion set aside Russia will understand America better as America is beginning to understand Russia better. Mr. MacArthur's judgment concerning these people is worthy of consideration and in these days when America looks to Russia for aid in the great conflict his vision of the capacity for democracy and loyalty to the great cause is assuring.

THE ECONOMY LEAGUE has been efficiently at work. The Manchester branch will be discontinued, but the Beverly Farms branch will continue the work. The conservation of waste paper has been in the spirit of the times.

NOW IF AUSTRIA should also sue for peace and break the alliance. Too good for hope.

PRESIDENT WILSON'S REPLY was addressed to Germany rather than the Pope.

Another promotion came to Walter Smith, one of the Manchester boys who was recently made a corporal in Co. H, 8th. Inf., last week when the 8th. and 2nd. regiments were merged to form one regiment. Before his transfer to Westfield where the 104th regiment containing most of the Manchester boys who have enlisted in the infantry is quartered, Smith was made a sergeant. He had been a corporal only two weeks, although he had been acting as corporal over six months. Frank Amaral, who enlisted in the same company during the border trouble last summer, was made a corporal last week when the merger of the regiments took place.

Manchester FOOD CENTRE Telephone 116 NOTES

A memorandum received recently at the Food Center shows that a census of the state discloses a large percent of spoilage of canned peas all over Massachusetts. The same paper recommends the intermittent sterilization of corn to prevent any loss of this product. The dried corn is also very satisfactory.

Although at the Center there has been no loss of peas it has been thought wise to try all methods. We will be glad to have the community benefit by our experiments.

The new canning bulletin 853 from Washington is ready for distribution at the Center. We have only about one hundred.

The Monday evening lectures were completed this week. During the winter lecture courses and courses along practical home economics will be offered.

The Food Center is always open from 9 a. m. until 5 p. m., except on Saturdays, when it closes at noon.

James Burnham is the only man from this town of the first group of drafted men selected to report at Camp Devens at Ayer for training next Wednesday, Sept. 5. All of the rest from this district were taken from Beverly. From next Wednesday forward, an allotment will be sent to Ayer daily for about a month.

Dr. Samuel McComb will speak in the Town Hall, Manchester, next Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock, on "America in the World Crisis." All are cordially invited and it is hoped that a large attendance will be present to hear the distinguished divine upon such a burning subject. Dr. McComb is in an exceptional position to form a wise judgment on this great subject.

The best baseball drawing card in Essex County is always the annual Manchester-Marblehead series and this year will be no exception from present indications. The first two games are set for Labor Day, next Monday, and the fans are planning to make a day of it. The first game will be played in the morning at the athletic field in Montserrat at 10.15 o'clock and the prophets have it that it will be Manchester's game. In the afternoon at 3.30 o'clock the fray will be resumed on Marblehead's own battlefield when the alleged invincible Davies will shoot them over at the Manchester batters. The local fans will turn out in force for both games. For Manchester, Manager Walen will probably have a new pitcher—Bailey by name—on the ground in the morning, while Grover will shoot them over in the afternoon. WITH CO. I OF THE STATE GUARD.

There was a good turnout of the members of Co. I for the hike last Sunday. A new route was taken and the weather was cool and comfortable, making marching a pleasure. On the arrival of the company at "Camp Ayer," at Ayer's Ice pond, a guard was posted about the camp and all of the men were given a bit of training at guard duty. On the return trip the company marched through the Philip Dexter estate and the Essex County club grounds, where there was space for a few platoon movements.

Several applications for enlistment in the State Guard have been received by Capt. Robertson and a number has been examined by Dr. Glendenning. As soon as the "muster in" cards are obtained the company will be recruited up to 75 men. At Monday night's drill three reliefs were formed and guards were posted while the company was drilling. In this way training in guard duty is going forward with the other training of the company.

The non-commissioned officers of the local State Guard attended the non-coms' school in Gloucester state armory last Friday evening, where they drilled with the non-coms of the Rockport and two Gloucester companies under the direction of Major R.

S. Lovering, of Manchester, commander of the 3d battalion. After squad drill under each non-com for a 15-minute period the men were formed as a company and drilled for nearly an hour by Major Lovering. The commissioned officers accompanied the non-coms as observers. The trip was made in a special buss.

GRADUATION OF FIRST AID CLASS.

Dr. Francis Lowell Burnett, of "The Lobster Pot," Manchester, has had the honor of recently "graduating" his class in First Aid. For ten weeks Dr. Burnett met his pupils at the Price school, and out of the twenty or more who entered, thirteen completed the ten lesson course and have passed creditable examinations. Those receiving diplomas are Mr. and Mrs. Allen Peabody, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Norris, Levi Harvie, Mrs. Wm. H. Sullivan, Mrs. Francis L. Burnett, Mrs. Alfred Parsons, Mrs. Frank Foster, Mrs. Abbott Hoare, Mrs. Elbery L. Rogers, Mrs. George Northrop and Miss Annabel Haraden. Not only did Dr. Burnett give one evening a week to this class, but another evening was given to a class that took a similar course a few years ago, the members wishing to renew and brush up on their knowledge in these strenuous times.

E. L. Valentine announces that on and after Tuesday, Sept. 4, all accounts will be on a weekly basis. This is necessary on account of the higher prices demanded by the wholesalers and the shorter credits allowed by them since the war.

Mrs. John Baker spent the week-end with relatives in Springfield, and visited the camp at Westfield, where her two sons, Irving and Harry, are stationed. Irving, who is in the old 2d Regt., and Harry, in the 8th, are brought into the same regiment by the merger of the two to form the 104th. U. S. Infantry. One interesting bit of news from Westfield, is that Sergt. Harry Baker was among the non-commissioned officers who have been recommended for commissions in the new national army. Sergt. Baker is one of the Manchester boys, who were on the border last summer, and was made corporal while in Texas. His friends hope to hear of his selection as one of the new officers.

George S. Rust, one of the Manchester men called for service, received preliminary instruction at the headquarters of the local state guard company on Monday evening. Mr. Rust was the first of the men to take advantage of the offer of Capt. Robertson to prepare the drafted men for the training they will later receive at Ayer. All over the state of Massachusetts men who have been called are drilling with the state guard companies in order to be prepared for better positions when they arrive at camp. Naturally the acting non-commissioned officers will be chosen from those who have had some previous experience and these men will probably receive permanent appointments. Every man who has been called should take advantage of the opportunity to prepare himself for a better place. Manchester does not want to send all privates to Ayer, but expects her called men to equal the record of those in the other branches of service.

GRAND IRISH CONCERT A SUCCESS.

With every seat taken and the aisles jammed full Town hall in Manchester can safely be said to have been filled to its capacity on Tuesday evening when the annual concert and dance of Div. 20, A. O. H., was held. The hall resounded with the laughter and often the cheers of the audience at the jokes and antics of Shawn O'Nolan, the Wicklow comedian who each year delights several hundred Irish folk with the songs and fun of the "old sod." After a short program of Irish airs by Long's orchestra, Mrs. Daniel E. O'Brien gave a pleasing group of piano selections.

The ever-delightful Shawn gave his well known sketch, "The Immigrant," which sent the audience into gales of laughter. Miss Lucy Clasby sang a number of well known Irish ballads and was recalled time after time. James Donnelly of Lowell found it hard to get away from the audience, being recalled for repeated encores after his rendition of Irish ballads and comic songs. He showed no partiality to Irish melodies and sang a couple of Harry Lauder's favorites that won equal applause.

Shawn O'Nolan and Michael Reilly in "For Old Time's Sake," were the climax of a "grand Irish night." The mixed pathos and humor of Reilly's acting was emphasized by the comedy of O'Nolan. Shawn's bagpipe selections were a delight to those who find pleasure in this kind of music.

After the concert a short intermission was taken while the floor was cleared for dancing, which lasted until a late hour.

MUST NAME PARTY.

Secretary of State Langtry announced Tuesday that, notwithstanding a general impression to the contrary, it will not be necessary for any citizen to declare his political party allegiance before the day of the September primaries in order to vote at the primaries. Secretary Langtry announces that the enrolment will take place when the voter asks for a ballot at the primaries. Each voter will be required to announce his name and residence, and the warden will ask each this question: "With what political party do you desire to be enrolled?"

If the voter refuses to answer, he will not be allowed to vote.

The enrolment thus effected will continue in effect for three years unless sooner changed upon 30-days' written notice to city or town clerks, or Boston election commissioners, according to act of last year.

WHISPERINGS of THE BREEZES

All sorts of rumors have been circulated concerning the future activities of the state guard of Massachusetts. A number of Manchester men who belonged to the "Hum" guards before the formation of the state guard company developed severe cases of "cold feet" about the time the new company was enrolled. Since the new company has made rapid progress, the pessimists have lain awake nights thinking up yarns to disturb those who belong. Some of the tales have been so much repeated that they have returned to the originators in new guise and have been accepted by them as confirmation of their guesses and launched anew. Some of the stories have had the Manchester company ordered to Framingham Sept. 1st., some have them on the way to the Mexican border and a few have it "doped" out that the company is going to France on the next draft. A few of the members had heard the stories so much they began to believe them, but didn't worry much. In fact the majority of the company rather look forward to being called out. That is what they enlisted for.

A copy of the extracts from the U. S. A. infantry drill regulations was a decidedly interesting volume for Private Geo. E. Willmington of the Manchester state guard company when it fell into his hands for the first time and he has been reading it religiously. He has discovered all sorts of valuable information he never hoped to acquire, but when he had completed his digest of the volume he discovered in the appendix, a blank form all ready to be filled out with his last will and testament. Preparedness is a good thing, George believes, but he thought that was rubbing it in a little.

Co. I hiked to camp at "Ayer" last Sunday, but it was Ayers' Ice pond in Manchester, not the cantonment for the assembly of the National army.

Some people are inclined to laugh at the Boy Scout movement as a mere play, but it might be well to observe that all of the Manchester boys who have already received recognition in the national army got their first training in the Boy Scouts. Capt. Alexander Robertson, commander of Co. I, M. S. G., was drillmaster for the local troop only a few years ago when Sergt. Walter Smith, Sergt. Harry "Mayor Harry E. Sweet of Attleboro is one of the most enthusiastic workers in behalf of soldiers. In addition to his duties as manufacturing jeweler and mayor, he has found time to attend nearly every drill of the Attleboro company of state guard, in which he is a sergeant," says an Attleboro dispatch.

The Attleboro mayor, however, has nothing on Co. M of Rockport, M. S. G., which boasts of one of its selectmen in the ranks. He is none less than John H. Dennis, chairman of the board, who, is doing his bit and drilling with the boys.—Gloucester Times.

Which brings it around to where Manchester can offer a contribution. In the local militia company Selectman Samuel L. Wheaton is a private and the chairman of the school board. Raymond C. Allen is first lieutenant. Other town officers, including Edward P. Flynn, a member of the board of fire engineers, are enlisted in the company. In addition to these patriotic members of the local company Manchester has contributed a lieutenant to the U. S. A., Quartermasters department, in the person of its High school principal, Charles P. Savary.

DEDICATORY EXERCISES

NEW NORTH SHORE HORTICULTURAL HALL IN MANCHESTER OPENED YESTERDAY.

An epoch in the history of the North Shore Horticultural society, long to be remembered, was reached yesterday afternoon when Alfred E. Parsons, chairman of the building committee, with a few brief, well chosen words tendered the key of the newly completed Horticultural hall in Manchester to the president of the society, Frank P. Knight. The beautiful main hall of the society's new home was filled with members of the society and their guests, a majority being summer residents whose generous support of the project from the start made possible the success of the energetic building committee whose completed work was dedicated by the appropriate exercises.

The main floor and gallery of the hall were well filled by four o'clock when the exercises began with a Grieg selection for the violin and piano. Messrs. Timothée Adamowski, violin, and Wallace Goodrich, pianoforte, played the first movement of the Sonata in F major by Grieg, the music stirring the audience to applause which the new hall will not hear for long days to come. The music had the charm which only artists of the calibre of Mr. Adamowski and Mr. Goodrich can give to the compositions and instruments.

After this rare introduction the exercises continued with the address of welcome by the president of the society, Frank P. Knight. "We are inspired by this beautiful music and by your presence here today and welcome you to this beautiful hall which you, through your great generosity, have made possible. We are very happy today because our ambitions are realized in this splendid building and we are glad you are with us to witness its dedication to the purposes of this society. As a man born and bred in this town, I cannot but think how much better a place the North Shore is to live in because of this society and what it has done to make it beautiful. Whatever helps the North Shore helps us; whatever helps us helps this society and whatever, by the same token, helps this society helps the community. This society was small in its beginning, like the small twig that is easily broken. But the bundle of twigs bound together is unbreakable. And while this society is not unbreakable it has grown into a considerable bundle in the passing years. By cooperation the twigs which make the unbreakable bundle are more firmly bound. If you cooperate with this society you can best serve the community."

Alfred E. Parsons, chairman of the committee which has worked untiringly for the new home of the society, first to create interest in the project, later in securing funds and most recently in superintending its construction, presented the keys of the structure to the President Knight. "We have tried to give to this community a building which will best serve the needs of the whole community and have done our best to that end," said Mr. Parsons. "The builders have done their work well and we are glad to turn it over to the society for its service. We hope the work now started will go on and that the society and the community will mutually prosper."

In responding Mr. Knight said, "We are thankful to the architect, who designed this beautiful structure, to the builders, who so faithfully carried out their trust and to the nurseryman for the shrubs, so beautiful and typical of the growth which will come to this society. But, to you, Mr. Chairman, and your committee we are doubly grateful for the work which has been done and will be done by you. Your work is not yet ended and you will go on building for the society until, as we hope, before another 12 months have elapsed the membership of this society will be doubled."

Lieutenant-Governor Calvin Coolidge gave an official touch to the dedication of the new building by appearing at the exercises and making a brief address. "It seems strange at a time like this when we are in the midst of war and the preparation for war, to be engaged in the dedication of a building for such a peaceful purpose as is embodied in the aims of this society. But is it not altogether fitting that we should recognize this ideal of peace? It is said that the strength of a nation rests on its ideals and isn't that the purpose of the war we are engaged in—the preservation of an ideal. This war is not for a material gain, but for the preservation of the ideal of human rights. Ever since this nation began we have been working out that ideal the Pilgrims brought with them—the individual right of a man to develop himself independently of purposes of other men. We may have departed from their ideals in some respects, but in all our wars that same ideal of our nation—the right of its citizens to peace and the pursuit of happiness has been its guiding purpose. As we fought in 1812 that our citizens might enjoy their rights and privileges on the high seas we are engaged in protecting the same ideal today. It was more to our material advantage to have kept our citizens off the high seas and at home, but for the preservation of those ideals and the rights of American citizens we are engaged in this mighty struggle. The world's work is never done and though the men who fought the Revolution thought they had established those ideals on this continent forever we are again battling to preserve them. To strengthen these ideals we need the activity of every organization such as this. We need the spirit of sacrifice, such as was necessary to create such a building as this for community service, in the furthering of our national aims. We should dedicate this building to the highest ideals of beauty and service and may we go into the future making more secure the rights and privileges of American citizenship."

Mr. Adamowski thrilled the audience with Paderewski's "Melodie" and so insistent were they that the violinist was obliged to play a Polish dance for encore.

"I, too, find it hard to concentrate my mind on a peaceful subject such as your society represents," said Wilfred Wheeler, state secretary of agriculture. "While we are engaged in raising an army and increasing the food production, it is hard to think of peaceful things. But while we are so engrossed in our task of urging the farmer to increased production it is not untimely to listen to a plea in behalf of the agriculturist and at the same time the horticulturist." Mr. Wheeler urged governmental recognition of the scientific achievements of the underpaid men in the government service and in private walks of life who accomplish new methods of increasing food production and of creating an American independence in the culture of the flowers now imported from the old countries. "Agriculture must be recognized by the state and the nation," he said, "for the life of the nation depends upon its agriculture." He urged the society to pledge itself to securing this recognition.

At the conclusion of Mr. Wheeler's talk the audience sang the Star Spangled Banner, the accompaniment being furnished by Mr. Goodrich at the piano. The guests of the society then inspected the new building from the topmost nook and cranny to the boiler rooms in the basement and the dressing rooms below the stage. Everyone marveled at the excellent planning of the new home and the splendid finish.

The main floor is fitted with comfortable theatre seats and the stage is of plentiful size. The interior finish of the building is particularly striking, the walls being rough plastered and stained. It is paneled with fumed oak stained brighter hue than the walls. The framework of the doors and windows are of the same material.

Roberts & Hoare were the general contractors for the building. E. A. Lane did the decorating, G. A. Knoerr, the electrical work, G. S. Sinnicks, the plastering; Austin Morley, foundations; American Seating Co. of Chicago, seats; R. Robertson Co. plumbing, heating and ventilating system. The latter firm also installed two fine boilers which were presented to the society by Lord & Burnham Co. of Irvington-on-the-Hudson, N. Y. The heating is by the direct-indirect system. The overhead pipes in the basement, which will be used as a banquet hall, were given a coating of aluminum paint, adding much to the appearance of the room. This was done by the R. Robertson Co., although not a part of its contract. The handsome shrubbery used for decorations at the dedication and about the outside of the hall was given by the Blue Hill Nurseries of South Braintree. Julius Hurlin, the proprietor of the company attended the exercises.

In the evening a concert was given by Long's orchestra and an inspection of the building was made by Manchester people, the attendance being small on account of rain.

WIN BY A RUN

MANCHESTER BOYS DEFEAT UNITED SHOE FOR THIRD TIME THIS SEASON BY 4 TO 3 SCORE.

Manchester won and lost and won again Saturday's game with the United Shoe on the Beverly Athletic field at Montserrat. It was the third game Manchester has won from the Shoe this season and was, like the last one, full of sensational plays and close decisions. Some innings had all the breaks which usually go to make runs, without a man crossing the plate, and in other sessions at the bat the runs came easily. Manchester made the first run only to have it tied in the same inning and another run only to have the enemy chalk up two more. It took a conventional "seventh inning to rally" to put across the two runs which tied the score and then won the game, 4 to 3.

Doc MacMahon had a shade on Jewett in the pitching although it was scarcely perceptible except by a careful analysis of the box score. Both struck out four men and Jewett walked one man to two given passes by Doc. MacMahon hit two men and Jewett one, but Jewett made a wild pitch. Manchester got 10 hits off Jewett, eight of them going out of the diamond while Doc held the Shoe batters to six clouts, only two of them going into the outfield. MacMahon was steady all the way through, which gave the infield lots of confidence, with the result that Manchester came out of the fray without an error.

After two blank innings Holt was given a base on balls. He stole second and then MacMahon drove in the first run with a two bagger over Larry Conley's head. It might have been an out, but Larry misjudged the ball and overran it. Another base on balls gave the Shoe its first run. Jewett was passed and a bunt by Platt put him in a position to score on Herron's sacrifice fly.

Sheehan made a pretty single in the fourth inning and stole second. Jewett tried to catch him napping at second, but Sandy Herron dropped the throw. When Sandy recovered he made a bad throw to third and Sheehan scored. Devlin was out on a grounder to third and Meehan came across with one of his old-fashioned two-baggers to right center. Holt singled to center after Leland had flied out. Meehan was sent home by the coach at third on Holt's drive, but was caught at the plate.

Fahey was given a base on balls in the sixth when MacMahon wavered a little. Sandy Herron almost won the game for the Shoe with a single to BUY A TAG FOR THE BENEFIT GAME FOR FRANK O'LEARY IN MANCHESTER TOMORROW.

In many a game in the past Manchester has come through a winner in a pinch because old Frankie O'Leary has risen to the occasion with a timely hit, a trick play or a lightning throw across the diamond. Now it is Manchester's turn to come through in a "pinch." Tomorrow, through the kindly suggestion and generosity of the Queen Quality nine of Jamaica center that sent Fahey around the bases. The latter scored on Conley's sacrifice. Finn brought Sandy home with a grounder to Holt.

When Manchester went into the seventh the Shoe had a run to the good, but the breaks came our way. Meehan made a pretty single and advanced another base with Leland on the latter's drive to left field. A passed ball by Fish gave the first runner third. Holt was hit by the pitcher, filling the bases.

Grover hit the ball which won the game for Manchester. It was a scratch bunt that wobbled along the first base line for 20 feet and finally rolled in "fair." Meehan scored on the hit. That tied the score and there was no one out. MacMahon grounded to third and Leland was forced out at home. Holt was forced out on Gourley's bunt to Wheaton, Grover stealing third. Manchester's chances of scoring looked slim about that time until Jewett pitched one over Fish's head and Grover slid home with the winning run. Ford then fanned.

In the eighth Fahey got a hit to left field, Herron flied to Ford and Fish drove one into Sheehan's hands. Fahey scrambled back to first but was Plain, a benefit game will be played in Manchester between the two nines for O'Leary's benefit. On July 28, when the two teams were fighting nip and tuck for a game that might belong to either, Frankie made a desperate attempt to save the day for Manchester by sliding feet first into first base. The broken ankle which resulted has put Frankie out of the game for the rest of the season.

After more than a week in the hospital, doctor's bills, lost work, etc., it would be a discouraging outlook for the winter for "Scuttle," as the fans affectionately call him, if we did not come through now.

The visiting nine will bring their best players at an expense of about $150 in order to do their bit for O'Leary. The good sportsmanship of the Queen Quality outfit should be met with as generous a response from the local fans. Even if it were not a benefit game the contest tomorrow afternoon would draw a crowd, for the Queens are the only players who have beaten Manchester this year without a subsequent defeat by the local nine. Without doubt the crowd will be the largest the local diamond has seen this season and for some past. The sale of tags for the game has been remarkably good and a real handsome fund should result.

BATTALION DRILL

ROCKPORT PAPER INTIMATES THIRD BATTALION MAY ASSEMBLE IN ROCKPORT, OR MANCHESTER.

"Rumor has it that Rockport may be the scene of quite extensive military operations before the first of the year—not by the national army, but by the new state militia," say the Rockport Review.

"Since the acceptance of the state guard as the militia power of the state the commanding officers have been laying their plans for the time when their commands will be called into active service in the limits of the state. In preparation for this, Major Lovering, commander of the 3d Battalion of the 15th Regiment, M. S. G., of which the Rockport, two Gloucester and the Manchester companies are units, has formed a school for non-commissioned officers at Gloucester armory. The battalion non-coms are to have special intensive instruction for the coming weeks on each Friday night.

"How soon the entire battalion will be called together for drill is still a matter of conjecture, but it is known that the commissioned officers are being urged to prepare themselves to be letter perfect in the manual. When the battalion gets into operation it will probably be at the Essex County club grounds in Manchester, or more likely at Dogtown Common. The latter places has long been used by Co. G of the old National Guard as a rifle range and will probably be used by the militia of this section.

"Although the big expanse of waste land has little 'table' land suitable for drilling large bodies of troops it is large enough for some battalion work and is admirably suited for what is now greatly desired, a rifle range. The militia has received its first issue of ammunition and will no doubt soon begin to make use of it upon the range."

The Review evidently has "inside" information regarding the plans of the militia officers for the training of their commands. It would not be surprising if some of its surmises were correct for the Rockport paper has had the reputation of being a good guesser, particularly in politics, ever since it played a lone hand on Cape Ann in backing Augustus P. Gardner for Congress some years ago.

In making its modest choice of Dogtown common as a likely place for battalion drills allowance must be made for the Review's local pride in this historic training ground, for as it says, "Dogtown Common has always been more or less connected with the military traditions of Cape Ann from the earliest days of the colony. During the Revolutionary war, tradition has it, the wives of the men, who went to war, sought shelter here and formed a little village of their own, the traces of which remain. They are said to have taken their dogs with them for company and protection and that in time the latter became the most populous members of the community. Hence the name. Later in other wars it has resounded to the crackle of musketry fire as the warriors of Cape Ann have tried out their trusty rifles on the targets among the great boulders. And now it may soon echo again to sound of preparation."

While the Review is probably correct in its surmise that the larger part of the target practice of the 3d Battalion will be done on Dogtown common because of its availability from previous use for the same purpose by the late Co. G of the 8th., a hint is dropped that the maneuvers of the battalion will take place in Manchester. Although the Manchester militia officers have received no intimation at present that it is the intent of the commanding officer to order battalion drill in the near future, an altogether more likely place for such an assembly for the battalion would be in Manchester. The "polo" grounds at the Essex Count club, which were offered for the use of the local company and used for a time, if available again, would be an ideal place for an assembly of the battalion. It provides an expanse of several acres of level ground, which is an advantage missing at the Dogtown common rifle range. Now that Rockport and Manchester have voiced their claims for the battalion drill ground, probably Gloucester will come to the front with an offer.

ESSEX MAN A CANDIDATE FOR CONGRESS.

W. W. Lufkin, who is a candidate for Congress to succeed Col. Augustus P. Gardner, was born in Essex, March 10, 1897, and except when in Washington on official duties, has resided in that town all his life.

Mr. Lufkin was educated in the Essex Public schools and graduated from the Gloucester High school in 1896. Soon after graduation, Mr. Lufkin, became connected with the regular force of the Gloucester Daily Times, and also acted as the Cape Ann correspondent of the Boston Herald.

In March, 1902, he accepted a position with Capt. Augustus P. Gardner, then a candidate for Congress from this District to succeed the late Judge Moody. On the Captain's election, his first official act was to appoint Mr. Lufkin his private secretary and the close relations between these two men have continued since that time.

In 1908, when Congressman Gardner's health broke down and he was ordered by his doctors to go to Europe for an extended rest, he designated Mr. Lufkin as the acting Congressman from the district in his absence. During this period, Mr. Lufkin performed every duty which devolved upon a representative of the people, except actually voting on the floor of the House.

In this campaign, Mr. Lufkin is basing his qualifications for the position on the ground that the district requires an experienced man. His nomination papers were endorsed by over 5000 voters in the district, and he is now engaged in organizing these signers into campaign committees in each of the twenty-three towns and cities of the district.

Mr. Lufkin resides on Winthrop st. in Essex, where he has a wife and four children.

MILITARY CALL IS "125."

By arrangement with the board of fire engineers a signal has been devised for the calling out of the Manchester militia company in case of emergency. For convenience and to avoid conflict with any fire signal the call will be the company number, "125" blown twice. The call will be sounded only in case of necessity and will summon the entire company to the headquarters at Price school. The call, which will be repeated once after the first signal, will be blown: "1—I-I—I-I-I-I-I-I."

Dr. Edgar C. Abbott's lecture-recital of "Julius Caesar" last Friday afternoon at "Att-Lea House," the residence of Mrs. S. Among other interesting things Dr. Abbott pointed out that the reason for the conspirator's failure to establish a republican form of government was because the people were not then ready for it. A similar situation, he said, prevails

MUST TRAVEL LIGHT WHEN GOING TO AYER.

That the Manchester men who go to camp at Ayer, next month in response to call are not going on a pleasure trip is evidenced by the limits the government puts on their baggage. Only the bare necessities can be taken by the men. What luxuries they may have in camp will be determined by the nature of their quarters and the length of time they spend there. All the little "extras" will have to be forwarded to them later, but here is a list of articles which the government says a drafted man may take to camp with him: A cake of soap, a razor, shaving brush, shaving soap, and a small mirror; a toothbrush and tooth-powder; comb and brush; towels, a suit of underclothing and an extra pair of socks.

If desired a change of collars and shirts may be taken along, but recruits are warned that they will not have use for these articles after arrival at the mobilization camps, unless the uniforms happen to be delayed for a day or two.

If recruits desire they may return civilian clothes worn to their homes after being fitted with uniforms, but they are advised to wear old clothes that will not need to be returned.

PARK SQUARE THEATRE.

Next week will be the last of the return engagement of Oliver Morosco's hilarious musical comedy, "Canary Cottage," at the Park Square Theatre, Boston. No musical offering of the decade has such fun-spreading and laugh-evoking qualities. This is a seemingly broad statement, yet its truth is borne out by the testimony of all who have seen it. And their judgment is perfectly relied upon. With a trio of such funmakers as Trixie Friganza, Charles Ruggles and Herbert Cortell there is much to be expected, and placed in such situations as they are in this comedy, the fun runs fast and furious from beginning to end. They are aided and abetted in this regard by a perfect supporting cast, in which are included the famous California Beauty Chorus of handsome young women who come from the glorious Golden Gate. The book of the comedy was written by Oliver Morosco and Elmer Harris, and the music and lyrics by Earl Carrol. The songs of "Canary Cottage" have proved the most emphatic of hits, they being among the greatest sellers with the phonograph records.

I Left Behind Me. Recognized by students of the drama as one of the greatest American plays ever written, it sets a standard that has yet to be excelled for a continuity of interest, suspense and thrilling drama. The military flavor of the play makes it especially timely now, though it does not treat of national war, its story concerning an Indian uprising in the western country. This play was written by David Belasco and Franklin Fyles, and was originally produced by Mr. Belasco. It proved to be the most continually popular offering of this wizard of the stage, and has served as a pattern for many dramas which followed. None, however, have approached it in power and appeal.

NEW YORK HIPPODROME.

It seems hard to believe, but nevertheless it is a fact that the new offering at the New York Hippodrome is "bigger and better than ever." "Wonders never cease at the Hippodrome," writes the critic of the New York World, while the dramatic writer of the Globe exclaims: "To fittingly describe the latest Hippodrome Show we would have to resort to the use of super-superlatives." The Sun records that the new show "brought the audience cheering to its feet," while the Herald states that "Cheer Up!" is the most joyous cheer ever let loose in the Hippodrome in all its history." Anyone who enters the Hippodrome doors this season is warned to leave gloom behind.

"How long are you in for?" asked the new convict.

"Six months," was the reply.

"I see. Just doing your little bit, eh?"

BOSTON THEATRE

June Caprice, the charming young moving picture star, who comes from Arlington, Mass., will be the heroine in "Every Girl's Dream" a new photoplay. The Greater Boston girl's latest production is considered by film experts as her greatest. The name of the new picture itself is enough to interest the young women being based upon what young girls seek in life.
There is also a strong possibility that Miss Caprice will appear personally at the Boston Theatre during the week of September 3 when "Every Girl's Dream," the current Fox production will be released. The vaudeville bill is one of the most attractive in weeks, the management having secured some splendid talent.

The sisters will be well remembered for their excellent work in "His Bridal Night", recently seen in Boston. They are dancing as they never danced before, and that means a lot, for the Dollys are considered the best exponents of terpsichore in vaudeville. They will be assisted by Iean Schwartz at the piano. ## “Salem” ————— “Daniel Low’s”

The terms are synonymous to thousands of our mail order customers and friends the world over, many of whom are yearly visitors at the North Shore. While there, one of their “little journeys” is to historic Salem including, of course, a visit to Daniel Low’s.

Perhaps you, too, are acquainted with us thru our magazine advertising and our catalogs. Before you leave the North Shore we urge you to permit us the pleasure of meeting you personally in our store.

We feel sure that you will find the Store fully as interesting as the pages of our Catalog; in fact more so, for even the finest pictures and most comprehensive descriptions oftentimes do not measure up to the satisfaction of actual inspection. Then, too, our Store possesses a charm, an atmosphere of hominess, that few can resist. You may stroll about in the open, or in odd nooks and corners, without fear of being bothered.

Your visit will put you under no obligation whatever to purchase while for our part, we shall feel repaid in knowing that you will return to your home with a “mind picture” of Daniel Low’s that will, we hope, tend to create cordial business relations between us or further cement those relations already established.

Our collection of Fancy Linens for this season is most attractive, including many unusual pieces.

The oblong Luncheon Set with Napkins to match (illustrated) represents an exclusive line of "Casa Guidi" Embroidery, the various stitches being copies of 17th and 18th Century needlework. Scarfs, Tea Cloths, Napkins, Tray Cloths, etc., are also shown in this work.

Luncheon Sets, Tray Cloths, Napkins, Scarfs, Tea Cloths, etc., decorated with Italian cut-work, Filet and Florentine Laces, Mosaic and Sicilian openwork in a variety of new designs.

We give special attention to the work of embroidering by hand initials, monograms, crests, etc., on Household Linens and shall be pleased to submit sketches for such work on request.
